

THE FALKLAND ISLANDS
WEEKLY NEWS.

Vol 1. No 1. January 6th.

Every Thursday - Price 3d.

The Newspaper of the most Southerly

Colony of the British Empire.

Editorial: A Happy New Year to all our readers!
With this wish we introduce the Weekly paper to you, in its new form.

The Weekly News. You can help in two ways to keep this paper going. Firstly by becoming a regular reader and advising others to become readers too, thus enabling our circulation to go up, and secondly by giving us News Items of interest of local activities for insertion in the paper. This paper is interested in everything that goes on in every part of this Colony, to the furthestest outlying Islands.

You will find in our changed "set-up" of the Weekly Paper, space reserved for a Feature Page. On this page from time to time, we hope to give you occasional Cartoons, Household Hints, Recipes, Quiz Questions, etc.

We are setting one page apart for the use of the three Churches in the Colony, if they care to make use of the space, and at the bottom of the page we intend to pass on a "Quiet Thought".

We hope that the boys and girls of the Colony will take an interest in their very own "Children's Corner" which will appear each week.

Amusement Many of our readers in town, are Picture-Feature goers, and each week we hope to publish a brief outline of the films, or a film, to be shown in Town, during the coming week. The people in the Camp, although unable to be present at these performances, will be able to read the brief stories of the films, and will not be so out of touch with the entertainment world. We hope that you will enjoy this feature.

All people who have been subscribers in the past, and whose names are on the "News Weekly" list will be sent the paper for the next two months.

Will all who wish to take the paper please let us have their subscriptions? The rates are Stanley 12/- per Annum, Camp, and Britain- 14/- Post Free.

The paper will normally consist of 16 pages.

THE PIRATES OF PENZANCE.

The forthcoming performance of "The Pirates" promises a good evenings entertainment. Advance bookings have been heavy and those who have not already done so may apply any day at the Town Hall between 2 p.m. and 4 p.m.

The audience are requested to refrain from smoking during the performance because of the strain smoke inflicts on singers.

It is not possible to give an encore for all items because it breaks the continuity and the indulgence of the audiences is asked in this matter.

The profits after paying expenses are to go to the Soldiers, Sailors, and Airmen Families Association.

Flowers and bouquets cannot be presented over the footlights except on the fall of the final Curtain on the Friday performance and on the Saturday if a performance is given, as there is every hope at present.

CLIPS FROM ENEMY PROPAGANDA AT THE TIME OF OUR INVASION OF ITALY.

14th September.

"The fate of the operation as a whole is already sealed. The Anglo-U.S. invasion in the Gulf of Salerno has collapsed". (D.N.B.)

"The defeated U.S. formations are fairly demoralised and, in parts, escaped in confusion towards their ships." (Transocean)

"South-east of Salerno, the British employed two battleships, numerous cruisers and destroyers as well as 50 to 60 medium and large transports and numerous landing craft, when taking aboard the remnants of their landing troops which suffered a decisive defeat" (space donated by Globe Store) (D.N.B.)

RED CROSS.

The monthly Tea Meeting will be held on Thursday Jan. 6th in the Library at 4 p.m.

The Red Cross receive many thanksgiving letters, but few more moving than this one from a repatriated South African corporal in Cairo:-

"How can I thank you? It is a problem that I cannot solve, but instead let me say:

"When I was hungry-you fed me.

"When my pals were sick - you sent medical supplies.

"When we wondered about our folks at home - you brought letters.

"When we wanted something to do inside a dreary cage - you supplied books, games, musical instruments and educational facilities.

"When conditions were bad - you sent representatives round to see they were improved.

"You-kept our spirit high, and you kept us alive, and then you brought me back to my own people.

"How can I thank you? Even now you go on piling a debt that I cannot possibly repay. I cannot thank you. Perhaps God will one day. I pray He will."

THE AGRICULTURAL PAGE.

In our new paper this page will be devoted to topics of Agricultural and Horticultural interest. We solicit your inquiries and will endeavour to provide the type of information you desire. We hope you will make use of it and send in your inquiries to the Weekly News Office. If you do not wish your name to appear in print, indicate a word in which you desire the reply to appear, but sign your name and address as evidence of good faith. It does not matter what you ask. If we do not know the answer we shall do our best to get it for you. This page is meant to help one and all in problems of camp life or gardening. Your inquiries will cost you nothing.

The Department of Agriculture welcomes this opportunity of thanking everyone who responded so well to the appeal for vegetables and potatoes during the past 12 months. More than 40 tons of vegetables and potatoes were received from the Camp during the year, in addition to some 25 tons of hay. This is a very good performance and is greatly appreciated.

OUR GARDENING CORNER.

With the arrival of the new year, one's thoughts should turn towards making plans for the next season's crops, vegetable and floral. Many of you may say, "He's looking rather a long way ahead". Planning the future is always essential in gardening and during this month we should be studying seed catalogues preparatory to making our seed orders.

Vegetable seeds cannot be dispatched from Britain to individuals because distribution of seeds must be controlled for economic reasons. However the department of Agriculture provides the necessary seeds for the vegetable garden. Flower seeds may be imported by the individual and it would be advisable to despatch your orders during the immediate future.

THE REASONABLENESS OF FAITH

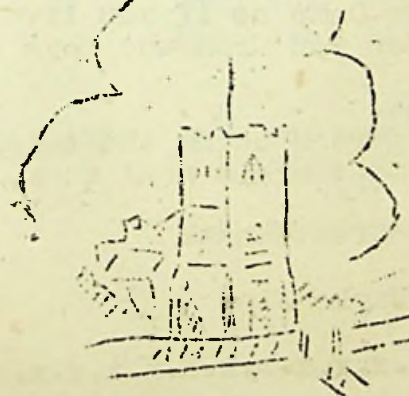

Speaking in the series, "Why I believe in God", in the Home Service transmission of the B.B.C., Lord Provost Sir William F. Darling C.B.E., said, "Belief in God explains life--gives it a meaning, albeit an imperfect one. It helps me to understand and endure existence."

It gives me hope and a sense of purpose. It gives me something outside of myself which tells me that, however ill things seem to go, however much wrong seems to triumph, right will prevail."

"Weekly Scotsman"

FOR THE CHILDREN Read Matthew Ch. 6vv 9-15.

The first part of this lesson is the best known passage in the whole of the Bible, and I believe you can all say it by heart. It is known as the Lord's Prayer. The last two verses are not so familiar. They contain a great though difficult lesson for us, namely, that we should practice forgiveness--forgiving those who do us wrong. This is not easy but it will mean much to us if we try.

$$6:1:44$$

Dear Boys and Girls,

Once a month your page will be the whole page—that will be in the first week's copy in each month; during the remaining weeks in the month the space for your corner will probably be smaller, but we hope that you will find it interesting just the same.

I hope that you are enjoying your holidays. I expect you are all making yourselves useful in the house-the girls dusting, and washing the dishes, the boys chopping up the peat in the shed and bringing it in.

The weather has not been to kind to us, of late, but we'll hope for plenty of sunshine, and picnics in the next few weeks.

I know that this letter will be read by some of the boys and girls in the Camp so if you live in the Camp here's a Message for you from the boys and girls in Stanley-

BEST WISHES FOR 1944.

Now I'll "ring off" as a person using the telephone might say, and we'll meet again next week.

You affectionate

Uncle Jim.

Wedding Report.

A very pretty wedding took place on Tuesday January 4th, in Christ Church Cathedral, when Gnr Norman Jeffryes of Sunbury-on-Thames, Middlesex, England, was joined in marriage to Miss Minnie Pedersen of Stanley. The Ceremony being conducted by the Rev. G. K. Lowe, assisted by the Rev. G. A. Lewis-Lloyd. C.F.

The Bride, dressed in white pan velvet with veil and head-dress to match, carried a bouquet of lilies and canterbury bells mixed with fern.

Attending the bride were, Miss Rita Smith, Miss Vera Smith (neices of the bride), and Miss Ola Summers (a cousin of the bride), all prettily dressed in spotted organdie trimmed with pink velvet and head-dresses to match. Each carried bouquets of mixed flowers choicely arranged by Mrs E.V. Summers.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother Len. The best man, Gnr Goldsmith was also responsible for the making of the beautiful dresses of the bridal party.

We wish Mr and Mrs Jeffryes every happiness.

HEALTH BULLETIN.

FOOD.

The importance of food to health is obvious to anyone but until this century it was more a matter of folk lore than of science. British sailors who suffered from scurvy found out long ago that lime juice helped this condition. Nobody knew why this was so until 1920 when it was discovered that scurvy was due to lack of Vitamin C.

Other diseases are likewise due to deficiencies. Beriberi is caused by lack of a substance called thiamin; rickets by lack of Vitamin D and so on. Still other diseases (and this is important to everyone who lives in the Falklands) though caused by germs, derive their chief terror from an alliance with wrong feeding habits. Tuberculosis follows the level of nutrition with deadly accuracy striking at those countries which eat badly and at those people with a poor dietary scale.

Good diet does not demand special foods nor indeed the inclusion of Vitamin pills now so freely advertised. It does include milk and meat; butter and eggs; brown bread and green vegetables.

A vast number of people here do not eat brown bread at all; another large group of adults drinks very little milk; a surprising number eat meat sparingly while the consumption of raw vegetables is by no means wide spread.

In any attempt to raise the standard of living in this Colony food is only one factor but there is some reason to think that it ought to rank first. We know that sound nutrition will reduce the toll of disease and will also do more to secure sound minds in healthy bodies than any other social reform. Food for thought!

FOR THE CHILDREN. Read St. John Ch 10. vv. 22-30.

In this passage, Jesus says many things about Christians. Here are three.

1. They hear His voice. This means that they believe what He says, for they know that what He says is true.
2. They follow Him. They try and do, say and think as He did.
3. He gives them Eternal life. This is a capacity or ability to understand and enjoy spiritual things. These things are true of us if we can honestly say that we believe in and try to follow Him.

THE AIM OF THE CHAPLAIN "I'm not interested in making better fighting men as such. I'm interested primarily as are all our chaplains, in making better men. Making better men will doubtless make them better soldiers or better anything else.

The Chief Chaplain, United States Army.

Weekly News
Office
Stanley.
13/1/44

Dear Boys and Girls,

11/11/44 - I have exciting news for you this week, but before I pass it on to you, I have a story to tell you about a gift of chocolates. Some months ago, Princess Elizabeth, and Princess Margaret Rose received a gift of chocolates from the Egyptian princesses, Feriā and Fawzia, with a message saying: "We still have chocolates in Egypt, and we are sending you some hoping that you and the children in some bombed area will enjoy them as much as we do". Our princesses sent the chocolates to the Mayoress of Hull, and she gave them to some school children in a badly hit area who I am sure appreciated them, and the Princesses kindness very much.

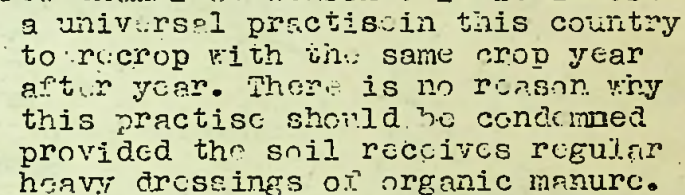

Now
for the
exciting news!

for the exciting news! We have a competition for you this week. Make a drawing, not larger than two inches square of the teapot your mother pours out your afternoon tea with. Do it as carefully as possible, and hand your drawing into the Weekly News Office, Agriculture Building (Back Entrance) between 3 p.m. and 4 p.m. next Monday. Write your Name and Age clearly on the page of your drawing. Boys and girls in the Camp will have until the end of March to take part in their section of the same competition. Remember, we must have your effort in our Office, Stanley, by 31st. of March. Two prizes of Cinema tickets will be awarded to Stanley boys and girls, and two postal orders for 1/6d will be sent to the best two efforts from the Camp. The outlines of the winning drawings will be published in this Corner. Remember it must be your own work! So get your pencils out, and to work-only pencil drawings asked for-no colouring in tints.

Uncle Jim.

Having decided what you are going to grow during the next season, the next consideration is, where and in what part of the garden the crops shall be grown? Now I feel quite certain that most people will say, "Where we grew them last season". It is almost

Where this is not the case, rotational cropping is all important. As a brief guide to the rotation, cabbage and cauliflower may follow or be followed by potatoes, lettuce, onions and swedes. Carrots may follow or be followed by any but root crops. Lettuce may follow peas, potatoes and the cabbage tribe. Beet may follow the cabbage tribe.

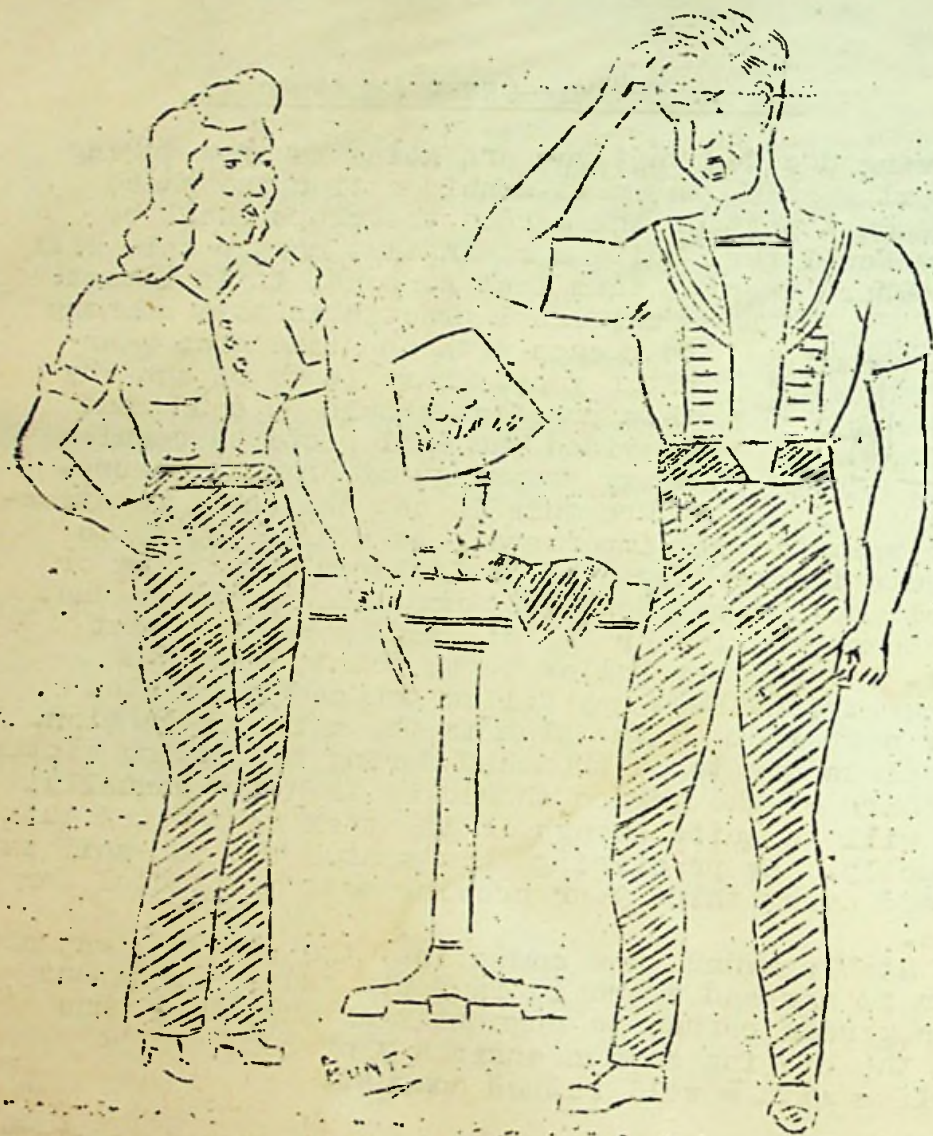

Our next item on the plan is the soil cultivation. What plots are to be trenched during the coming winter? One third of the garden should be trenched annually, this will be quite enough if the task is carried out correctly. By practising this system the sub-soil is exposed every third year proving most beneficial for crops.

Stable manure now comes into the picture, why not order it now and store it in a pit adding weeds and other garden refuse to augment your supplies, thus when the digging season arrives your soil may be provided with a well rotted compost.

LOCAL NEWS.

All the children who attend School either in Montevideo or Buenos Aires, are now back in the Colony for their summer holidays.

We are glad to see Mr and Mrs Honeyman and their daughter in Stanley, on a visit from Buenos Aires. Mr. Honeyman who is well known in Darwin Camp, is now a Master in the Preparatory Department of St. Georges College, Buenos Aires.

The Caste and Stage helpers of the Production "Pirates of Penzance" which ran all last week, held a Social evening in the Town Hall last Monday night.

Last Night, the Workers in the local Canteen were guests of ToCH, at a party in the Town Hall. Tonight there is to be a Concert in the Town Hall, the organisers being ToCH. The front seats are 2/- the other seats 1/- (pay at the door). The money is to be given to the ToCH War Chest-which means more Canteens and Rest rooms etc for the Men of the Forces. So help by your presence to make the effort a success!

Everyone was pleased that the weather was on its best behaviour for the parade last Saturday morning.

For the benefit of people in Camp especially, we are including in this issue of our paper the phases of the moon. We hope that they prove helpful. Many calendars which in pre-war days were in the habit of giving the phases of the moon do not so now.

Those who have tuned in to the brief Weekly local Broadcasts must feel sure that there is a future for Broadcasting in this Colony.

As Samuel Mr. Biggs made a very promising start as a Gilbert and Sullivan lead. He impressed us as having the finest voice of the whole cast and with more stage experience should have many successes ahead of him.

Frederic, Pirate apprentice and "Slave of Duty", was very ably played by Mr. Snow, this being particularly so on the Wednesday when he gave a faultless performance. In addition to rendering his solos effectively Mr. Snow was very prominent in the fine support he gave in the part-songs in which he was concerned.

Verse three, that He made this world in which we dwell.
Verse thirteen shows us the way to become a Christian
It is by believing in, or receiving Jesus as our Saviour, and Lord.

GARDENING NOTES.

Are you having cabbage for Christmas? This question is asked by many but the answer is seldom in the affirmative because few people ever bother to cultivate cabbage for this season of the year.

Spring cabbage is not a difficult crop to produce, but seed must be sown now. Sow thinly in a seed-bed and by the time the early potatoes are lifted, the young plants will be ready for transplanting. Very few varieties are adaptable for Spring use, but Flower of Spring, Harbinger, Early Offerhann and Enfield Market are recommended.

Seeds are attaining maturity now - some have already passed this state - and they should be promptly destroyed. If they are left in those out-of-the-way corners - where they are now more likely to be found - the seeds will ripen, producing a further crop of pests for several years to come. Unfortunately, in a windy climate such as ours - ones next-door neighbour's garden is more likely to receive the seed crop.

Those who grow winter greens, such as savoy and kale should get the plants out immediately.

Local Notes

Christmas
at Port Howard

We have just heard that Christmas at Port Howard was a very quiet one. Four visitors were present from Pebble, four from Fox Bay, and three from Chartres.

Toch has a busy week

The local branch of Toch had a busy week. On Tuesday 18th January the weekly meeting was held in the Tabernacle schoolroom, the visitor at this meeting being Lieut. Boswell who gave an interesting talk on "Southern Rhodesia".

On Wednesday night, the branch entertained the ladies who were Canteen workers to a party. Games and dancing were enjoyed by all present.

The sum of $7 was raised by the Thursday night Concert for the Toch War Chest.

Big Dance
in Town Hall

A very large number were present at the F.I.D.F. Dance, which was held in the Town Hall last Friday night. Many dances have taken place in our beautiful hall, but few will be as memorable in the minds of the people present as this one.

The Canteen.

We are glad that the Canteen for the Men of the Forces has been reopened.

Commencing next week, we hope to give an outline drawing in the first three issues of the Weekly News in February, of the three churches in Stanley.

The editor expresses his thanks to Messrs Cyril Blakeman, L. Hatfield, Charles Avril, and to Miss Mary Johnston for their help in the production of this paper.

Cyril Blakeman is responsible for the Covers and the drawings of the churches, L. Hatfield is "Buster" of Cartoon repute, Charles Avril has been our adviser and Miss Johnston is responsible for small drawings, for setting off headings, Children's Corner etc.

Wedding.

A pretty wedding was celebrated at the Cathedral on Wednesday the 19th of January, when George Henry Johnson and Helen Murial Bonner, daughter of Mr & Mrs S. Bonner, Stanley, were joined in marriage. The Rev. G. K. Lowe officiated at the Ceremony.

The bride wore a Duchess blue coat with navy blue hat and shoes to match. The bridegroom (who comes from Manchester) was supported by Albert Machin (best man) and by Robert McMahon.

We wish Mr and Mrs Johnson all good wishes for the future.

It is often found that crowded conditions in the porch prevent one from potting up seedlings, or sowing further batches of seeds, therefore plants that have passed out of flower - such as Arums, pot Roses and even Dahlias may be placed outdoors in some sheltered corner. Don't forget about them though because the two first mentioned will require water; the latter must be dried off gradually until the foliage turns brown, when further watering will no longer be required.

Note on the School Successful Scholarship Candidates attend in Montevideo.

Prince of Wales College, Montevideo, apart from its modern system of education, takes every advantage of climatic and city facilities, to give the students there a very happy life.

The 350 boys and girls-nearly 90 of them English-start work at 8.30 a.m. each day and do lessons until 12 noon, of this time 15 minutes are spent doing P.T. in the playground. At 11 a.m. ham rolls and sandwiches can be bought in the school kitchen. At 1.45 p.m. lessons start again and go until 4 p.m.

(4.45 on Mondays and Thursdays) on Wednesdays and Saturdays there is a half day. Drill and games on the playing fields are part of the afternoon routines. Girls play hockey, tennis, and volley ball-junior girls, rounders. The senior boys play football and basket-ball. Scouts and guides, cubs and brownies, are also a feature of the school. The boarders, 14 of them, live in the school boarding house at Pucitos and in the summertime all the children go to the beach, which is one square away-for a bathe.

The cinema provides relaxation on wet week-ends, otherwise the children go to the beach to play. There are six English teachers and the English children are made very happy. The summer holiday extends for three months and in July there is another fourteen days holiday. Spanish of course is a basic lesson, this enables the English girls, when they go shopping, to ask for what they want, in that language. This resume of life at the school should not only encourage other children to try and win a scholarship but should re-

THE SUPREME QUESTION "We all desire that our people should enjoy the biggest measure of comfort, happiness and prosperity that is possible, but I make bold to say that these are not the supreme questions, that they are the means to an end. If you finish there you have simply created a machine. God, if He wished, could have made an automaton; but it would not have been a man. The fact that we possess free will makes us men".

FOR THE CHILDREN Read Psalm 23.

In this, the best known of all Psalms, David likens God to a shepherd and Himself to one of His sheep. He describes how God looks after him and supplies his need, and is quite confident that God will continue to do so while he lived.

The Psalm is a perfect description of what God is and does for all who trust and honour Him, to all who can say with David "the Lord is my shepherd".

Here at last are the results of the Tea-pot drawing competition, for which you have all been waiting.

Denton Evans and Lerra Biggs, who will receive their cinema tickets this week. Others who came very close to the winners were - Henry Smith (age 6) Rex Browning (age 9) Ian Biggs (age 14) Gladys Skilling (age 12) Nora Harris (age 14) Thora Biggs (age 11) Norcen Scott (age 11) Leon Harris (age 13) Eric Biggs (age 13)

LOCAL NEWS.

The ToCH Meeting last Tuesday Night took the form of a devotional Talk by the Rev.G.A.Lewis-Lloyd.

A small mail arrived recently in the Colony.

The facts for last week's article on "School in Montevideo" were given our paper, by Miss Emily Skilling.

A letter was read at last week's meeting of ToCH conveying the appreciation felt by members of the local Canteen ladies staff, at the steadfast and ever-ready help by members of ToCH in rendering service at the Canteen for the troops. It was hoped that the same help would continue to be forth-coming. Commenting appreciatively on the letter several members expressed their sense of indebtedness to Rev G.K.Lowe whose efforts in the first place and whose consistent energy since then to the time when he commenced preparing for his departure, were responsible for what the Canteen proved itself to be a first class amenity for the troops. The meeting instructed the Secretary to convey to the people responsible for the Canteen at present the Branche's intention to continue its help at the Canteen.

The local Canteen is to be open from 7p.m. to 9p.m. each evening. Space is to be devoted for recreational purposes, shortly, and also a corner for letter-writing etc.

The wet weather has not been appreciated, with the shearing in full swing in the Camp, and the pent to be brought home everywhere.

Dr. and Mrs Cowan and Family are now back in Darwin.

To the Editor "News Weekly"

From Dr.Skene.

Sir,

May I use the medium of your paper to say good-bye to the numerous friends I have made since my arrival in the Falkland Islands?

It has been impossible to make my farewells individually and in person as I should like to have done, but I do want to thank all those people and more particularly those in the camp, who did so much to make me feel at home and to whose kindness and hospitality I owed so much.

I hope to keep in touch with some of my new friends in the future and will always look forward with the keenest interest to news from the Falkland Islands.

TO THE EDITOR:

Sir: I should be glad of the opportunity to acknowledge another gift to the Soldiers', Sailors' and Airmen's Families Assocn - the sum of £50 from the performances of the Pirates of Penzance. This brings the sum I have received for this Assocn during our stay on the Island to £343 - the result of various concerts, sporting events, Charity Ball etc.

Though this Assocn has of necessity certain permanent officials by far the greater part of the work is done by voluntary workers which means that money subscribed in this Colony will not be spent in administration but on the objects for which it was given - viz. relief to the families of Servicemen on whose behalf I say "Thank you"

FIRST AID TO THE INJURED.

Remember when someone in the house gets scalded or burned that you have an excellent remedy ready to hand in tea.

Tea from the domestic pot contains 2 to 5 percent tannin and the use of this remedy has cut the death rate in severe burns to a tenth of what it used to be.

When your child is burned take a clean cloth, soak it in tea from the pot and wrap the burned part in it. Then send for the doctor.

Please do not put on flour, oil, grease or anything of the sort. Remember that ordinary tea is the medicine that will give the best results.

Home should be the safest place on earth.

Actually there are more accidents in the home every year than outside it. Many of these accidents can be prevented. Here is a short list of things that lead to accident:

- (1) Leaving toys on the stair to be tripped over.
- (2) Loose rugs on the floor.
- (3) Lack of fire screens for open fire-places.
- (4) Tea-kettles that upset.
- (5) Falls in or about the bath tub due to lack of handholds, rubber matting etc.
- (6) Turning an electric-light switch while in the bath.
- (7) Failure to have a family medicine chest and to keep it locked.

SENIOR MEDICAL OFFICE.

GARDENING NOTES.

Tomatoes were mentioned last week as a porch plant, though they cannot be recommended as worth-while unless heat is provided. However, many people find it a pleasurable hobby to cultivate the tomato which should now be well advanced; probably a few of the fruits are ripening. In heated greenhouses ripening will be well advanced.

Whatever the cultural conditions - it is essential to "stop" the growth of the plant. Stopping-which is the removal of the leader or growing point-should be carried out when the third flower truss has formed; this refers only to plants in unheated houses. Where heat is provided "stopping", need not be performed until the seventh or eighth truss has formed but much depends upon the head-room available.

Defoliation is at times necessary, more especially when the foliage is dense, or the light available is restricted. The removal of leaves must be performed with care and judgment. Never defoliate until the flowers on each truss have set, and always leave the leaves at or near a truss.

Dear Boys and Girls,

Here we are meeting once again!

This week I have some puzzles, and questions for you. I will give you the answers next week. This is not a competition, but I suggest that you should write your answers on a piece of paper, and correct them next week.

Firstly then-Can you re-arrange the letters in the following jumbled words -EORS ADIYS ABELM OORHYDT LILHSYF ADEFR into six girls names? Have you managed to write down the six names?

In each of the following sentences is hidden the name of a country which forms part of the British Empire;

- (1) How can a dangerous animal be caught?
- (2) He made plans in diagram form.
- (3) A boy I knew found landing from a boat quite easy.

Here is a list of questions all of which can be answered by the name of a bird:

- (1) What do you do when you eat?
- (2) What does everyone like having when they are young?
- (3) What material is often used for decoration?
- (4) What flies without wings?

(You can correct your answer by looking your answers up in a dictionary).

Perhaps you are tired of the white curtains you have on your front room windows.

Curtains

Spring-cleaning time is past, but you can still freshen up your room, by taking down your curtains, and making them a cream shade. This is the way to make your tinting water-take the tea leaves from your pot after three meals, give them a boiling in two pints of water. This water can be used for creaming tints; use the amount of tea-leaf tinted water to the strength you require.

Your Aluminium
frying pan

Pour hot water into your aluminium frying-pan immediately after use.

Cold water is liable to buckle the hot metal.

When you are baking

Many housewives in the Falkland Islands are good bakers. Here is a tip for you-when rolling your flour for pastry, sprinkle the rolling board with corn-flour. This will bind better.

Your Tarts Do not put hot cooked fruit into a tart. The steam given off will sodden the pastry before it has started to cook.

CANDIED RHUBARB is quite a novelty and can be eaten like sweets.

Cut

1lb rhubarb into 1½-inch lengths.

Cover well with

1lb sugar and stand overnight

Next day pour off the syrup and boil it up and then pour it back over the rhubarb. Allow the rhubarb to stand another day and then boil all together for 5 minutes.

When it is cold it should have the appearance of bought candied fruit.

FOR THE CHILDREN Read Psalm 118 vv 97-105

In the above verses the Psalmist is recording how much the reading and meditation of God's word means to him. He says that they act as a guide and help to Him in life, brightening life's pathway, helping him to do the right and hate the wrong. They also help him to understand life and teach him the truth. We hope that you may have this experience too. You certainly will if you read God's word, believe it and try to put it's advice into practice.

GEMS FROM ENEMY PROPAGANDA.

"Each of the three Allied powers has only one desire, namely to snatch victory from its Allies, thus leaving them in the lurch", (German News Item 1.10.43)

"British prisoners are all filled with admiration for the courage and bravery, and even sometimes the heroism, shown by the German soldiers. One or two of them said that the one thing they would never forget was when they were saved by light German naval craft. The German craft was at the time being attacked by British and American bombers, and half the German crew were at the guns fighting off the bombers, and the other half pulling British seamen out of the water and saving their lives". - 21.10.43
(Broadcast to England /

"In Germany, religious activities have never been curtailed, much less has the Church been persecuted. The Church has always received financial aid from the State. There is no need to reinstate the Church in Germany. It has never been destroyed."

(Broadcast to England 23.10.43)

"Germany has repeatedly made it clear that government in the last analysis, must rest upon the will of the people. She stands substantially on the basis of the old Anglo-Saxon principle of Government by consent of the governed. This is one of the keystones of the New European Order". (Broadcast to America 1.10.43)

"Our claims to the security of our national life, and the safety of the European nations are modest and do not interfere with the life of other nations".

(Westmark, Saarbrücken, 29.9.43)

The Tabernacle yearly effort will take place in the Town Hall on Wednesday 23rd February, opening at 7.p.m. We hope to have the ordinary stalls and games, with the exception of goods from home. Since this will be an informal effort, there will be no opening ceremony.

DEATHS

We regret to report three deaths in the Community last week-

THE Late Mrs Helen Bonner

Mrs Bonner passed away on the 2nd of February at the age of 78. Her loss is mourned by five sons and three daughters. The funeral took place from Christ Church Cathedral on Saturday afternoon.

Card of Thanks The family of the late Mrs Bonner wish to thank Dr. Kinneard, Mr E. McAtasney and all who helped them in anyway, and also all who sent floral tributes.

The Late Mrs Jessie J. Nilsson

Mrs Nilsson died at the K.E.M. Hospital on the 3rd of February at the age of 75, and is survived by 3 sons and 3 daughters. The funeral took place from Christ Church Cathedral last Sunday afternoon.

Card of Thanks The family of the late Mrs Nilsson wish to thank Dr. Kinneard and the staff of the K.E.M. Hospital, and to all who sent wreaths and bunches of flowers.

The Late Mr John Murray Duncan.

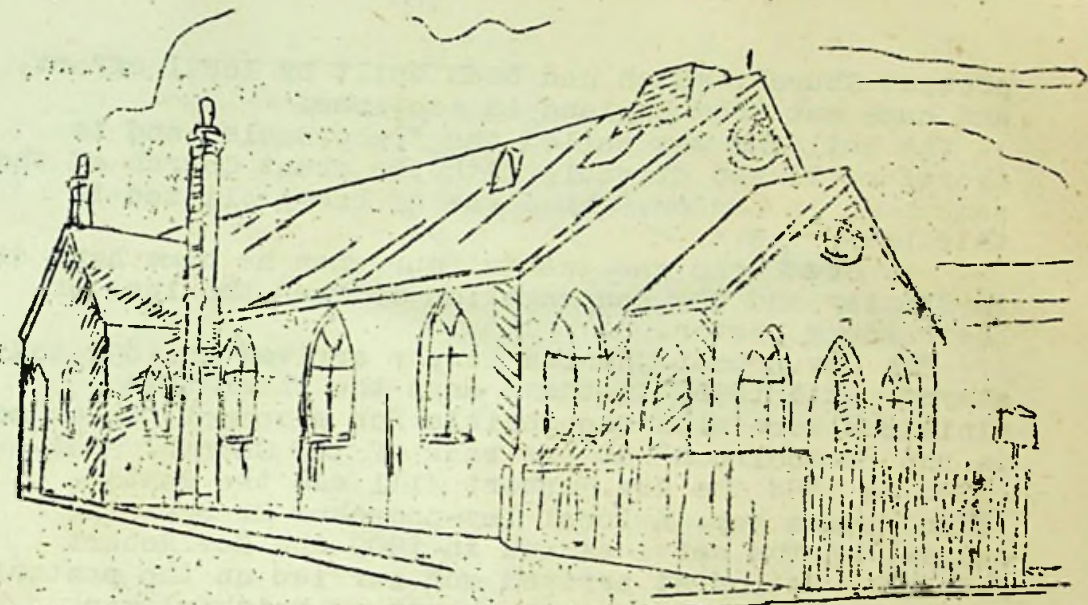

Mr Duncan was known to all as "Jack" and was a familiar figure in Stanley in the last few years. He collapsed and died as he was walking along Davis Street, last Sunday morning-the 6th of February, on his way to the Service at the Tabernacle.

Jack Duncan was in his 65th year. He was born on Beaver Island and lived there in all for 56 years. He is survived by 4 brothers and 4 sisters.

The funeral took place from the Tabernacle last Tuesday afternoon.

Card of Thanks The family of the late Mr Duncan wish to thank all who sent floral tributes and wreaths.

The Tabernacle is the United Nonconformist Church of the Colony. It seeks to minister to people who in Britain and elsewhere would attend Methodist, Baptist, Congregational, and Presbyterian Churches, as well as other centres of Nonconformist worship.

Originally the Nonconformist Church in the Falkland Islands was in Darwin, and was Presbyterian. The Church building is now used chiefly as the local school although services are still held in it, when a chaplain or minister is visiting in that district.

Amongst the Darwin ministers of last century were the Revs. Ewing, Phillips, and Yocman.

As Stanley the capital grew in population, the Darwin minister visited the town occasionally and held services in an infant Schoolroom, which stood on a site now occupied by the Government School.

A great day came for Nonconformists in Stanley when in 1888 the Rev. George M. Harris a Baptist minister was sent out under the personal interest of the famous C.H. Spurgeon of the Metropolitan Tabernacle, London, and held his services in the Speedwell, John Street. It was under the second minister from Spurgeon's College the Rev. C.E. Lawson Good that the Nonconformist ministry was transferred from the Speedwell to the present Church, which had been built by local effort, and came out from England in sections.

The building was called the "Tabernacle" and is therefore linked directly with the great Church of the same name in London, which was so badly blitzed in this present War.

Mr Good who was twenty four when he came here died in Stanley and the congregation mourned the loss of their young Pastor.

The Rev. Ernest Charles Murphy arrived in 1892 and stayed until 1896. In these days the Tabernacle ministers were also responsible for a school, which met in the "Schoolroom" at the rear of the Church. From 1896 to 1898 the Rev. Herbert Hill was the Pastor.

Then came a gap. A local lay-preacher Mr Browning carried on the services and in 1909 the Rev. Robert Johnson a Methodist arrived and carried on the pastorate until 1915, doing a great amount of faithful work.

From 1915 until 1934 the Church was kept open, through local efforts, without a Pastor. The Rev. W.F. McWhan commenced his ministry in September 1934 and was assisted by Mr O'Neill. Mr O'Neill returned to N. Ireland in 1939 and the Rev. E.J. Brain has been colleague minister since 1939.

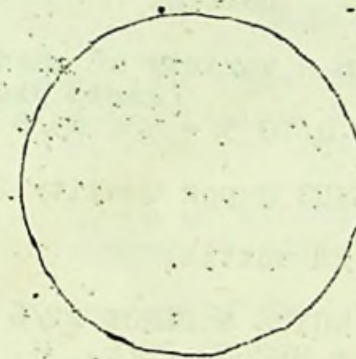

The distance from Britain has made the obtaining of ministers for the Tabernacle rather difficult, but it is hoped that the Church will have no gap in its ministry in the future.

XX

AXIS AIR LOSSES.

Germany and Japan lost during January more than 1100 aircraft quite apart from German losses in Russia. The details make interesting reading. Three hundred and seventy five were accounted for in N. Africa (which includes Italy), elsewhere in Europe 93 and over Britain 27. The Middle East downed nine and in India and Burma another 39 were destroyed. This makes a total of 543. The losses inflicted by the American Air Force amounted to 567 a grand total of 1110. This represents a drain on Axis men and machines that must be hard considering the period was not one of exceptionally heavy fighting in any of the spheres.

MIXED COLD

Delightfully cool, creamy and refreshing... yet exceptionally sustaining and invigorating - "Ovaltine" mixed cold is an ideal summer drink for everyone.

By preparing it as a cold drink you lose none of the important nutritive elements which have made "Ovaltine" so widely popular as a health giving food beverage.

Scientifically prepared from Nature's best foods "Ovaltine" provides nourishment to body, brain and nerves and helps to build up reserves of strength and energy. For this reason a glass of cold "Ovaltine" will do much to make light summer meals more nourishing and revitalizing.

Cold "Ovaltine" is easily prepared by adding "Ovaltine" to cold milk, or milk and water, and mixing thoroughly with an egg whisk, or in a shaker.

FOR THE CHILDREN Read St.Matthew Chapter 7 vv 24-29.
The important word in this passage is "doeth". It is not the person who only hears the words of Jesus that is likened unto a wise master builder, but the person who both hears and "doeth". The words of Jesus tell us that the great things in this world are, faith, truth, justice, kindness and love. The person who believes and "doeth" these things is wise. The thing that matters most in Christianity is not what we believe, nor what we hear, but what we do.

If successful crops of Spring Onions are to be expected, the removal of soil from about the bulbs must be carried out whenever required because it is often found that wind returns the soil. Care must be exercised that the roots are not unduly exposed when removing the soil. The plants will fall about after the operation, but do not be alarmed they will recover within a day or two.

How and when does one prune Lilac? This question is often asked but usually at the wrong time of the year. Lilac should be pruned immediately after flowering; however, if pruning has not been done, it would be advisable to get on with the task now than to leave it undone for another year.

When pruning, all the old flowering shoots must be cut back to within two inches of the old wood. All weak and straggling growths should also be removed. Finally the soil should receive a top-dressing with well-rotted manure.

Flower beds and borders require some attention just now. Several plants have passed out of flower and become an eyesore, therefore all the old flower-spikes may be cut back to the base foliage; in some cases this treatment tends to induce a second crop of blooms. Dead and withered blooms should be removed at intervals from all plants, this action tends to prolong the flowering season, and is especially so with plants under glass.

Pipe Major Charles Turnbull of Edinburgh is no lover of Sicily. "I've been playing since a boy", he told a journalist "But in all my time I've never struck such a bad country as Sicily for ruining bagpipes. Even when the sun goes down and stops crackling the reeds and chanters, you've got to watch that the ants don't eat away the bag." Perhaps some of Sandy's English friends egged the ants on!

The new pavement along the south side of the extremem east of Fitzroy Road is a great improvement.

Many people in Stanley are experiencing difficulty in getting their peat transported from bog to peat-shed; it is to be hoped that the weather continues to be fine, and that transport difficulties will be overcome.

Do you know? One of the advised ways of dealing with mildew on the leaves of your rose-bushes in your porches, is a spray of bicarbonate of soda mixed in proportion to one ounce to a gallon of water. The soda should be dissolved in hot water first, and soft water would be best. The adding of some good soft soap is to be commended. The wash should be applied before mildew gains a stronghold, and continued if any seen.

The present Catholic Church of St. Mary's, known as "St Mary's Mission" was constructed at the request of the Salesian Fathers in charge of the Mission. The Bishop at this time was the late Rev. Monseigneur Pagano of Patagonia and of the Salesian Congregation.

The building was erected by Messrs Smith and Brunell under the supervision of Mr. Vincent Biggs, who was in charge of the Carpenters of the F.I.C. in the year 1899.

The first parish priest was the Rev. Fr. P.O. Grady, later a Fr. Vincent Giaccarde, held the position, and then the Rev. Father Diamond. In the year 1905 the Rev. Fr. M.L. Migone arrived for the third time and took charge of the Parish until his death in 1937.

In 1934 the Rev. H.F. Drumm took up duty here, and in 1937 was appointed Parish Priest.

INVITATION DANCE.

Captain Mays, Officers and crew of his ship invited the people of Stanley to a dance in the Town Hall on Thursday 10th February as an appreciation of the kindness shown to them on many occasions. The Hall was decorated with Ensigns and House Flags which gave it quite a nautical environment. As soon as the doors opened a large and enthusiastic crowd filled the Hall. Mr. L. Sedgwick, a very competent MC, got the show started and there was no lack of enthusiasm as was evident by the continuous number of dancers. The dance bands catered for all tastes and it was very pleasing to the organisers to see so many of the older folk enjoying themselves alongside the younger generation. The catering was carried out by Mr. A. Summers and staff who supplied the four to five hundred guests with a good assortment of food and drinks.

Included in the programme were two Novelty Dances "The Spot Waltz" and "The Elimination Quickstep". The prizes were presented to the lucky winners by Chief Engineer R.E. Davis. The dancing continued without a break until 1AM which came far too quickly for the many who were enjoying themselves.

Mr. W. Waugh and his helpers would like to thank the following people for their contribution towards making the dance a success; Mr. L. Sedgwick, Mr. A. Summers and Staff, Mr. King, Mr. G. Sornsen, members of the dance bands and many others. To conclude the committee would like to say "Thank you for coming".

For The Children Read II Timothy Ch.3 vv. 10-17
It has been said that a knowledge of scripture is of more value to us in life than a college education. This isn't entirely true, especially if that knowledge does not bring us to know Jesus Christ as our own Saviour and Lord. Paul, in the portion above, puts the right emphasis on the value of scriptural knowledge- it is valuable when it makes us wise unto salvation. The way to this wisdom is to believe its contents, obey its precepts, and pray that God may help us to understand what we read.

LET IN THE LIGHT What is this Light? It can be nothing less than the Light of the World which came into the life of men in the Lord Jesus Christ. He is the Light the world needs. Mankind often turns to other Lights for guidance and for a gleam to light the dark places. But whenever the darkness deepens and men stumble almost without hope, then they begin to look for the Light which shines so perfectly in Christ. That hour is again with us. The Light which shines steadily although frequently ignored it, is still shining in Christ. "Children's Newspaper".

GARDENING NOTES.

Of late we have experienced long hours of bright warm sunshine followed by a heavy downpour which has been most beneficial to crops. Now when rain follows a period of bright sunshine, it will be noticed that the soil surface becomes baked, and if the soil is of a heavy nature, it soon cracks open and moisture is permitted to escape. Whether the surface cracks open or not, moisture is brought to the surface by capillary attraction and the roots - especially in the case of plants that thrust their roots deep into the ground - are starved.

At the moment most crops have almost attained maturity and are not likely to suffer any real harm, but winter greens and any other young crops will suffer if the soil surface is allowed to remain in the baked condition. This state can be obviated by the use of the hoe or pronged cultivator, by lightly breaking down the soil surface to a fine tilth.

Should the soil show signs of baking, whether it be summer or winter-provided a crop is being cultivated the surface must be broken up. This treatment also applies to flower beds and borders.

Dear Sir, -

In the last issue of the Weekly News it is there stated that the foundation stone of Christ Church Cathedral was laid in the year 1892, I respectfully wish to state that it is not correct it was laid early in the year 1890, no doubt you have been misled, the original foundation stone which bore the date 1890 became defaced and recently has been renovated but unfortunately now bears the date of 1892.

Yours truly,
John F. Summers.

Editor's Note Apparently the foundation stone was laid in 1890 and the first services held in the new Cathedral in 1892. We thank our correspondent for his letter.

BRITISH JOURNALISM IN WARTIME.

By William Allison

The dogged, mercurial spirit of British journalism was never presented so faithfully, so dramatically, as during those frightful nights of 1940 and 1941, when, in spite of all that the Luftwaffe could do to smash the heart out of London, Fleet Street's national newspapers persisted in coming out every day without a single break.

Only those who endured it know at what cost of human courage and endurance this miracle was accomplished. But done it was, sometimes under unbelievable conditions.

In the early days of the blitz, newspaper staffs had to grope, run, or stumble their way to their office under a hail of shrapnel crashing buildings, and through street after street tumbled high with debris.

From every corner of London they came, running this nightly gauntlet of death, cheerfully but grimly reporters, sub-editors, executives, compositors, tape-room boys, each and every one of them with one inflexible purpose. The paper must get out. It's a creed of continuity and of duty to the public as sacred as that of the theatre.

Later, things became so bad that London's staffs had to sleep in their offices, or in nearby hostels, rapidly acquired and furnished. One sub-editor is reputed to have worked and slept in his office for five weeks on end, before going home to his wife and family.

In its long and honourable career, British journalism - whether in London or the provincial cities - never had a testing time such as this. It came through not unscathed, but with a high courage that enhanced its reputation throughout the free world.

The impact of the war generally on journalism here has been gradually to reduce the sizes of our newspapers - because of paper rationing - to a ghost of their former sizes, while their staffs, cut to the bone for national service, have shrunk to little more than skeleton proportions. Yet in spite of it, they have maintained a superb standard of news service.

LOCAL NOTES.

Quite a few people have gone from Stanley, to Darwin, for the sports which take place this week.

On Tuesday 15th Feb. Signelman C. Smith gave the members of ToCH a talk in the series "My job in Civy Street". The speaker was employed in the building trade.

We draw the attention of people in town, to the Army Educational Classes, to be held shortly. Full particulars of the Classes etc. are to be found in this paper.

The local shooting Bisley is due to take place this weekend. We wish enthusiasts- "Good shooting".

As most of our readers know a bulletin of local news is broadcast to the "Camps" at 6.30 p.m. Stanley time most Sunday evenings. This is now followed by a half hour's musical programme and then by a relay of the Cathedral service. The establishment of the "Falkland Islands Broadcasting Station" is a milestone in the history of the Colony. Listeners will find the programmes on 83 metres. Arrangements have now also been made for the broadcasting of the musical programme over the local system for Stanley listeners who do not own wireless receivers. So listen in at 6.30 on Sunday evenings.

"Ah you are a doctor, I suppose?" said the writer. "Not at all" said the guest, "I am a coal merchant".

RED CROSS BAZAAR.

Stalls have been planned for the Annual Red Cross Bazaar in addition to any side shows and games which can be arranged. We hope to collect enough articles this year to allow everyone to spend as much, (and more), than he wishes! In order to do this it will be necessary for everybody, especially the women, to begin now to plan contributions to the various stalls, and to get to work on them.

We can all aim at making five things or ten or an hour's work every day, or some other goal that represents what we would gladly do if we were nearer a hotter front.

There is not space in one page to publish all the suggestions which have already been made and for which recipes and instructions are available. They will however be published from time to time with any more suggestions which will be warmly welcomed. Meanwhile, here are a few things we can be getting on with.

JAMS JELLIES PICKLES CHUTNEYS sell well.

Will those with an over-abundant supply of fruit and rhubarb please make a little more jam or jelly than they require for the household and give some to the Fresh Produce Stall.

Will those who have no means of making preserves send their empty glass jars to any member of Committee so that the preserve-makers can receive an ample supply of containers.

For her SWEET STALL Mrs. Bradley will be pleased to receive cardboard boxes, small tins, coloured paper and cellophane. (The wrappers of 50s cigarettes are especially useful).

Time Flies!

Little John was having his first ride in a train, and was very much impressed when the train dived into the darkness of a tunnel. He sat spellbound, and when they came out into daylight again just gasped:
"Why, it's tomorrow already"!

An old villager had been offered a pound note if he would let an artist paint him.
He hesitated for a while.

"It's easily earned money", prompted the artist.
"Oi know that, sir," was the reply. "Oi were just thinking how Oi should get the paint off afterwards."

ANNOYING.

Black: "I suppose the Boss was annoyed when you reminded him I leave next week?"

Text "He can show us our way".

If you are a Christian you have with you always, One Who knows the Way. He can show you the way out of your difficulties, the way to behave yourself aright, the way to please God, the way to do well, the way to be happy and the way to heaven. He said once "I am the Way" John 14 v 6.

HOW THE ENGLISH HAVE CHANGED

"There is in many Englishmen today, and especially in young people come to maturity, a renewed interest in the religious view of the world, and a disposition to examine afresh, in the light of it, the traditional answers to fundamental questions which Christianity has provided.----- that the seeds of a spiritual revival are germinating in the minds of the people of this country, I, for one, do not doubt."

(Professor C.E.M.Joad, in the World Review)

WEDDING.

Last Saturday in Christ Church Cathedral Miss Hannah Hansen and Mr Barry Goss were married by the Rev. G.K.Lowe. The bride, given in marriage by her father Mr.Fred Hansen, was dressed in silk taffeta with embossed chenille roses, she carried a bouquet of roses and ferns and wore the veil of Mrs.J.A.King. She was attended by Miss Eileen Aldridge (Chief Bridesmaid) who was dressed in green satin with hat to match, her bouquet was similar to that of the bride.

The two train-bearers, Miss Zena Goss and Miss Shirley Shackel were dressed in flowered crepe-de-chine with head dress to match, and bore posies of mixed flowers. The bouquets were prepared by Mrs E.A.Davis and the dresses were made by Mrs A.W.Summers. Mr.J.A. King acted as best man.

In the evening a dance was held in the Town Hall, to which some 600 guests were invited.

We wish Mr and Mrs Goss every happiness in the future.

Hints on obtaining the best service from your watch.

workmanship of their construction. However, despite their excellent performance it should be remembered that a watch is a delicate mechanism requiring careful treatment, regular lubrication, and occasional cleaning if it is to continue to give reliable service.

Wartime has made it essential for all of us to make our watches last as long as possible, and it is with a view to helping readers to obtain the most efficient service from their watches that I put forward the following hints which I hope will prove useful.

(1) General Care Treat your watch as carefully and gently as possible despite its claim to be "shock proof". Never knock, or strike your watch in order to make it start as there is a great danger of doing permanent damage to the balance staff, and the pivots. Should normal winding fail to start it then rock it gently back, and forwards in the plane of the watch.

(2) winding. This should be done regularly at the same time every twenty-four hours, preferably when taken off the wrist, or just before turning in for the night.

(3) Regulating. This should be done by a watchmaker as there is some danger of damaging the balance, and the hairspring, by using any old instrument to adjust the regulator.

(4) Lubrication. This should be done every nine months or so, this will ensure sweet running and of course only the best watch oil should be used. Machine oils etc. are much too thick and only tend to clog the pivots in the holes, eventually making it necessary for the watch to be thoroughly overhauled before the prescribed time.

(5) Cleaning It is advisable to have this done every two years, and should be done only by a competent watchmaker. If a watch is accidentally dropped into water, and no watchmaker is available it will be advisable to put the complete movement into a receptacle filled with benzine or petrol keep it there for at least twelve hours then carefully left it out and place in a small box for safety. It must be remembered that a thorough overhaul and clean is most necessary in this case, for once rust starts to work on the mechanism the watch is ruined.

(6) Damage or Mechanical failure. If a watch is badly knocked or let fall accidentally it should be examined as soon as possible, this will ensure if any damage has been inflicted it can then be attended to and rectified. Failure to have this examination made, may, at a later date cause serious trouble and eventually put the watch beyond repairing. Mainsprings do snap quite frequently in this part of the hemisphere, this is due in most cases to the extremes in temperature. (These springs are made from very highly tempered steel and susceptible to the variations of heat, and cold). Never lay your watch on any stone or marble surface as the sudden cold shock will cause the spring to contract and break. Hairsprings should never be interfered with. Failure to observe this rule will put the timing out and make the watch unreliable.

By observing these simple hints I am certain that you will have a real friend in your watch, and one that will never let you down.

It is rather late now to sow lettuce for use during the winter months, but if you possess a cold frame or any other glass protection, you can have lettuce for early spring use by sowing the seed now. Sow thinly and thin early; by so doing, strong, compact plants will be the result and in this condition they are ready to withstand the vigours of winter.

Cauliflower seed should also be sown in frames now; they may be sown in drills, or broadcast, but here again, sow thinly if strong sturdy plants are to be secured for transplanting next spring. If you don't possess a frame try a sowing under the shelter of a hedge or close fence.

Reference has been made—and will continue to be made to frame culture. Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon the value of the frame, in fact it is indispensable in any garden. The glass lights do make excellent targets for mischievous boys as many of us already know to our sorrow. However, it is possible to fix a wire-netting guard, or some other substitute over the lights to prevent destruction.

Those seedling Antirrhinums, Clarkias, Cinerarias and Schizanthus should now be ready for thinning if they are not being "pricked off" into seed boxes. When thinning, allow at least two inches between the seedlings; a sturdy, healthy plant will be the result, which should always be the cultivator's aim.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR.

Stanley,
21st February 1944.

Dear Mr. Editor,

May I, through the medium of your paper, appeal to organisers of local dances to 'go easy' on the old time dances. It is painfully obvious by the faces of those present that they are not popular. I do not suggest, of course, that they should be dropped altogether but a continuous programme of last century dances not only bores everybody stiff but imparts to the local people an odour of rusticity which they do not deserve.

During the course of a recent dance a young lady remarked to me "Whatever struck the H.C. to have the ninepins?" My prompt reply was "I don't know what did strike him, but I know what ought to strike him - and thats a brick!"

If the H.C.s cannot resist this primitive obsession to bring out all the relics of the 'gay nineties' and earlier, we could all attend in bustles, crinolines etc. and try to recapture the sportive spirit of those frivolous days

yours sincerely

TANGO.

TABERNACLE EFFORT

On Wednesday the 23rd of February, the Town Hall was the scene of the above event. All Wednesday, goods arrived from the community, and by 6.30 p.m. the stalls - sweet, flower, vegetable, jumble, gift and cake - were well filled. At 7 p.m. business commenced. This was brisk, and soon the stalls were being relieved of their wares. The sweet stall was sold out all too soon and the tit-bits on the others were quickly bought up. Later in the evening, a lovely bowl of strawberries with an accompanying jar of cream, also a bowl of gooseberries were put up for auction. Mr. Hamaford, the auctioneer, had little difficulty in disposing of them. The bidding for the strawberries and cream was high, opening with a £1 bid from Mr W. Sedgwick. They were finally knocked down to Mr. Don Miller for the handsome bid of 29/- and disposed of by his many lady friends. The Gooseberries went to Lieut. Kingon R.N.V.R. for 19/-.

The stage, laid out with neat little tables, was turned into a tea-room and did good business: In the ante-room you could purchase cold drinks and for the modest sum of threepence, a facsimile of your future husband (or wife), or your future typed in brief. The games - shies, darts, bullboard, and quoits - were well patronised, affording amusement and taxing the skill of the many competitors. The prizewinners were -

Darts. Lady. Mrs. Stan Clothoec. Score 107.

Gent Mr Jimmie Scott. Score 168.

Quoits. Lady. Miss Heather Sedgwick Score 40.

Gent Mr. Les. Halliday Score 60.

Bullboard. Miss Joyce Stevenson Score 48.

Putting Mr. Jack Osborne Score 17.

At 11.30 p.m. we closed shop. The amount realised, £141:8:11½, exceeded best expectations.

We were pleasantly surprised at the response our effort brought from the community in gifts and patronage. If we were to mention all our donors, individually we would require another page, so to them, our patrons, stall-holders and helpers we say - "Thank You!"

The Late Mrs Sarah Kirk.

We regret to announce the death of the late Mrs Sarah Kirk, which took place at the K.E.M. Hospital, Stanley, on the 24th of February. Mrs Kirk was 51 years of age. The funeral took place from Christ Church Cathedral last Sunday afternoon and was conducted by the Rev. G. K. Lowe. Left to mourn their loss are Mr William Kirk (husband) four sons (three of whom are on active service) and one daughter.

Mr Kirk and family wish to thank Mrs L. Wigg, Mrs Alec Berntsen, Mrs Robert Reive, the doctor and Staff of the K.E.M. Hospital, and all who sent floral tributes and messages of sympathy.

DARWIN SPORTS

Last Week, the Annual Sports took place at Darwin. The horse racing events had to be carried over to the Wednesday as well as the Tuesday, on account of the bad weather.

On Thursday afternoon there was a Gymkana, and an exciting football match in which Darwin challenged the Rest. The honours of the field, were divided 1-1, when the referee's whistle sounded the final blast.

Each night from Tuesday to Saturday there was a dance. These took place in the Gooselagoon School, and everyone thoroughly enjoyed themselves. The Dances commenced at 9 p.m. or so, and went on merrily until at least four o'clock in the morning!

We are informed that there were "a lot of people present from Stanley, quite a few from North Arm, and some from San Carlos, and Port San Carlos".

On page 9 we give a list of the winner of the Horse events.

IN A FEW WORDS.

Britain has saved hundreds of thousands of tons of shipping during this war by the study of the most economical methods of packing and loading stores. Wheeled vehicles are boxed by the Ministry of Supply before they are received by Army Ordnance and it is estimated that 100 cased vehicles can now be carried in the space formerly occupied by 60 vehicles on wheels.

British railways have made stringent economies in their use of fuel. The proportion of loaded to total wagon miles has increased from 67.5 per cent before the war to 75.5 per cent. From less heating of trains, a saving of 30,000 tons is being achieved.

Sixty feet below the pavement in a Greater London district is a unique war factory. Two years ago it was an uncompleted extension of the Underground Railway. The 5½ miles of tunnel have now been converted into a bustling production centre, air-conditioned and equipped. Eighty per cent of the workers are women. They are turning out vital parts for aircraft at machines and benches laid out in a single row along what was meant to be railway track, and on what were meant to be station platforms are tool rooms, workshops and glassed-in offices.

Early in the war a number of women artists in Britain formed a training centre under an experienced instructor for tuition in practical draughtsmanship. Soon many were engaged on plans for war weapons, aircraft and tanks. Four thousand drawings are needed for building one type of bomber and over 200 women from the training centre are now engaged in the drawing offices of various Government Departments.

Paul Jones was a famous pirate. In the dance a man may capture another man's girl, as it were in an act of piracy.

Shadrach was one of three Jews in the service of Nebuchadnezzar who refused to worship his golden image.

A saucer is so called because a similar shallow vessel was formerly a dish for sauce.

An antimacassar was a loose cover to protect the back of a chair from hair oil when this was extensively used by young men of fashion.

The sentence is not correct, since mutton is frozen, but beef is only chilled.

GARDENING NOTES.

The time has now arrived to prepare daffodil bulbs for forcing, and the kind of bulbs to choose for the purpose, are those that are sound and large with raised shoulders.

Place the bulbs in pots and boxes; the latter should be three inches in depth at the least, and ensure that the shoulder's of the bulbs are just below the soil surface. Firm planting is essential, so be certain that the soil is pressed firmly home. An inch apart is ample spacing for bulbs which are to undergo forcing conditions.

Having completed the planting, give the soil a thorough soaking with water; the receptacles must then be placed outdoors, preferably on a hard bottom, covered with peat-ash. A covering must now be provided, peat-mould is ideal for the purpose. Heap the mould about the receptacles, covering them to a depth of about four inches. Put the whole firmly into place, and no further attention will be required until about the middle of June; by then it will be found that an inch of growth has been made, and the bulbs are then ready for placing under glass.

We hope that any who celebrated their birthdays last Tuesday received their four years supply of presents safely!

On Tuesday 22nd Feb. TCH held a Quizz Evening. At the close all felt that they had gained in knowledge, if not in prestige.

Next Week we hope to give the results of the Local Bisley.

Mrs Sheppard, Chairman of the W.V.S. Canteen informs the Weekly News that the Canteen is fulfilling its purpose, and is much appreciated by those who make use of it. Many thanks are extended to lady workers and all who have made the reopening possible.

FOR THE CHILDREN Read 1 John Ch. 4 vv 11-21.

Standing on the top of a hill, a little son's hand closed in his, a father taught the message of the measureless love of God.

Pointing northward, then southward, then eastward, then westward, then sweeping his hand around the circling horizon, he said "God's love is as big as all that". The boy replied "then we must be in the middle of it". Verse 10 of the same chapter tell us that we are the object of God's love.

SEALS IN OUR COLONY

1. The Southern Sea Lion (Otaria byronia) is by far the commonest of the six seals which occur in the Falklands. The total herd is about half a million.
2. The adult bulls are far larger than the cows and weigh over 1500 lbs. the females running to say 600lbs.

Newly born pups are about 28 lbs. and covered with an almost black, slightly wavy coat.

Immature animals are grey but become reddish until the next moult.

Adult bulls vary from almost black to cream as do the cows but these are, on the whole, rather lighter in colour.

3. It takes 6 years for a bull to become adult and 4 for a cow.

LETTER TO EDITOR.

28th Feb. 1944.

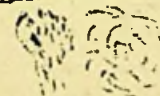

Stanley

Dear Editor,

May I reply to "Tango" through the medium of your paper on old time dances? Judging by the tone of the letter it would seem as if this critic can only do the Tango and this in my opinion should be learnt before doing it. To suggest that the Islanders are bored to death with old dances is a lie because they don't enjoy themselves better than when one of these dances is called out. Perhaps Tango would like to see the Congo and Bumps-a-daisy more but in the Islanders' opinion these dances are "wet" In conclusion I suggest we keep the old dances going and make Tango miss with his brick!

At the moment another sowing of cabbage must be made now if we are to maintain a succession. The seed should be sown under glass; if this is not available, some sheltered spot in the open might do. Any of the varieties already recommended for spring use are suitable. Some of us probably lifted a few clumps of daffodils for forcing last week, but if we were wise all the areas that have contained bulbs for more than three years should have the bulbs removed from them, for the purpose of re-manning and division of the clumps. This treatment is essential when the bulbs are being used as part of the main floral display in the flower beds and borders.

When separating the clumps, retain the large bulbs only; a plentiful supply of these are always available. The best of the discarded stock may be replanted in grass verges or banks. Replanting should be carried out as soon as possible: planting to a depth of two and a-half inches, and from four to six inches asunder.

THE REV. G. K. LOWE

This week the Colony says "Goodbye" to the Rev. G. K. and Mrs. Lowe. Since 1936 Mr. Lowe has held the position of Colonial Chaplain, and has been in charge of Christ Church Cathedral.

— Mr. Lowe, who came from Canada, graduated at Trinity Theological College — part of the University of Toronto, in the year 1932 becoming a Licentiate in Theology (LTh).

To all who know him, Mr. Lowe was very much a "people's man". He was always willing to help anyone faced with problems and difficulties. When war broke out he became Information Officer and Assistant Censor. Later he was responsible for the management of the excellent Servicemen's Canteen in the Church Hall.

We do not forget either his organisation of the "Fellowship of the Bellows" in the Colony, and all that that effort has meant in raising money for planes.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowe were given a farewell social in the Town Hall by the members of Christ Church Cathedral Choir and Church Council. In the course of an enjoyable evening Mr. Lowe was presented with a gift of money with which to buy a present for himself, as a keepsake in memory of a happy term of service.

We thank Mr. Lowe for his services to the Colony, and we wish his wife, himself and family, our best wishes for the future.

In the Police Court on Tuesday the 29th February, 1944, two residents of Stanley were charged, and convicted, with contravening Section 9 of the Board of Health Bye-Laws which requires plans to be submitted and a permit obtained before commencing the erection of any building. The case of a third householder, who was charged on the same account was dismissed — the defendant being given the benefit of the doubt when he asserted that he had received a 'building permit' some four or five years ago. The Court imposed a fine of $1 in each of the other cases.

On the recommendation of the President of the Board of Health the Magistrate agreed to remit the fine.

A STRANGE FISH.

Last summer a member of one of the outposts used to catch rather large, flattish, grey fish in Port William, in the winter a number of similar fish were washed up by a gale at Lliza Cove and now a good specimen of the same fish has been brought in from West Point where the people have been catching them, off the rocks, with hand lines.

The fish Salilota australis, is a member of the true Cod family and is of course a most excellent table fish. Probably it could often be caught round our shores. Mutton and mussels or limpets should be tried for bait. This fish has no English name, its length 18 ins.

The above passage is about the conversion of Zaccheus to Christianity. Notice the change which came over him when he accepted Jesus as his Lord and Saviour- he determined to make amends for the past, and in the future help others and be honest. These were three good resolutions which Jesus created in the heart of Zacchaeus. Jesus creates good desires in the hearts of all who accept and follow Him. He also helps us to carry them out.

Stanley Bisley

The Local Bisley, held on the week-end before last, proved a very popular and most interesting meeting. Being the first since 1939 it was thought that scores would be much lower, and performances generally not so good, as in the past. This, however, was proved quite wrong, and while scores are not as good as 1939 they show that the art of rifle shooting is still very much alive in the Colony. The older members put up a very good show, but what pleases one is the very fine performance put up, both generally and individually, by the new members. From their scores it is quite obvious that they will be able, when the time comes, to carry on the fine tradition which has been established by the older members. The Committee, and all the officials concerned, are to be heartily congratulated on their organization of the shoot, which enabled everything to run so smoothly. The Clerk of the Weather should also receive our thanks, inasmuch as no meeting had to be cancelled, or postponed, owing to his kindly offices.

MILK.

Milk is the best of all foods - a balanced ration prepared by Nature herself. This statement is backed up by a wealth of experience and research. Doctors prescribe milk for a large number of conditions, such as tuberculosis, under nourishment, stomach ulcers and so on.

But when a physician prescribes milk it is a common - too common - experience to hear the patient say: "I can't take milk", or "I don't like milk", or "milk disagrees with me".

Now, when one is sick he should have food that he likes not food that he detests and obviously every child should be taught to like milk so that when he is upset by some illness this dislike of milk will not be present as an additional problem.

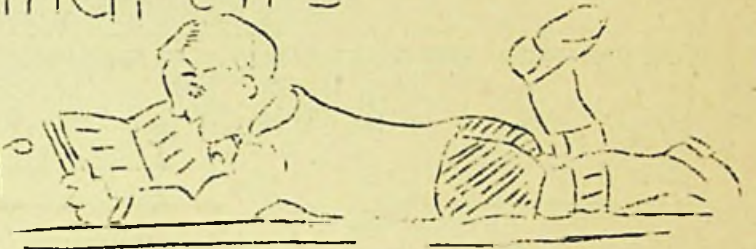

Children are imitators. They grow up in the image of their parents. What is more natural therefore than that the child should dislike milk if he constantly sees his parents drinking something else. Parents should understand and teach their children to understand the principle that milk is a great privilege: they should carefully avoid making the consumption of milk a burdensome duty.

No child should have less than a pint of milk every day; no pregnant or nursing mother should have less than a pint and a half and no adult less than 10 ounces. These are not optimum standards, they represent the very least that should be taken of this very important protective food.

Actually nothing like this quantity of milk is drunk in Stanley and unless the parents set an example there is little hope of improvement.

Dear Boys and Girls,

I am printing the best of the entries for last week's Competition. The winner was Beatrice Newman, Age 12; I am also awarding Cinema tickets (kindly given us for this purpose by Mr Les Hardy) to Nora Harries, age 14, and Vera Smith, age 10. These three can call at the Weekly News Office, for their tickets.

Leslie Smith, Freddy Newman, and Leon Keith Harries sent in quite good efforts too, and we hope that they will keep trying our Competitions until they win prizes.

MY FAVOURITE GAME.

My favourite game is "Tig" it is sometimes called "Relieve Me". It may be played by any number of players more than three. One or two of the players, according to how many are playing, chase the others. When the chaser tigs one of the other players, the one who has been tiggered has to stand still with his or her hands shoulder high, until one of the free players, comes and tigs him or her, then they are free until the one who is chasing tigs him or her again. The one who chases is allowed to stand in front of the people they tig if they wish. When every player is caught and has not been freed, the last one or two who have been tiggered start the game again by being the chasers.

I'll be with you all again next week,

Uncle Jim.

BRITAIN'S WATER SUPPLY

By Barbara Stuart.

To supply seven and a half million people with pure water for drinking, washing, cooking, refrigeration, and a hundred other uses: to distribute an average daily supply of forty gallons (182 litres) to each of these millions of users: to transport this enormous volume of water over an area of roughly 537 square miles (1,383 square kilometres) - this is gigantic task for which the Metropolitan Water Board in London is alone responsible. Moreover, this service is provided at an average cost to each person of only twopence-halfpenny a ton!

Water is the most vital necessity of life: there is no substitute for it, and no living thing can be independent of it. It can either come as the bringer of health and prosperity, or it can carry contamination and disease over a large area. The responsibility of those who control the water supply of a large city is very great, more especially in wartime. The supply itself must be guaranteed and its quality safeguarded.

For forty years the great organisation of the Metropolitan Water Board has faithfully carried out both these duties, and the unfailing standard of its service may be judged by the excellent health enjoyed by London's citizens, and the fact that never once, during all the air raid disasters of 1940-1941, has the city's water supply failed or suffered contamination.

London is, of course, fortunate in possessing splendid natural resources.

It is fed by two rivers, the Thames and the Lee, and by fifty-five underground wells. From most of these wells, the water is of such purity that it can be used as it is, but for the others, and for all river water, an elaborate system of water purification is carried out.

We cannot make any comments on the past week, without mention of the wonderful day of sunshine we had last Sunday. The highest temperature in the shade was only 64.9 degrees F. (compared with 71 degrees on the afternoon of the 4th February). The cloudless sky enabled us to enjoy the full benefit of its warm rays.

Sgltm. Wm Cook gave the members of the local branch of ToEH a talk on his job in Civy Street, at the Weekly Meeting, on Tuesday 7th March. The speaker was a work's manager in a factory engaged in making ornamental jewellery and trinkets, in Birmingham.

It is with pleasure that we publish an article in this week's paper, contributed from the Camp, which we called "Climbing Mount Osborne." Mount Osborne is on the East Falklands, and is 2,245 ft. in height.

From the point of view of food for the animals in town, it was a cheering sight to see bundles of tussac being unloaded at the public jetty once again, this week.

LETTER TO EDITOR.

Stanley
March 10th 1944.

Dear Mr. Editor,

Your correspondent 'Ninepins' appears to be getting very hot around the collar for very little reason. If he had taken the trouble to read my original letter carefully he would realise that his reply is what one might call 'a load of tripe'.

Did I mention the tango or claim to be an expert at this dance? No. Did I advocate 'Wet' dances (Boomp a daisy, Conga, etc)? No. Did I desire old time dances abolished? No, I merely remarked that the public do not want a continuous programme of old fashioned dances and I know this to be true. If 'Ninepins' would keep his eyes and ears in a receptive condition this fact would be equally apparent to him. I agree that old fashioned dances are enjoyed, so is old wine - until you have too much, and it is only this over-indulgence that I wish to criticise.

My criticism was not directed particularly against the Minnepsins, let those who wish to dance this do so, the last time I ventured to join in the general gyrations my partner was carried away unconscious, I broke three rails in the bandstand and landed in a corner in a dishevelled condition.

For 'Ninepins' information I would add that I am an Islander myself, I cannot dance the Tango, and I very much doubt if he can either.

Yours sincerely,

Tango.

W E D D I N G .

As reported in last week's News the wedding of Miss Margaret Redmond to Mr William Finlayson took place in St. Mary's Chapel on Wednesday the 8th March, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Father Drumm. Mr Charles Finlayson was best man.

The bride, dressed in white satin, with veil and head-dress to match was given away by her brother-in-law,

Mr W. McMillan. Supporting the bride were—her sister Mrs W. McMillan and a friend Miss Edith Stewart, as Matron of Honour and bridesmaid respectively. Mrs McMillan and Miss Stewart were dressed in green-crepe, trimmed with cream, and had cream-coloured hats to match. The dresses were made by Mrs W.E. Summers.

The bride carried a bouquet of ferns, roses, and gypsophila, the Matron of Honour and the Bridesmaid also carried bouquets-of mixed flowers. The bouquets were made from flowers given by Mrs. T.Smith, Mr.H. Evans, Mrs J.Ryan, and Mrs J.Davis Sr.

After the Ceremony, a Reception was held at the home of the bridegroom followed by a supper. Later a Dance was held in the Town Hall, to which over 300 were invited.

At an interval in the Reception, and at the Dance in the Town Hall, the Navy's "Bing Crosby" Mr Jim Empson entertained with songs.

The four tier wedding cake was made by Mr. J. F. Summers.

Mr. and Mrs. Finlayson are making their home in Stanley. We wish them every happiness in the future.

HEARD THIS ONE?

To two recruits on their first night guard, appeared a dark figure,

"Halt! who goes there?"

"Orderly Officer"

This nonplussed the recruits. They whispered together "Come on! Come on!" said the Orderly Officer, testily, "You've had me standing at attention here for five minutes".

More whispering, and then a flash of inspiration
"Orderly Officer! Stand at ease!"

Sunday dawned with every promise of a fine day and by 9 o'clock the sun was blazing down from an almost clear sky so we brought in the horses and saddled up getting away by 10. We had originally intended walking to Mount Osborne but the novelty of the ride appealed to Charles and Wally, the former because he had been on a horse many years ago and the latter because he had never ridden and had already done too much walking. As might be expected with novices riding horses away from home progress was slow and we were late reaching Ceritos, where we found nobody home. Charles fed the hens then we had a snack and deciding to leave our food behind, taking only an apple each we set out on foot across the valley to the foot of the mountain. The going was easy until the ground began to rise steeply and stoneruns appeared, and then low cloud appeared, advancing rapidly and getting set to spoil the splendid view we expected to get from the top. We soon had the uncanny experience of walking above the clouds, or fog as it was by now although away on our left Port Sussex showed up clearly. This was soon blotted out and Charles hastily took a compass bearing on the highest peak before that too was swallowed up in the mist. We were about three quarters of the way up when the rain commenced and we hopefully said "it mightn't be much". It was soon obvious however that we were in for a wetting but we decided to keep on and get slightly wetter and there was always the hope that it might clear. In any case Charles had walked all the way from Stanley specially to make the climb. The summit was finally reached, at least it seemed to be the top as we could see nothing higher within a radius of 20 yards which was the limit imposed by the fog.

By now it was blowing hard and the rain teeming so we simply walked over the top into the shelter of some ricks, ate our apples and worked out a plan of campaign. We knew Darwin was behind us yet the compass showed us facing south - something wrong here - maybe iron in the rocks, so discarding the compass for the time struck out to the south east intending to go round that end of the mountain. Going was not easy however, the mountainside being almost perpendicular but turfed and affording a fair foothold. Below us we could hear what might be running water, a brook at the foot of the slope, and steering a diagonal course downwards until the sound identifying itself as lapping water we hastily changed our course uphill as neither of us wished to plunge into the pond of fabulous depth. We were lucky, for working further to the right we eventually came to a gentle slope and found ourselves in a veritable crater with the pond at the bottom, and believe me it looked bottomless. A slight lifting of the mist showed us the slope down which we had scrambled, it looked steeper from where we stood, and ended with a smooth inclined rock the base of which was lapped by the grey waters of the pond. We gave a shiver, and the mist closed down again.

On consulting the compass again it seemed to be working as a compass should and we continued our course over the south eastern end of the mountain incidentally encountering some stoneruns of considerable extent. We soon found ourselves in the valley below Ceritos house and in the distance the Ceritos rocks. The rain had ceased by now and the cloud was lifting slowly and by the time we had plodded to Ceritos the mountain was again in view and the sun beginning to show.

Fortunately for us Jack McLeod was at home and this meant a hot drink and dry socks, and were these welcome?

On the way home the horses made good time and on our way round the bay at Darwin we saw the last cloud clear from Mount Osborne and beheld the mountain bathed in the purple red light of the sinking sun.

Whether Charles and Wally derived any satisfaction

THE CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

By Mrs. Lesley Blanch.

Down in Shoreditch, in the heart of the East-End of London, there is a small, yet significant building. By some miracle it has remained unharmed through all the bombing which has shattered so much of this area. This simple, unpretentious and rather shabbily little place has great significance. It symbolizes that tranquility of spirit, that casual cheerfulness and normality with which the people of London have met the challenge of total warfare.

Its name is the Geffrye Museum. It has come to be known as the children's museum, for they have the run of the place, and patter in and out un-dragooned, allowed to wander there at will. They come in their free time, and on holidays; as well as during school-time, when some of their classes are held there, as well as certain film shows, talks, and art exhibitions. It is also the meeting place for various Saturday expeditions. In fact, to the children it is their own special club. This unpretentious educational experiment - a working experiment, too, is none the less revolutionary for being unpublicised. There is none of that complicated scientific approach which clouds so many questions of child welfare and education. The museum has throughout all the past four dangerous years, remained a centre of abiding interest, and a source of refreshment amidst the squalor and tragedy of the battered neighbourhood.

NOTES OF THE WEEK

All were pleased to learn of the safe arrival in Britain of our Volunteers.

Toch met last Wednesday night, to hear a talk, which turned out to be most informative, on "Russia" by Sgt. Whitty. Toch meets this week, tonight, Thursday, at 8 p.m. in the Tabernacle kitchen. Civilians are welcome.

We are pleased to note the cutting of the grass in the Cemetery.

Many people have been "berrying" on the Common lately. The "Tea-berry" appears to be fairly plentiful this season.

Last Sunday was Harvest Thanksgiving Sunday at the Tabernacle. There was a splendid display of flowers and vegetables in front and on either side of the pulpit.

For the information of our readers, not familiar with Stanley, and its neighbourhood, the three masts appearing in the background of this month's cover design are the masts of the Great Britain, which is now moored out at Sparrow Cove.

With reference to last week's centre page article, the Weekly News has been informed that the correct chart spelling of the mountain is "Mt. Usborne".

We are interested to see that the greater part of the pamphlet published here for the Centenary of the "Great Britain" last year is reproduced in the December issue of the Port of London Authority Magazine.

PREVENTION BEING BETTER THAN CURE we should from time to time look to our defences against that great enemy, the common cold.

While it is hardly possible for us to go through life without contracting a cold there are many times

when the exercise of a little care would have averted one or at least minimised the effects.

Attention to the suitability of clothing and footwear is obviously important but we must consider internal protection as well as external.

COD LIVER OIL is known to supply the vitamins which help us to combat colds and it is doubly imperative that we get the protection afforded by this remedy at a time when colds are prevalent.

ODE TO THE LADIES OF THE CHURCH CANTEEN.

O Ladies of the Church Canteen,

Your nightly charity has been

Most welcome and most kind:

Perhaps when we have crossed the sea

And Stanley is a memory

You first shall come to mind.

Th time has come at last to say

How we appreciate the way

You served us drink and food;

We shall remember often too

How you appeased our endless queue,

Our Khaki multitude.

So praised be she who pours the cup,

And praise to her who hands me up

The Sausage and the Mash;

And she who with a valiant air

Sits near the doorway in her chair

And handles all the cash.

Kind ladies of the Church Canteen!

Full many an evening have I seen

Your voluntary toil -

Whatever you may do or be

We'll drink your health in cups of tea

So long as kettles boil!

Many agree that the flowers and vegetables displayed at the Tabernacle during the past week-end surpassed anything for variety bloom and quality, which they so far seen at our harvest thanksgiving services.

The above produce was disposed of at a mock-auction.

Mr R. Hanna Ford was the usual capable auctioneer and quickly turned the goods into cash, amounting to $19:2:8½. We warmly thank our donors and patrons for their gifts and support.

FOR THE CHILDREN Read Matthew Ch 5. vv. 13-16

At another time Jesus said "I am the light of the World" meaning that His doctrines were truth and threw light on problems. He also meant that His way of life-trusting in God and doing His will- was the way that life should be lived. Of all who believe in Him He says, they are the lights of the world, for what they believe is truth and by following Him they walk in the light.

We hear that the Keel Inlet and Fitzroy stations combined to gather the stragglers on Wickham Heights during early March. The result, about 20 double fleeces, 2 with 4 year fleeces and 1 unmarked full mouthed ram, carrying about 5 years wool. Round about 300 sheep were gathered in all.

We hear that these sheep are experts at camouflaging themselves to resemble part of a rock, and that a sheep lying against a rock a few yards away, may be easily overlooked.

HOUSE DEMOLISHED

The older residents of the Falklands will be very sorry to hear that the house of Dr. & Mrs Bolus in Barnes, London has been completely demolished in one of the recent German bombing raids. Dr. Bolus was the medical officer at Fox Bay about thirty years ago and Mrs Bolus is a sister of the late Hon G. J. Felton, Miss Hilary Felton also made her headquarters in the Bolus home.

The family are all safe.

The carrot crop may be stored indoors or outside. If it is to be the former, then a barrel makes a convenient receptacle, the bottom of which should be covered with sand or peat-mould. On this, the first layer of carrots is placed—crowns outwards. Each layer may be covered, though this is not essential. The last layer of course, must receive a liberal covering.

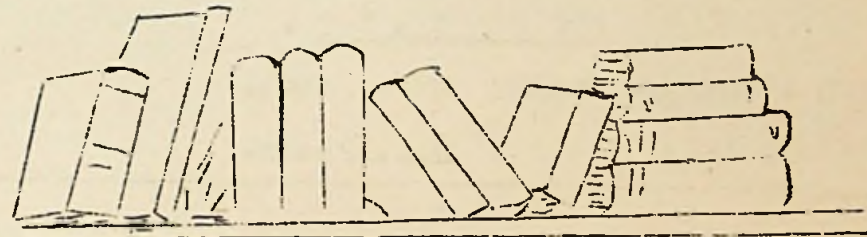

When making an outdoor store or 'clasp', a base of sand or peat-mould is put down, and on top of this the carrots are heaped. Finally the whole is well covered with the material already mentioned. Turf sods give extra protection and prevent the fine cover from being blown or washed away.

Now is the time to prune Rambler roses, and the operation is a simple-though unpleasant one if the cultivator is not afraid to remove the growths.

Dear Boys and Girls,

I am sure that many of you found out most of the words in last week's brain teaser. Perhaps Number 14 and 15 caused you some trouble. Did you find them out? This week I am sure that you will be interested to hear about a little dog, whose name was "Witchie". The dog as the name suggests was black in colour, and so she was because she was an Aberdeen terrier. She had always been the pet of the family, but one day an awful thing happened, her little Master brought into the yard a strange looking creature.

As soon as the coast was clear, Witchie advanced cautiously upon the new arrival. She would soon make life so unbearable for him, that he would be glad to clear out.

The dog had walked round the new pet not once but many times, making growling noises, and by this time the newcomer ought to have been thoroughly scared..... but for once Witchie lost..... the newcomer was a tortoise, and at the least sign of jealousy on the part of the dog, Peter (that was the tortoise's name) merely withdrew into his shell house, until the storm was over.

Witchie simply had to share his Master with Peter!

Cheerio,

Until next week,

Uncle Jim.

THE CHILDREN'S MUSEUM (continued)

The Geffrye Museum is a purely domestic museum. Its exhibits are composed almost entirely of everyday things of the past, and particularly the craft of the iron workers and cabinet makers, who once were centred in the neighbourhood. Spinning wheels, spinets, cradles, early cooking stoves, bible-boxes (in which the treasured hand-written and illuminated Bibles were kept locked), lamps, carpenters' tools, old shop signs, fantastically dressed dolls of all periods, silver, glass, china and earthenware, snuff-boxes, pieces of Grinling Gibbons' carving from St. Paul's Cathedral, great lush swags of fruit and flowers, a fluted plaster ceiling from the Pewterers' Hall, stained glass, crude, early hand-coloured children's books, full of moral adages, delicately embroidered waistcoats, babies' lace bonnets, some fine old carved doorways, and specimens of elegant Regency iron balconies are all to be found here. It is the history of everyday things, through the centuries.

Room by room, they are set out in period - reconstructions of typical domestic interiors. There is a Tudor room, panelled in oak, an eighteenth-century kitchen, perfectly reconstructed, down to the cumbersome but lethal mouse-trap, which is an object of great interest to the children. There is a Regency drawing-room, with scrolled sofa, a harp, and handsome inlaid furniture: there are Victorian rooms with their inconsequential collection of curios, samples and bric-a-brac; Stuart rooms, with clouded mirrors, damask covered walnut furniture, Delft china and pewter; there is an early sewing machine, examples of old wall-papers, fabrics from India and China and Lancashire cottons. There are glass-blowers' tools, a carpenter's tool chest, and a cloth loom.

Not, perhaps a really unique show? No, not by virtue of its exhibits, but unique, nevertheless, by reason of its environment, and in particular by the nature of its visitors.

LETTER TO EDITOR.

Stanley
27th March 1944.

Dear Mr. Editor,

I would be grateful if you can find space in your interesting little paper to publish the results of "An Evening" held in the Cookhouse at Fox Bay East.

We heartily congratulate Mrs. Myles, the organiser, and her generous supporters on their splendid efforts to "raise the Wind" for the Bellows Fund.

The grand total of £86/19/- from such a small gathering is magnificent and confirms our deep-rooted impression of what a Falkland Island breeze really is and we say "Well done" to our Fellow Blowers.

Thanking you,
Yours sincerely,
Whirlwind

KILLED IN ACTION.

News has been received of the death of William Tudor at the age of 27 yrs. He was a member of an Airborne Division and was killed in the fighting in Sicily last year.

The deceased was born on the West Falklands and lived at Hill Cove. He left the Colony in 1930. Side by side with him in the battle was his wife's brother, who was present when the padre buried him.

We extend our sympathy to his family in Britain and to his relations in the Falklands.

The Late Charles Edward Coulson.

The death has been announced at 42 Zetland Rd. Bristol of Mr. Charles Edward Coulson (62) who was well known in the local wireless trade.

FOR THE CHILDREN. Read Luke Ch 2 vv 41-47.

If you were to go to Palestine today and visit a Synagogue (the Jewish place of worship) you would see several small boys in their Sabbath clothes, with prayer rugs over their shoulders, sitting beside their fathers or grandfathers, and carefully applying themselves to the Law or Old Testament scriptures, repeating the words in monotonous voices and rocking their small bodies. Others may be asking questions as Jesus did so long ago. The lesson we should learn from the above portion of Scripture is that we too should have enquiring minds; anxious to learn from the Bible.

A TEXT "Even the youths shall faint and be weary, and the young men shall utterly fail; but they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary; they shall walk and not faint."

For many women in Britain Monday no longer holds any terrors as 'Wash-day'. The Laundry has come to her rescue, and all that is necessary is that she should make a list of articles she requires washing and put it in a hamper (provided by the Laundry) with the soiled-linen. At a regular day and time (in peacetime) the Laundry Van calls and takes it away, and she sees it no more till it is returned clean at the end of the week.

Nowadays she has the choice of various Services according to her means, and the class of work she requires from her Laundry. If she wants a really well finished article, she employs the Fully Finished Service, which is the most expensive, and all articles are returned thoroughly cleansed, and well ironed and folded.

If she requires a less expensive Service, and is prepared to iron the linen herself, she can employ the 'Bagwash Service' which will give her linen a thorough washing, and then rough-dry it and return to her. A medium Service is called the 'Float-iron' Service, and by this she can have her linen washed and ironed on a very large and expensive machine called the 'Float Iron', which has 6 or more heated rollers, and after being put through these machines once her linen is thoroughly dried and ironed, although the machine finish is not quite so good as the Fully Finished Service.

When her linen is received at the Laundry, each item is checked with the list which she has enclosed, and is then marked with her own distinguishing Laundry mark, which may be in Cotton or Marking Ink. After marking, the articles are sorted out into bins, according to the treatment they require. For example, all sheets and pillow cases are put into one bin, table-linen into another, and woollen articles into another, all these classes of work receiving different treatment in the Wash-house.

In the Wash-house, it is washed in the appropriate manner, and is then placed in a machine known as a Hydro-Extractor, which draws out almost all of the water, and leaves the article in a slightly damp condition, ready for the ironing process. Some articles which require still further drying are placed into a machine through which hot air is passed, and come out partly or completely dried according to the length of time they are left there.

Most flat articles are then finished on an ironing machine called a 'Calender' which consists of a well padded roller running in a heated bed, and which completely dries the sheet or other article, giving it a smooth, ironed finish, and also a polished surface to table-linen, which has been starched before it reaches this machine. Other articles such as shirts are ironed on various machines, one of which is a large electric or gas-heated iron which is worked up and down on an endless belt, and is controlled by the operator using slight pressure on the handle.

Socks and stockings are dried on frames shaped like a leg, stiff and soft collars receive special treatment on appropriate machines, and woollen articles receive just a light pressing, which leaves them soft and 'Woolly'.

British Laundries spend thousands of pounds every year in Research work, which is constantly bringing to light new and better ways of washing all kinds of articles, and what is likely to be more important still, is finding ways and means of making articles absolutely unshrinkable. Their constant aim is to give the housewife better, and, if possible, cheaper means of getting her washing done, and doing away with all the inconvenience and hard work of washing at home.

Most amateurs become uncertain on taking hold of a pruning instrument, and as a pruning operation progresses they commence to question. "Has enough or has too much been removed"? There should never be room for doubt, provided the principles advised are followed; and that one is acquainted with the different rose types or "classes". Getting back to the task on hand; all shoots that have flowered, during the summer must be cut back to within three inches of their base. Now,

CHILDREN'S CORNER

Weekly News Office,
Stanley
23:3:44.

Dear Boys and Girls,

I am hoping to have another
Competition for you next week, and also one for the boys and girls in the Camp. So don't miss your Corner in the Weekly News!

I am always pleased to have letters from the boys and girls who read and enjoy this corner. Write and let me know of any suggestions you have for making the page more interesting. Hand your letters into the Weekly News Office, and we will publish any suitable ones.

I have another adventure story for you, and again
the little black Aberdeen terrier, "Witchie" is the central figure.

On Sundays Witchie's little Master used to go to Church. The boy did not like having to leave Witchie at home, because the dog would not understand that his Master was going anywhere else than for a walk.
The little black dog loved walks!

So everytime that Bobbie left for Church, Witchie protested loudly as he was politely shut in the back kitchen.

One day Witchie was allowed out too soon; she dashed through the gate and before long had caught Bobbie up-as people say, and trotted happily beside the boy and his parents. Of course they tried to turn Witchie back, but she was very determined to go for the walk.

I must cut some of the story out. Witchie always accompanied her Master to Church after that, and waited patiently outside the building until the people came out again.

But one day she fell from grace. Some boys passing along the street opened the Church door. Witchie walked in, and joined in the service in her high pitched whine--for a few minutes, until she was out out!

So Witchie had to be locked in the house on Sunday mornings after that!

Until next week,
Uncle Jim.

During the school holidays, as soon as it opens, the children come clattering noisily, in, for a day of instructive amusement. But however noisy, they are not destructive. Although allowed to touch, they seldom injure the things: you see them pondering over the intricacies of a harpsichord, or studying the complications of a turn-spit cooking stove with equal care and interest. Sometimes they come in little groups - to study, or in separate units of two or three - to play. In 1942 there were 12,760 spare-time visits to the museum, excluding the 12,552 school-time visits, accompanied by teachers. They are given paints and chalks to draw (rather freely) what they admire best in the museum.

One small room was crowded with laughing and talking children, some sucking their paint brushes in the agony of creative frustration, others crowded round a boy who was modelling an Elizabethan frigate. These model ship classes are particularly popular among the older boys. Younger children enjoy playing with the huge Victorian dolls' house, arranging and re-arranging the quaint old toys inside.

However, much as they admire the various period rooms at the Museum, no interior has evoked such a spontaneous burst of enthusiasm as the modern living-room which has just been set up, as a tail-piece to the period interiors. This is regarded by the children as the acme of perfection.

Thus is the history of Britain and culture, love of beauty and freedom, a sense of responsibility, as well as an interest in the past and a sense of their stake in the future, fostered in these London children, who, though living amid the bombed streets, have their own special refuge - the children's museum - the Gerfrye.

FACTS ABOUT BRITAIN,

Britain's 1943 harvest surpassed the record-breaking one of 1942. 1,000,000 more tons (1,016,050 tonnes) of bread-corn (wheat, rye etc.) and 250,000 tons (254,013 tonnes) more of potatoes, have been produced. With more agricultural land given up for aerodromes and army training, the acreage on which this record harvest was grown is less than ever before.

Civil Defence workers in Bristol, a western England town, are subscribing towards their replacement of a window in the Cathedral which was damaged by air attack. The new stained glass window will represent the saving of the city from incendiary bombs.

The Late Leslie Walter Lindenberg

We regret to report the death of Leslie Walter Lindenberg, which occurred on the 1st of April, after a long illness, Leslie was twenty four years of age.

Before turning ill, Leslie was in the employment of the Falkland Islands Company, and sailed for four years on their vessel rising to be an A.B. Seaman. One of his voyages was to Britain. To all who knew him, he was a bright and cheery lad, even in his period of ill-health.

The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon from Christ Church Cathedral, the services at Church and Graveside being conducted by Mr. R. H. Hannaford (Lay Reader).

Mr. Lindenberg and family wish to thank all who sent Messages of sympathy and floral tributes, and especially Mr and Mrs Cartmell and Mrs McMullan. They also wish to thank Dr. Kinneard and Dr. Cowan.

The total enemy air losses for March amounted to 498 planes. Over Gt. Britain the enemy lost 59 machines, 41 over Europe, 279 in the Mediterranean area, 12 in the Middle East and 107 over India and Burma. The losses inflicted on the enemy by the American Airforce amounted to 447 planes.

AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP

We are pleased to hear that Cuthbert Hansen, who formerly lived with his parents in Stanley, and now lives with them in West Harrow, Middlx, has been awarded a Scholarship to the Acton Technical College. He hopes to take a course in architecture.

Mr. O'Neill.

News has been received from Mr O'Neill a former Minister of the Tabernacle, known to many in the Colony. He is well and lives in Northern Ireland.

HOW IS YOUR HEART, GEORGE?

"They have taken away my Lord out of the sepulchre and I know not where they have laid Him". With her whole heart absorbed in this thought, Mary of Magdala turned away from the Tomb of Jesus-- and lo! Jesus Himself was standing beside her. It was Jesus, but not as she had known Him. There was something spiritual, something not of earth in the risen and glorified body. Some accident of dress, or appearance made her fancy that it was the keeper of the garden, so she appealed to him - "Sir, if you took Him away, tell me where you laid Him". Jesus said to her, "Mary!" This was one of the stories which must have thrilled the hearts of the disciples of Jesus Christ. It was one story among others which brought the startling news that Jesus had risen from the dead. When Christ had died, nothing could have seemed more abjectly weak, more doomed to scorn and extinction than the Church He had founded. It numbered but a handful of weak followers, poor, ignorant and hopeless, yet this church lived to overcome the world. What was it that thus caused strength to be made perfect, out of abject weakness? There is one, and one possible answer. The Resurrection of Jesus Christ. And it is this fact, commemorated by Christendom at this Easter-time which should convince us afresh of the Divine source of the Christian faith, that Good will never be overcome by Evil, and that Jesus Christ is all that He claimed to be - the Saviour of the World - God manifest in flesh.

E.J.B.

FALKLAND ISLANDS FORCE CUP.

THIS CUP IS A GIFT TO THE DEFENCE FORCE REPRESENTING THE FALKLAND ISLANDS FROM ALL RANKS OF THE FALKLAND ISLANDS FORCE TO COMMEMORATE THEIR STAY IN THE COLONY FROM JULY 1942 UNTIL JANUARY 1944.

When Force 122 were informed that they were shortly to leave the Colony, one of their first thoughts was to leave some souvenir of their stay to show their appreciation of all the people of the Colony had done for them. Their difficulty was to know what to give and to whom and after careful thought and consideration they felt that the Defence Force was the most representative body of all sections of the people. It was therefore decided to make a presentation to the Defence Force as representing the Colony, and to let it take the form of a challenge cup for rifle shooting as a compliment to the Colony's reputation for producing good marksmen.

The cup will later on be open for competition to all members of the Defence Force but the first shoot cannot be arranged until all members of the Force are available to compete should they so wish.

OUR VOLUNTEERS.

Many of our readers probably heard on a B.B.C. news bulletin last week that our volunteers and the Norwegian contingent which had been helping in the defence of the Dependency of South Georgia, were received by the Duke of Devonshire, Under Secretary of State, at the Colonial Office on the 30th March.

At the reception the following telegram from the Governor was read.

"Grateful if you would give good wishes of myself, relatives and friends to all".

News has since been received that all our volunteers for the R.A.F. have been accepted.

Dear Boys and Girls,

Well, whatever your pet is, why not write and tell me briefly all about it? If you live in town, hand your effort (with name and age clearly written at the top of the page) into the Weekly News office, between four and four thirty on Tuesday or Wednesday afternoon. Cinema tickets will be awarded to the two best entries, age being taken into consideration of course. If you live in the Camp, send your letter in to the Weekly News Office as soon as possible. Two small prizes will be awarded to the best writers from the Camp.

We took these eggs out into a field and passed them from one to another, until they fell and eventually became cracked. Then the eggs were eaten. We always looked forward to Easter, and to the old fashioned custom of "rolling the eggs".

GEMS FROM ENEMY PROPAGANDA.

"In view of the length of the Eastern front, and the width of the area concerned, the German military command could not establish sufficiently strong reserves in all places which could possibly be endangered to oppose Soviet attacks immediately with full vigour. Thus it has been experienced, that, in the course of Soviet attacks in varying places, the attacking party at first advanced somewhat owing to its numerical superiority. Given the length and inadequacy of communications some time elapsed before sufficient German reserves could be despatched to the place where such a penetration had been effected. "Berlin military spokesman quoted by Transocean, 13/11/43.

"The Germans sent all available reserves to Italy, with the result that they were obliged to adopt elastic methods in Russia; that is, to carry out withdrawals according to plan. The German success in avoiding the most serious consequences of Badoglio's defection was a first-rate defensive victory, but one is obliged to pay a price for every victory, and in this case the price was territory on the Eastern front. We have abandoned this ground since the middle of August in order to avoid being attacked from behind in Northern Italy, on the Brenner, in Southern France, or in the Balkans."

("Captain Ritter v. Schramm", quoted by "Dagens Nyheter" 13.11.43)

"Our troops, both on the defensive and in counter-attacks, have had to face a numerically superior enemy. Where the Soviets attack with a division, we have a regiment. Where two Soviet battalions, supported by many tanks, attack a village, it is defended by two companies. Where -- as happened this morning at dawn -- a German tank formation carries out a counter-thrust, it meets a formation of T.34s. three times as strong. Anyone who has been with the men in the trenches, has seen commanders giving the orders to attack in the face of overwhelming odds".

AT THE SPORTS OR PUTTING THE SHOT?

This must surely be quite an historical week in the history of our Colony, with our Dependencies selling their own stamps!

In their last two Meetings T.C.H. has been delving into the topic of Economics—Sgt Whitty introduced the subject on the first night and Mr Brain provided subject matter on the second. Discussion followed the Talks.

T.C.H. meets at the usual place—the Tabernacle School-room, tonight (Thursday) at 8.p.m. A talk will be given by Lieut. Bennetton on "Behind the Banking Counter".

An address for those who wish to write to any of the company of Volunteers whose names were published in our paper two weeks ago, was broadcast from the local station last Sunday night—here it is:—Care of Victoria League Colonial Bureau, 60 Trafalgar Square, W.C.2.

An Invitation Dance was run by the Army last Monday evening. All present enjoyed themselves very much. Only people who had been attending recent army dances were invited.

The Phases of the moon given in our 20th January (No.3) issue of the Weekly News, will now be right for Stanley, as they stand.

Coloured pictures of the King, and the Queen, as well as Princess Elizabeth (in Girl Guide's Uniform) have been put on view in a number of the Classrooms of the Government School.

WINSTON CHURCHILL C.H., M.P.

In two instalments

- by A.R.C.

Of all the great public figures of the last forty years, none has stood out so strongly and so challengingly as Winston Churchill does today. To Englishmen everywhere he is a symbol of common-sense in chaos and strength in adversity - a rock against which the waves of danger, defeat, mistrust and corruption beat in vain. In the years preceding his appointment as leader of the British people he earned the affection of the man in the street by voicing publicly and often the uneasiness and distress of the nation at the trend of public events at home and abroad. As Prime Minister he succeeded in keeping that affection by the uncompromising directness of his policy, and by the vigour with which he pursued it.

So extraordinary a man must have lived a varied and unusual life - a brilliant background well worth painting in to finish off the picture so powerfully dominated by the grim, quizzical, relentless figure of the Churchill of the second Great War.

Winston Churchill, son of Lord Randolph Churchill, and grandson of the Duke of Marlborough, was born at Blenheim Palace on the 30th. November, 1874. As a boy he was a difficult blend of the naughtiness bred of an unusually sensitive and enquiring mind, and the traditional recklessness of his family. His brilliance, so noticeable also in his father, gave him a glamour which, coupled with his great natural abilities, helped him to succeed where more dreary, though possibly equally clever politicians failed.

In due course young Churchill passed through Harrow and Sandhurst to the Army, and in 1897 he was serving with the Malakand Expedition on the North-west Frontier of India. His life of adventure and travel had begun.

Let us see how the next few years were occupied.

1897. The Malakand Expedition, about which he afterwards wrote an account.

1897. Served in the attack on the Tirah (India)

1898. Served in Egypt with Kitchener during the rebellion of the Mahdi, and at the battle of Omdurman took a leading part in the famous charge of the 21st Lancers.

1899. War correspondent for the Morning Post in South Africa. Was present at the disaster to the armoured train at Chieveley, and was captured by Louis Botha. Was taken to Pretoria and imprisoned, but escaped, and after a series of fantastic adventures which included train jumping, hiding in a coal mine and a 300 mile journey amongst bales of wool in a railway truck, he made his way to Portuguese East Africa, and so back to Durban.

1900. Fought at Spion Kop. At the advance on Johannesburg, which was being enveloped in a pincers movement from the East and West, it became necessary to send despatches from Sir Ian Hamilton on the West to Lord Roberts on the East. Churchill, now a lieutenant, was given the job. There was only one reasonable way to make the journey - by making a detour of eighty miles to the southward. Churchill, preferring the direct route, rode through the enemy-held town on a bicycle, and out at the other side, to find Roberts fifteen miles farther on.

At that time he was twenty-five years old.

GARDENING NOTES

As the season advances, the foliage usually dies off, by which time the bacteria have passed along the underground stems and entered the tubers. Diseased tubers are recognised by being soft and discoloured, ultimately becoming wet and rotten. In serious attacks, practically all the tubers decay in the ground, but if the disease has not advanced so rapidly, tubers may remain sound for some time, but decay badly in store, and worse still if left in the ground. Those tubers which are only slightly affected survive the winter, and if planted the following season, give rise to more diseased plants.

Black Rot is propagated by the use of diseased "Seed"; this might be so slightly affected as to appear quite sound. Great care should be exercised that no seed is saved from diseased plants, no matter how slight it might be. Remember that affected plants, are distinguished by their haulms, the appearance of healthy tubers attached to diseased haulms are dangerous.

Weekly News Office,
Stanley

Dear Boys and Girls,

I am quite sure that you have all become very interested in the little Scottish terrier known to all her friends as "Witchie". In our Corner this week I am leaving space for a drawing of a Scotty, to let you see just what the dog of our stories was like. The colour of her rough hair was a brindle and black mixture.

Have a look at the drawing-I am sure that some of you will remember a dog of this type being in Stanley sometime ago.

Did you know that Witchie once helped to win a Prize? Well it was the local Fancy Dress Parade. Everybody who possibly could, obtained or made dresses, and joined in the fun. The parade was an annual event and through it, much money was raised for the local Hospital.

On this particular year Witchie was informed by her Master that she would take part in the Parade. How pleased the little dog was! Last year her Master had entered as a golliwog, and Witchie had been really a little scared of him, and besides a golliwog could not possibly take a dog anywhere with him. It simply wasn't done!

I hope to announce the winners of the Competition, next week.

Uncle Jim.

Illness does not occur by accident. It is not sent as a punishment for sin nor arranged by the Devil. Even accidents are not always such. Many people are accident prone. The fact is that most of us can manage to keep fit if we acquire proper habits of living. Every time a patient falls ill there is a cause for it. We may not know the cause or knowing it we may be powerless to prevent it but there is an enormous amount of debility and lack of fitness which is quite unnecessary. There is also much downright illness that need never occur.

Seventy years ago, Samuel Butler described the criminal prosecution of an unfortunate man who, in the paradoxical kingdom of BREWHON (nowhere spelt backwards), was charged with "having developed consumption of the lungs". The most damning feature of the case was a previous conviction for "aggravated bronchitis", and this propensity to take ill caused the Brewhonian Judge to sentence the chronic invalid to life imprisonment. In a good many years ago Butler's ideas were considered amusingly fantastic. Today perhaps they are less funny.

A shepherd in Palestine never drives his sheep as we do. He always walks at their head, leading them along the roads and over the hills to new pasture. Their flocks are small, each sheep is named and they respond to the shepherd as he calls them by name.

In the verses you have read, Jesus likens Himself to that type of shepherd, and we who follow Him, as His sheep.

Protection and segregation of those who are a menace to the public is a new idea that is going to become a common place if our plans are going to come true. Yes, good health is fundamental. Let us not forget the implications of that statement.

We note with interest an article in the "Trident" (November 1943) called "Falkland Islands-The Empire's South Atlantic Outpost". The writer is E.R. Yarham, and on the whole the facts are fairly accurate; illustrating the article are three views-one of the centre of the town, showing Ross Road, the Cathedral, etc., taken from the water, one of the Whale-bone arch and the Cathedral, and finally a view of the Great Britain lying in Sparrow Cove.

ToCH meets tonight in the Tabernacle Schoolroom. The speaker this evening will be H.R. Kirby, and he will be speaking in the "My Job in Civvy Street" series. The Meeting commences at 8.p.m. Local people interested are welcome to the ToCH Meetings.

We are sure that the people of the Colony will await with interest the first of the special programmes which are to be broadcast fortnightly to the Colony from London. Be sure to have your set tuned in to London, at 8:15.p.m. local time on Monday night.

Commencing next Thursday April 27th we are publishing a special article, written by J.Wentworth Day entitled "THE KING OF ENGLAND AT WORK". Since War broke out His Majesty has travelled more than a million miles by car, train, and plane. Owing to the small size of our paper the article will be in instalments.

We express our admiration for the work put in by the fire-fighters, on their job, at the Town Hall blaze, last Sunday night.

The Gardening notes this week continue from last week on the subject of "Black Rot" potato disease.

IN A FEW WORDS.

Despite war conditions of living, individual interest in education is marked in Britain. One hundred and thirty thousand of London's war workers now devote their scanty leisure hours to studying at Evening Institutes. Among the subjects undertaken are arts and crafts, agriculture and nursing, elementary medicine and languages.

Workers in a north-western aircraft factory in Britain who worked right through a week-end to assemble a bomber in the fastest time they could, completed the job in 24 hours 45 minutes-more than five hours less than the time estimated. Immediately afterwards the bomber was on its test flight. Many of the workers were women who had never been in aircraft factory before the war.

Parachutes for the R.A.F. are now being made in Britain from a synthetic silk obtained from wood charcoal. The silk, of which there are 64 yards in each parachute, takes a breaking strain of 400 pounds. The synthetic silk was found equal to the task and is now almost universally used.

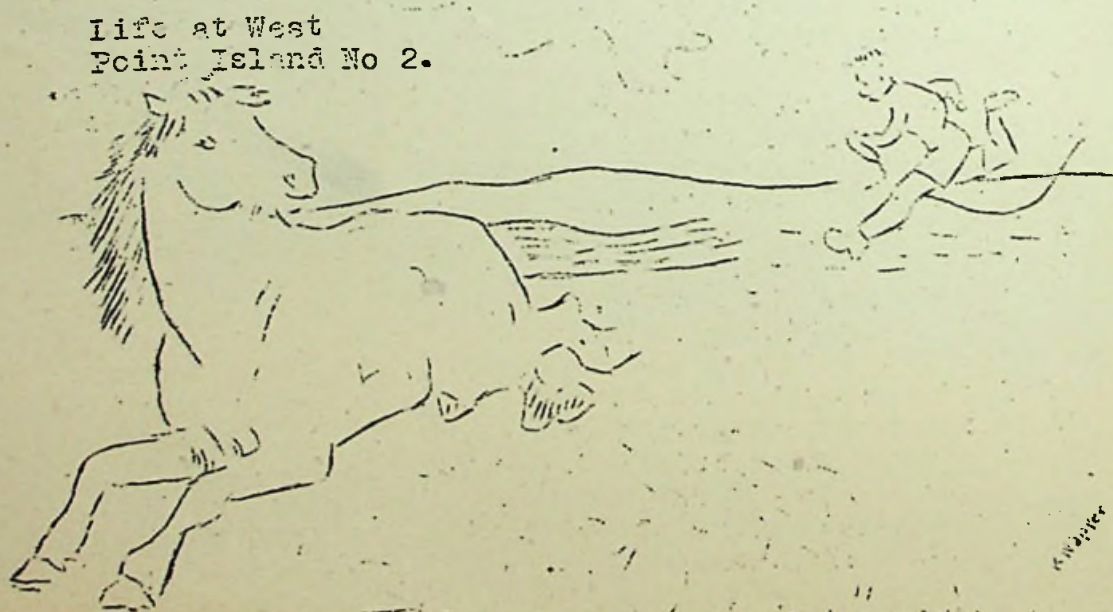

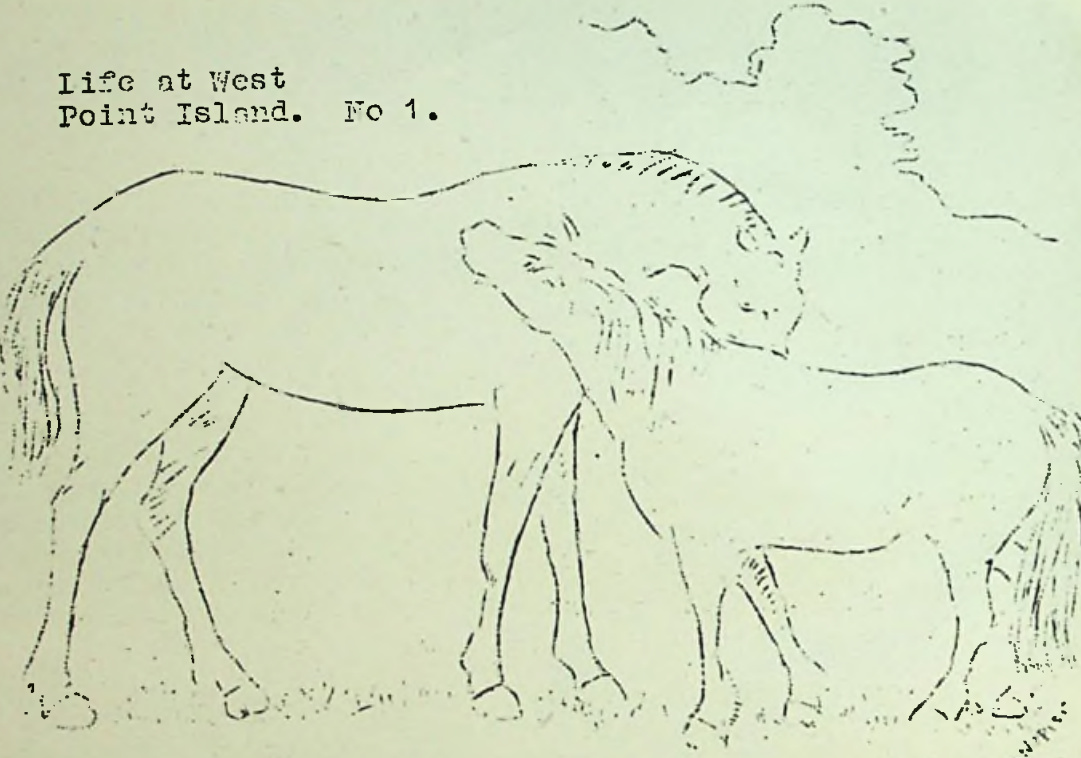

A factory in Britain, which before the war specialised in the manufacture of icecream, has been taken over by the Ministry of Food for the dehydration of vegetables for the forces. The factory can handle 400 tons of vegetables per day.

Hundreds of British tankers are being fitted with a device for ship-saving which has already proved one of the most successful of the war. One ship in which the apparatus was first demonstrated was struck by three torpedoes when outward bound but the master sailed it 1,200 miles to the U.S.A.

Plastic badges and buttons are now in general use in the British army. As a result 2,000 tons of brass will be made available every year for the manufacture of war materials.

Now so much for our Competition..... what happens to Witchie this week?

Bobby, his young brother, and the dog, left for the parade. The elder boy was dressed in very old clothes, and the younger as his wife-also in old clothes; in front of them they pushed a barrow, full of odds and ends. Witchie dressed in a tartan ribbon was taken on a lead in case she decided to let the Show down in the middle of the proceedings. After all it was not every dog that cared for a Fancy Dress Parade!

On an old card tacked to the front of the barrow was the announcement "We're all three from Aberdeen". You see boys and girls, another name for a Scotch terrier is an "Aberdeen terrier".

On arrival at the Drill Hall (where the judging was to take place) the trio took their place in the line of competitors. Witchie was delighted to meet Little Bo Peep, but she did not care too much for Dick Whittington's Cat, and as for a little boy dressed up as a bear-Witchie thought that his effort was very poor-Why he walked on two legs only all the time!

PUBLIC NOTICE.

A telegram was sent to the Secretary of State informing him of the fire at the Town Hall while it was still in progress. In reply the Secretary of State telegraphed "I am very sorry to hear of the destruction of the Town Hall by fire and much regret serious inconvenience which will, I fear, inevitably be occasioned to the administration and to the public".

A telegram was also sent to the Magistrate at South Georgia who replied as follows:- "Very sorry to learn of destruction by fire of Town Hall which building and records will be most difficult, if not impossible, to replace. Its loss is the more serious at a period when its use was so vital to the Colony. Please accept out deepest regrets.

The offices of the Judicial and Legal Departments will be re-opened for business in Marine House West as from tomorrow morning Thursday, the 20th April. The Post Office is being temporarily established in the north rooms of the Gymnasium building. It may not be possible to open the Post Office quite as soon as the other departments owing to the necessity for certain structural alterations, but there should be little delay.

The public will appreciate that all the above Departments are, for the time being, very handicapped for lack of equipment and still busy with salvage and it will be a great help if call on the departments during the next few days are limited to business of an urgent nature.

The occupation of part of the Gymnasium by the Post Office will not interfere with the use of the main hall for the cinema or other recreational purposes except when the hall is required for the sorting of the overseas mails.

WINSTON CHURCHILL C.H., M.P.

By this time Churchill was First Lord of the Admiralty, and in that position, in the first months of the war, he did three things of major importance. He mobilized the Fleet three days before the outbreak of hostilities in defiance of the instructions of the Cabinet; he arranged the transfer of the B.L.F. to France without the loss of a man; and by his energetic support of Admiral Fisher he ensured the arrival of a strong naval squadron in the Falkland Islands just in time to save the Colony from almost inevitable capture, and to destroy the enemy force of Admiral von Spee.

FACTS ABOUT BRITAIN.

Sixty thousand plants, shells and animals collected 200 years ago by the Swedish botanist Carl Linnaeus have been photographed as a record in case of destruction by enemy action. The collection has been in the keeping of the Linnæan Society in Britain for many years, but copies of the photographic records have now been sent to Sweden and America.

Members of the London Passenger Transport Board - which runs all London's Underground, train and bus services - have knitted 200,000 garments for their colleagues in the services.

TOWN HALL DESTROYED

BY FIRE!

South Side.

North Side.

At about six o'clock last Sunday evening fire broke out in the upper storey of the Town Hall and by ten o'clock the building was completely gutted.

The Fire Fighting Services were in action within a very few minutes of the alarm being given and in spite of the fact that there was little wind all their efforts were unable to keep the fire under control. The building being constructed mostly of wood and being of such a great size burnt like a torch and the speed of the flames was so rapid that they could not possibly be held. The Fire Services were, however, able to save St. Mary's Chapel, the Gymnasium and the Power House. In spite of the fact that at one point the whole of the east wall of the Town Hall was ablaze and a breeze was blowing from the west, the point on the Gymnasium is not even blistered nor have the tons of water poured on the roof damaged the building in any way.

Luckily only one man was in the Town Hall when the fire started and he escaped owing to the fact that he was in a different part of the building. Many attempts at salvage were made but the fire spread so rapidly that very little has been saved. When we consider the number of public offices in the Town Hall it will be understood that much inconvenience is bound to result to the public as a result of this fire but we understand that arrangements for carrying on public business are well under weigh and that the offices will re-open in other quarters very shortly. Most of the telephone services were restored by Tuesday evening. The help given by the Garrison in fire fighting, in relieving the civilian fire fighters throughout the night, in subsequent site clearing and demolition and in keeping essential services operating is beyond praise.

There is no need for us to emphasise what a tragic loss the Town Hall is both to Stanley and to the Colony. It was by far the finest building in Stanley and has always been the centre of our social life. When and how all the facilities provided by the Town Hall can be replaced is a matter for the future. But we are sure they will be.

RED CROSS. There will be no Red Cross Tea Meeting on Thursday this week.

GARDENING NOTES

In Britain it has been proved that the disease cannot be contracted directly from contaminated soil unless it has been deliberately dosed with bacillus, and also kept in a water-logged condition. On the contrary this does not appear so in this country, and if this is the case, contaminated soil should be reserved for other crops. This suggestion, is of course out of the question, and on the other hand, collaboration of this statement necessitates research on contaminated areas.

If the disease is to be controlled in store, the crop should be stored in sacks placed in an airy, but frost proof shed.

FOR THE CHILDREN Read John Ch. 15 vv 1-14.

In the above verses the Lord gives one of His many pen pictures of a Christian. He shows, in the illustration of a vine tree and her branches, how Christians are and must be united to Him.

The duty of Christians is to bear fruit in their lives, fruit such as love, joy, truthfulness, sincerity and honesty, but says Jesus, "as a branch cannot bear fruit except it be united to or abide in the tree, neither can we, unless we are united to or abide in Him".

Wedding of Mr. B. F. Baseley and Miss S. M. Brown.

On Wednesday of last week the wedding took place at St. Michael's Church, Horton, of Mr. Bruce Falkland Baseley, R.A.F., younger son of Mr and Mrs R. B. Baseley, of "Sunny Haven", Wroxbury, and Miss Sheila Maureen Brown, W.A.A.F., second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brown, of Horton. The service, which was choral, was conducted by Rev. R. S. Davies, the organ being played by Mr. F. Dalton.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in a gown of ivory embossed moire with a veil of hand embroidered net held in place by a coronet of orange blossom, Miss Anthea Brown (sister), Miss Creina Brown (cousin) and Miss Carol Brown (cousin) The two former wore dresses of moss green lace over satin, and the latter amber lace over apricot satin with head-dresses to match, and they carried bouquets of amber chrysanthemums.

Mr. A. Lewis, R.A.F., friend of the bride groom, acted as best man.

The reception, at which there were about seventy guests, was held at the Champney Hall, and afterwards the bride and bridegroom left for London where the honeymoon is being spent. They were the recipients of many useful and beautiful gifts.

EASTER MONDAY FOOTBALL MATCH.

The Islanders had a grand attraction for the holiday with a match arranged between two teams of old crocks. Some fine football was seen and the old lads were very sprightly. Frew at inside left was spreading the play in fine fashion and the defence was hard pressed by nick night. Wing made by Snell and Williams ended with Eastern bringing off a fine save. The "Quartie" at left back for the one team was letting nothing slip and a long pass from him sent Clunes away but the attack broke down when O'Sullivan cleared out to the left wing. Ten minutes from the interval O'Sullivan scored for his team and the half ended with the losing side pressing strongly. Final result- O'Sullivan's side won by two goals to nil.

NOTES OF THE WEEK.

On Sunday Night Mr John Barnes spoke over the local Radio to the people in the Camp, on the subject of the "Labour Federation". Mr Barnes is the Chairman of this movement.

We hear that a party made up of nine ex Falkland Island residents met for dinner in Cape Town, South Africa, in mid February.

At the usual weekly meeting of Tech, in the Tabernacle Schoolroom, tonight (Thursday) Mr McWhan will speak on "The World's Greatest Text Book".

Including Camp, and Overseas copies, four hundred and forty copies of last week's edition of the Weekly News were circulated. The edition is now completely sold out.

SPECIAL PROGRAMME BROADCAST TO THE COLONY.

On Monday night the 24th April, at 8.15.p.m. A.L.L. who had sets and loudspeakers awaited the opening announcement of the Special programme from the B.B.C. to the Falklands, with interest. The programme commenced with a few words of sympathy over the Town Hall fire, and then the information that our lads were busy training in their respective services. They were fighting fit, and sent their good wishes to the F.I.D.F. next came a letter read to us, from Robert Yates. It was interesting to hear the name "Johnson's Harbour" coming from London!

The remainder of the programme was variety, and although there was room for improvement, it was much more enjoyable than previous efforts of the B.B.C. to entertain us through a special programme. Perhaps at a later date we will hear some of the actual voices of people who have gone from the Colony recently!

In the meantime, we acknowledge our thanks to the B.B.C. for giving us a whole half hour to ourselves, and we await Monday the 8th May at 8.45.p.m. with interest.

THE KING AT WORK

by J. Wentworth Day.

Into the firelit dusk of a January evening at the Village Inn in the tiny Norfolk village of Hillington, a shepherd stumped, bobtail at his heel. We were talking about shooting. For, in Norfolk, they know only three seasons of the year - spring, summer and the shooting season. The shepherd cocked an ear.

"I see th King, come dinner-time", he remarked. "Walkin' up the street he wore, gun under his arm. Bin a-shutin'. He's a rare nice young gennelman - give me the time o' day when I lifted my hat."

"I reckon he's a-goin' the same way as his own dad. That were a rare nice own gennelman that own King were - we cud du wi' a few more like him about. But this 'un's a-comin' on same as his dad. I 'ouldn't like to put in his day's work, bar! There aren't no trade union for he".

The Norfolk audience of six granted sagely.

I pondered the shepherd's words. For who, of all his millions of subjects to-day, realises the immense scope, the wide range of knowledge, the toil, energy, and travelling which the King puts into his average day of war-work. It receives little publicity. Perhaps a bare two or three lines in the Court Circular will tell you that yesterday His Majesty visited a naval dockyard, or inspected a factory in the North: or reviewed a division of troops; or that he was present at an Air Force station "somewhere in Britain". That is all. It does not tell you more. For security reasons, it is necessary to keep the details of the King's working day more or less a secret.

His day in London begins at nine when, apart from a mass of Cabinet and Government papers and Memoranda, at least one hundred private letters from his subjects are placed on his desk. That is the daily average. They range over every conceivable subject, from personal friends and relatives, to grouses about pensions, pay and working conditions, appeals, revelations and the outpourings of cranks. Every letter is sifted, dealt with by secretaries and, as often as not, answered the same day. Those which have to be referred to Government Departments take longer.

So much for his post-bag. Then His Majesty begins to see people. He sees dozens in a week. The Prime Minister attends at least once a week, and at least one or two Cabinet Ministers are received each week. The King keeps abreast of all their work and knows its scope and implications. That, in itself, is a Herculean task for any man, ten times greater in its demands on personal energy and acumen than the burdens carried by the chairman of any great corporation.

Leaders of the Services, Field Marshals, Air Marshals, Admirals, Generals and the rest are also seen and talked with. All the High Commissioners, Governors and Ambassadors are seen on appointment to their positions or on retirement. Then there are members of Dominions Governments, Ambassadors from Allies, leaders of Allied troops, fleets and air services, and, in addition to these highly important but more or less routine audiences, His Majesty sees and talks with those who are engaged in great tasks of commerce, civilian welfare, nursing and the rest. Sir William Beveridge was one of the recent callers at the Palace.

Although His Majesty gives the closest personal attention to all matters of State and to all complaints brought to his notice by his subjects - he frequently orders a special report on such matters to be furnished to him by the Government Departments concerned - he never signs a letter. He signs only State papers and private correspondence.

The war has probably trebled the demands on the King's time, energy and knowledge. When you read that he visited, say, a factory in Sheffield, it probably means that he was working from 9 a.m. till 6 p.m. the day before in London, dined, left London by 7.30 p.m. and arrived in the neighbourhood of Sheffield late at night. He may sleep aboard a train or elsewhere. The time and place of his arrival are never made public. In fact, they are close secrets.

I am sure that you are all eager to know how Witchie fared at the parade. Before I continue with this story, I must announce the winners of the "Pets" Competition. I am, through the kindness of Mr. Les Hardy, awarding Cinema tickets to the following for very good efforts; Hazel McLeod, Nora and Hilda Harries, and a ticket also to our youngest competitor-Odette Smith. Later on this month I may be able to publish one or two of the winning efforts. and now more about Witchie.

At last the judging was over. The parade marched out into the streets, and soon the crowds were laughing and cheering and handing out pennies, putting them in the collecting boxes which many in fancy dress carried.

HOME HINTS

If your boot polish has hardened through the lid being left off add 3 or 4 drops of turpentine and stir it with a long nail or a match stick.

When boots are required for very wet weather heat a little mutton fat and run it round each boot between the upper and the sole, paying particular attention to the instep.

Everybody knows that bath salts discolour a painted bath or cause it to appear dirty. To overcome this always keep a cup beside the bottle of salts. Then when the salts are to be used, put the crystals in the cup, pour in some hot water and when they are dissolved, which will be in a moment, pour the solution into the bath water.

Obtain a clean piece of duster, a non-fluffy one for preference, and dip it in paraffin. Wring it out almost dry and hang it on the line for 2 or 3 days. It will be found this cloth picks up the dust and polished in one operation.

OUR SUNDAY SCHOOL Just a word of thanks to all parents and guardians who co-operate with us in encouraging the children to attend Sunday School. We have on our Sunday School roll some 65 scholars and have an average attendance of 50. While we fully realise that the home more than any other place is the training ground for child-life, we believe that the knowledge of God and the teachings of Jesus, are not without their effect in, helping to mould character in children and producing healthy minded citizens.
