SPECIAL XMAS AND NEW YEAR EDITION

FINAL MEETING OF PRESENT
LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL

HIS EXCELLENCY'S

THE FINAL MEETING OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL AS AT PRESENT CONSTITUTED, WAS HELD AT GOVERNMENT HOUSE ON THURSDAY, 30TH DECEMBER, 1948.

The Hon. Mr. Keith W. Luxton, member for West Falkland, was not present.

At ten o'clock the A.D.C., Lt. J. Bound, announced the arrival of His Excellency in the Council Chamber.

Prayers were read by His Excellency, and the minutes of the meeting of the Council held on 20th October, 1948, were confirmed.

His Excellency, in his address to the House, said:

"Honourable Members,

The Secretary of State has advised me that the Order-in-Council providing for popularly elected representation in the Legislative Council of this Colony was approved by His Majesty on November 26th and was presented to the House of Commons on the same day. You will therefore be invited to consider this morning a Bill to give practical effect to that Order-in-Council in laying down the manner in which elections to the representative seats shall be conducted.

"There are to be, you will recall, two members representing the East and West Falklands respectively and two representing Stanley, and if, in any particular case, no member should present himself for election, then power is vested in the Governor to nominate a member for that constituency - a power which I, personally, would be most reluctant to employ. I hope, therefore, that electors will exercise with energy and enthusiasm the privilege which they have so long sought. I shall ask for nominations in February; thus voters will have ample time in which to make up their minds as to the person - man or woman - who is most acceptable to them and best capable, in their view, of representing their interests. They should note that the life of the Council is four years; that is to say that once a member is elected he is in for four years so that the electors will be well advised to give very close attention to this matter.

"Second in order of importance today will be the consideration of a Bill to which I referred in my Budget address, designed to confer powers on the Town Council; powers which I am confident that they will exercise wisely and to the increasing benefit of the Stanley community. Here, I venture to hope that future elections to this body will occasion more interest than hitherto and, in particular, I would like to see some of the younger generation coming forward to accept responsibility for it is, you will agree, desirable that all shades of opinion should be represented on it if the Council is to serve the community to the best advantage. There is the further and very important consideration that service on the Town Council cannot fail to provide most useful experience for later service to the Colony as a whole in the Legislative Council.

"You will be asked also to consider a Bill to amend the Defence Force Ordinance. The object of this Bill is to abolish the Reserve and to provide that a member be posted direct to the Retired List from the Active List.

"In the main, its effect will be that members may remain on the Active List until they attain the age of 41 years and have been returned efficient for 12 years. And they may so remain after that age if the Commanding Officer considers that they are performing efficient service.

"Regulation 1 of 1946 unfortunately compelled a member to retire on reaching the age of 41, and this I understand caused a good deal of dissatisfaction among members who were keen to carry on whilst also seriously depleting the strength of the Force. The offending Regulation is now rescinded. The amendment springs from a recommendation, unanimously adopted, at a recent meeting of the Officers and Non-Commissioned Officers of the Defence Force and as such it has my full support.

"My final duty is to inform you that the present Chamber will cease to exist tomorrow, December 31st, by virtue of a Proclamation which will be made by me on 1st January under the new Letters Patent.

"In conclusion it will be your wish, I am sure, that we should convey to the Hon. Mr. Vincent Biggs the sympathy of the House in his long illness, our hopes for his early restoration to health and our appreciation of his long services to the Colony."

This was the end of His Excellency's speech.

The Clerk to the Council then announced Papers to be laid on the Table by the Honourable the Acting Colonial Secretary. These were the Financial Secretary's Report for the year ended the 31st December, 1947, and the Departmental Review for 1948.

The following five Bills were then passed through all their stages: The Legislative Council (Elections) Ordinance, 1948; The Stanley Town Council (Amendment) Ordinance; The Stanley Town Council (Powers) Ordinance, 1948; The Defence Force (Amendment) Ordinance, 1948, and The Road Traffic Ordinance, 1948.

During the Committee stage of the Road Traffic Ordinance, the Hon. Mr. Barton asked whether Camp vehicles would be subject to the new tax.

He was told that they were not so subject, but if they used the roads in Stanley for any period the owners would have to take out a licence. It was added that dispensation would be given for an isolated visit.

The meeting ended at 10.30 a.m..

DEPARTMENTAL REVIEW, 1948

The following is a review which I have caused to be prepared of the work of the Departments during the year 1948: it will be laid on the table by the Colonial Secretary. It augments the statement made in the course of my Budget address and will I trust prove of general interest.

AGRICULTURE. The new Agricultural Officer, Mr. J.P. Oliver, arrived in June. Since then he has toured the whole of the East and West Falklands, and has also visited a number of outlying islands. The recommendations of the Economy Committee underlined views which I had long held in regard to the Department's activities, but which I had deferred putting into operation pending the arrival of a successor to Dr. Gibbs. I have now decided that these activities shall be drastically curtailed, and as a first step the Government dairy herd has been sold to a private dairyman who has been given the contract for the school and hospital.

As the next step all areas now ploughed, or otherwise cultivated by the Department, are being put down to grass and the Department will no longer be responsible for the sale and production of vegetables in Stanley. The Department's activities have been confined in recent years to what, in effect, amounted to the costly production of hay and oats, and vegetables (the latter to meet a purely war-time need) which in no way compensated for the amount spent in their production and which is not a proper function of Government.

The Agricultural Officer will thus be released to tour the Camp and give advice on all matters connected with stock which is his first duty. By the middle of 1949 there will be a further material reduction in the number of men employed.

In other respects the Department has continued its normal duties of administering legislation pertaining to Agriculture, Stock Inspection, Quarantine, and Dipping Regulations: together with the duties of maintaining fences on the Common and in Government land, tuberculin tests on dairy cattle, and the usual free medical service and medicine for sick animals.

AUDIT. The audit of accounts for the year 1946 was completed in January, 1948; the Report to the Director General of Colonial Audit being signed in February, 1948: this was laid before the Legislative Council on the 12th of May, and since then it and the Report for 1945 have been re-issued and placed on sale.

The audit of the 1947 accounts was extended to include all Departmental Accounts with the exception of the Public Works Department, Electrical and Telegraphs Department and Agricultural Department stores; fairly rapid progress was possible because many accounts which should have been available for audit have not been kept in the past. The Report on the Audit of the 1947 Accounts was signed on the 29th September, 1948, and was laid on the table of the Legislative Council on the 20th of October: it will be available to the public shortly.

The audit of the 1948 accounts has commenced and is being extended to cover Stores Accounts.

The Auditor has continued throughout the year to give advice on various financial and accounting matters.

CUSTOMS. Imports and Exports. The total value of Imports to the 10th of December, 1948, amounted to £293,996 as against £245,296 for the same period in the previous year.

Import duties collected to date are given below:-

Amount collected to 10th December, 1948.

Malted liquors	£698
Spirits	14,579
Tobaccos	3,795
Matches	40
Wines	231

The total value of Exports amounted to £245,896.

Export Duty on wool realised £10,284; on tallow £171. Comparative figures for the same period last year were £258,076 and £10,234 respectively. No tallow was exported last year.

Legislation. On the 22nd April, 1948, the Customs Ordinance, 1943, and the Customs (Amendment) Ordinance, 1946, were brought into force by Proclamation. The introduction of this new legislation has greatly facilitated the working of the Department.

Import Duties. As from the 11th of June, 1948, legislation was introduced increasing Import Duties as follows:-

Spirits were increased from 26/- to 52/- per gallon; Rum from 26/- to 36/- per gallon; all being chargeable with the full duty on 20% undeeproof. Wines were increased from 5/- to 6/6 per gallon; Tobaccos from 5/- to 6/- per lb; Cigarettes from 5/- to 10/- per lb; and Cigars from 8/- to 20/- per lb. Duty on Beer and Matches remained the same as in 1947.

Export Duties. Wool. As a result of the rejection by the Legislature of a proposed scale of ad valorem import duties, recommended by the Economy Committee, the export tax on wool was increased from 1/- to 1/3 per 25-lbs. or part thereof, in respect of the period 1st of January to 31st December, 1948.

Whale and Seal Oils. The ad valorem or sliding scale of export duties introduced on the 29th of November, 1947, imposing duty to a maximum of 5/- per 40-gallon barrel was rescinded on the 11th of June, 1948, in favour of a specific rate of 5/- per barrel up to the 30th of September, 1948. As from the 1st of October, 1948, the export duty is assessed on the average market price per ton for the season of first grade oils, the rate being 6d. per barrel of 40 gallons for each £5 or part of £5 of such average market price. Duties on whale and seal products (other than oils), and tallow remained unaffected.

Under an Order-in-Council, made on the 1st October, 1948, a sliding scale of export duties on wool ranging from .5d to 2.5d. per lb. was introduced to take effect from 1st January, 1949. The same Order-in-Council introduced an export duty of 2½ per centum leviable on the selling price of tallow, hides and skins exported on and after the 1st October, 1948.

Staff. Mr. B.N. Biggs, Customs Officer, was promoted to Collector of Customs on the 1st January, 1948; he has continued to discharge the duties of Competent Authority, Shipping Master and Chairman of the Disposals Board.

Import Licensing. While the grant of import licences on South America continued to be severely restricted, the Colony's petrol supplies, most essential food-stuffs such as flour, dairy products, fodder etc., and some textiles and footwear must still be obtained from this source. However, as a result of representations made by this Government there is considerable easing in the textile and clothing supply positions, and while no undertaking has been given as to the ability to supply the Colony's total needs, it is hoped that the supply position during 1949 will greatly improve.

Rationing. Tea, sugar and clothing were rationed throughout the period, while sales of butter were controlled on two occasions during the year to ensure fair distribution.

Shipping. Up to the 11th of December, 13 vessels entered the port with a total nett tonnage of 8,974.

EDUCATION. Attendance has been normal, and the general work is described as "only average".

Evening classes have been in operation since June, but attendance has fallen off due to the increasing number of other attractions and activities.

Two holders of Montevideo Scholarships passed the Cambridge School Certificate Examination and were awarded Second Grade Certificates.

Work in the Falkland Islands Company's Camp was initiated by the Department, including the transfer of teachers and the organisation of their "beats", and the distribution of educational material.

ELECTRICAL AND TELEGRAPHS.

The work and responsibility of this Department have inevitably increased since the Naval W/T

Station closed down on the 31st of December, 1947. A new station has been built and equipment from the Naval W/T Station transferred and installed. The Stanley W/T Station commenced service at 2.00 p.m. on the 16th April, 1948. The change over from Naval to Colonial Government was accompanied without hitch and there has been no delay in communications.

The Telegraph Office, in the Electrical Department building, handles all telegrams for internal and external circuits and is responsible for telegram accounts, local and foreign. Some 600 telegrams are handed over the counter each month for transmission from Stanley alone, and some 600 to 800 telegrams are received each month for delivery in Stanley.

W/T Service is maintained with the United Kingdom, Norway, Uruguay, Argentine and Chile, as well as with South Georgia, the Antarctic Bases and the East and West Falklands.

The Magneto Telephone Exchange system operates 162 lines, has an immediate capacity of 180 lines and an ultimate capacity of 240 lines.

The Relay re-diffusion system includes 236 loudspeakers and a low-powered Radio Broadcast Transmitter operating on 3440 k/c.s. The system is used twice daily to broadcast weather reports while a musical programme is provided on Sundays for 1½ hours; a Religious Service is also broadcast from 7.00 - 8.00 p.m. each Sunday.

Additional re-diffusion programmes consisting mostly of gramophone records, are provided on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. A Children's Corner is broadcast to the Camp and Stanley on Saturdays from 6.00 until 7.45 p.m.

The Electric Light Plant runs continuously and while no serious stoppage of the service has occurred the installation is adolescent and spares are increasingly difficult to obtain.

FALKLAND ISLANDS DEFENCE FORCE.

The usual indoor training was carried out during the winter months, but owing to retirements and postings to the reserve, less than 30 men (excluding the Band) attended training.

Musketry Classification was held during October and November when some 50 members completed the course.

8 recruits were enrolled as against 1 in 1947; the question of increasing the active strength of the Force is under consideration.

Miniature rifle shooting was held in the Drill Hall weekly throughout the winter. A team of 8 shooting in the 1948 .22 Overseas Postal Match, registered the highest score yet obtained by the Colony in this Competition.

A further success was gained at Bisley in July, when a team, captained by Major A.I. Fleuret, M.B.E., E.D., J.P., won the Junior MacKinnon Competition.

HARBOUR DEPARTMENT. The Executive Engineer acts also as Harbour Master. The Motor Fishing Vessel No. 1185, subsequently christened m.v. "Philomel" arrived in February, 1948, and has already proved her worth in bringing in medical cases to Stanley, and in other emergency tasks. On her arrival after her 10,000 mile trip a great variety of work was necessary before she could be put into proper running order and the mechanical overhaul was executed by the Public Works Department. Mr. E.V. Dixon has been appointed Master.

Other work, of the Department, has included the cleaning of oil barge O.C. 82, purchased from the Admiralty for the service of the Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey, as well as of one compartment of the oil barge C. 505, watering of all ships, and rendering of assistance to the F.I.D.S. vessel "John Biscoe".

In the Court of Summary Jurisdiction 44 cases were brought before the Court. No cases were taken to the Juvenile Court.

Cost of treatment in Montevideo £727.

This last item is extremely high.

The Dentist toured the Lafonia in August and September.

NATURALIST. Apart from various matters referring to sealing and whaling, the Naturalist's main concern has been the hatching and distribution of trout eggs.

A consignment arrived from England by air on the 31st December, 1947. The resulting fry were distributed in the Moody Brook, the lower Murrell River and the Pasa Menaes stream, a tributary of the Arroyo Malo in Teal Inlet Camp. The last was an important liberation as, with the help of Mr. A.G. Barton, the fry were taken in a Bren-gun carrier a distance of some thirty miles over rough country without losing a single fish. It is almost certain that by the same means fry can be taken anywhere in the Falklands.

The number liberated in the 1947/48 season was, in round figures,

1947 (Oct 24th - Nov. 27th)	4,500
1948 (February - March)	2,400
Total	6,900

A further consignment of eggs from Chile is now in the hatchery.

POLICE. Mr. A.H. Jenkins, Chief Constable and Gaoler, arrived on the 29th of February, 1948. The Force comprised three regular Constables and one temporary Constable, all stationed in Stanley. Mrs. F.W. Jenkins was appointed Goal Matron.

Instruction in Police Law and Practice was commenced.

Dog Licences: 82 licences and 16 exemptions have been issued.

Motor Vehicles:

Goods. Cars. M/Cycles:

Number registered.	35	42	50.
--------------------	----	----	-----

Driving Licences. 210 driving licences were issued. The combined revenue from motor vehicles and driving licences amounted to £290. 13. 6d.

Crime. Heretofore, figures for crimes known to the Police have been those supplied by the Legal Department from Court records.

These have given a completely erroneous impression as they indicated a 100% detection. As no records or statistics have been kept by the Police in previous years, it is not possible to produce comparable tables, but it can be said that for so small a population the crime figure is high, while many petty crimes are never reported.

Eleven crimes have been reported during the year of which seven were larceny and four breaking and entering. Of the larceny cases only two have been detected, due mainly to delays in reporting. The total value of property involved amounted to £243, of which the value of £207 has been recovered.

One larceny case is of interest because it was the first for many years to be dealt with on the West Falkland. The Chief Constable charged three men jointly before Messrs. H.C. Harding, J.P., and C.H. Robertson, J.P., when the accused were found guilty and fined.

Only one criminal case was taken to the Supreme Court and the offender, a visiting sailor, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

The following table sets out the cases taken in the Magistrate's Court:-

	Proceeded against.	Convicted.
Drunkenness	11	11
Supplying intoxicated persons	1	1
Nominess for Black list	7	7
Offences by persons on Black List	6	6
Common Assault	2	2
Road Traffic offences	2	2
Other offences	15 .. 44	15 .. 44

Road Accidents: Six road accidents were investigated. One man sustained personal injuries. Proceedings for careless driving were taken in one case and a conviction secured.

Missing Persons: Four persons were reported missing during the year and search parties were organised by the Police.

Fires: During the year four outbreaks of fire were investigated; no persons were injured and damage was slight.

Prison: The Prison buildings are unsatisfactory, but the position is under review and it is hoped that the more urgent work will be completed at an early date.

POST OFFICE. From 1st January to 10th December, 1948, 12 mails were despatched for overseas, 40 to the East and West Falkland Ports, and 7 to the Dependencies. During this period 6,329 parcels, 17,725 letters, 3,517 papers and 942 registered and insured packets have been despatched, including 2,686 parcels to Camp Stations. 3,127 parcels, 80,000 letters and 45,000 papers have been received. 9,791 air-letter forms, 1,458 ordinary air-letters and 596 registered air-letters were despatched. 1,691 Postal and Money Orders were paid during this period to a value of £1,981. 5.10 499 Money Orders amounting to £3,170. 15. 5d. and 721 Postal Orders amounting to £452. 3. 4d. were issued.

The Silver Wedding stamps of the Colony were placed on sale on the 1st of November and first day sales realised £1,685. 18. 4d.

In April an Order-in-Council was made to amend the rate of postage to the United Kingdom or any part of the British Commonwealth to 2½d per ounce or part of an ounce, and the postage on air-letters was reduced to 6d. The rate for ordinary air mail has been cut by more than half.

As the result of a generous offer by the G.P.O., London, the credits for the Colony for Parcel Post sent from Great Britain have now been doubled.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT. Staff. The Executive Engineer, Mr. E.F. Bunting, has been in charge of the Department throughout the year. The new general foreman of works engaged in connection with the Colonial Development and Welfare Programme has been placed in complete charge of outside works, and a reorganisation of the Public Works Department Office has been effected in consequence of this, as well as of the secondment of Mr. E.V. Lixon as Master of the m.v. "Philomel", and the departure of Mr. H. Bonner in December, 1947, for training in England in surveying and draughtsmanship. More recently the services of another clerk have been lost on his transfer to the Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey.

The amount of work involved by the Development Programme in addition to normal requirements was such as to render the skilled labour force of the Department inadequate. Accordingly, six artisans have been recruited from the United Kingdom and all have fully justified their selection. Opposition was met from the Falkland Islands Labour Federation, but Government has announced that in the programme, which is in the public interest, is to go forward it is essential that such additional skilled artisans should be imported. The remaining labour force consists of approximately 90 men and boys, and as local sentiment is opposed to the importation of displaced persons from Europe, skilled or otherwise, an attempt will be made to complete the proposed works by 1956 using local labour and employing only skilled men from the United Kingdom.

The following projects have been commenced: Town Hall, new Power Station, Airfield and Hangar (for two new Avian aircraft), Wireless station (completed), two new Bungalows (one completed), new Power House for South Georgia (completed): while it is expected that preliminary work on the extension of the King Edward Memorial Hospital will shortly be put in hand.

The redecoration of Government House has been completed; the alterations to the Secretariat have been completed enabling accommodation to be provided for the Auditor and other additional demands; the conversion of Church House into a flat on the first floor and accommodation for the Library on the ground floor is in progress; the uppermost twenty feet of the Gymnasium chimney were rebuilt. In addition to the above the usual routine work of normal maintenance has been carried out together with the requirements necessitated by the change of accommodation of Government quarters.

The furniture supply remains critical and will be eased only when the furniture ordered from the Crown Agents early in the year arrives in the Colony.

Peat supply. Owing to the late season and inclement weather the peat cutting is backward, but progress is now being made. There has been some alleviation of demand owing to the taking over by the Town Council of the Gymnasium, while the diminishing number of officers entitled to free peat may ease this strain on the Department.

In the course of the year work has been done on the sewage system, water supply and road maintenance; while work for the Meteorological Station, Royal Navy, Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey, Falkland Islands Defence Force, Ministry of Supply, and Ionospheric Station has been carried out.

The supply position as regards materials remains difficult and delays occur which not only make accurate estimating impossible, but also upsets the programme of works.

REGISTRAR GENERAL. Registration included 25 Births, 29 Deaths, 13 Marriages, 14 Trade Marks (and 32 Trade Marks renewed), 23 Conveyances and 5 Wills; 2 Crown Grants were prepared; 13 marriages solemnised; and work on the replacement of Crown Grant Indexes, which were destroyed in the Town Hall fire, has been completed.

Notes of Protest and Legal Documents were dealt with by the Notary Public, and one Estate was administered under legislation introduced during the year.

TREASURY. The Assistant Treasurer, Mr. E.F. Lellman, continued to act as Commissioner of Income Tax. Additional staff has been authorised in order to deal with increased work in connection with Income Tax and with Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey accounts.

General: The year opened with a balance of £24,102. 14. 11d. - of which £13,123 was held in the Vault, and £10,979. 14. 11d. in the hands of the Treasurer. This balance was reduced by £8,000 during the year, representing shipment of surplus silver coin to the United Kingdom. South Georgia held a balance of £571. 12. 3d., while the Crown Agents for the Colonies held a balance of £2,813 in the Joint Colonial Fund.

The usual Boards of Survey were held on the Treasury Chest and Strong Room on cash and stamps, including one by the Auditor.

Provident Fund. Four new accounts were opened and twenty-seven closed.

The average monthly contributions amounted to £108.

Currency Note Security Fund: Total amount in circulation £50,000.

Savings Bank: Average monthly deposits amounted to £11,390 and withdrawals to £9,579. Seven accounts were closed and seven opened.

Falkland Islands Dependencies.

Separate accounting came into operation from the 1st October for the Dependencies and all expenditure from the 1st of April onwards in connection with the Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey has been charged to the Dependencies head, for which Supplementary Estimates have been prepared. Investments held on behalf of the Research and Development Fund are to be realised, £75,000 of the amount realised being invested in the Dependencies Reserve Fund and the balance in a new Dependencies Account, replacing the Research and Development Account which has been abolished.

SOUTH GEORGIA. New quarters for the Constable have been completed and the foundation for the Customs Officer's new bungalow. Building for generators at W/T Station is in process of erection. The usual maintenance of works was carried out.

Three Whaling Companies operated, Salvensen's, Tonsberg and Pesca, with a total production for the 1947/48 season of 163,551 barrels of whale oil, 137,173 bags of guano and 15,093 barrels of seal oil.

62 vessels entered with a total nett tonnage of 146,121 and 56 cleared with a total nett tonnage of 142,671.

Duties from whale and seal oils and other products amounted to £49,463 and import duties to £9,061. The total value of imports amounted to £1,850,652 and exports (including £858,210 re-exports) to £3,639,945.

52,234 letters were despatched, and 2,256 received. The total number of telegrams dealt with by the W/T Station was 11,907.

The Administrative Officer, Major A.L. Fleuret, M.B.E., E.D., J.P., was on leave in the United Kingdom from April to October, and the Customs Officer, Mr. W.J. Glederson, acted as Officer-in-Charge during his absence.

SUPREME COURT. In the Supreme Court one divorce suit was heard and a decree nisi was granted, and one divorce suit was dismissed.

'JOCK' CAMPBELL WINS
"JOHN DISCOE" RACE:

Mr. 'Jock' Campbell, of the Camber, riding the Douglas Station horse "Winkle" in the second days' meeting of the Christmas Sports, brought the horse past the post to win the first race of his life in which he had ever taken part.

"I thoroughly enjoyed it," he said afterwards, "and 'Winkle' responded beautifully."

Mr. Campbell told me later that he had only ridden once before in his life.

"That's nearly five months ago, and I certainly didn't think I'd have a chance of winning the race."

He added that he would like to own 'Winkle', "a really grand horse," in my opinion.

Postponed on the day following Boxing Day because of heavy rain, more than 300 people watched the first days' horse racing held in Stanley on the next day.

Bad weather on the Tuesday again failed to stop many people from watching the Gymkhana and field events.

One race which provided a great deal of interest was the Port San Carlos Race, in which 16-year-old Hazel McLeod succeeded in beating her two male opponents, H. Peck and Barry Finlayson.

She was carrying 2st. 8lbs on Bermuda, the same horse on which she won a similar race in 1947.

The V.C.'s race - one in which all manner of queer things happen - from the firing of rifles to the explosion of thunderflashes, is one to test any horse's powers of obedience, nerve and endurance.

It was won by H. Peck.

21-year-old Henry Luxton swept the field in the track events, winning with ease the 100 yards, the 220 and quarter of-a-mile, sack race and obstacle race.

In all, he won six pounds in prizes.

The Musical Chairs became a tussle between S. Aldridge and Frank Aldridge after the others had been eliminated.

Both handled their horses well, but it was 'Bus' Aldridge who managed to get to the flag first.

An event which caused amusement and laughter amongst the spectators was the stepping the 100 yards.

A hundred-and-seventy-one competitors entered to try their luck, Michael Hardy of the Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey winning the event by gauging the distance most correctly.

Statistics for the two days' Sports might prove of interest to readers; in one particular instance they reveal that over 12,000 tickets were issued by the Totalizator.

The average number of entries for horse events was 5.5, 9 for foot events and 9 for the Gymkhana, while for the Stepping the hundred yards the number was 171.

The number of persons disappointed at the result of the draw for the Governor's Cup was 2,000, while the number of persons who will try again this year is also estimated at 2,000.

Average dividends paid by the Totalizator for a 2/- stake amounted to 11/3½, the highest dividend paid being £4 and the lowest 2/5d.

Two Horse races were not run owing to insufficient entries: the highest number of first prizes was five, all of which were won by Henry Luxton.

Empty Lemonade and Orangade bottles collected after the first day totalled 367.

'SANDY' WINS GOVERNOR'S CUP FOR TEAL INLET

Dangerous challengers May Queen and Epica failed to stop the Teal Inlet horse, Sandy, from winning the Governor's Cup in last year's race.

Riding a brilliant race, Joe Butler appeared to play a waiting game until he was certain of his chances, with May Queen and Epica making most of the running.

Coming up to the post very fast Joe Butler saw his opportunity and took it with both hands, beating the two Patagonian horses by a short head to win the "Derby" of the programme.

Because Sandy was not entered for the Sweepstake in time, the first, second and third prizes--respectively went to Sweepstake ticket holders who had drawn May Queen, Epica and Winkle.

The race itself lost some of its attraction because of the injury to Silver Bowl, who might well easily have won the Cup for the third year in succession but for its withdrawal; unfortunate, to say the least, it is one of those things which sometimes happen - but it proved to be a keen disappointment both to owner and jockey alike, and to the public who had looked forward to seeing this favourite again go past the post first.

NEW YEAR HONOURS

His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to award to AUBREY SEDGWICK, mate of the "Fitzroy", to be a Member Of The Most Excellent Order Of The British Empire.

The official citation reads:-

"In six voyages in Antarctic waters when his vessel was chartered on behalf of the Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey, Mr. Sedgwick has given yeoman service and has set a fine example of zeal and initiative in frequently trying circumstances."

The award to Mr. Sedgwick of the M.B.E. will give particular pleasure to his many friends in the Colony, both ashore and afloat; for a number of years he has been the popular mate of the "Fitzroy"; has been around our coasts many times, and has contributed in no small measure to the successful service which the Falkland Islands Company's ship has given.

Starting off his sea career as a boy, Mr. Sedgwick passed through all the stages of seamanship with credit, succeeding Mr. Freddy Jones as mate of the "Fitzroy" in March of 1946.

XMAS SPORTS: PRIZES GIVEN IN GYMNASIUM

On Wednesday 29th December, 1948, some 300 people attended a Dance held in the Gymnasium in Stanley.

They had also gathered there to watch His Excellency the Governor present the prizes to the successful jockeys and athletes.

His Excellency, accompanied by Lt.-Col. K.S. Pierce Butler, arrived at the Gymnasium at 10.15 p.m., and was welcomed by Capt. Duncan Watson, E.D., Secretary of the Stanley Sports' Association.

Keen interest was shown by all those present as they watched the athletes and jockeys go forward to receive their prizes from His Excellency.

Dressed in a particularly attractive evening frock of shell-pink, a loud cheer was given to young Miss Hazel McLeod as she too went forward to receive her prize of £10 for winning the Port San Carlos Race.

Mr. A.G. Barton said he was particularly pleased that it had been a Teal Inlet horse which had carried off the Governor's Cup.

He told the audience that he "shared the disappointment" which they felt in not having seen Silver Bowl in the race because of the injury she had sustained, but pointed out that, after all, she had not "been defeated" in the third year of the race for which she had been entered.

At the end of the prize giving His Excellency said how much he had enjoyed the Sports and added that he hoped the prize giving next year would be held in the new Town Hall.

A week ago today, Colonel Butler and Mr. Bruce Hill, driving the two queer-looking, amphibious Weasels, made fairly good time - despite difficulties encountered on the way - in their trip to Teal Inlet.

On board the two vehicles were Mr. A.G. Barton, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bonner, and Mr. Morris Lewis, who were returning to their respective homes via Teal Inlet.

Another passenger was Mr. Tate of the F.I.D.S., who came back with Colonel Butler and Mr. Hill on the Sunday.

Although the outward trip was pleasant, it was marred by difficulties caused by dirty petrol in the motor.

At Teal Inlet maintenance had to be carried out before the return journey to Stanley could be made, which took approximately five hours.

Letters to The Editor.

Dear Sir,

Can you tell us why it is that the children these days are allowed to spoil the pleasures of grown-up people, and why they should be allowed to go to the Cinema?

Because there is no rule to stop them, they stay up and roam about the roads till all hours. When there is a Dance, they are there - to make a pest of themselves.

At one time the Dances were worth going to, for it was an understood thing that no one under sixteen years of age was permitted; but today there appears to be no such thing as an age limit.

Sometimes we hear it announced that no children will be admitted but, nevertheless, they go just the same; moreover, no one does anything about the matter.

We often hear of boys of the ages of fourteen and fifteen being found drunk and assisted home from the dance.

Could something please be done about this, for the children's sake as well as the sake of everybody else?

Yours faithfully,

Sgd. Camp Visitor.

Dear Sir,

"THE POTATO IN THE BARREL"

I understand a large number of gardeners in Stanley have planted a potato in a barrel with the idea of cropping "half-a-hundredweight" from one root.

It would be of great interest if gardeners would send you the actual weight of potatoes when lifted, and I request that you publish same.

"INTERESTED"

Note: Here again the Editor invites the Gardeners, in this case, who have started this experiment, to send particulars of the results obtained to the "Weekly News" Office.

At four o'clock last Monday morning the vessel was hit a gale off Cape Pembroke Lighthouse when stormy seas beat down upon the ship & so much so that the skipper - Mr. Cecil Bertrand turned about and made for Port Harriet where shelter was found.

TOWN COUNCIL CONSIDER
PUBLIC SERVICES:
GOVERNMENT DECISION AWAITED

At a meeting of the Town Council, held on 6th January, and at which all members were present, Mr. A.L. Hardy presided over a Council which, among other things, discussed the supervision of Public Services.

On the subject of the formation of Committees to supervise the Fire Brigade, Stanley Cemetery, Water Supply, Public Health, Town Hall, Library and Museum, the Council considered it was more practical that they should deal with these matters.

The decision of the Government is awaited on this point, as well as the Governor's approval of the appointment of the Chief Constable as Sanitary Inspector.

It was agreed by the Council that plans for new buildings or alterations to existing buildings, received by the first day of each month, should be dealt with at the next following meeting.

On the question of fees payable to the Gymnasium attendant, it was agreed that in the event of the Gymnasium being required for a dance or other public function on a public holiday, the hirer should pay the extra charges for preparation of the hall.

The Chairman stated that, owing to the "cancellation of the tender" on 30th December, by the contractor elect for the garbage removal, it had been necessary to contact the next lowest applicant, with whom satisfactory negotiations, subject to the approval by the Council, had been made.

The Council approved the new arrangement, condemning the action of the original contractor for cancelling his tender at such short notice.

P.A.C. payments were advised, and the deduction of rent from P.A.C. payments, in certain cases, was agreed to.

The meeting was informed that the peat contract would be unaffected by the new road tax.

Other matters which came up for discussion were repairs to the heating system in the Gymnasium, repairs to the disposal system at the Sanitary Depot, and the services of a farrier.

Finally, the Secretary disclosed that the year 1948 had closed showing a small balance in hand.

"JOHN BISCOE" SAILS
THROUGH UNCHARTED AREA

While on her first tour of the Antarctic Bases the F.I.D.S. vessel, "John Biscoe", sailed through an uncharted area on 7th December. This was the channel between Elephant Island and Cornwallis Island.

Varying depths from 112 to 676 fathoms were recored on the echo sounder, and photographs were taken of the North Sound and West sides of Cornwallis, East and South of the Elephant.

It was on Elephant that Sir Ernest Shackleton landed in 1915 after drifting northwards from the Weddell Sea. Thence he made his epic journey to South Georgia in an open boat.

MISADVENTURE VERDICT IN ANTARCTIC INQUEST

A verdict of death by misadventure was returned at an enquiry held in the early part of December of last year, on board the John Biscoe, into the death of Mr. Eric Platt, geologist and leader of the base at Admiralty Bay.

The enquiry was held by Commander H. Kirkwood, D.S.C., R.N., Captain of the John Biscoe, while the vessel was at anchor in Admiralty Bay.

Later in the day, two wreaths of evergreens, one on behalf of His Excellency the Governor, and the other on behalf of the members of the Survey, were placed on the grave which is on the hillside overlooking the base huts and the bay. A wooden cross over the grave bears the inscription: "ERIC PLATT, Geologist and Base Leader, F.I.D.S.; died on duty November 10th, 1948, aged 22 years."

UNITED NATIONS APPEAL FOR CHILDREN

20 COLONIES CONTRIBUTING

By an agreement shortly to be signed by the Secretary of State for the Colonies and Mr. Trygve Lie, Secretary-General of the United Nations, at least 50 per cent. of all proceeds of the United Nations Appeal for Children will be given to the UNICEF.

Already £56,000 has been collected in 20 British Colonies, Singapore making a record contribution of £18,550.

It will be recalled that the Colony gave £500 and sent six boxes of clothing to the "Save the Children" Fund.

Of the £56,000 collected, £39,000 has been allocated to UNICEF, and a further £10,300 is being devoted to local relief projects and £2,800 to British voluntary agencies in the United Kingdom.

Singapore is the only Colony of the 20 taking part in this scheme which will receive allocations from UNICEF.

party from Hope Bay. The depot, says a report, was four miles west of Cape Hamilton.

The report also covers a sledging-trip made by a party of six men from Base E. The members of this party were:

Dr. V.E. Fuchs; Mr. B. Stonehouse; Mr. R.J. Adie; Surgeon-Lieutenant D.G. Dalgleish, R.N., medical officer, Mr. R.E. Spivey and Mr. K.V. Blaiklock.

The party left the Base in mid-September with five sledges, each of which carried an average load of 1,100lb. including an 18ft. dory towed on a specially constructed trailer sledge. The intention was to use this dory in crossing the channel between Adelaide Island and the mainland (Graham Land) nicknamed locally "the Gullet." Excellent travelling surfaces with low temperatures and bright sun were experienced until September 20th when an 800 pound depot was laid at the north of South Island.

After being delayed two days by a gale, the party continued to the north end of Middle Island. Here the leading sledge "bogged down" in slush which, together with thin ice, forced the party to return one mile to camp. Next day, a reconnaissance of "the Gullet" showed an area covered by two to three inches of frozen slush with patches of open water. Many seals and birds were seen.

Further progress to the north was considered to be unsafe - the slush made it impossible to launch the dory - and plans were altered to include a survey of the east coast of Adelaide and adjacent islands. Except for Commandant Charcot's distant survey in 1909, this area is virtually unmapped.

The journey revealed also that it will be necessary to make very considerable amendments and additions to the existing map north of Camp Point.

COLONY'S FIRST OFFICIAL AIR MAIL SERVICE INAUGURATED ON WEDNESDAY

Keen interest was shown by all those who on Wednesday morning saw Mr. Victor Spencer

take off in the Auster aircraft from the landing ground in Stanley to fly with mail to San Carlos, Port San Carlos, and Darwin.

Thus was inaugurated the Colony's first official air mail service, establishing a quick link with those in the Camp and, in this case, providing them with mail which had been received a few days before in Stanley.

Mr. Spencer was accompanied by Mr. Bob Moss, official photographer to F.I.D.S. Just before the take-off he took photographs of the Postmaster handing the mail to the pilot, and then climbed into the plane.

The Auster returned to Stanley just before three o'clock, Mr. Spencer having landed mail at San Carlos and dropping the remainder to Port San Carlos and Darwin, from the air.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

12th January, 1949.

Dear Sir,

"Camp Visitor" has dug up an old bone, a bone which I remember being dug up some thirty years ago; older people will remember it as being old then.

The presence of children at a dance can be controlled only in the case of a public function, and then only if there are regulations for this purpose in the hire terms. I understand that no person under the age of 16 is permitted to attend a public dance in the Gymnasium; but of course it is impossible for the doorkeeper to know the exact age of every young person and no doubt a few under sixteens do get in. Whether children at a dance are "pests" is a matter of opinion; to me the expression smacks of exaggeration.

As to the presence of children at cinemas we have an ordinance covering this which still does not take into account the fact that a large number of films shown are quite unsuited for exhibition to juveniles. The behaviour of many children at the movies leaves much to be desired and in this respect there are also many adults who have yet to learn "movie manners". A talkie film has to be heard to be really appreciated and many an otherwise enjoyable picture is spoilt by the unrestricted laughter which effectively blots out the "talkie" part.

Finally, if boys of tender age become intoxicated at dances or elsewhere, it is certainly because some irresponsible person or persons gives them the liquor and this type of person is found in the Gymnasium and in the Cookhouse where Camp dances are held at which children attend regularly. When boys of fourteen or fifteen get intoxicated, in Stanley or in the Camp, it will generally be found due to some bad influence outside the home or something lacking in the home life.

Yours faithfully,

"ex-Camper."

Dear Sir,

I wish to reply to a letter written by "Camp Visitor", published in last week's edition of the "News"

I heartily disagree with her (or his) views on the matter of children attending cinemas. I have been going to the cinema in Stanley for years and have not once been inconvenienced in any way by the children present.

I have seen children at dances in Stanley, but, again, I have still to see one make a "Pest" of him or herself. I have noticed also that most of the children, both male and female, can dance equally as well as most adults - and besides, everyone has to learn.

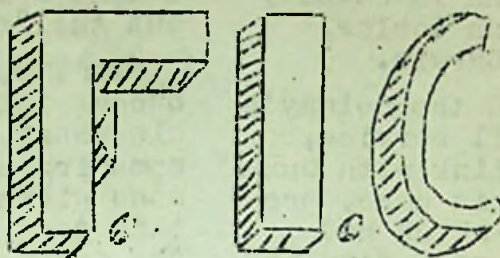

I agree that Juniors should not drink, but don't you think you exaggerate, when you say that we "often" hear of adolescents being drunk? And don't you agree, that those who have offended, constitute only an extremely small percentage of the adolescent population - and that these few must be supplied by adults?

Madam, (for I believe you are a woman), were you not once young? Would you selfishly deny these young people two of the too few pleasures in this Town and so turn more of them into the streets for still more hours? I am sure, Madam, that if you are a victim of adolescent "pests", you would not be troubled further if you made known your identity.

If you have not the mental courage to do this, you still have the right to refuse to dance with them - or do you just grudge the floor space?

Yours faithfully,

F.E. Biggs.

BROADCAST SPEECH BY MRS.
D. W. ROBERTS

As Mrs. Roberts' speech, which was broadcast last Sunday, contained points of special interest to Guild members, we are publishing the whole of her speech so that readers may acquaint themselves with the various points which Mrs. Roberts raised in regard to the Dependencies.- Ed.

Her broadcast was follows:-

"Good evening everybody.

It is a privilege to be able to speak to you this evening and to tell you more about the Guild, the aim of which is to provide an open association for the study and practice of Spinning, Weaving and Dyeing in the Falkland Islands.

"The fourth meeting of the Guild, thanks to the kindness of Mr. McWhan and the Tabernacle Committee, was held in the Tabernacle Hall on Friday afternoon last. We had the pleasure of a visit from Mrs. Barton of Teal Inlet and Mrs. Alec Pitaluga and her two daughters from Salvador. These ladies saw the members at work, and assure us they will tell the people in their Settlements about the work we are doing.

"There were exhibits of wool dyed with the roots of the common dock plant, various shades of green having been obtained. Some of the members brought specimens of their work, and it is gratifying to mention that some members who only learned to spin when the Guild started in October last, are now so proficient that they are able to accept orders for their work. An interesting exhibit was lent by Lieutenant Minchin of the "John Biscoe", a handspun sweater made in the Faroe Islands, and one which it would be useful to copy for men at work in the Antarctic.

"We are pleased to welcome six new members to the Guild, namely, Mrs. Molly Barnes, Port Stanley, Mrs. Sidney Miller, Roy Cove, Mrs. Alec Pitaluga, Salvador, Mrs. J. H. Smith and Miss Thora Smith, Johnson's Harbour, and Mrs. Agnes Stewart of Port Stanley, which now brings the total membership up to thirty-eight.

"We wish to thank Mrs. Barton of Teal Inlet, and Mrs. William Luxton of Chartres, for their donation to Guild funds.

"Refreshments in the form of tea and biscuits were served at the meeting by Mrs. George Bowles, and were much appreciated.

"On behalf of the Committee and Members of the Guild I wish to take this opportunity to thank the Government's Agricultural Department, Mr. Gilruth, Darwin, Mr. Beatty, Port Stephens, Mr. Clement, Fitzroy, Miss Diana Pitaluga, Rincon Grande, and Mrs. Sandy McLeod, Port Stanley, for their gifts of wool. These gifts are very much appreciated, and the stock now in hand will be used for teaching purposes. The Committee wish me to stress that in future they are quite prepared to pay for any wool received. It is felt that the Guild is now established, and there being such an excellent market for homespun and knitted articles, it is no longer necessary for the Guild to accept wool without paying for it.

"All connected with the Guild wish me to say how grateful they are to the various gentlemen in the town who so kindly have come to the rescue in making out-of-order spinning wheels work, and to thank everybody for the goodwill and help given in many ways.

"Last week Major Pierce Butler came to see Miss Jessie Bender, our Vice-President, Mrs. Bert Newing, our Honorary Treasurer, and me, about the possibility of members of the Guild making homespun and knitted garments for the members of the Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey. The Administration of this Survey is desirous to encourage local industry, and instead of importing articles from abroad, has made a generous offer to members of the Guild in the shape of a substantial order.

"Prices offered for the various articles are as follows:-

SWEATERS...48 required...£3.10.0 each.
SOCKS.....64 pairs required...12/6 per pair.
BATAVIA helmets...40 required.... 7/- each.
MITTENS.....60 pairs required.... 5/- per pair.
FINGERLESS GLOVES..60 pairs required 4/6 per pair.

SEABOOT STOCKINGS..48 pairs required....£1 per pair.

"All the above articles to be made to a certain pattern, which patterns may be had on application to the Guild.

"Should members of the Guild take on this order, not only are they earning good money, but a considerable sum of money can be kept in the Colony, which is all to the good.

"The Committee wish it to be strongly stressed that Members undertaking to make any of the articles required for this order must guarantee to have them ready by the beginning of October this year, 1949, and made according to the desired pattern. Will, therefore, those members of the Guild please let me know definitely in writing exactly how many of the various articles they guarantee to make. This is very important, because, if members cannot accept the order, or part of it, Major Butler must know. If we cannot produce the goods, then he, on behalf of the Administration, must purchase them elsewhere.

"Members willing to help with this order can bring the finished articles to the monthly Guild meetings, and members in the Camp can arrange with Stanley members to bring them, and if the articles prove to be well made and up to the standard, payment will at once be made for them.

"To avoid too many of the same articles being made, members before starting to knit, are requested to communicate with Mrs. Bert Newing or me so as to learn exactly what articles it is best to make.

"The Guild Committee strongly urge members undertaking orders to make their own arrangements about getting sufficient wool for the orders they undertake, and to do so as soon as possible before the wool is sent out of the Colony.

"Patterns for the articles required for F.I.D.S. will be sent on application, and in the meantime, members are requested to get busy spinning a good supply of wool. Will they also be certain to well shrink the spun wool before knitting it. This is important.

"The Guild Committee and Members sincerely wish to thank His Excellency The Governor and the Administration of the Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey for offering this order to us, and also to thank His Excellency for all the help he has given us in so many ways.

"The Guild Committee wishes members to understand that they are not expected to execute orders if they do not wish to; it is entirely up to them whether they do or not; on the other hand the Guild is pleased to accept orders for those members who wish to help.

"We sincerely hope that ladies residing in the Camp will join us and help with this order. The subscription is two shillings and sixpence per annum, which should be sent in to Mrs. Bert Newing, 1, Ross Road, Stanley.

"Great things start from small beginnings, and if the Guild can set a high standard for well made homespun or woven articles, who knows but what the future years may show as big a demand from all over the world for Falkland Island goods as there is for those produced in Scotland and the Shetland Islands.

"The Guild so far has been concentrating on Spinning and Dyeing, but it is hoped that in the not too far distant future to have some good quality Falkland Island tweeds on the market.

"Thank you for listening to me. Goodnight to you all."

SEA LION AND FAMILY SEEN AT SURF BAY

Interest was aroused last Saturday when it was reported that a Sea Lion, Clapmatch and pup, had been seen on the sands at Surf Bay.

One person said that he had first seen the family from the top of Hooker's Point and had then gone to the Bay to get a closer view.

Many people, taking advantage of the fine weather at the weekend, went to the beach to see this somewhat unusual sight. Mr. Bob Moss, official photographer to F.I.D.S., managed to obtain some very fine pictures of the family, getting within a few feet of the Lion itself.

ENGAGEMENT OF MISS MARGARET M. MCLEOD

The engagement took place on Boxing Day in 1948, of Miss Margaret Mary McLeod, eldest and only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie McLeod of Darwin, and Mr. James Hugh Anderson, eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Anderson, of Stanley.

Mr. Anderson is a member of the crew of the Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey vessel "John Biscoe", and will be leaving for the Antarctic when the ship leaves this month.

"JOHN BISCOE" DUE TO LEAVE SOON

The Falkland Islands Dependencies vessel "John Biscoe" is due to leave for the Antarctic Bases either today or tomorrow.

This was revealed in a statement made by Commander H. Kirkwood to the "Weekly News" on Wednesday.

While she has been here, the "Biscoe" has been busily engaged in preparing for her next trip - loading stores and provisions for the Bases, and carrying out maintenance and minor repairs.

On board she will also have a new supply of books, magazines and journals, which have been kindly given by the people of Stanley.

This gesture has been very much appreciated by the Officers and crew of the vessel, for they had completely exhausted their stock of reading material.

RECRUITING DRIVE BEGINS - DEFENCE FORCE NEED MORE MEN

On Monday evening recruiting for the Falkland Islands Defence Force started in earnest.

In just over half an hour three new recruits, two former members, and one from the Mounted Infantry had enlisted into the colours.

This was the response shown to His Excellency's appeal at the end of 1948 for more men to join the Force.

Said the Adjutant: "I was more than satisfied with the start, especially since most people knew nothing about the drive until last Friday, with the exception of those already in the Force.

"But I should like to see more men coming along to join in the next two months, before actual training commences. The more chaps we get into the Force, the better the show with the equipment we have."

The new training programme has been completely remodelled, and is to include military subjects not previously studied in the Force.

It is also to include courses on fieldcraft, mortars, map reading and signals.

"It's hoped that we can get cracking on training the chaps on Guerilla warfare immediately we have got through the first part of the syllabus, and an innovation under consideration is an annual training camp lasting a week.

"This, however, we can't consider until the men are sufficiently trained.

"If we get the men, and they work hard at their training, we will certainly have the have a camp," the Adjutant told the Weekly News.

3 YEARS OVER WASHTUB PAID FOR HER FARE

Mrs. Alice Grant, fifty-seven-year old Falkland Islander, known to thousands of wartime troops as "Ma" Grant, spent three years over a washtub to earn money for her fare to England.

When interviewed by a Daily Mirror reporter last year, she told him that she liked Britain so much, and the little house in Sidmouth-street, Hull, where she has settled, that she had decided not to return to the Colony.

Born in the Colony, Mrs. Grant lived for thirty-seven years without moving far from her home where she brought up seven children.

When troops came to Stanley, "Ma" Grant listened to their talk of home.

She told the Daily Mirror: "I decided to take in their washing at 1s. a bundle.

"At the end I had £380. The passage for my husband and myself cost £170.

"I like England. All my children are here, except one. He is a lighthouse keeper in the Colony."

H.M.S. "SPARROW'S" SECOND TOUR

Arriving back from Montevideo just after six o'clock on Tuesday morning, the sloop H.M.S. "Sparrow" left at 6.30 p.m. on the same day for the second part of her summer tour.

At the end of her stay here she will return to the United Kingdom to pay off the crew and undergo a refit.

She is likely to call at Bermuda on the way home.

After she has been recommissioned she will probably rejoin the West Indies Station.

TABERNACLE SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

On Tuesday morning at 10.30 a.m. some 50 children belonging to the Tabernacle Sunday School left for Rookery Bay. The occasion was a much looked forward to picnic.

Though the day was overcast the weather was warm, and children took the opportunity to make the most of the days' outing.

The first event in the days' programme was a walk over to Surf Bay to see the Sea Lion and its family. Only the pup was there to greet the children on their arrival.

Those who remained at Rookery Bay spent their time in making a sand pulpit, with the text: "The Sea Is His" on the front, in wild flowers.

A short service was held later by Mr. McWhan.

After lunch, a treasure hunt was organised, and was won by Gladys Browning.

In the sand building competition the judges had a difficult task in deciding - because of so many splendid efforts - the actual prize winners.

They eventually awarded the prizes to Neil Watson and Albert Wilson, June Rose Sedgwick and Frances Whitney, Frances Bowles and Shirley McLeod, and Betty McKay and Flora Etheridge, according to age groups.

Most of the children enjoyed the paddling in the sea and the sports which followed later, which included races for various ages.

The journey back to town by lorry completed what had been "a perfect day," said one who had been with the party.

Mr. McWhan told the Weekly News that he wished, on behalf of the Tabernacle Church, to thank all those who helped, particularly Mrs. Wardle of the "Mon Star Hotel".

"All helped to make the day successful and pleasant for the children," he said.

Pleading guilty to being drunk and to assaulting his wife on the night of 18th January, David John Duncan, of 2, Pioneer Row, appeared before the Hon. Mr. R.S. Winter, at the Magistrates' Court on Wednesday morning.

The Chief Constable explained that Mrs. Duncan had to call in the police owing to her husband's behaviour.

Duncan was fined a total of £5 and place on the "Black List" for 12 months.

"SCOTT OF THE ANTARCTIC" HAILED AS EPIC

London film critics have hailed "Scott Of The Antarctic", as a great and deeply moving film.

Its success lies in the essential simplicity of its theme which has been left alone to tell its own story.

One critic says, "The photography is superb... It is a deeply moving film accurately based on one of the most heroic incidents in British history."

Survivors of Captain Scott's last expedition were presented to the Queen, Princess Margaret and the Duke of Edinburgh after the showing of "Scott Of The Antarctic", at the Royal Command Film Performance in November of last year.

Nearly fifty British and American stars, including John Mills - who plays the role of Scott - and other members of the cast of the film were also presented to the Royal party.

Since the film concerns the life of Scott and his companions while in the South, it's hoped that it will come to Stanley.

MEDICAL TREATMENT WHEN AWAY FROM HOME

ARRANGEMENTS FOR TEMPORARY RESIDENTS

Everyone is entitled to free medical treatment under the National Health Service while in the United Kingdom.

This is revealed in a leaflet issued by the Ministry of Health in London.

The leaflet says that anyone (including visitors from abroad) who is living temporarily - for not more than three months - in any district and who is not on a doctor's list in that area, can apply for treatment as a temporary resident.

Children at boarding schools and undergraduates at a University are also eligible for treatment.

"Each," says the leaflet, "must apply to his own doctor at the University or the boarding school."

For visitors to obtain treatment under the Service the procedure is quite simple, there being nothing more to do than to sign a form, stating there is no intention of staying in the district for more than three months, and giving the home address.

The doctor signs this form and retains it.

But for persons who propose to stay for more than three months, the procedure is slightly different.

On landing in Britain they will be handed a pamphlet in which is set out the main points of the Service, and telling them that they may choose a doctor and be placed on his National Health Service list.

They will then receive a Medical Card entitling them to treatment, and should only make application to the doctor when treatment is needed.

Apart from the right to the services of a doctor, free of charge, the leaflet says "that any visitor to Britain, in the event of serious illness, is entitled to hospital and specialist treatment."

On one occasion Jesus said: "For what shall it profit man, if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

Let us remember that nothing is of greater importance in our lives than our relationship with God. Jesus, God's Son, invites us to claim Him as our Saviour and Friend, and by so doing to enter into the full joy of God's Plan for us.

FALKLAND ISLANDS LABOUR FEDERATION

The Departmental Review for 1948 recently published contains, under the heading "Public Departments", statements regarding opposition from the Federation to the importation of artisans from the United Kingdom, and of displaced persons from Europe. In view of this, the General Committee feel it is necessary to make a public statement of its attitude in the matters referred to.

The question of United Kingdom artisans was one the remarkable difference between the pay of United Kingdom artisans and locally trained artisans doing the same work. At the time last year when this was discussed, a local carpenter was earning 1/7d plus 3d cost-of-living bonus per hour, making 1/10d per hour or 14/8d per eight-hour day, as against a United Kingdom artisan's £1 per day (every day in the year). This was justly regarded as unfair, and when the matter was taken up by the local Carpenters' Union it was with the support of the Federation.

The attitude finally taken up by the Committee was that it could not agree to any further importations while the question of a general increase of wages remain unsettled. The Government, however, insist that more artisans must be got from the United Kingdom.

It is noteworthy that when Mr. Clarence Evans applied in England for a post as a carpenter under the Colony's Development Programme, he was informed that he could not be paid the same rates as a carpenter trained in England, for he was locally trained and if he was given the higher rate it would cause friction among other locally trained carpenters. Mr. Evans did not take the post.

Opposition to the importation of displaced persons was based, not on mere dislike of foreigners - the Review states that it was a matter of local sentiment - but on the practical consideration that there could not be enough work for so many men after the end of the Development Programme, and the question would then be who was to be paid off: Displaced Persons or locals, for, unlike the United Kingdom artisans, whose return fares are paid, the "D.P.s" would have been permanent residents of the Colony.

The fact that a considerable number of Falkland Islanders are abroad and who might wish to return home was also kept in mind, as were the continual reports of trouble in the United Kingdom consequent on the arrivals of displaced persons in that country.

It has been pointed out by the Committee that "there are now a number of tradesmen from the United Kingdom in the Colony in addition to the local carpenters, etc., in the P.W.D. If each of these men trains an apprentice, and the fullest possible use is made of handymen and suitable unskilled men as assistants, there should be no need for further importations of any race."

The Committee has expressed its appreciation to the Government for its decision not to import any more displaced persons for the Development Programme, which is felt to be a very wise one.

W. Dearling,
Secretary.

'COST OF LIVING HIGH IN MALAYA'
SAYS FORMER STANLEY
SCHOOL TEACHER

Miss Hilda Brown, for three years an Infants' Mistress at the Government School in Stanley, and now living in Malaya with her husband and daughter, writes from there to say that "the cost of living is terribly high."

On the termination of her contract with the Colonial Government here, Miss Brown went home to the United Kingdom on leave. Later, she took a similar post in Tanganyika, where she met and later married Mr. Bryan Webb of the Forestry Service. They went to Malaya some time later, and it was there that their daughter, Sarah Margaret (Sally), was born a year ago.

In her letter Mrs. Webb says: "We are getting very fed up with our mail never getting anywhere... We are perfectly sure that all the Post Office Staff must be Communists... and letters from Europeans to England never get further than the sorting office."

"We like Malaya very much, but we prefer Tanganyika."

"Of course we have not been able to give this Colony a fair chance, as the general situation does not make for happiness... There is not much in the home papers about it, but conditions are not too good for Europeans."

"So far, here in Kuala Lumpur, there has been no fighting... Within the town limits we have been safe - but even so, our Clubs, swimming pools and Churches have to be permanently surrounded by armed guards."

"We all have to carry weapons and sleep with them handy... Our friends - only five miles away - have their houses surrounded by barbed wire, flood-lit and permanently guarded."

Mr. Webb's job is about the worst possible one for these days, says his wife.

"His Head Office is in Kuala Lumpur, but his job takes him all over the Federation and Singapore."

"Travelling is not safe even on the main roads; and he, of course, has to go into the Forest, where the Communists have their hide-outs."

"He goes in armed and with armed guards, and has to report to the Police the time he will be back... so that if he is not, they will go and look for him."

"Not very satisfactory, as if he is not back on time, he never will be alive."

Housing apparently is even a problem in Kuala Lumpur. After experiencing some difficulty, Mr. and Mrs. Webb managed to obtain a very nice timber and thatched roofed bungalow.

The Government, she says, gives them good houses and furniture, but the "cost of living is 'terrific' and servants wages high, and in this heat they are a necessity and not a luxury."

"We pay £34 monthly in wages... Think of the price you pay for meat, whereas local meat is 7/6 per lb. A 1 lb. loaf of bread is 1/2d; tiny local eggs 7½d each; and all milk comes out of a tin which is 1/6d..."

"A reel of Sylko is 1/6d, and bone buttons (for men's Khaki shorts and shirts are 5½d each)."

As for the price of clothes!... Well,...some Womans' Fashion Expert has just been visiting Malaya and thinks the women are badly dressed. No wonder, when a cotton utility frock selling at home for £3.10.0. costs us £15. The shops for the U.K. Export Drive are just full of all sorts of luxury goods, that no one can afford to buy.

"We shall have to leave Sally at home when she is five; children do not do well here after that.

"At present she is full of beans, but has chronic tropical Enteritis. That's the worst of the Tropics for children; however much care you take they get these illnesses and have to be 'de-wormed' every three months as a matter of course."

Editor's Note: It is interesting to note that the contributor of this column happened to pick up The Times of the same date as Mrs. Webb's letter, and read of the murder of an English School Teacher by Communists.

NEW HOUSE OF COMMONS TO INCLUDE GIFTS FROM DOMINIONS AND COLONIES

The rebuilding of the House of Commons, badly damaged during the bombing of London, is to be undertaken in the very near future.

In it will be gifts from all the Dominions and Colonies. These are to be used in the new Chamber of the House, as well as in other rooms, which are to be built on the lines of the former.

The old Chamber was panelled and furnished in English oak, and this wood is again to be used throughout the new one; while other rooms are to conform to the general style, so as to retain the harmony and uniformity which characterised the old building.

Australia is to present the Speaker's Chair; Canada the Table of the House, while South Africa is to give the Chairs for the Clerk of the Committee of Ways and Means and the two Clerks of the House, and New Zealand the two official despatch boxes.

Inkstands for the Table are being given by Southern Rhodesia, and gifts of an armchair from Burma and four single chairs from Newfoundland for use in the Prime Minister's Conference Room have been accepted, as well as a silver inkpot with ashtray from the Isle of Man.

This Colony's contribution is silver ash trays embossed with the Colony's new coat-of-arms in colour.

Sir Giles Scott, well known English architect, and principal architect in charge of construction of the new House, is to be responsible for the design of all the gifts which are to be made under his supervision.

WEDDING

SADLER-SMITH - SUMMERS

Fine, warm weather greeted the first wedding of the New Year when, at two o'clock on Tuesday, 25th January, at Christ Church Cathedral, Miss Dorothy Constance Sadler-Smith, second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Sadler-Smith of Stanley, was married to Mr. Philip George Summers, second eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. S.R. Summers of No. 10. Brandon Road, Stanley. The Revd. R.G.R. Calvert officiated.

The groom's best man was his elder brother, Mr. Len Summers.

During the service the Hymns 'Lead Us Heavenly Father' and 'How Welcome Was The Call' were sung. Mrs. R.L. Robson was the organist.

Given away by her Father, the bride made a pretty figure dressed in a long white satin wedding dress, with which she wore a half-moon shaped toque of white artificial flowers and long tulle veil. She carried a mixed bouquet of carnations, white lilies and white roses. Mrs. Summers was attended by two bridesmaids, Miss Vera Sadler-Smith (sister), and Miss Glynis Wallin, cousin of the groom. Both wore long dresses of salmon pink material and head-dress of the same material ornamented with white artificial roses, and carried bouquets of mixed flowers.

Some 200 guests attended the reception, held by the bridegroom's parents at their home, among which were many personal friends of the newly wed couple.

Soon after the four-tier cake - made by the bridegroom's uncle, Mr. A.V. Summers - was cut, the bride's Father toasted the health of the groom and his bride, wishing them many long years of happily married life.

The couple are spending their honeymoon in Stanley.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Dear Sir,

Just a word about the Christ Church Cathedral Sunday School Picnic.

The children, I understand, had to take their own lunch, which I think was a disgrace. If the Church Funds are so poor as not to be able to provide lunch for their outing, it is time they held two Bazaars yearly instead one one.

"Charity starts at home"; very true in my case.

Yours faithfully,

I. Goss

65 CHILDREN AT CATHEDRAL PICNIC

Some 65 children attended a very enjoyable picnic at Surf Bay on Wednesday, 26th January.

The occasion was the Cathedral outing for Sunday School scholars.

Despite perfect weather, many children were prevented from going as they were out of town.

Children took their own lunch as well as several gallons of cold drinks, which were in constant demand towards the end of the day.

Soon after lunch bathing and paddling became the rage for a while, followed by races and rounders. Prizes were awarded for the former.

In the meantime, other children had been building sand-castles, and these also were judged for prizes.

Mr. Summers had not underestimated the children's appetites when the van arrived some time later with tea. Some, in fact, were still eating in the lorry on the way home after five o'clock.

Special thanks are due to the kind people who gave sweets and chocolates and to Mr. and Mrs. Watson who carried out the arrangements.

CARD OF APPRECIATION

T.J. Hardy, and brother H.H. Hardy, wish to express their heartfelt appreciation to the numerous friends and relatives who sent floral tributes and letters of sympathy during their recent bereavement.

'I DIDN'T THINK' SAYS
 MRS. RUMBOLDS

Hatched in mid-September, a brood of young ducks have already started to provide their owner with eggs.

Comment of their owner, Mrs. R. Rumbolds, was: "I didn't think they would begin to lay so soon as this, especially since they were born only in September.

"I was quite surprised, as it's not usual for them to start laying until they're six months old.

"But I suppose it's one of those things that just sometimes happen."

On board the s.s. "Lafonia" when she arrived in Stanley last Saturday night was Mr. J. S. Cumpston of the Australian Legation.

He is here on a brief visit to the Colony until the "Fitzroy" leaves for Montevideo.

During the past few days he has been taking many photographs of Stanley's more important buildings, and intends to show these to his friends when he gets back to Santiago.

Under the auspices of the Old Pupils' Association, he has arranged to hold a cinema show in the Gymnasium this evening at eight o'clock, with films depicting the many aspects of life in Australia to-day.

I understand that there are to be two performances: one for the children in the afternoon at three-thirty, at which Mothers may accompany their children, and the evening one which will be for adults only.

ANNUAL CONGREGATIONAL
 TABERNACLE CHURCH

The Annual Meeting of the Members of the Tabernacle Church took place on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock.

A satisfactory balance sheet was presented to the Members by the Hon. Treasurer, Mr. W.H. Sedgwick.

Mr. McWhan outlined the work of the Church during 1948, and thanked all who had helped in the duties of the Church Council, Ladies' Committee, and Sunday School Teaching.

It was agreed that the Tabernacle Church should henceforth be known as the United Free Church (of the Falkland Islands) instead of "Non-Conformist".

Later, during the evening, the Church Council and Ladies Committee decided that the Annual Sale of Work would take place on Tuesday, 8th March.

The following persons are to comprise the Tabernacle Church Council for 1949:

Mr. J. Osborne (Hon. Secretary)

Letters to the Editor

The Deanery,
 Stanley.
 31st January, 1949.

Sir,

In case your Overseas or Camp readers are misled by the travesty of facts contained in Miss Bella Goss's letter in the "Weekly News", it seems necessary to send a reply.

Those who pride themselves that their charity begins at home should see to it that it does not remain there, and refrain from uncharitable remarks about other people's hard voluntary work.

The "edited" version of the account of the picnic, which I sent in on request to the "Weekly News", contained a serious error in saying that the "children took....several gallons of cold drinks." In point of fact these were provided for them, and in such quantity that they were not able to drink them all! Add to this that cakes, etc., were provided for the children's tea, again so many that they could not eat them all, and chocolates and sweets in such number that some were brought back and have been stored ready for the winter tea-party and prize-giving.

Considering these facts and the stamps, books, papers, etc., which Cathedral Sunday School scholars are given at different times, I cannot feel that they are hard done by.

With reference to Bazaars, who is Miss Goss to say that those who do more than their share of work by organizing them should do more? Are those who undertake this work to be criticised by those who take absolutely no part in it at all?

In any case the purpose of the Church is to preach the Gospel; it is not an organization for providing bun-fights.

Yours faithfully,

R.G.R. Calvert.

Comment: The Editor takes this opportunity of apologising to Mr. Calvert for any wrong impression which may have been caused by the "edited" version of the account of the picnic which he sent in to the "Weekly News".

However, it is necessary in point of fact to say that the account said: "The Children took their own lunch which was soon consumed on arrival, also several gallons of cold drinks."

The syntax and punctuation used in the above sentence indicates that the children took cold drinks as well as their lunch, and that these were consumed on arrival:-Ed.

F.I.D.F. DANCE TO MARK
 DRIVE

To mark the conclusion of the recruiting drive - training starts on the 24th March- the Falkland Islands Defence Force will hold a dance on Friday, 11th March.

All Active, Reserve and Retired Members are welcome, and each may bring two ladies.

Male members of the public who are not members of the Force are cordially invited to come along, on the condition that they enlist before entering the dance. The Adjutant and Company Serjeant-Major will be at the Drill Hall from 2.00 hrs. to 22.00 hrs. for this purpose.

No other males other than members and those desirous of joining will be allowed to the dance. Tickets will be 1/- each, and Dancing will be from nine o'clock until midnight.

Refreshments, etc., will be supplied free of charge. Further news regarding the sale of tickets will be issued later.

RECRUITING DRIVE GOING WELL

So far 14 new members have enlisted into the Defence Force, and two retired members - one of whom is 53! - have asked to be taken back on the Active List.

"It's hoped," said the Adjutant, to the "Weekly News", "that some of the younger members of the community - people around the age of 18 especially - will come along with the same spirit that the older people show.

"The programme has been designed to make it most interesting throughout, and once we start, those young fellows who have not come up, will most certainly regret it.

"Don't forget that you may apply to any Officer, N.C.O. or Other Rank to enlist into the F.I.D.F. Do so now."

BRITAIN'S PART IN AIR LIFT

From Honington airfield in Suffolk - heart of the British half of the Berlin Air Lift - go all the spares demanded by the biggest air carrying operation ever known.

On the average 125 engines have been flown to Germany every month - new, or reconditioned, tested and checked for immediate use.

Night and day the spares are flown from Honington to Berlin by a flight of six Dakotas to maintain the vital air supply of food, clothing and equipment which is required by Berlin's inhabitants.

Each Dakota flies on an average 100,000 miles a month, thus helping to defeat Russia's attempts at enforcing a blockade on the capital.

CHINA REELS IN GRAVEST CRISIS

From Shanghai American civilians are leaving with all possible speed as the threat of Communist occupation becomes more likely.

Three-hundred-and-fifty miles north of Shanghai, the U.S. garrison at Tsingtao is being strengthened still further. 1200 Marines have now reinforced those already there, making a total of nearly 5,000 now defending Tsingtao from Communist attacks.

An official communique says: "The object of reinforcing the garrison is to protect American lives and American property, and not to turn the tide of the civil war."

All hope of saving the regime of Chiang Kai-Shek now appears to have faded.

The authorities in Washington rejected the appeals of the Generalissimo's wife to intervene in the civil war by sending troops to China to prevent the country from being overrun by the Communists.

THE LATE ALBERT STEVENSEN

We regret to report the death at his home in Stanley last night of Mr. Albert Stevensen at the age of 72 years.

Mr. Stevensen, who was pre-deceased by his wife, was originally from Norway. He became a British subject some years ago.

For many years he was around the coast in schooners, and was a capable skipper.

Left to mourn their loss are his son and two daughters, all of whom are in England.

We take this opportunity of extending our sympathy to them and also to members of his family resident in the Colony.

FILMS

AUSTRALIA TODAY (Gymnasium, Friday.)

If, like myself, you are an admirer of the more lavishly produced type of documentary, then you will most certainly enjoy seeing this very excellent film this evening.

This technicolour extravaganza which has been spared nothing by the people who made it, cannot but appeal to those who have in their minds but an illusory picture of life in Australia.

It's story is of life in Australia today as its title suggests, but it is the actors - in this case the ordinary individual - who make the film what it is, an interesting informative documentary.

It's treatment is simple but effective. Thus it gains the attention of the picturegoer from the beginning, and does not lose it even at the end - for their remains an impression on the mind of a life so different to that which we experience here.

This 45-minute film is worthy of the greatest praise to its producers. And, it is in itself, a serious challenge to producers of documentary films in England.

ADMIRAL SIR WILLIAM TENNANT
 OF HONOUR

Stepping ashore from his launch on to the public jetty just before five o'clock On Monday evening, 59-year-old Admiral Sir William Tennant, K.C.B., C.B.E., M.V.O., C-in-C of the America and West Indies Station, inspected a Guard of Honour composed of members of the Falkland Islands Defence Force.

Heavy rain broke loose as the Guard came to the "present arms", and a number of spectators standing nearby were forced to hurriedly dash for shelter.

Standing smartly to attention, Sir William took the salute and then made an inspection of the Guard. He commented to the Officer-in-charge on their smartness and efficiency of turn-out, and apologised for having kept them waiting so long.

After the inspection he was met by the Hon. the Acting Colonial Secretary, and His Excellency the Governor's A.D.C., Major L.W. Aldridge, M.B.E., E.D. They later accompanied Sir William to Government House.

Sir William was knighted in 1945, receiving a K.C.B. in recognition of his services with the Royal Navy.

From the Colony's point of view he is an especially welcome visitor because of his appreciation of our bird life.

A keen ornithologist, many will recall that on his last visit here - made some two years ago in H.M.S. "Sheffield" - he tramped over many miles of Camp visiting penguin rookeries, adding to his already encyclopaedic knowledge of bird life.

STANLEY'S TWO VISITING PERSONALITIES

Admiral Sir William Tennant has been Commander-in-Chief, America

and West Indies Station since October, 1946. He is 59 years of age and entered the Navy as a Midshipman in 1906.

In the 1914-1918 war he took part as a Lieutenant in the battles of Heligoland, Dogger Bank and Jutland. His peace time appointments included two cruises with H.R.H. The Prince of Wales on board, in H.M.S. Renown to India and Japan in 1922, and to South Africa and South America in 1925 in H.M.S. Repulse. Later he commanded the cruiser Arethusa as her first captain.

At the beginning of the late war he served as Chief Staff Officer to the First Sea Lord, in the rank of Captain. He was sent from the Admiralty to be Senior Naval Officer, Dunkirk, and to organise the naval evacuation under the late Admiral Sir Bertram Ramsey, K.C.B., K.B.E., M.V.O. For his services in this operation he was awarded the C.B.

After Dunkirk, Captain Tennant took command of H.M.S. Repulse. He was in charge of the battleship when she was sunk by the Japanese in the Pacific in December, 1941.

On promotion to Rear-Admiral in February, 1942, he became Rear-Admiral Commanding the Fourth Cruiser Squadron, and while in this command he was appointed Second-in-Command, Eastern Fleet, in January, 1943.

He returned to the European theatre in 1944, and in connection with the invasion of Normandy planned operations Mulberry and Pluto, the names given to the construction of artificial harbours and shelters, and the force supplying fuel to the Armies, respectively. For his distinguished services in these operations, he was awarded the C.B.E.

In October of that year Rear-Admiral Tennant became Flag Officer, Levant and Eastern Mediterranean and was promoted to be Vice-Admiral in July of 1945. He was created a Knight Commander of the Bath in December, 1945, for outstanding services in the war in Europe.

In October, 1948, he was promoted to Admiral.

He has been awarded the Legion of Merit, Degree of Commander, for services in the Mediterranean to the Allied Cause, made an Officer of the Legion of d'Honneur and awarded the Croix de Guerre with Palms for his part in the operations for the liberation of France, and been awarded the Cross of Grand Officer of the Royal Order of George I with Swords for services to the Royal Hellenic Navy.

Captain C.L. Firth was appointed in command of H.M.S. "Glasgow" in August, 1948, and as Chief of Staff to the C-in-C, America and West Indies Station in October, 1948.

Born in 1900, he entered the Navy by Public School entry in 1918. As a Sub-Lieutenant he served in the Royal Yacht "Victoria" and "Albert".

In 1926 Lieutenant Firth specialised in Signals and as a Signals Officer served largely in destroyer flotillas, being also Flag Lieutenant to the Commodore (D), Home Fleet Flotillas and later to Rear-Admiral (d) in the Mediterranean.

On promotion to Commander in 1935, Commander Firth started a series of commands in H.M. destroyers, "Broke" 1935-1936, "Grafton" 1936-1938, "Imogen" 1940, "Jackal" 1940-1941. In September, 1936, he became a Member of the Royal Victorian Order for services as Senior Officer of Escort to H.M. King Edward VIII.

From 1941, when he was promoted to Captain, he served for a few months in command of "Southern Prince" and as Chief of Staff to Admiral Sir Robert Burnett, then commanding the 1st Minelaying Squadron. Later he was appointed the first Director of Radar in the Admiralty.

From 1943 to 1945 he commanded the 24th Destroyer Flotilla in "Troubridge", serving in the Mediterranean, and in June, 1944, was awarded the Distinguished Service Order for courage, skill and leadership in many successful operations in the Adriatic while in command of "Troubridge", a bar being added to this decoration in September, 1944 for gallantry and skill while serving as Captain (D), 24th Destroyer Flotilla in successful operations against enemy submarines.

For the past two and a half years, prior to his present appointment, he commanded H.M. Signal School (H.M.S. "Mercury") near Portsmouth.

REPORT ON FIFTH MEETING OF WEAVERS', SPINNERS' AND DYERS' GUILD

The fifth meeting of the Guild of Weavers', Spinners' and Dyers' was, thanks to Mr. McWhan and the Tabernacle Committee, held in the Tabernacle Hall on Friday afternoon last, 4th February.

The following thirteen members were enrolled:- Mrs. Goodwin and Mrs. Peter Kiddle, of Roy Cove, Mrs. Alfred Johnson, of Hill Cove, Mrs. Lawrence Aldridge, Mrs. S. Aldridge, Mrs. Chris Bender, Mrs. Sam Bonner, Mrs. J.J. Davis, Mrs. A.J. Harvey, Mrs. S.M. Rutter, Mrs. Hannah Smith, and Mrs. A. Summers, all of Port Stanley.

The total membership of the Guild now totals 51.

There were exhibits of dyes from local plants; green from a lichen, yellow from a fern, yellow from buttercup petals, brown from a rock lichen, and other vegetable dyes - not local - were reds (cochineal), yellow (fustic chips), and mauve and purple from logwood.

A number of sweaters, gloves and mittens were handed in towards the order for the Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey.

Some of the members are busy knitting Fair Isle pattern jumpers with wool made from local dyes, which are very attractive.

So that members buying fleeces of wool may make use of every particle, such as wool not suitable for spinning, Mrs. D.W. Roberts showed them how to utilise this type of wool for making useful eiderdowns or cot blankets.

The late Mrs. Frank Simpson told Mrs. Roberts that when some of the early Scotch settlers arrived in the Colony, they found they had not sufficient blankets. Necessity being the Mother of Invention, they made what they called "Falkland Island Blankets" from local wool, and it is with this idea as the foundation, that Mrs. Roberts gave the demonstration.

The idea proved very popular, and before the meeting was closed, some of the knitting members took on orders for eiderdowns, since when further orders have been received.

The Guild being short of Spinning Wheels, the present spinners are unable to keep the knitting members supplied with wool, so, in the meantime, they can be making eiderdowns if they wish. Next month the Guild hopes to have locally made sheep-skin slippers on show; so that those members interested, can learn how to make them.

During the meeting the welcome cup of tea was served by Mrs. George Bowles, and in the interval everybody enjoyed a pleasant chat and examined the exhibits.

The Committee wish to assure members that everything possible is being done to get a supply of spinning wheels into the Colony as soon as possible, and it is hoped that the first consignment will be here very soon.

New members are welcome, and ladies thinking of joining the Guild and wanting spinning wheels are requested to enrol as soon as possible. The subscription is 2/6d per annum which should be sent to Mrs. Bert Newing, 1, Ross Road, Stanley, stating if a spinning wheel is required.

A quotation from "The Wonder Book of Wool", issued by the Department of Education of the International Wool Secretariat, may interest readers.

How did a boy become a cloth-maker in the Middle Ages? I will tell you the story of a boy named John Smith.

When John was twelve years of age his father took him to a cloth-maker in the town, who made John his apprentice. This meant that the cloth-maker was John's Master. John had to go and live at his Master's house, and work for him, and learn all about the trade. After seven years as an apprentice, John had grown up, and had learnt to work well. So he now became a journey-man. This meant that he went out to work each day, and was paid wages by his Master.

After a few more years, John was so good at cloth-making that he asked if he could become a Master himself. He made a special piece of cloth, showed it to all the other Masters in the town. They thought that this piece of cloth was so good that they could now make John a Master. They did this by making him a member of their Guild.

The Guild was their Society. Only people who belonged to the Guild were allowed to be Masters. The piece of cloth which had won John his position was called his "master-piece".

The Guild Committee trusts that all members will take this quotation to heart, and that all garments spun and knitted by Guild members will equal a "master-piece". In this way the foundation is laid for a thriving home industry. There is always a good market for first-class quality goods - "Masterpieces".

The Guild is where one can learn to spin; present members who spin will willingly teach those who cannot. Some day, the Guild hopes to have looms when hand-weaving will be taught.

H.M.S. "GLASGOW'S" FINE RECORD OF SERVICE

H.M.S. "Glasgow", the seventh ship to bear the name, was built on the Clyde, in Scotland, and was launched in 1936 by Lady Baldwin, wife of the then Prime Minister. She was first commissioned for service in the Home Fleet in 1937.

On the outbreak of war in 1939, the "Glasgow" was attached to the Humber Force - and is thought to have been amongst the first ships to be bombed at sea during the war, when she and her escorts were attacked in the North Sea on 9th of October, 1939.

Employed on escorting convoys to Norway in the spring of 1940, her Royal Marines were amongst the first troops to be landed - at the time of Germany's invasion - when they helped to hold Namsos until relieved by the Army. Later during this campaign she took on board the King and Queen and Crown Prince of Norway and conveyed them to the North, subsequently evacuating to England 32 tons of gold bullion from the Norwegian National Bank.

This was embarked from a blazing jetty while the ship was under a heavy bombing attack.

Later in the same year she was transferred to the Mediterranean, where she took part in convoys between Alexandria and Malta, assisting the Army in the early days of the Libyan campaign and forming part of the covering force for the heartening sea-air operation that temporarily crippled the Italian battle fleet in Taranto.

Seriously damaged in December, 1940, while she was lying in Suda Bay, Crete, engaged in taking supplies to Greece, the ship was torpedoed forward and aft by Italian aircraft, but managed to return under her own steam to Alexandria, where temporary repairs were effected.

The years 1941 and 1942 saw the ship constantly taking part in sea actions until, in May, 1942, she was compelled to go in to Brooklyn Navy Yard for permanent repairs, having operated with only two propellers from the time when she had been torpedoed in Suda Bay.

After operating for some time in Northern waters, she intercepted the German blockade runner Regensburg in March, 1943, homeward bound from Japan carrying 4,000 tons of rubber, and sank her in the Denmark Straits, between Greenland and Iceland.

From the middle of 1943, the "Glasgow" was based on Plymouth in support of the forces in the Bay of Biscay, and was the first British cruiser to operate in the Azores.

DEFEATS HEAVIER ENEMY FORCE

While with the light cruiser "Enterprise", in company, the "Glasgow" sighted and intercepted a force of 11 German destroyers, which included five of the heavy Narvik class.

The ensuing action, now known as the Holy Innocents Day of action, lasted for three hours, by which time three of the enemy had been sunk and four others damaged. The ship suffered only slight damage, but two of the crew were killed and 11 wounded. After the action, which was followed by unsuccessful attacks by enemy aircraft, the survivors testified to the accuracy of the ship's gunnery.

ACCORDED HONOUR

"D" Day saw the "Glasgow" attached to an American Squadron, where she was accorded the honour of leading the squadron into the beaches for the invasion of France. She covered the landing of the American 1st Division and continued to act as bombarding ship for about three weeks.

Towards the end of June she formed part of a large force, mainly of American ships, which bombarded Cherbourg for three hours in preparation for the successful night attack on the town by the land forces. During the bombardment she came under heavy fire from shore batteries and sustained a number of casualties from one 9.4" and one 6" shell hits.

In July, 1944, the ship was taken in hand for modernisation on the Tyne. A year later she sailed again for the East, and in 1946 hoisted the flag of the C-in-C, East Indies. She returned to England in 1947, and finally sailed from Portsmouth on 30th September, 1948, prior to leaving the United Kingdom for her first full peace-time commission to relieve "Sheffield" as flagship of the C-in-C, America and West Indies Station.

TROPHIES

Among the many interesting trophies held on board the "Glasgow" is the battle ensign flown by the sixth "Glasgow" at the battles of the Coronel Islands and Falkland Islands in 1914. The ship also possesses two pairs of silver mounted carvers presented by the late Duke of Portland. They are made from the trotters of the pig known as "Tirpitz" who was rescued from the sinking Dresden at Juan Fernandez Island in 1915.

A life buoy from the Dresden is also on board.

Letters to the Editor:

s.s. "Fitzroy",
Stanley.
7th February, 1949.

Dear Sir,

"PRINCE CHARLES STRAIT"

I wish to draw your attention to an inaccurate statement in the "Weekly News" on 28th January.

The channel between Elephant Island and Cornwallis Island is hardly a 'newly navigated' strait. The above vessel, under my command, passed southwards through this strait on the 20th January, 1947. At the time we were on passage from the South Orkney Islands to Hope Bay, Grahamland. Proof of our passage through the strait is contained in my log book, voyage report, and the chart on which I navigated. This chart is now in the possession of Mr. J.M. Wordie, St. John's College, Cambridge.

Whilst passing through the strait Mr. Wordie, who was on board the "Fitzroy", was seeing for the first time since his rescue, the beach on which he and some companions were marooned whilst with the unfortunate Shackleton Expedition.

I make no claim that the "Fitzroy" was the first ship to use the strait - probably whalers and other ships have used it at times.

Yours faithfully,

F. W. White,
Master.
s.s. "Fitzroy".

Editor's Comment: Captain White's letter is certainly revealing, insofar as the Editor does not doubt for one single moment that what he says is true; but, since the statement made in the "Weekly News" was received in the form of a Press release from London, he took its authenticity to be unquestionable and therefore published it. However, he wishes to assure Captain White that he hopes to take such steps as are permissible to correct in the London press any false impression which may have been created by the publication of this news.

Just A Thought: We read in verse 3 and 4 of Psalm 8 - "When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars, which thou has ordained; What is man, that thou art mindful of him?" God is indeed mindful of us and has given us many proofs of his interest in us - the greatest of all - the provision of Jesus, to be our Lord and Saviour. Let us fully appreciate God's friendship.

AN APPRECIATION

On my return to the Colony, by the s.s. "Fitzroy", I wish to extend my heartfelt appreciation to all those kind people of Stanley, the Falkland Islands Company, and crew of the s.s. "Lafonia" for their assistance, given at the time of the sad loss of my son Gerard.

WHO RIDES WHO?

A reader of the "Weekly News" would like to know who were the two young ladies who went riding last Sunday, carrying their equipment and leading their horses.

As the reader says, with no apparent offence to the two young ladies, "it seems like a 'horsey storey'."

EDITOR'S NOTE

The Editor wishes to apologise to the many readers of the "Weekly News" for the fact that it has been found necessary to hold over the publication of two Court cases.

MR. MATHEWS RETIRES FROM COLONIAL SERVICE

Scarcely a day passes in the life of the Colony but it is faced with the unpleasant prospect of having to say goodbye to someone whom it has known well and respected. And this compliment, bestowed upon so few, in no way loses its fundamental characteristic when it is paid equally to our Colonial Secretary, and his wife, both of whom left the Colony last Saturday, when the s.s. "Lafonia" sailed for Montevideo.

Born in 1898, Mr. Mathews has had a distinguished career in the Colonial Service, holding many important positions during his 25 years of service.

Educated at Public School and University, he was an Open Scholar of Shrewsbury and Magdalene College, Cambridge, and received his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1921. Five years later he became a Master of Arts.

Like so many of his generation the first World War, in which he served as a Sub-Lieutenant in the Royal Navy from 1917-1918, interrupted both his education and career, and it was not until five years later, in January, 1923, that he received his first appointment in the Colonial Service as an Assistant District Officer in the Northern Province of Nigeria.

Two years later saw him at the Secretariat in Kaduna, and from 1927-1930 in Lagos. Passing the Higher Standard House Examination in 1930, he became a District Officer in the same year, and some five years later, while in Sierra Leone, was promoted to Chief Assistant Colonial Secretary. Between 1936-1938, he was Acting Colonial Secretary and Governor's Deputy.

Misfortune, in the form of a severe eye affliction, befell him some little time later, and he had to return to Administrative duties in 1939. A year later he was promoted to Senior Commissioner, and received the award of the O.B.E. in 1942 for outstanding services.

The late war saw him appointed to special duties as Public Relations Officer and Liaison with the Free French Forces with whom he remained until the end of hostilities, when he was then invalided from West Africa in 1945 and seconded to the Falkland Islands as Colonial Secretary.

Two months after his arrival here in May, 1946, he became Acting Governor when Sir Allan Cardinell left for the United Kingdom; and it is to be recorded that during this period of office - before there was any form of representation - he gave a lead in bridging the gap between Government and the people by establishing an unofficial Public Relations Committee.

During his tenure of office as Colonial Secretary, Mr. Mathews played his due part with patience, helpfulness, and with a respect for the other person's point of view.

His sobriety of mind, honesty of purpose and remarkable insight helped to create stability. He searched for answers to the many problems of the day and, while it is true that he hated doing so, he nevertheless criticised officials with calmness and reason, if at fault, appealing to their better judgement by reasoned and dispassionate counsel.

He constantly took a wide interest in all that went on, never failing to take a keen interest in the problems of the Camp, visiting them on occasions when opportunity presented itself to get away from official duties.

An additional duty which he performed with ease, although not a soldier, was that of Hon. Commandant of the Falkland Islands Defence Force, of which he assumed command when Lt.-Col. J.A. Woodgate left the Colony in 1947.

It would be ungracious not to say a word here about Mrs. Mathews, whom Mr. Mathews married in 1927. Her reputation as a Cook was a high one, and at Sullivan House during the time she was there she always kept an "open house".

She will especially be remembered by many Falkland Islanders in Stanley, at whose homes she was ever a welcome visitor.

To Mr. and Mrs. Mathews, and their daughter, Anne Marie, we wish a happy future, knowing full well that wherever they finally make their home they will also make their niche in the lives of the people with whom they come into contact.

BACUP'S NEW BOROUGH ENGINEER

Promotion After Six Weeks
As Deputy.

Six weeks after becoming Deputy Borough and Water Engineer to the Bacup Borough Council, in Lancashire, Mr. C.E. Andreasen, A.M.I. M.E., A.M.I.C.E., eldest son of Mrs. C. Andreasen of Stanley, has been appointed its Borough and Water Engineer in succession to Mr. H. Guffogg, who relinquished the position to take over a business at St. Annes-on-Sea.

The appointment, made by the full Council sitting as the Finance and General Purposes Committee, is subject to the approval of the Ministry of Transport in London.

Before commencing his duties as Deputy Engineer at Bacup, on 8th November of last year, Mr. Andreasen had been senior assistant engineer to Peterborough Corporation from January, 1947. From December, 1936, to April, 1938, he was assistant engineer to Durham County Council, after which he was successively Deputy Engineer to Darlington U.D.C., assistant engineer to Donbigh County Council, assistant engineer to Wolverhampton Corporation Water Undertaking, and assistant engineer to the borough of Hemel Hempstead, Hertfordshire, prior to going to Peterborough

As a volunteer he served for three years in the Royal Engineers during the war period, holding the commissioned rank of Major at the end of hostilities.

Thirty-seven years of age and married, Mr. Andreasen commenced his new duties on 1st February of this year.

POLICE COURT

Charged with having driven a motor vehicle in Stanley on the 30th January, at a speed dangerous to the public and for driving a motor vehicle when under the influence of drink to such an extent as to be incapable of having proper control of the vehicle, Eric Francis Bunting appeared before the Magistrate, the Hon. Mr. R.W.S. Winter, J.P., at 10 a.m. on Monday, 7th February, at the Police Court, Stanley.

He pleaded not guilty to both charges and elected to be dealt with summarily.

The Chief Constable outlined the cases to the Court. A statement was made by the defendant to the Court.

The Magistrate dismissed the charge of driving while under the influence of drink, and reduced the charge of dangerous driving, to one of careless driving, and fined him £10.

Appearing before the Magistrate, the Hon. Mr. R.W.S. Winter, J.P., at the Stanley Police Court at 2.30 p.m. on 9th February, Robert Wallin, aged 18½ years, and living at Brisbane Road, Stanley, was charged with unlawfully assaulting Mr. David W. Willis at the Public Gymnasium, Stanley, on the evening of 8th February.

The Chief Constable said that on 8th February the defendant had made certain remarks in Mr. Willis's hearing, and at the end of a dance had gone across to Mr. Willis and struck him a violent blow on the face.

The defendant pleaded guilty, and blamed his conduct on the drink he had taken that evening. He could offer no explanation for making such a personal attack on Mr. Willis.

The Magistrate, in announcing that he would fine the defendant £2, told him that such hooliganism must be stamped out and that any further conduct of this nature would be punished by imprisonment.

Stanley 4, Sparrow 1.

"This was by far the worst match I have seen played this season," writes our Football Correspondent, "with play scrappy, often aimless, and with neither the home team nor the visitors combining to make it a match worth watching.

"Neither side, although the home team won, seemed to be able to get into their stride and reproduce the standard of play they have shown in past matches; possibly this was due to colds among the home team's players and lack of practice by the visitors.

"For all this, it was a game in which both sides struggled for supremacy with the home team showing just that little extra aggressive spirit which won them the game."

NEW LIBRARY DISCUSSED AT TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

At a meeting of the Town Council which met on Wednesday, 16th February, under the Chairmanship of Mr. A.L. Hardy, one of the matters which came under review was the rent for the New Library.

At £30 per annum this was considered fair, and it was agreed that the change over should be made in the near future.

The Council was unable to give assistance to the Government in the collection of arrears of rent from the occupant of one Government house.

By-laws dealing with petroleum spirit and Public Health matters were discussed. In the case of the former, they were adopted with certain reservations and licence fees were fixed; while on the subject of Public Health, these were adopted pending clarification on certain points.

On the subject to erect buildings these were examined and approved.

Members agreed that some charge should be made for the use of the Gymnasium by the Education Department, and for the use of part of the building by the Post Office Department.

On the subject of Scavenging, the collection of road sweepings by the P.W.D. for the time being was agreed to by the Executive Engineer, and repairs and alterations to the disposal pit and cart were approved.

As there was no information available regarding the carthorse ordered from Chile, it was decided to endeavour to purchase a horse locally. In view of Mr. Skilling's impending leave of absence, it was agreed to advertise for a temporary Sanitary Carter.

The meeting passed a resolution on the question of supplying water to ships out of normal working hours. The inadequacy of the present water supply was commented upon, and the Government is to be urged to give the matter their very earnest attention.

The Council passed the appointment of the Chief Constable as Sanitary Inspector.

The Annual Abstract of Accounts and Statement of Assets and Liabilities were placed before the meeting by the Town Clerk. These were accepted without dissent.

ELECTION GOES QUIETLY

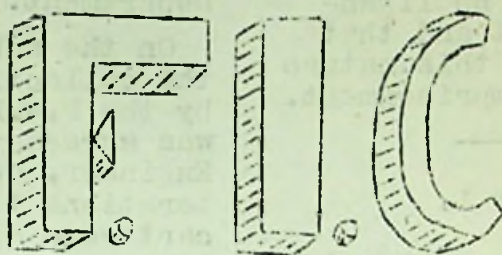

Polling took place yesterday continuously from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. to decide which out of the three candidates, Mr. Stanley Charles Luxton, Mr. Arthur Leslie Hardy, and Mr. W.J. Hutchinson, should represent the Stanley Electoral Area on the reconstituted Legislative Council.

It went so quietly that one would have hardly thought there was one at all. Out of approximately 1,000 persons qualified to be electors, it appears from the register that 480 made application to have their names included. Of these 270 voted.

Counting commenced immediately after the poll and the results as follows were announced by Capt. D. Watson, the Returning Officer, at ten minutes past eight the same evening.

The following is the result of the poll:-

Mr. S.C. Luxton 211 votes;
Mr. A.H. Hardy 126 votes;
Mr. W.J. Hutchinson 118 votes.

MR. L. REIVE WINS GOVERNOR'S PRIZE AND CHALLENGE SHIELD

In appalling conditions, with targets damaged by high winds and one rendered unusable, the final stage of the Governor's Prize and Challenge Shield was competed for last Saturday.

The two distances - which competitors were required to fire over - were 900 and 1,000 yards, by no means easy ones for them when faced with atrocious weather.

In winning the Governor's Prize and Challenge Shield, Mr. L. Reive did well to score 245, though this was some 32 points less than the figure obtained by last year's winner.

Competed for on the same day was the National Rifle Association Medal, which was won by Mr. L. A. Sedgwick.

As reported in last week's issue, the scores from the second stage were carried forward, and the results shown below were those obtained by the twelve competitors who qualified for the final.

F.I.D.F. WIN RIFLE MATCH AGAINST H.M.S. "GLASGOW"

A rifle match arranged between the F.I.D.F. and a team from the visiting 10,000-ton cruiser

H.M.S. "Glasgow", provided some very fine shooting by both sides when they competed against each other on Wednesday, 9th February.

By far the best Naval Team that has visited Stanley for some years, they gave the members of the Defence Force Team a close run, only to lose gallantly by the close margin of 4 points.

Only once before - and that was some 20 years ago - has the Defence Force been beaten. That distinction went to a team from the sixth H.M.S. "Glasgow" (of the Falkland Islands Battle fame) who defeated the Defence Force in 1915.

The distances shot over by the two teams on Saturday were 200, 300 and 500 yards, with the visiting team scoring 714 points to the Defence Force team's 718.

The funeral of the late Mrs. W. Poole, of Fox Bay, took place on Monday afternoon at Christ Church Cathedral.

Mrs. Poole, who was 18 years of age at the time of her death, leaves behind her husband and one child.

With the arrival of the Dependencies Survey vessel, "John Biscoe", and that of the s.s. "Fitzroy", both expected here over the week-end, will signal the occasion of a family reunion of the McLeod family from Darwin.

Miss Peggy McLeod has not seen her father for almost a year since she came to work in Stanley.

She told me: I'm thrilled with the idea of having practically the whole family with me next week, especially my brother, who's been away in Montevideo training as a farm cadet.

"My father is riding in from Darwin. Hugh, my fiance, will be coming with the "John Biscoe", and my brother, Dennis, on the "Fitzroy".

"I'm only sorry that my mother won't be able to be here to meet Dennis, but she thought the ride would be too exhausting."

MAN WITH A PURPOSE

A man with a purpose paid his first visit to Leicester recently. He is Mr. Robert Yates, trapper of wild birds and animals from the Falkland Islands, who is visiting his son - an employee of a Leicester tyre firm, living at 38, St. Peter's-road.

Mr. Yates sometime ago accompanied a load of penguins he had captured for the London Zoo, but his one real purpose he had in mind was to visit his son.

There were 50 when the journey started, but only 17 survived, because of the difficulty of getting the fresh fish they need.

Born here, Mr. Yates had not been to Enland before. He hopes to return shortly.

AFRICA TO GET BETTER RADIO PROGRAMMES

The despatch from London of two broadcasting experts - Mr. L. W. Turner of the B.B.C., and Mr. F.A.W. Byron, late Superintendent of Broadcasting in the Gold Coast - signals yet another step towards better radio for African listeners.

They are to undertake a survey, in Nigeria, the Gold Coast, Sierra Leone and the Gambia with the object of securing fuller and better daily programmes.

All four Colonial Governments concerned are co-operating with the B.B.C. in this enquiry.

Mr. Turner and Mr. Byron left England in early February for the Colonies concerned, and will spend about four months there.

Before leaving this Colony for England in July, 1943, to take up an appointment in West Africa, Mr. Byron was successively Telephone Linesman, Wireless Operator 1st. Class, Colonial Postmaster, and Electrician-in-Charge.

Because of health reasons, he left West Africa and returned to London, and later was appointed to the Office of the Crown Agents for the Colonies.

100° (F) ON TOP OF ANTARCTIC MOUNTAIN

While at Deception Island, South Shetland Islands, four members of the Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey climbed a 1,000 feet summit there and found that it was - hot. They estimated the temperature at 100 degrees Fahrenheit. The explanation is that Deception Island is of volcanic origin.

The party consisted of Mr. Edward Gutteridge, general assistant, of 8, Milner-road, Kingston-on-Thames, Surrey; Mr. Dennis Farmer, wireless operator, of 80, Winnington-road, Enfield, Middlesex; Mr. Howard Duncan, a Falkland Islander; and Mr. Jocelyn Thomas, Antarctic Press Officer, of 9, Nevern Square, Earl's Court, London.

During the descent to their base, the party visited a penguin "rookery" where, for 15 years, millions of penguins have bred. It cover about four square miles. Many of the females were rearing single offspring, some two - but never more - on nests of tiny stones on bare ground offering no shelter against the weather.

Weather conditions worsened on the return with visibility reduced to a few yards and a blizzard blowing. No landmarks could be seen and the party had to find their way back by following the rapidly filling footprints they had made on the outward trek.

At the base, they found Mr. Daniel Borland, senior meteorological officer, of 98, Muirkyes-road, Pennilee, Glasgow, and Mr. J.W. Know, wireless operator, of 26, Bailey Avenue, Ellesmere Port, Cheshire, waiting with welcome cups of coffee.

AN EARLY MORNING SWIM - IN THE ANTARCTIC

Scientists of the Falkland Islands

Dependencies Survey are finding conditions at the British wireless and meteorological station at Deception Island very different from what popular imagination depicts.

There is less snow and ice on Deception than in any part of the South Shetlands; but enough to give some of the hardier spirits a "kick" from an early morning swim. Yet along the beaches numerous springs emit steam, and hot sulphur springs registering 185 to 194 degrees Fahrenheit have been found.

So many Antarctic explorers have visited Deception Island at one time or another that it is proposed to form a Magpies Club. Membership is restricted to explorers who have found, among the debris of previous occupants - particularly the old Norwegian Whaling Factory which operated from 1906 until the late twenties - rough timber or plumbing materials for building new homes. The old factory buildings along the water's edge, quarry for many subsequent arrivals, now stand out as derelict, grotesque - and tottering - ruins.

Deception Island is considered one of the most remarkable crater islands anywhere. In 1930 a submarine earthquake lowered the harbour bottom 15 feet.

It is aptly named. First sight, approaching from Bransfield Straits, suggests just another hank of snow-covered rock. In reality, the rock is ring shaped, with a channel 200 yards wide (Neptune Bellows) which allows entrance to Port Foster, a large expanse of water, some eight miles in diameter, and still half covered with pack ice.

Huge bones litter the beach around Whaler's Bay and beneath the water are heaped thousands more.

In the background a small cemetery with tapering shafts of stone marks the graves of Norwegians who died during the whaling period.

A football ground is still complete with goalposts and nearby an airstrip remains as witness to Lincoln Ellsworth's epic flights.

Sheatsbills, cape pigeons, gulls, albatrosses, shags and penguins appear in their hundreds, and display about as much concern for man as do pigeons in Trafalgar Square, London.

The Base House - a wooden two-storied building with accommodation for 100 - is known as "The Whaler's Arms".

It serves as a base hut for skiing and in the evening for darts tournaments or a quiz. All doors in the hall are fitted with small boat tackle so that they close automatically.

The Esse cooker is kept burning day and night, and recipe books from America and England ensure varied fare. Partitioned off from the kitchen are the wireless sets, and, in a small alcove, is a bath tub. Through a hatchway, meals are passed into the living room which is small and cosy, with three wall seats padded with old pillows and blankets, and constructed of old iron bedsteads. Two carpets, a portable gramophone, and several shelves of books complete the furniture.

On the other side of the House is the carpenter's shop, two dormitories, and a power house with generators which work radio and supply electric light. Food is stored on the upper floor with a multitude of other stores requiring cover from the cold.

The Union Jack flutters from the combined flagstaff and weather vane on the roof. Around it is a network of wireless aerials and strong steel cables lashing chimneys to the roof and the roof to the ground.

Next to the living room are the Meteorological Office and Post Office.

For trips across the Bay, a small dory is available - a precarious affair. A Norwegian guest once remarked it required a crew of three - one to row, one to bale and one to shout for help.

A new boat will shortly replace this old craft which, after much useful service, can join the whale bones at the bottom of the Bay.

WEDDING

MORRISON - BURNS

The wedding took place on Tuesday, 22nd February, at the United Free Church, between Mrs. Mary Ann Morrison, eldest daughter of Mr. and the late Mrs. Stewart Middleton, of North Arm, and Mr. William Peter Bruns, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Burns, of Stanley. The Revd. W.F. McWhan conducted the service.

The bride wore a dress of blue crepe material with headdress to match, and carried a bouquet of roses and mixed flowers and ferns given to her by friends. She was assisted by Mrs. R.B. Steen, as Matron of Honour, sister of the bridegroom, who wore a dress of orange crepe with head-dress to match.

The dresses were made by Mrs. R. B. Steen, and the head-dress by Mrs. Mark Luxton.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. F. Burns, as best man; while the bride was given away by her father, Mr. S. Middleton.

A reception and supper were held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, and later, a dance was held in the Gymnasium.

All present sampled a four-tier wedding cake made by Mr. A.V. Summers, of Stanley.

Mr. and Mrs. W.P. Burns are to make their home at North Arm.

Reported in last week's issue of the "Weekly News", an error occurred in the account of the rifle match between the Falkland Islands Defence Force and a team from H.M.S. "Glasgow".

In the paragraph referring to the time the Defence Force had been beaten, this should have read:

'Only once before has the Defence Force been beaten - and that was some 20 years ago - since a team from H.M.S. "Cornwall" defeated them in 1915.'

In the match referred to last week, the Defence Force used S.M.I.E. rifles with open sights and the visitors No.4 rifles with adjustable back sight and "peep".

They thus had the advantage over the Defence Force team who were not strongly represented at the time; but readers may care to compare the individual results obtained by the two teams.

ATOMIC CONTROL

Malcolm Muggeridge

Mr. Muggeridge was Washington correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph" (London) in 1946 and 1947, at a time when important meetings were being held in the United States by the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission. Here - in his report, he points out some of the difficulties in the control of the Atomic Bomb.

Failure to prohibit atomic weapons has been condemned by Mr. Vyshinsky, Russia's chief delegate, as one of the leading misdeeds of the United Nations General Assembly just concluded in Paris. Disappointment at the modesty of the Assembly's achievements is, of course, shared by Britain and the other Western Powers. Yet the Assembly was never meant to solve questions of security in which the co-operation of the Great Powers is vital. To learn why the challenge of atomic energy remains so far unanswered we must look back on a three-year history of division between the Eastern and Western Powers.

It was in November, 1945, that the United Kingdom, United States and Canadian Prime Ministers agreed in principle that atomic development should be placed under international control through the agency of the United Nations. This decision will be regarded historically as a singularly generous and disinterested one. The Western Powers, at that time at any rate, had a monopoly of atomic weapons, and if they had decided to pursue power politics, they could have used this position to dictate terms to the rest of the world.

At the Moscow meeting of the Foreign Ministers' Council in December of the same year, Mr. Byrnes, then United States Secretary of State, proposed that the subject of atomic control should come first on the agenda. The Russians wanted it to be taken last, and it was only as a result of strong and persistent pressure by Britain and the United States that they were persuaded to agree to a vague formula for carrying the matter further. On the strength of this, a resolution was passed by the United Nations Assembly setting up an Atomic Energy Commission, and Mr. Byrnes instructed an expert board of consultants set up for the purpose to produce a United States plan.

In June, 1946, Mr. Bernard Baruch duly presented to the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission a plan sponsored by the United States Government. It envisaged the establishment of a world atomic energy authority with extensive powers of control and inspection everywhere. Such an arrangement would obviously be ineffective if any party to it continued to possess the power of veto. It was therefore provided that, on the establishment of effective control of machinery, the veto right should be relinquished and that, at the same time, the United States should both destroy her present supply of atomic bombs, and make available her knowledge on the subject. In other words, the United States was prepared to surrender her atomic advantages as soon as she had assurances that no other nation would be able to profit therefrom.

RUSSIAN ATTITUDE

It was at this stage in the proceedings that the Russians made it abundantly clear that they had no intention whatsoever, in any circumstances, of accepting an effective system of international control. They wanted the United States to destroy her bombs and to let the world into the secret of their manufacture, without disclosing their own resources or agreeing to any subsequent control of atomic development within Russia. On the one hand, they denounced the United States for stockpiling the bomb and guarding her monopoly of knowledge about it; and on the other, they refused to surrender their right of veto over setting up and operating a system of international control. As long as they possessed this right of veto, as they must have known perfectly well, agreement was impossible. There could be no authentic international control if its operation could be frustrated at any point by the exercise of the veto.

The experience gained on the subject of disarmament in the years between the two world wars indicated clearly that international inspection, rather than general agreements, was the key to the problem. Germany and Japan both re-armed far in excess of specific restrictive commitments that their governments had freely given. Incidentally, it is not perhaps without significance that, as a result of secret clauses in the Treaty of Rapallo between Germany and Russia in 1922 German illicit re-armament began on Russian soil with the connivance of the Russian Government. After such an experience, it would be quite fantastic to expect any government to disarm, or to relinquish armament advantages, in return for general assurances. The United States and United Kingdom position has rightly been based on the principle that effective international inspection is the only basis on which disarmament is practicable.

Following their usual practice of vehemently accusing others of what they are guilty of themselves, the Russians, in attacking the Baruch Plan, accused the Western Powers of sabotaging atomic disarmament. In effect, they contended, the proposed arrangement would ensure for the United States a monopoly of atomic weapons and of atomic development. The actual terms of the Baruch Plan were grotesquely misrepresented, both at the United Nations and in propaganda from Moscow and the satellite capitals, and Mr. Baruch was personally vilified. He was accused of proposing an arrangement devised to suit "American monopolists, bankers, and stock exchange operators," of promoting a malignant conspiracy to keep the whole world subservient to the United States.

As a counterblast to the Baruch Plan, Mr. Gromyko put forward a Russian one based on an international convention outlawing atomic warfare in the same way that the ineffectual Kellogg Pact outlawed war. All stocks of atomic bombs were to be destroyed three months after the coming into force of this convention, and then two committees were to be set up, one for the exchange of scientific information, and the other to devise a system for preventing atomic misdemeanours. It was made absolutely clear by Mr. Gromyko that any arrangement for inspection or enforcement that might be instituted would be under the Security Council, and therefore subject to the veto.

ATOMIC DISARMAMENT

Thus the Gromyko Plan involved, on the one hand, unilateral United States atomic disarmament and, on the other, no means whatever for effectively enforcing atomic control. Under it, by the exercise of the veto, Russia would be able both to secure herself against inconveniently thorough inspection, and against the possibility of any disciplinary action which her attitude or practices might seem to deserve.

In the months of discussion which followed the presentation of these two plans, the Russian representative never budged from his position. At last, by ten votes to none, with Russia and Poland abstaining, a plan closely resembling the Baruch Plan was approved by the Commission and sent forward to the United Nations. In the Assembly it was subjected once again to bitter attacks by Mr. Vyshinsky, who accused Britain and the United States of warmongering and practising "atomic diplomacy" while Russia alone earnestly desired peace and disarmament. In view of his obstructive attitude, the Western Powers were inclined to recommend that the Atomic Energy Commission should be disbanded, and no further efforts made to achieve agreement.

Mr. Vyshinsky then came forward with a proposal which, on the face of it, represented a modification of Russia's previous attitude. He proposed that the institution of an atomic control system, and the destruction of existing stocks of atomic bombs, should take place simultaneously. On this basis, the Commission's life was extended. If the Russians are seriously prepared to accept a system of international control, which operates without the veto, and whose inspectors are given the widest powers of entry and investigation in all parts of the world, then it still might be possible to arrive at an atomic control convention.

Present indications are, however, that the Russians are as far as ever from accepting any such arrangement as this; and that their purpose in keeping the Commission in existence is rather to gain time for their own atomic development than because they have any serious intention of participating in an effective control agreement. In any case, the Anglo-American position is perfectly clear and perfectly logical. With an effective system of control of all atomic development everywhere, they are prepared to agree to atomic disarmament. Without it, they cannot and should not.

History may judge them to have been foolishly patient and trustful in this matter. In retrospect, it may seem that they would better have served the cause of peace by using their superior strength when they had it to nip aggression in the bud. What history will not be able to accuse them of is that they used the bomb as an instrument of power politics and imperialist exploitation, as the Russians continue, in season and out, to suggest.

Editor's Note: The foregoing article by Malcolm Muggeridge is revealing - it shows only too clearly, as in the past, that Russia continues to adopt an intransigent attitude towards any practical plan or solution put forward by the Western Powers for the control of atomic energy, and thus, perhaps, that of future peace.

COLONIES IN THE WESTERN HEMISPHERE

At the Inter-American Conference held at Bogota in March and April of last year, a resolution was adopted setting up an American Commission on Dependent Territories whose function was "to study the situation regarding colonies, possessions and occupied American territories."

The Commission was also to study the problems related to the situation, whatever their nature, and to seek peaceful means for the abolition of colonialism as well as the occupation of American territories by extra-continental countries.

Strong protests were made against this decision by representatives of the Bahamas, Barbados, Jamaica, the Leeward Islands, Trinidad, Tobago, the Windward Islands, British Honduras and British Guiana at the West Indian Conference.

Specific claims to British territory have only been made in the following cases: to the Falkland Islands by Argentina; to the Falkland Islands Dependencies by Argentina and Chile; and to British Honduras by Guatemala.

The facts concerning the case of the Falkland Islands are summarized briefly below:

THE FALKLAND ISLANDS

International Law has upheld in practice the contention that the actual use and occupation of territory prevails over theoretical claims to title unsupported by any physical occupation or administration. An example of such judgement is that of the International Court on the Eastern Greenland case in 1933. Any other judgement would in fact reduce international law to a practical absurdity since it would lay the security of tenure of the present occupants of almost any part of the world open to challenge on some pretext or other. Indeed, would-be-aggressors would have little difficulty in raking up specious historical pretexts on which to dispossess the inhabitants of neighbouring countries.

On the basis of this principle alone, though British claims are not exclusively based on it, British title to the Falkland Islands is unassailable. The historical record shows that Great Britain has both occupied and administered these Islands for well over a hundred years of uninterrupted and peaceful possession.

There have been Argentinian protests, it is true, but it should be noted that there were long periods - 35 years between 1849 and 1884, and 20 years between 1888 and 1908 - when no protests were made. Their early protests were based on an alleged succession to the supposed title which Spain claimed, a claim which Britain has consistently rejected. In any case the Buenos Aires Government was far from representing either territorially or politically the whole of the Vice-Royalty of La Plata within whose jurisdiction, even if the Spanish title were admitted, the Falkland Islands were claimed to come. It was not until 1884 that their protests put forward a doctrine of contiguity as a basis for their claims - a doctrine which, it may be added, has no validity at all in law.

It is significant that Argentina has never attempted to follow up its protests and press its claim before the League of Nations or the United Nations, nor to refer the case to any international tribunal.

THE FALKLAND ISLANDS DEPENDENCIES

Modern authorities on international law define three stages in the real or effective as opposed to fictitious occupation of territory:

1. discovery, which gives an "inchoate" title to territory, that is, a temporary right which lapses unless the next stage is reached within a reasonable period;
2. the formal act of claiming such territory, which in itself gives only an inchoate title, and must be followed at a reasonable interval by
3. completed acquisition by such occupation and administration as is called for by the nature of the territory.

As will be seen by reference to the historical record of the Falkland Islands and its Dependencies, the territories making up the Dependencies were all, with the possible exception of South Georgia, discovered by Englishmen and the successive stages of formal claim and occupation were carried out without protest or counter claim until recent years. They have in fact been in continuous and uninterrupted British possession since they were first claimed from 120 to 170 years ago.

Argentinian claims were first made only in 1927 to South Georgia and the South Orkneys and these were expanded in 1943 to include the South Shetlands, Graham Land and Adelaide Island; again in 1946 to include Alexander I Land; and yet again in 1948 to take in also the South Sandwich Islands. These claims have at different times been based on the geographical proximity of the sector formed by prolongation of the American Continent and on Argentinian inheritance of the title to these lands from Spain. Such title as Spain could ever have had to the territories in question could only derive from the Treaty of Tordesillas in 1494 whereby Spain and Portugal divided between themselves the whole of the world then as yet undiscovered. If the validity of such a treaty were to be upheld it can be imagined that some quite fantastic lawsuits would be impending.

Chilean claims, which were not made until 1940, to an area including the South Shetlands and Graham Land were based on the arguments: (a) that the Spanish conquerors of Chile gave her undeniable rights to all lands south of the continental territory; (b) that the Andes submerge in Drake Passage to reappear in Antarctica and (c) that Chilean territory is the nearest to the Antarctic Islands and the mainland. Claims of this kind are not recognized in international law.

Both Chile and Argentina have followed up their claims by unlawfully establishing posts on British territory in the Dependencies and in spite of British protests they have refused to move them.

The United Kingdom Government have recently stated that in this dispute over the Falkland Islands Dependencies they are willing to come to an arrangement with Argentina and Chile under which the International Court of Justice should pronounce on the title to the territories. Argentina and Chile, however, have not been prepared to take the matter to the International Court and it can therefore be inferred that they have no confidence in their ability to uphold their claims under international law.

+ +The matter cannot be brought before the International Court by Britain as a plaintiff but only by agreement with Argentina and Chile since the latter States have not accepted the Optional Clause of the Statute of the International Court which is a voluntary declaration to accept the jurisdiction of the Court in such matters.

WEDDING

GLEADELL - SMITH

The wedding took place in Christ Church Cathedral, Stanley, on 23rd February, between Miss Hazel Gleadell, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Gleadell, of Stanley, and Mr. John Crook Smith, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Smith, also of Stanley. The Revd. R.G.R. Calvert officiated.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a becoming dress of pale blue velvet, with a white straw hat and accessories to match, and carried a bouquet of mixed carnations and ferns. She was attended by two of her cousins, Miss Dawn Reive and Miss Zita Reive, who both wore dresses of yellow crepe-de-chine and small, close-fitting head-dresses of golden crochet work. Both carried bouquets of crysanthemums and sweet-peas.

The best man was Mr. Joe Clifton, a member of the crew of the s.s. "Fitzroy".

The dresses for the bride and bridesmaids were made by Mrs. D. Williams; and the bridesmaid's hats by Mrs. R. Reive, aunt of the bride. The bride's bouquet was composed of flowers gifted by various friends, and all bouquets were made up very tastefully by Mrs. A. Jennings.

After the wedding a reception, followed by a supper was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, which was attended by over a hundred guests during the course of the afternoon. In the evening, a wedding dance took place in the Gymnasium.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith will make their home at 34, John Street, Stanley.

The bridegroom has secured a transfer from the s.s. "Lafonia" and has joined the crew of the s.s. "Fitzroy".

F.I.D.F. DANCE POSTPONED

I learn that, owing to unforeseen circumstances, it has been found necessary for the Falkland Islands Defence Force to postpone their dance which they were to have held on Friday, 11th March.

The dance, arranged to mark the end of the recruiting drive which began in January of this year, is now to be held on the 18th March.

Arrangements regarding the sale of tickets is to be announced later.

H.M.S. "SPARROW" TO VISIT PORT SAN CARLOS

Before leaving to rejoin the America and West Indies Station at Bermuda, the sloop H.M.S. "Sparrow" is to pay a courtesy call at Port San Carlos.

Preparations have, I understand, been made at Port San Carlos, by the Campers, to entertain the Captain, Officers and crew to a dance before they finally say goodbye.

From Port San Carlos the ship will proceed to Bermuda, making calls on the way at Mar del Plata, Pernambuco and Trinidad.

HIS EXCELLENCY TO LEAVE WITH "JOHN BISCOE"

His Excellency the Governor will be on board the m.v. "John Biscoe" when she sails on Monday for the Dependencies.

He will be making his annual tour and inspection of the Bases.

It is not known how long His Excellency will be away, but his return, I understand, will depend upon to a large degree to weather and ice conditions.

WEDDING SEDGWICK - HARDY

A pretty wedding took place at St. Mary's Chapel which had been tastefully decorated for the occasion when, on Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock, Miss Doreen Mary Sedgwick, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sedgwick, of Stanley, was married to Mr. Jack Arthur Hardy, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Hardy, also of Stanley. The Revd. Father J. Kelly solemnised the marriage.

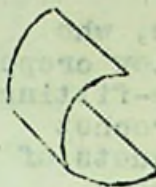

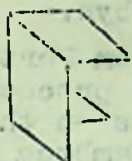

The bride, given away by her father, made an attractive figure dressed in a wedding dress of white satin trimmed with silver sequins with which she wore a coronet complete with full length veil of white embroidered tulle with fine silk lace edging. She carried a large bouquet comprised of trails of mock orange, asparagus fern, apricot, peach, white and pink roses.

She was attended by her three sisters, Sheila, Phyllis and Valerie, as bridesmaids, all of whom were charmingly attired in figured taffeta of mist blue, also trimmed with silver sequins, and who wore caplets of blue silk cord attached to coronets of blue, white and pink flowers. Their bouquets were circlets of asparagus fern, centred with white and cyclamen hydranges.

Mr. William Cletheroe, a friend of the groom, acted as best man.

INAUGURAL MEETING OF NEW LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL

His Excellency's Address to the House

The inaugural meeting of the new Legislative Council was held on Friday, 4 March at 10 a.m. in the public Gymnasium at Port Stanley, before an audience of some 500 people.

On arrival His Excellency the Governor inspected a Guard of Honour composed of naval ratings and members of the Falkland Islands Defence Force. He then entered the Chamber, and was accompanied to the platform of the House by Commander J. Waterhouse, D.S.O., R.N., and Lt.-Col. K.S. Pierce Butler, O.C. the Falkland Islands Defence Force.

The House then rose while His Excellency read prayers.

Immediately following prayers came the "swearing in" of the seven new members. These were:

Mr. J.P. Oliver.
Mr. E.F. Bunting.
Mr. B.N. Biggs.
Mr. D.D. Honeyman.
Mr. W.J. Hutchinson.
Mr. S.C. Luxton.
Mr. A.L. Hardy, B.E.M., J.P.

The minutes of the meeting of the Legislative Council held on the 30th December, 1948, were then confirmed, and His Excellency then rose to open his address to the House.

He said:

"Honourable Members,

We must, I suppose, all feel this morning that we are participating in an historic occasion, marked as it is by a special message of personal good wishes from the Rt. Hon. the Secretary of State for the Colonies which it is my honour and privilege to convey to you. The message reads as follows:-

'On the occasion of inauguration of new Legislative Council I send my personal good wishes to the people of the Falkland Islands. It is right that you should now be more closely associated with your own Government and share its responsibilities. It is for this purpose that a representative Legislative Council has been instituted so that you may play a greater part in all matters pertaining to the Administration and development of the Colony. I shall follow the proceedings in your Council with keen interest, confident that you will cherish and uphold those fine traditions of public service which British people have carried with them to so many distant lands and that by their advice your representatives will contribute greatly to the framing of wise laws and the promotion of welfare and prosperity of the Islands.'

"Today, then, we are assembled to launch upon its way the Colony's new Constitution in which, for the first time in its history, unofficial members - four out of a total of six - are the direct representatives of the people, so chosen by their own free will. Let us pause for a moment to examine the composition of this new Council and to consider its functions. It comprises the three senior officials in the Administration, namely the Colonial Secretary, the Senior Medical Officer and the Agricultural Officer who hold their seats by virtue of office; four popularly elected members representing the Camp and Stanley, two nominated unofficial members selected by me in token of their knowledge of local affairs and the help which they can bring to the Council's deliberations and, finally, three nominated official members, Heads of the more important Departments in the Government. We have, thus, an evenly balanced Chamber with the President exercising a casting vote - a step which I hope it will seldom be necessary for him to take; to this I would add that whenever I am satisfied that the public interest will not be thereby embarrassed I shall permit official members to vote on the merits of the measure before them.

"On such another occasion some years ago, Honourable Members, one of the ablest and most distinguished of Colonial Governors - the late Sir Hugh Clifford - said this:

'There is a great difference between a Legislative Council and a House of Parliament. In the latter you have a Government in contradistinction to an Opposition and if the Opposition is strong enough it can turn the Government out and take its place. In a Legislative Council, on the other hand, in no circumstances whatever can the unofficial members displace the official members and take over their duties from them. There is no such thing in such an Assembly as a Government and an Opposition - instead' he continued, 'we have to realise that we form a single, corporate body all of whose members are working equally for the attainment of a single end ...'

"by which of course he meant the prosperity and wellbeing of the Colony and its people.

"Now these words deserve to be carefully pondered for they are as pertinent here, today, as when they were spoken. The term "opposition" in our Assembly is an utterly wrong concept although the to which colour has perhaps been lent in the past by the order of seating; unofficials on one side, officials on the other - the sheep and the goats. That practice, as you will have remarked, has today been abandoned. Let us look upon ourselves, rather, as members of one family gathered round the table concerned only with the fortunes of this family; criticising as freely as we will the policies submitted for our consideration and giving, each to the best of his ability, his own contribution to the family counsels so that in the end we may arrive at prudent and profitable decisions.

"At this point I must urge the public to exercise patience and not to expect too much, too soon, of this new departure. Administration for which you, Honourable Members, are now jointly responsible with your colleagues in the Government is, as you will find, no easy task in these times and we have all of us much to learn. We are perhaps a little prone to look inwards - at what we lack and others have; it would do no harm - it would indeed be salutary - were we occasionally to look outwards; at what we have and others lack. So far as remediable defects and deficiencies are concerned the Administration is doing its best and needs no apologist in regard either to its intentions or its achievements during the past two years and I commend to your notice the draft Development Programme which has been laid on the table. But it must be remembered, as I have frequently reminded Honourable Members, that our difficulties of material and man-power are formidable; and more especially so as concerning overseas staff on whom we must, to some extent rely, since the face value of salaries which we can afford to offer compares so unfavourably with what can be obtained elsewhere. Nevertheless, given patience - I repeat patience - and good-will and a fair market for our produce we shall move slowly and steadily forward to better times; of that I am entirely convinced.

"Two words now on procedure and I will have done. First as regards Questions. These are of two kinds; those requiring a written reply which must be submitted to the Clerk not less than two weeks before the advertised date of a meeting and those seeking an oral reply - when they must so be marked - which should be handed in not less than two days before. In the case of the former both Question and Answer will be printed and laid on the table and no supplementary question may be put during the Debate; in the case of the latter, a supplementary question may be asked arising out of the reply from the Government spokesman.

Second, as regards Finance. The Estimates for the year will be referred on the second reading of the Supply Bill to a Select Committee comprising the unofficial members of Council sitting with the Colonial Secretary as Chairman; Departmental Officers will attend in turn to answer any question or to give any information which may be desired and the debate on the Budget will not take place until the Committee has completed its task of scrutiny. There will be, in addition, a Standing Finance Committee to deal with the day to day requirements of the Administration and this will be convened as necessary.

"In conclusion while I customarily refrain from quoting myself I make no apology for repeating today the advice which I offered in the course of my address last October; to the Electors, then, this message: 'You have chosen your representatives. Now make your wishes and criticisms known through them - they are your mouthpieces and cannot discharge their duty to you effectively unless you give them your full support.'

"And to you, Honourable Members, chosen of the people, allow me to repeat: 'Do all in your power to make this House a real forum of public opinion responsibly expressed; let your criticism be constructive and your only aim the public good.'"

This concluded His Excellency's address to the House. The Hon. the Acting Colonial Secretary then rose to propose that a message, which he read, be sent from the House to the Secretary of State, and this was seconded by the Hon. Mr. K.W. Luxton, member for West Falkland.

The Clerk to the Council then announced Papers to be laid on the Table by the Hon. the Acting Colonial Secretary.

These dealt with the Development Programme for the Colony of the Falkland Islands, referred to by His Excellency in his speech, and were accordingly laid on the table by the Hon. the Acting Colonial Secretary.

The Clerk then announced "Orders of the Day" - "Resolutions", which dealt with the Supplementary Schedule of Additional Provision for the year 1947.

The Hon. the Acting Colonial Secretary gave a brief explanation of certain points in the Schedule and begged leave to move the adoption of the following resolution:

"Whereas supplementary provision is required for the service of the Colony and its Dependencies for the year ended the 31st December, 1947, for the period 1st January to 31st December.

"Be It Resolved - "This Council hereby sanctions the expenditure from public funds of the sum of Seventy-One Thousand and Fifty-Three Pounds Seventeen Shillings (£71,053. 17. 0.) to meet the several charges itemized in the accompanying Schedule."

The Hon. the Senior Medical Officer seconded the motion, and His Excellency then put the question to the Council.

Both this and the Bill "The Administration of Justice Ordinance 1949" were passed on all their stages.

His Excellency then adjourned the House until a time to be announced later.

The following telegram has been received from the Captain of H.M.S. Sparrow for His Excellency the Governor:

"On this our final departure from the Falkland Islands and its Dependencies Officers and men join me in desiring to convey to you our gratitude for universal kindness and hospitality which we have received wherever we have sailed in these waters."

WEDDING ANDERSON - GOODWIN

The marriage took place quietly on Monday at the Registrar's Office in Stanley, between Miss Dorothy Idina Anderson, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, of Stanley, and Mr. William Andrew Nutt Goodwin, eldest son of Mr. W. Goodwin, also of Stanley.

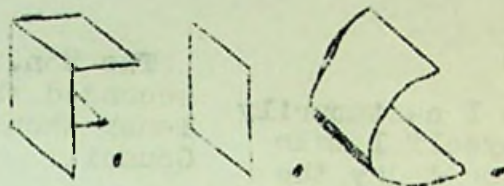

The marriage was witnessed by Mrs. G.M. Pearson (sister of the bride), Mr. J.C. Anderson (brother of the bride), and Mr. E.J. McAtasney.

After the ceremony a reception was held by the bridegroom's parents at their home.

58 MEMBERS NOW IN GUILD

The sixth meeting of the Guild of 'Weavers', Spinners' and Dyeers' was held a fortnight ago today in the Tabernacle Hall, on 4th March.

There was a good attendance, and the following new members were enrolled:

Miss J. Bonner,
Mrs. J. Hallett,
Mrs. E. W. Hardy,
Mrs. H.E. Marshall,
Miss M. McRae,
Mrs. A. Roberts,
Mrs. H. Spencer.

The total membership to date now numbers 58.

Handspun knitted articles were handed in towards the order for the members of the Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey.

A new venture of the Guild is the making of pram covers and "eider-downs" out of wool, and some very attractive specimens were produced and orders taken for more. Also some of the members are specialising in the making of sheepskin slippers. This is a very useful craft with every possibility of developing into good trade in the production of warm and attractive footwear.

The Guild is endeavouring to encourage craftsmanship of all kinds, and in this connection have been fortunate in receiving from Miss Catherine Frew, of the Handicraft Department of McDonald College, McGill University, Quebec, Canada, a number of books giving instructions on how to make a large variety of articles, and when the Guild eventually holds its Exhibition there should be many useful things exhibited.

Members are looking forward to the arrival of the ordered Spinning Wheels, which are now en route, and are grateful to the Patron of the Guild, His Excellency the Governor, for his help in getting these for us.

Apart from the work done by the members of the Guild, all look forward to the first Friday in the month when we hold our meetings and we look forward to new members joining us, and to visits from Camp members when they are in town.

Mrs. Goodhardt, who is visiting the Falkland Islands, much regrets that owing to indisposition on Friday last, she was unable to come and see us at work. She is very interested in the movement, and has kindly given a donation to the Guild of £2, for which we are grateful.

The wool sent in by the various Farmers is very much appreciated, and we thank them very much. All new members learning to spin are given wool free to learn with, the rest is sold to members to help augment Guild funds, which will eventually be spent to provide equipment for the benefit of members.

It is gratifying to note the interest taken by members in experimenting with local plants to produce dyes. Some nice colours obtained were on view, the results having been obtained from foxglove, calaphat berries, broom flowers, sorrel, lichens and seakale.

For the benefit of members in the Camp wishing to experiment in dyeing, the following quotation from one of the books sent by Miss Frew, namely "Vegetable Dyeing for Beginners" by Byrtha L. Savert, in the series Creative Handicrafts published by MacMillan, may be useful:

"Preparation of the Mordant. This is the acid fixitive that provides the "bite" to make the dye take. Although there is a great variety of mordants, alum is the most common and has been generally used from early days in most countries. It is also the most pleasant to use, and there is no danger in having it in the house, as it is non-poisonous. Cream of tartar is combined with alum to add brilliance to the colours dyed. The formula given here should be followed as carefully as a cake recipe. Accuracy in the measurement of each ingredient means success. Guessing at quantities spells failure.

Receipte for Alum Mordant

4 ozs. powdered alum.
1 oz. cream of tartar.
4 gals. soft or boiled
water to 1lb of wool.

Thoroughly dissolve alum and cream of tartar in bowl of warm water. Add to remaining mixture 4 gallons of water and bring to a boil. Enter freshly washed wool in mordant gradually to insure complete absorption. Simmer gently for half an hour. Take from stove and allow to cool. Remove mordant from wool by pressing between hands. Place wool in pillow-case, tie and hang where it can be kept cool for at least twenty-four hours. Put through warm rinsing water before dyeing.

Recipe for Dye-Bath.

1lb. roots of barks or 2lbs. leaves, flowers of fruit
water.

Boil dye stuff from one to one-and-a-half hours to extract pigment. Test with white china cup for depth of colour. If dye seems too light continue boiling until desired shade has been secured. Strain through cheese-cloth. Do not use metal sieve. Place wet wool in dye-bath and simmer for half to three-quarters of an hour. Spread wool while in dye-bath to prevent streaking, and lift occasionally with two sticks or long-handled wooden spoons. Do not stir. Rinse thoroughly in warm water, and hang in shady place to dry. A gentle breeze is a great help in drying as it fluffs the wool. Remember that in handling wool, temperatures should be even as possible. The dye-pot should be kept covered while boiling. If left uncovered the dye-bath may oxidize, lose strength and often result in uneven dyeing. Never wring unspun wool as this is apt to mat or felt it. Always press wool between the palms. If tap water has to be used, the addition of washing soda will soften it and help the dyeing process as well. A cup of vinegar, boiled with each gallon of water, also has a softening effect. Well water or that from a brook or spring if not too hard, can be used as it is drawn. The good old rain barrel is the best source of supply for the dyer. Chlorinated city water should be used only if no other is available."

The above recipes are suitable for 1lb of wool.

One of the books sent by Miss Frew deals with the Cutting and Polishing of Small Stones. Here is something for an enterprising member to study in view of the supply of beautiful Falkland Island pebbles, and seeing the equipment is so simple, there should be great scope in this connection.

Rugmaking is another feature of interest to members, and the Guild welcomes suggestions from anyone interested in its work.

ALL MAILS LOST

Mails for the Argentine, Uruguay and the Falkland Islands posted in Britain on December 31 and January 1 and 2, and for Chile on the last two days, were totally destroyed when the British aircraft Star Venture crashed in Brazil in the first week of January.

(Although the above news is known to some of the public we feel that they may not know of the dates of mail lost, and would wish to inform their relatives in the United Kingdom of this.)

SUCCESSFUL WEST FALKLAND SPORTS
MEETING HELD AT PORT STEPHENS

As in the past the Sports Meeting held last month at Port Stephens was enjoyed by all those who attended.

The spirit of hospitality was not confined to the settlement only, but extended as far as the homes at Double Creek and Carew Harbour where riders were greeted with hot tea, cakes and kindness before proceeding on their way.

The weather was very good, and both Horse and Foot Events had plenty of competitors.

In the Foot Events the outstanding athlete must surely have been Mr. A. Smith who won all the the major running events and the High Jump. Unfortunately he "ran off the course" in the quarter mile race.

Sheep Dog Trials were held and after strong competition were won by Mr. George Butler with CHAP. The first prize of £10 was very generously contributed by Mr. G. Sprules who himself had hoped to compete but unfortunately could not do so.

After an excellent performance, Mr. Joe Short won the Steer Riding Competition. The second prize winner ended in a gorse bush, and has been distinctly uncomfortable since.

Excellent dances were held each night of the week from Monday to Saturday on a very good floor in the wool shed which had been decorated for the purpose.

Prize Giving was on the Thursday, and these were kindly presented by Mrs. Beaty. Later she and her husband, Mr. Tom Beaty, and the people of Port Stephens were given three hearty cheers.

Further appreciation was shown by those present when they "chaired" Mr. and Mrs. Beaty round the dance floor to the tune of "For he's a jolly good fellow".

Your contributor ends by saying "thank you Port Stephens". He feels sure this expression will be echoed by all who attended this very successful and pleasant Sports Meeting.

TOWN COUNCIL HAS BUSY SESSION:
New Superintendent of Fire Brigade Likely

On Thursday, 10th March, at a full meeting of the Town Council, presided over by Mr. A.L. Hardy, it was announced that the Public Library was ready to be opened again.

The new quarters at Church House are rather cramped but there are, I understand, possibilities of this being remedied in the near future.

The Postmaster's request for heating for the Postal Offices in the Gymnasium was rejected on advice from the Colonial Secretary that the matter was outside the obligations of the Council and that it was therefore receiving the attention of the Government.

On the Chairman asking for volunteers for the five Committees, all members expressed their willingness to serve, and it was decided that each Committee should consist of eight members and a Chairman, the Town Clerk officiating as Secretary.

In view of the Chairman's inability to continue as Superintendent of the Fire Brigade, it was agreed to seek permission from the Government for the appointment of the Chief Constable to this post.

Mr. Jenkins, the Chief Constable, underwent a short course of fire-fighting before leaving England for the Falklands.

Replies to correspondence arising from the last meeting have not yet been received. It is understood from the Secretariat that these are forthcoming.

The Council also discussed repairs to the Cemetery Cottage and the Cemetery, and it was agreed that this matter should come before the Cemetery Committee at an early date.

TABERNACLE SALE OF WORK REALISES £143. 12s.

A week ago today the Annual Sale of Work of the Tabernacle Church was held in the Cathedral Hall.

It proved to be a success in every way, for the large numbers of people present not only enjoyed themselves but patronised the various stalls so well that by the end of the evening the sum of £143. 12s. had been collected.

In the games section old favourites were there once again - from "Throwing the Balls at the Dolls"-to Darts. The Tea Stall also did brisk business, this popular part of the Bazaar being held on the stage.

The Tabernacle Council wish to thank all who helped to make this event the success it was.

CAN YOU NAME IT?

A large fish, believed to belong to the Tunny family, was found recently by the two daughters of Mr. Douglas Smith on the Magellan Beach at Johnson's Harbour.

Marked part black on its back with sides and belly of a slate colour, the fish measured 8ft. 9 ins long and 3ft deep.

The length of its side fins was 1ft 4ins, the spread of its tail - 2ft 9ins.

Perhaps some of our readers may be able to supply the correct name of this fish as well as the family to which it belongs.

AUSTER FLYS 1,000 TROUT TO JOHNSON'S HARBOUR

Using the Auster ambulance aircraft, Mr. Victor Spencer took off from the landing field in Stanley to fly to Johnson's Harbour with a quantity of trout fingerlings on Wednesday morning.

The fish - 1,000 of them - were contained in a milk churn and on arrival were released into the Magellan Pond.

In the air 12 minutes for the outward flight, Mr. Spencer said that it was uneventful but that on returning he encountered strong ground wind just before landing.

On Tuesday he was in the air testing the passenger model which had been fitted with a long-range fuel tank.

The test, he said, was "satisfactory."

The extracts from the Air Ministry Meteorological Office monthly reports for the months of January and February, 1949, are given below for the interest of our readers, both home and overseas. Figures for the corresponding month in 1948 are shown in parenthesis.

INFORMATION FILMS AROUSE INTEREST EDUCATIONALLY AT SCHOOL AND BOYS' BRIGADE

During the past fortnight children of the Government School in Stanley, and members of the Boys' Brigade, have enjoyed watching performances of several of the "information films" which have been sent out by the Colonial Office in London.

The films ranged from such descriptive and topical subjects as The Heir Presumptive To The Throne and the Royal Navy, to the geographical features of the Gold Coast and the country of Ulster.

One, in particular, aroused considerable interest - Instruments Of The Orchestra, to which the contemporary British composer Benjamin Britten wrote the musical score; while another, The Heir Presumptive To The Throne, was shown no less than six times.

Their educational value cannot be underestimated and it is hoped that continued supplies of these films will be forthcoming.

FORMER VISITOR TO COLONY RETURNS

One of the passengers who will be arriving with the s.s. "Fitzroy" is Mr. Alan Best, noted ornithologist who makes a practice of collecting specimens of animals and birds for Zoological Gardens in America and Britain.

Here in the Colony twice before, he obtained penguins which he successfully transported to Zoos overseas.

Mr. Best has had many adventures in his job of collecting various animals from different parts of the world off the beaten track.

WEDDING
BARNES - FINLAYSON

The wedding took place on Thursday afternoon at four o'clock at Christ Church Cathedral of Miss Iris Dwenda Margaret Barnes, youngest daughter of Mr. and the late Mrs. S. Barnes of Stanley, to Mr. Hugh Finlayson, fourth son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Finlayson of Goose Green. The Revd. R.G.R. Calvert solemnised the marriage.

The bride, given away by her youngest brother, Mr. Ernest Barnes, was dressed in a white silk velvet wedding dress trimmed with silver sequins with which she wore a half-mooned head-dress of orange blossom with a full-length embroidered tulle veil. She carried a large bouquet of mixed flowers and ferns which had been jointly given by H.E. the Governor before he left for the Dependencies, and by Mrs. A. Rutter.

She was attended by four bridesmaids: Miss Inglis Barnes (sister), Miss Sylva Spencer (cousin), and by the Misses Lily and June Finlayson, sisters of the bridegroom. All were charmingly dressed in white morocaine trimmed with petunia and matching sequins and wore head-dresses of petunia trimming with veil. Their bouquets were of mixed flowers.

Best man to the bridegroom was his brother, Mr. William D. Finlayson.

RECEPTION AT STANLEY COTTAGE

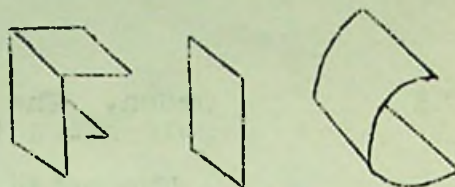

After photographs had been taken of the newly wed couple, a reception was held at Stanley Cottage at which some 60 people were present, including many close friends of the bride and groom. Later in the day 80 relatives and friends sat down to a supper which had been specially prepared by Mr. A.L. Hardy, who also made the four-tier wedding cake.

The Supper Room had been tastefully decorated for the occasion.

In the evening a dance was held in the Gymnasium to which 400 people had been invited. At the end of the last dance, the bride and groom were "chaired" round the floor to the tune of "For he's a jolly Good Fellow" and the evening ended with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne".

The bouquets were arranged by Mrs. A. Jennings, and the photographs - taken of the bride and groom and the reception party in Stanley Cottage - by Mr. W.H. Young and Mr. D.W. O'Sullivan.

Mr. and Mrs. Finlayson are to make their home in Stanley.

It's reported that the Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey vessel John Biscoe left South Georgia early this morning for Signy Island.

G.P.O. SAYS 'FOOD PARCELS NOT PACKED PROPERLY'

A letter received from the Head Office of the General Post Office in London says that a large number of food gift parcels sent from the Falkland Islands have arrived in the United Kingdom in a damaged condition.

Almost 50 per cent. of them, containing fats - and in some cases, eggs - say the G.P.O., were found to have been improperly packed, with the result that the fat had dissolved in transit and had leaked out.

They add that this caused considerable inconvenience to their staff, since it was found necessary to repack the parcels before they could be sent on to the addressees.

FOOD SCHEME MAY STOP

I understand that unless more care is taken by the public in the sealing of tins containing fat, there is a danger of the G.P.O. refusing to accept into the United Kingdom food parcels from the Colony.

This may lead to the stopping of the "food scheme", but it is hoped that the public will co-operate wholeheartedly to avoid this happening.

JIMMY WHITNEY WINS BOYS' BRIGADE CROSS COUNTRY RACE

Last Sunday, after attending a morning service at the Tabernacle Church, members of the Boys' Brigade held in the afternoon a Cross Country Race over a course of approximately two-and-three-quarter miles.

Beginning at Whale Bone Arch, the course was along Ross-road, Villiers-street, Callaghan-road, and Eliza Cove-road to the Meteorological Office, then through Dettelleffs Paddock, and along Kiel-road, Surf Bay-road, Snake-street, James-street and Ross-road, to the finishing point at Whale Bone Arch.

Competitors were grouped into Senior and Junior classes.

First in the Senior Class was Sgt. Jimmy Whitney, who surprised both himself and the spectators by winning comfortably by thirty-eight and three-fifths seconds.

His time for the course was 15 mins. 30 secs.

Spectators saw an exciting finish when Cpl. D. Osborne and H. Luxton fought it out for second place, with both of them sprinting from Jubilee Corner and Osborne just getting ahead to win by a fifth of a second.

In the Junior Class K. Cletheroe as a distance runner is outstanding. Taking first place on Sunday, he covered the course in 15 mins. 35 secs. He had previously covered the same course in 15 mins. 52 and three-fifths secs. At the Boys' Brigade Sports held in November of last year he won the mile in 5 mins. 44 secs. and the 440 yards in 1 min. 9 and three-fifths secs.

After the race tea was served in the Kitchen of the Parish Hall where members of the Boys' Brigade have their own canteen. Here they can purchase, at cost price, tea, cakes, minerals and a hundred-and-one other kinds of delicacies.

During tea prizes were kindly presented by Mr. W.J. Hutchinson to the following:

Seniors 1st Sgt. J. Whitney;
time 15 mins. 30 secs;

2nd. 10/- Cpl. D. Osborne; time
16 mins 8 and three-fifths secs.

Juniors 1st Sgt. K. Cletheroe;
time 15 mins 35 secs;

2nd. 10/- Pte. C. Osborne; time 15 mins 42 secs; 3rd. 5/- Pte. K. Osborne; time 16 mins 4 secs; 4th 5/- Pte. H. McLeod; time 16 mins 26 secs.

Following tea a launching ceremony took place of the boat know to many as the "We're Here".

Built in 1908 for the Administration, she was put ashore at the Camber from H.M.S. Good Hope before the Battle of the Coronel in the 1914-18 war. She was later put up for auction and was purchased by Mr. R. Reive of Stanley.

Used for a number of years for racing along with the Square Stern and the Double Ender, she finally went to Bluff Cove, where, after some 20 years service, it appeared would be her last resting place.

But no such thing. She was purchased by the Boys' Brigade and towed to Stanley by kind favour of Mr. Phil McCarthy who used his motor boat.

Repairs were undertaken by Mr. S.C. Bender who fitted a new stern post, several planks, and a new thwart. The painting of the boat was done by the members of the Brigade, and when finished she was re-named Good Hope.

One of her first jobs will be the conveyance of boys across the Harbour to recondition the names of the two ships Beagle and Barracouta which are inscribed in white stone on the hill facing Stanley across the harbour. Contributed.

PHILOMEL'S TRIP TO KIDNEY ISLAND

On Wednesday morning the m.v. Philomel left Stanley for Kidney Island, returning on the same day.

The trip, I understand, was made so that Mr. Alan Best, noted ornithologist and traveller, could collect various specimens of penguins as well as a number of shags.

He succeeded in collecting 8-10 'rocky' and 'macaroni' penguins and a number of shags. These he hopes to transport successfully overseas.

Here twice before, Mr. Best has had many adventures in different parts of the world off the beaten track while collecting birds and animals for British and American Zoological Gardens.

MR & MRS. MATHEWS STILL IN MONTEVIDEO

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Mathews will be interested to hear that they are still in Montevideo.

Mr. Mathews, in a letter to this office, says that both he and Mrs. Mathews are enjoying their brief stay there before going on to South Africa.

Though the ship has been delayed, they are both hoping to leave at the end of March. Meanwhile, they are staying at Mr. Freddy Jones hotel, the Hotel Suizo.

MR. HOFFMAN'S TRIBUTE TO BRITISH ACHIEVEMENTS

"A Very Gallant And Successful Fight"

A tribute to "the remarkable progress" being made by Britain towards fulfilment of her pledge of self-help was paid by Mr. Hoffman, ECA Administrator, at a Press Conference held in London recently. He said:

"I am going back to America with a clear impression that the United Kingdom has made remarkable progress in making good on its pledge of self-help. When I took this job in April of last year it seemed to me that the goals which Britain had set in the first year were quite unattainable. The very gallant and successful fight which Great Britain has put up to build up her exports and hold down imports and thus achieve financial stability is one which commands the admiration of the world.

"If the free nations remain united and plan and work together there is great hope that we can turn these troubled times into times which will produce a just and enduring peace. If we remain united it is clear that no aggressor will ever dare march against us."

RE-OPENING OF ST. MARY'S CHAPEL'S CONCERT SEASON

This evening at 8.15 p.m. St. Mary's Chapel re-opened its 1949 Concert Season with a full-scale production of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" in colour.

In five acts, the play opens with an introduction by one of the Fairies and is followed by the opening speech before it finally merges into the first act.

In this, the Queen, jealous of the beauty of Snow White plots with the unwilling forester, Karl, to put her to death. How Snow White dies and is brought back to life again is another story.

Certain changes have been in this year's cast, but this should in no way effect overall performance.

The play is produced by the Rev. Father Kelly, with music by Mr. Frank Kift, costumes by Viola Peck and stage managing and lighting effects by Mr. Michael Biggs and Mr. Dennis Hallett.

S.S. LAFONIA ON WAY TO LAS PALMAS

The s.s. Lafonia is now known to have left Pernambuco and to be on her way to Las Palmas.

She is expected to arrive there in the early morning of the 1 April and to leave again on the same day.

ICE CAUSES JOHN BISCOE TO MAKE DETOURS

After leaving Signy Island on 20 March for Deception Island via Admiralty Bay, heavy pack ice forced the John Biscoe to make several detours in her journey.

It's reported that she will be leaving Deception Island tonight (Friday) for Port Lockroy, and is expected to be back in Stanley on or about the 10 April.

This, I understand, will depend upon not only weather conditions but also on whether she can get in to all the bases.

WEDDING BIGGS - ROSS

The wedding took place at the Registrar's Office on Friday, 11 March, of Miss Eileen Biggs, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Biggs of Stanley, to Mr. Robert Walter Ross, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Finlay Ross of Ardersier, Iverness, Scotland.

"CALLING THE FALKLANDS"

Information has been received from the B.B.C. that requests for the above programme must be sent through the Information Officer and not to the B.B.C. direct.

Cases have occurred where the B.B.C. announcer has caused embarrassment by playing a record, requested by someone for another person, which has had a veiled and unpleasant meaning behind it.

One such instance, I understand, happened in this week's programme.

Such things the B.B.C. wish to avoid, but they cannot do so if persons requesting records do so with an ill-intentioned meaning behind it.

If cases of this kind continue in the future, it is certain that the B.B.C. will take action. What form this may take it is not known, but it is probable that it would mean the end of this programme.

The public are therefore requested to send all requests for records to the Information Officer who will pass them on the B.B.C.- Ed.

WHO'D BE A CONTINUITY GIRL?

There are not many jobs which might involve driving to work in a snow-going caterpillar truck, eating reindeer sandwiches for lunch, and having a 4½ mile trek back across a frozen lake in the evening to get home. And, once home, most people do not expect to spend the rest of their day by typing their homework by the light of a storm lantern in a tent.

But this is the job of Jean Graham, continuity girl whose assignment on SCOTT OF THE ANT-ARCTIC took her to Finse, a small winter sports resort in Norway.

It's a tough job, but Jean says she likes it. One of her companions was David James, author of Prisoner's Progress and the book on the film of Scott.

Editor's Column.

As the detailed results of the West Falkland Sports were not received in the Weekly News Office until late on Friday of last week, it was not possible to publish them in that addition. They have, however, been included in this week's addition as a special supplement.

Readers will notice too that the names of jockeys and horses have not been included in some of the results of the East Falkland Sports Meeting. Here again, attempts were made to find out these but without success.

CINEMA SHOW GIVEN BY MR YOUNG

About 150 people attended a cinema show given in the Tabernacle Schoolroom last Tuesday evening by Mr. W.H. Young.

The films shown included one of the Camp, in colour, with views on sheep shifting, and one on the voyage of the s.s. Fitzroy to the United Kingdom. Scenes from this film, showing the alteration to the Fitzroy, were of particular interest to the audience.

Two other films- one on views of England, and the other a comic - completed the evening's programme.

The pictures of the Fitzroy's voyage and of England were taken by Captain F. White, while those of the Colony were taken by Mr. Young.

TOWN COUNCIL CEMETERY COMMITTEE DISCUSS CEMETERY AND COTTAGE

The Town Council Cemetery Committee met on Monday, 26 March, to discuss the inspection of the Cemetery and Cottage.

It was agreed that a considerable sum could with advantage be spent on both.

While managing to keep the newer part of the Cemetery clean, the caretaker has of necessity to leave the old part which has become badly overgrown in many places. The Cemetery, too, is in need of repairs, the windows and roof being leaky and the interior requiring re-decoration.

It is realised that this state of affairs is no reflection on either the Caretaker or the late Cemetery Trustees. The latter had, on handing over to the Town Council, a cash balance of less than ten pounds, and bills for approximately £70.

This year investments amounting to about £500 become due for repayment, and it is proposed to use this sum for renovation work.

In the old part of the Cemetery are many graves no longer cared for by relatives of the deceased, and many unidentified. It has been suggested that these graves could be levelled off and the site marked by the number plate. This would greatly facilitate grass cutting, but before doing anything in this matter the Council would appreciate the views of the public.

In the meantime the Council appeals to the public to help beautify the Cemetery by giving the necessary attention to those graves for which they may feel individually responsible. Similarly any donations or gifts of materials towards the carrying out of repairs to the Cottage and the Cemetery will be appreciated and gratefully acknowledged.

Other works to be carried out are the levelling off of the new part, making new paths and re-shingling old paths and repairs to the stone wall.

This work will be put out to tender in the near future and the Town Clerk will be pleased to give all possible information to interested persons.

U.K. MACHINERY FOR THE COMMONWEALTH

Exports of machinery from the United Kingdom are playing a vital part in the promotion of economic development and restoration of industrial activity in many parts of the world, and in particular in those areas with which her ties are closest or towards which she has undertaken special responsibilities.

In the first ten months of 1948, altogether just under one-half of the U.K.'s total exports of machinery went to the Commonwealth and Empire, and nearly one-quarter to the European countries.

Both the Dominions and the Colonies are putting this machinery to good use, and some have indicated that they may be able to take more.

BRITAIN'S WOOL INDUSTRY

Prominent Place in Export Drive

The wool textile industry, most ancient of Britain's staple industries, is being asked to take an increasingly prominent place in the export drive despite a deficient labour force which is not expected to regain the pre-war level.

Nevertheless, the industry is comparatively well placed to meet the new demands upon it, says an official report. The report goes on to say that the Dominions and Colonies are helping all they can to make Britain's export target in wool a record one.

HONORARY DIPLOMA IN ZOOLOGY CONFERRED UPON MR. HAROLD BENNETT

For his work in transporting successfully to the United Kingdom last year a number of penguins and shags, destined for the London Zoo, Mr. Harold Bennett of Stanley has been awarded an honorary diploma in Zoology.

He now becomes a corresponding member of the Zoological Society.

The Society confers the diploma upon people who carry out certain valuable work in zoology, and the award is limited to 200.

250 ATTEND PERFORMANCE OF 'SNOW WHITE AND THE SEVEN DWARFS'

Last Friday evening at eight-fifteen something like 250 people attended a performance of 'Snow White And The Seven Dwarfs' at the re-opening of the 1949 Concert Season at St. Mary's Chapel.

Produced by the Revd. Father Kelly, the play, with variety items in between certain acts, lasted for an hour-and-a-half.

It is difficult to give credit to any particular actor or actress when the success of such a play depends upon the entire co-operation of the whole cast, but in this the children gave willingly of their best and succeeded in accomplishing what they had set out to do, of satisfying a very discerning audience.

I would say, "Well done!" to those who took part in this first play of the 1949 Concert Season.

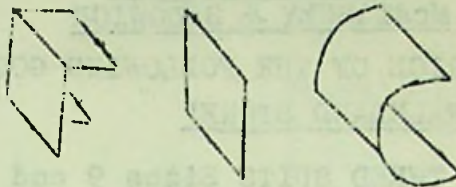

From England comes the news that Mr. Edward Meirhofer - known to many of his friends in Stanley, as "Froggy" - and serving at present with the Royal Navy, is considering the idea of joining the New Zealand Navy after he is demobilised from the British forces.

Mr. Meirhofer who came to the Colony on leave in June of last year had, at that time, approximately a year still to serve before being demobilised.

A Leading-Seaman in rank, he specialised in radar and saw active service with the Royal Navy during the war.

He comes from a seafaring family, for his father, Mr. George Meirhofer, has served on the s.s. Fitzroy for a number of years. He was promoted to Second Engineer in January of 1948, and went with the ship to the United Kingdom in June of the same year.

Editorial Note: The Editor reminds readers that the latest time that requests for the BBC's "Calling The Falkland Islands" will be accepted is 9.30 a.m. on Monday, 4 April.

POET'S CORNER

'THE MORN' OF DEPARTURE

The Morning was fine and sunny
 When out of their beds they crept
 Awakened by the sounds of a whistle
 And the snores of others as they slept

For it was the morning of departure
 And everyone knew full well
 That within a matter of hours
 They would be sighting the 'Philomel'

At the breakfast table this morning
 The lads seemed down in the dumps
 They hadn't that jolly look on their faces

And were bolting their food in big lumps

For the stately ship at this moment was approaching like a train
 She was arriving to collect them
 And take them home again

She arrived on the tick of seven
 And dropped anchor close to the shore

Next sending her boats to collect them

And deprive them of two days more

They noticed the janker pole on the green

As they strolled slowly to the shore

It recalled the glorious times they had

And the longing for two days more

At ten past eight all were on board
 And the stately ship on her way Skipper Dixon having pointed her nose to the East

She was heading straight down the bay

To take their minds off sea sickness
 They started a jolly song
 It was suggested it might be a cure
 But this was proved to be wrong

They were just in the midst of a chorus

When poor Terry got on his back
The Second i/c seeing his plight Hung him over the rail like a sack

The fishes all came to the surface
And swam around full of pride Before Terry got rid of his breakfast
Young Willie was there by his side

They took it in turn being ill
There with their mouths open wide Thinking of those long island cream tarts

That were now going over the side
Their miserable moments now ended
Tho' wondering just for how long They removed themselves from the rail
And burst once again into song

The trip up Port William was uneventful
All sitting around looking bold Someone remarked where's the bugle
It was found tucked away in the hold

A few blasts of the bugle were sounded

Only to let parents know they were near

But the Captain closed the doors of the wheelhouse

While the mate stuffed cotton wool in his ear

Our arrival at Government jetty
Was the end of a perfect trip
We thank those concerned, sincerely,
For the use of this little ship

Our thanks also to Whitney and Osborne

Who only volunteered to stay
To scrub out the jolly old cookhouse

And walk to town later in the day

Our thanks to the P.I.C. Manager
For without his consent
We couldn't have gone to Green Patch
For those twelve happy days we spent

And now the 1949 Camp is over Still fresh in our memories remain

Of the wonderful time, and the miracles

The trip both ways without rain!
Contributed.

JOHN BISCOE ALMOST
 "ICED-IN"
 ON LAST TOUR

While on her last tour of the Dependencies, the R.R.S. John Biscoe was at one stage confronted with the trickiest situation of the season.

There was a strong possibility of the vessel becoming trapped in the ice, and such was the emergency that ration scales to cover a period of ten months were worked out.

At one point in her journey the Biscoe was brought to a standstill by a dense belt of pack-ice, and with more ice and bergs from the south, constantly on the move into the narrow channel, navigational skill of the highest order was called for in turning her out of the restricted area.

Meanwhile, down below in the engine-room, the staff were experiencing considerable difficulty in having to stop the engines every ten minutes or so while the filter was dismantled and cleared of frozen snow. This was necessary owing to the large quantity of snow churned off and the broken ice being drawn into the filter, thus preventing the flow of water into the cooling system.

Ice was often heard to be grinding against the sides, and despite careful navigation, the vessel was occasionally bumped by ice too big to be broken or pushed aside.

The John Biscoe is expected to arrive in Stanley either on Sunday or Monday, and a full itinerary of her journey will be published later.

MR. SPENCER HAS MISHAP
 IN AUSTER AIRCRAFT

While on a duty flight to Port San Carlos on Thursday morning, the Auster aircraft, piloted by Mr. Victor Spencer, met with a slight mishap on landing.

Both the propeller and the rudder were broken.

Neither Mr. Spencer nor his passenger, Lt.-Col. Pierce Butler, was badly hurt.

AMERICAN COAL FOR JAMAICA

Permission has been granted by the British Government for the release of dollars from the Sterling pool for the purchase of American coal for Jamaica.

Kingston Corporation required 4-5,000 tons. A quotation supplied by the Crown Agents for the Colonies for British coal indicated the price plus freight charges as being 135s., while American coal of a similar quality could be delivered for 80s. per ton.

As a result Jamaica requested that they be permitted to purchase from America.

NIGHT FISHING IN UGANDA

HIPPOS CHALLENGE FISHERMEN

Night fishing with new methods has brought increased catches but also new dangers to the fishermen on Lake Edward in Uganda, says the latest report from the Uganda Game Department.

When the fishermen beat the waters of the lake to drive the fish into their nets the hippotami take this as a challenge and charge among the canoes.

Despite these hazards the fishermen have been recording phenomenal catches. At Lake Bunyonyi the catches are in peril from otters.

These animals raided one set of nets and removed "skillfully and cleanly" the eyes of six fish without damaging the fish in any other way.

Throughout Uganda old motor tyres are at a premium. The fishermen strip off the rubber and dissect the canvas core which produces lengths of cord eight to ten inches long. These they make into seine nets, the rubber impregnated cord being invaluable for this purpose.

MR. AND MRS BEATY'S WORK AT RECENT SPORTS
APPRECIATED

A letter, received this week from "A Wester", tells of the gratitude felt by many towards Mr. and Mrs. T. Beaty, of Port Stephens, for the work which they did in organising the recent West Falkland Sports Meeting.

The letters says:

"On behalf of all Westers a vote of grateful thanks is extended to Mr. and Mrs. T. Beaty, and all other folk of Port Stephens, for the trouble and extra work they undertook in the organising and running of the recent Sports which were a great success and enjoyed by one and all."

We feel sure that many others will wish to join with our friend, the "Wester", in extending their thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Beaty and the people of Port Stephens for the work they did so cheerfully.

And we, the staff of the paper, take this opportunity of sending our thanks to a contributor who so kindly sent in the detailed results of the meeting.

FIRST P.S.N.C. BOAT SINCE
1939 TO CALL THIS MONTH

The expected arrival of the P.S.N.C. motor cargo vessel Losada, sometime towards the end of this month, in the Colony, will be of particular interest to some of our readers.

She is the first P.S.N.C. boat to call here since about February, 1939, I understand, and will take from the Colony redundant Army stores.

One of her passengers to the United Kingdom will be Mrs. Bert Peck, of Stanley.

RECONSTRUCTION OF CASTRIES, ST. LUCIA

His Majesty's Government has now undertaken to provide funds in aid of the reconstruction of the town of Castries, St. Lucia, which was almost completely destroyed by fire in June of last year. St. Lucia will, however, be expected to make the maximum contribution from its own resources.

The undertaking is subject to the adoption of a satisfactory town plan by the local government and to the provision of adequate machinery. Amongst the projects to be undertaken are the restoration of public services, and building and rehousing.

WORLD'S LARGEST BAUXITE STATION

Carenage, tiny fishing village, West of Port of Spain, Trinidad, will have the largest bauxite transfer point in the world when the construction is completed this year.

The American Alecoa Steamship Company are spending $6,000,000 on the transfer station.

The construction of the new station is providing employment for 300 people. When in operation it will afford permanent employment for 200, mainly from Carenage, and casual labour for 200 more.

When completed the station will be equipped to unload bauxite ore up to 1,200 tons per hour and load up to 2,000 tons per hour.

THE STRUGGLE FOR FOOD

Editor

While most of us still get enough to eat and continue to enjoy a balanced diet of three meals a day, hundreds of millions of people elsewhere cannot even get the bare necessities on which to live.

There has never been enough food everywhere in the world. Even before the war 1,000 million people were constantly undernourished. Philosophies have been based on the fact: philosophies that encouraged fortitude, that promised to reward privation, and which praised and exalted those who did without.

Now, according to both scientists and philosophers, the world is up against a crisis: The Struggle For Food.

At a time when there is a world shortage of food amounting to a famine in some lands, and in others a ration scale more skimpy than during the war, we cannot ignore or blindly turn our face from the fact. There is too much at stake ...

Though today's shortage of food is the result of mankind's flouting of nature's laws, nature still has the whip hand. She can wait and re-establish her equilibrium if need be long after man has disappeared, through his own folly, from the scene. Nature does not overlook mistakes, not does she make allowances for ignorance and greed.

WE LIVE ON THE SOIL

Most of us are apt to think of hunger as a "gnawing" sensation that sends us scurrying with all speed to the pantry, or to the nearest restaurant, if there happens to be one. And we are surprised when we hear that hunger does not make itself felt in the stomach, but in the head. With acute hunger comes the feeling that the mind is robbed of all thought except that of finding something to eat, and the body feels tired and listless.

The world food situation is none too bright and the solution of the problem emphasizes not only Ruskin's memorable dictum: "If you want food you must toil for it," but the need, too, for understanding and education and co-operation.

This means that we must realise how utterly dependent we are upon the earth and its fruits, for many countries have skidded far down the road toward national suicide by destroying the soil which alone makes possible their survival. But we still have time... a breathing space, as it were, in which to save our soil and expand its usefulness.

Only a few inches of topsoil stand between the human race and oblivion. And what happens in England, or America, or Australia and New Zealand, or in any other part of the world, is of interest to us; for it is from these that we get the main bulk of the world's food supplies. The land is the one natural resource besides air and water without which human life cannot exist.

GET DOWN TO EARTH

Is man really wise? He is building rocket-ships in which to fly from this planet to others. Unless he improves his food supply he may need his space ships, but he has no guarantee that he will find a better source of food supply on any other world. Perhaps, as was suggested in a recent article, one may ask whether man needs to escape the earth or get down to it.

Erosion is the serpent in our food production garden. Over immense areas of the world, precious top-soil has been wholly or partially lost, or is threatened with removal. It took ages to build up its balance between climate, microbes, plants and trees.

Even Canada, one of the world's largest producers of food, has a serious erosion problem affecting many places. On experimental farm land at Ottawa, with a rainfall of 15 inches in four months, eight tons of soil per acre were washed off a corn plot planted up and down a five per cent slope, while 22 tons were lost of an eleven per cent slope. In one hour a rainfall of three inches removed soil to the extent of 72 tons per acre from a summer-fallowed area.

These records show the extent of the menace.

In addition to removal of soil, there is a depletion of soil washing out needed chemicals. We have only to look at what has happened on the other continents to see that the extractive farming pursued by man has milked the soil and exhausted his environment.

In time, it may well be that a large part of the earth's surface will be nothing more but a vast dust bowl, terrifying in its proportions, irreclaimable, and there as mute evidence of man's ill-treatment and neglect. After the dust bowl - what? Only time can provide the answer to this question.

THERE'S NO MORE LAND

Those who have read Pearl Buck's books know intimately the struggle for existence of China's farmers, each on his tiny lot. China needs more of everything: 60 per cent more fats and oils, 327 per cent more fruits, fifty times the milk she now has, just to reach a minimum standard of diets. During the past century it is estimated that 100 million people have starved to death in China.

Or take India. A report to the United Nations says that in normal times 30 per cent of the population, representing 100 million people, do not get enough food of any kind. The daily caloric intake of a group of villagers in South India was 1,700, and that of poor families in a Madras suburb 1800.

So much for the Far East. Turn to Europe, where the picture is little better. Before the war most countries imported food - the United Kingdom to the extent of 50 per cent, Germany 25 per cent, Greece 40 per cent. In the Balkans, children now dig soil from rock crevices with teaspoons and add it to the fields; in the Vosges region soil washed into the valleys is carried back in baskets and replaced on farms. The average farm in Greece has 9 acres.

Africa cannot support a large population, despite popular belief to the contrary. With only 20 million more acres of cultivable land than South America, it already has 70 per cent more population.

The Soviet Union, according to a calculation in 1941, had 388 million acres under cultivation, giving an average of 2.3 acres per person, compared with Canada's 5 acres per person.

In southwestern Asia is being demonstrated, though amid scenes of regrettable upheaval, what can be done in restoration of unproductive land; and in Palestine, "arable land" is regarded as much a function of the farmer as of the farm.

So there is the story of the world's present situation in regard to food, and of some of the factors causing it. And there is one inescapable fact: there is no more land on earth than is known to us today.

There are others frontiers, of course. Science can, perhaps, come to our rescue, if it turns out to be as successful with plant and animal diseases as with human diseases. But suppose that science were to increase the world's supply of food by as much as 20 per cent. Would it be enough? No. For we are still faced with a predicted 100 per cent growth in the population in the next century.

The most critical danger is that we may forget how short we are of time. Today's crisis calls for an immediate uprising of the idea of conservation and development, and of greater use of the resources and advice which science can offer us.

Meantime there is a stirring need for man to "get down to earth."

ANTARCTIC PARTY VISIT SWEDISH EXPLORER'S HUT

Fuller details have been received of a visit paid by a sledging party from the recently -abandoned Dependencies Survey base at Hope Bay, north-east Graham Land, to a hut built by the Swedish explorer, Otto Nordenskjöld, in 1901.

The sledging party included S. St. C. McNeile, general assistant, of 12, Sumner Place, South Kensington, London, and B. Jefford, surveyor, of Stanley House, 13, Stanley Crescent, London.

The hut was occupied for nearly three years by Nordenskjöld and its construction is described in detail in his book "Antarctica".

The party found the hut in fair condition although the entrance was completely frozen in. The floor was covered in solid ice of 12-18 inches in depth and was littered with broken china, glassware, lamps, torn books and papers, broken boxes, fossils and laboratory apparatus. In the gallery, a stove was found in good shape. Each cabin contained a bunk with linen, blankets and eiderdowns. These bedclothes disintegrated on being touched.

Bunks, found intact, were firmly packed in ice and snow and each bore the name of its occupant, neatly engraved, probably with hammer and chisel. Most of the furniture was broken and rotten.

One item of special interest found was an oil-lamp, an illustration of which may be seen in Nordenskjöld's book, with the author seated at a reading table. This lamp was removed with the intention of returning it to Sweden, but was lost in the fire which last September destroyed the base hut.

LABOUR CONDITIONS IN NORTHERN RHODESIA

Long term proposals for the solution of African labour problems are contained in the latest labour report from Northern Rhodesia (Annual Report for 1947).

The report says "African labour will remain inefficient as long as work is not a necessity. In this Territory, where life is fairly easy for the African, such a position is comparatively rare."

The only solution is likely to be a long term one and lies with the employer. The Report continues:

"Until conditions are provided that make it attractive to a labourer to remain continuously with one employer - such as security of tenure of decent married quarters, opportunity for advancement and for the education of his children, reasonable and easily accessible amenities - labour will continue to drift from one employer to another."

The report says that 68 per cent did less than 18 months and in many cases two or three thirty-day work tickets only were completed.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR:

The Deanery,

5th April, 1949.

Sir,

As one of the Trustees I was not aware that we had handed over to the Town Council. So far as I am aware there has been no meeting to discuss the matter, nor were the last accounts submitted to the Trustees in accordance with the Ordinance.

As regards the financial side, I understand that the Investments were subscribed on the understanding that they were to form an Endowment, though possibly there is no legal reason why they may not be spent as Capital. It would seem to me a mistaken policy to spend this capital now, as the result in the long run will be a reduced annual income. As the Cemetery is a concern of the public as a whole it would seem reasonable for the Town Council to put the place in good order at public expense; and in view of the fact that the dilapidations are an accumulation from a period for which the Council was not responsible, could not the work be carried out by the P.W.D. without charge for labour?

In many old Church Yards in England the graves have been levelled off, the memorial stones placed together in a suitable place, and the area kept as a garden with flower beds and mown grass. This would seem to be a good plan to follow here, but it should be stipulated that the grass should be cut regularly with a mowing machine, not once a year for horse feed, or the place will look like an untidy field.

Other improvements long overdue are the removal of the rough fence from the top of the wall by Ross-road, and also of the unsightly Nissen Huts, both by the Cemetery Cottage and opposite the Cemetery in Ross Road.

Yours faithfully,

(Sgd.) R.G.R. Calvert.

"BOUNTY" BIBLE REACHES LONDONUNIQUE SOUVENIR OF FAMOUS MUTINEERS

The "Bounty" Bible - unique souvenir of the mutineers who rebelled against Captain Bligh - has reached London on the first stage of the long voyage home to Pitcairn Island after an absence of 110 years in Connecticut, U.S.A.

The Connecticut Historical Society are returning it to the islanders on permanent loan "because of the veneration with which it is still regarded" by the Pitcairn islanders who are all now Seventh Day Adventists.

The approach to the Society was made last year by Mr. A.W. Mcverley, a New Zealand School master who is now teaching on Pitcairn and who, on behalf of the islanders, is now trying to gather together again the relics of the original mutineers, the founders of the community.

The Bible is perhaps the most important single relic of the original settlers of the island.

When the mutineers cast off Captain Bligh and 18 others near Tahiti in 1789, some of them remained in Tahiti where they were arrested some years later. They were brought back to England and hanged at the yard arm. Nine others, led by Fletcher Christian and accompanied by their Tahitian wives and nine other Tahitian men and women, sailed off in the Bounty to Pitcairn island.

In the next 10 years a series of disasters struck the little community and only one of the original mutineers, John Adams, survived. He could barely read and write but he was a devout man and with the aid of the Bounty Bible and Prayerbook he educated the children, settled differences and remained for 13 years the beloved ruler and patriarch of the community which now settled down to a peaceful and God-fearing existence. In his old age he wrote down a single code of laws, which like his whole system of administration was essentially based on the Bible and the Book of Common prayer.

When the ultimate destination of the Bounty became known and the fate of the settlement revealed to the world, the British Government granted a pardon to John Adams as a reward for establishing a well-ordered community.

By the middle of the nineteenth Century as many as 50 ships were visiting Pitcairn and in 1898 it came formally under British Colonial Government.

The Bible, however, had been taken from the island in 1839 by a whaling sailor - Levi Hayden, from Windsor, Connecticut, to whom it was given by a grandson of John Adams.

This famous relic was handed over to Sir Oliver Franks, the British Ambassador to America in Washington and the Western Pacific Department of the Colonial Office will now be responsible for the Bible's safe arrival in Pitcairn.

MALAYAN BANDITS MEDAL IN LONDON

Recently the Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. A. Creech Jones, received from Malaya one of the medals bearing the likeness of Mr. Stalin and Lenin, a number of which was taken by a detachment of the Grenadier Guards in the Kajang area, Malaya, on January 28.

The medals have a high value as souvenirs among the Guardsmen and is made in cheap brass and crudely produced.

At midday on 28 January, a party of Grenadier Guards, accompanied by a Chinese detective, two dyaks and an interpreter, found a bandit camp of very solid construction in the Kajang Area.

The camp had been vacated about three hours before. The camp and the jungle were searched and two Guardsmen were sent down a path further into the jungle from the camp to act as sentries.

The camp was then burned and almost at the end of this operation a burst of sten gun fire was heard from the direction where the sentries had been posted.

The remainder of the patrol later met two Guardsmen returning from chasing a bandit who had dropped two sacks. The sacks contained a roll of maps, documents and some medals, which bore a likeness to Stalin and Lenin, the founder of Communist Russia.

ARNHEM'S 'RED DEVIL'S' FIGHTING FOR HEALTH IN SWISS SANITORIUM

High in the Swiss Alps, in the Mount Blanc Sanatorium at Leysin, men who, just over three years ago, tumbled into history as the "Red Devils" of Arnhem are fighting another battle. It is a battle for health, and the enemy is pulmonary tuberculosis.

Those men, specially selected for their dangerous mission because of their high physical standards, came back from prison camps in many cases afflicted with T.B.

They were faced with long delays in getting into sanatoria in England.

To-day they are being given a chance to win back to health and strength through the "T.B." Fund operated by the Airborne Forces Security Fund.

FIRST SCOT TO BENEFIT

Brigadier P.L. Spafford, O.B.E., controller of the fund, had to compete with Christmas holiday-makers when trying to book accommodation to Switzerland for the first Scot to benefit under the scheme - a 23-year-old Paisley railway worker who came back from Arnhem and found himself dogged by illness. He eventually got the details settled, and now the Scot is with his sixteen other comrades at Leysin.

SIX-MONTH STAY

The trustees of the fund started by purchasing a number of beds in the sanatorium, at a cost of £400 a year for each patient. Now they have the entire top floor and will send out as many men as they can for the six months convalescence which, for many, is the only hope of cure.

But the Fund is in urgent need of more money, for last year they spent £13,000 in excess of income in helping ex-Airborne men and their families.

Each man in the sanatorium gets 15s. a week pocket money, and his pension accumulates in England, so that at the end of six months he goes home to a "nest egg."

The Fund is open to help all men of the Airborne Forces and their dependants. A special fund is allotted to educate the children of the officers and men who were killed during the war.

Brigadier Spafford praises the co-operation the Fund has received from the Treasury and the Ministry of Pensions. "I must take my hat off to them," he says. The British Consul is another good friend of the Airborne men, and helps them in many ways.

Editor's Note: It is hoped in the near future to get from London the film showing the Airborne attack on Arnhem, entitled "Theirs Is The Glory".

COLONIAL LABOUR OFFICERS TO GATHER IN LONDON FOR COURSE

Labour officers from 18 Colonies will gather in London on April 25 for a three months' course in industrial relations.

They will study conciliation and arbitration, relations with trade unions, joint industrial and wage councils, factory inspection, employment exchange services and vocational training.

Another batch of Colonial officers will begin on May 30 a short course on the utilisation of timber, at the Forest Products Research Laboratory of the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research at Princes Risborough, Buckinghamshire.

Mr. Rose is the Publicity Officer for St. Dunstan's, the Institute for the Blind. We feel that the article he has written on one of the many men the Institute has helped may be interest to readers, since the Falkland Islands did so much during the war in assisting this great, human cause.

I was privileged, a few days ago, to visit the British Railway works (Southern Section) Ashford, where I saw the sterling efforts which are being made to keep the rolling stock in proper running condition. My entry into print about the event is actuated by an incident in the machinery shop which impressed me considerably.

Wandering through the lines of Capstan lathes in company with Mr. J.T. Finch, the Assistant Works Manager, where operator after operator was assiduously turning out his particular job, my attention was attracted to a tall young fellow who seemed to handle his work slightly differently from the others. Whilst the latter directed their eyes to the article being made and even studied it critically when finished, this young man seemed unconcerned so far as actually "seeing" the article, but his hands were feeling every move.

A closer view revealed that he was sightless and, I was informed, had been trained on the capstan lathe at St. Dunstan's Training Centre, before joining the engineering shops of the British Railways.

He was "Sid" Doy, ex-Guardsman, blinded at Dunkirk and was a prisoner of war in Germany for about four years before being included in the batch of exchange prisoners-of-war who were non-combatant by reason of their injuries.

Sidney James Frederick Doy, about thirty-years-of-age, and formerly of Shirland-road, Paddington, joined the Grenadier Guards in 1937, and served with the First Battalion in France in the early stages of the war, was wounded and taken prisoner at Dunkirk.

The lot of the blinded prisoner-of-war in Germany was not a happy one at first; but when Lord Normanby, also a prisoner-of-war who was wounded in the foot, began to interest himself in the welfare of the British blinded prisoners, conditions changed. He secured the collection of the blinded in one camp and quite a number of privileges for them. These included the supply through the offices of St. Dunstan's and the British Red Cross, of braille instruction books and material.

"Sid" Doy was one of these boys who, ultimately repatriated, came to St. Dunstan's Training Centre in 1943. He knew a certain amount of braille reading and writing and also knew how to use a typewriter and decided, between the voids caused by several operations, to take up industry in the machine shop at the Training Centre. He is of a cheerful disposition and possesses a happy temperament and a determination to overcome the handicap of blindness. Thus he qualified as a capstan lathe operator, and in January last year entered the service of the Southern Region, British Railways in that capacity.

The suggestion of a blinded man working a machine was received not without some misgiving, Mr. Finch told me. Doy, in fact, is the first blinded man to enter the machine shops of the Southern Region. He was an "experiment" which management and fellow workers watched with no small amount of interest.

The result exceeded the expectation of all except those who trained him and Doy himself. He is now regarded by both employers and fellow employees as "one of the shop team." The fact of his handicap of

"CALLING THE FALKLANDS"

Once again readers of the Weekly News are reminded that if they wish to hear their requests played in this programme, they should send them in immediately to the Broadcast Officer.

Unless received early they cannot be included in the list sent to London.

blindness is forgotten, well, almost.

Those exceptions betoken not only the humanitarian feelings which actuate his fellow operators towards him, but also Doy's personality and acceptance of the small services which they render him.

In the morning a fellow worker calls for him and brings him to the shop; at lunch time an apprentice makes it his task to take Sid along to the canteen and see him back afterwards. In several instances requests have been made voluntarily by members of the shop, to adjust times and shifts, that he, or they, may be able to render some service to Doy.

In one instance a request was made by one of Doy's shop pals that their holidays should be so adjusted as to coincide, so that he "could take Doy along with him." That is the spirit which animates those in the shop towards their less fortunate mate.

I saw Doy on this occasion operating a No.3 Ward capstan lathe making copper fire-box stays for a locomotive boiler. His target is 250 a day - the normal rate for those working on similar machines in the shop. An interesting gadget by the side of the lathe is his ingeniously designed micrometer which enables him to test his work. It has braille characters embossed upon it and his task involves working to four-thousandths of an inch on the effective diameter of the thread.

Doy's foreman, Mr. H. Sutton, and acting foreman, Mr. H. Cowor, and Mr. L. Revell, who sets his machine, all referred in high terms of commendation to him as an operator, an opinion in which Mr. Finch concurred. They said, "He is a good fellow and a conscientious worker, and we are very pleased to have him with us."

Even the typists have a respect for Doy as a typist. Curiosity one day led them to test his capacity. His proficiency on the typewriter surprised them; they were not aware that typewriting forms one of the elementary studies of the blinded man at St. Dunstan's.

Doy finds recreation in his off times to attend Toc H and the British Legion, and he also enjoys a game of dominoes and cards with his friends.

Editor's Note: Elsewhere in this paper will be found a letter addressed to Mr. McWhan, received from Miss Betty Hay, the Overseas Appeal Secretary of St. Dunstan's, which we feel too will interest readers who associated themselves with the activities of St. Dunstan's, the British Red Cross, and other societies, during the war, who have continued to help the cause of the blind.

FORMER SENIOR MEDICAL OFFICER TO COLONY
TO MARRY

News has been received from Hertfordshire that Dr. F. J. Sladen, former Senior Medical Officer to the Falkland Islands, and only son of F.F. Sladen, Esq., C.I.E., J.P., is to marry Miss O. H. Felton, youngest daughter of the late R.S. Felton, Esq., of Fitzroy, and of Mrs. J.D. Creamer, of 56, Wilman-road, Tunbridge Wells, Kent.

Dr. Sladen is at present with the North Herts and Beds Hospital at Hitchin, Hertfordshire.

As the news of his impending marriage reached this office by the last mail, it is quite possible by now that this has taken place.

We deeply regret to report the death of Mr. John Milne, aged 61, dearly loved husband of Dolly Cletheroe, at his home in Scotland on 24 March.

For some years Mr. Milne served in H.M. Customs on the Gold Coast, before returning to make his home at 54, Baberton Crescent, Juniper Green, Edinburgh, Scotland.

We regret to report the death of Miss Elizabeth Atkins of "Montrose", Bath, Bristol, on the 24 March at the age of 71.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. John Perry, Mrs. A. Biggs and family wish to thank all who sent messages of sympathy and floral tributes at the time of their recent bereavement.

They especially thank the Doctors, Matron and staff of the King Edward Memorial Hospital for their kindness during Mrs. Perry's illness, also Mrs. Bain, Mrs. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Clark and Ronnie, Mr. Hugh Finlayson and other kind friends.

PUBLIC NOTICE STANLEY FIRE BRIGADE

Fire Alarms and Telephone Calls

In future, the sirens will be sounded in a series of SHORT BLASTS to call out one section of the Fire Brigade and in LONG BLASTS (of approximately one minutes' duration by day and two minutes by night) to call out all sections. On occasions, therefore, a series of short blasts may be followed at any time later by a long blast.

In order that the telephone operator may give full attention to important calls relating to Fire Brigade matters, it would be appreciated if the Public would refrain from calling up the exchange for information after the sirens are sounded and make only urgent telephone calls for 10 minutes after the sounding of either alarm.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Deanery,
Stanley.

21 April, 1949.

Sir,

In view of yet another boating accident it is pertinent to ask that something be done NOW to make provision for Stanley children to learn to swim. I am well aware that there are plans for a swimming bath under the Gymnasium, but it must be some years before this can be built.

I suggest the following: that the Reservoir near Admiralty Cottage be roofed over (a Nissan Hut would do) and a shallow end provided... A boiler, similar to that used to operate the radiator system in the Gymnasium or Cathedral should be sufficient to bring the temperature of the water up to 60 degrees Fahrenheit; nothing warmer is needed. If we forego mixed bathing, dressing-rooms are quite unnecessary: all that is wanted is a row of pegs. (Nails would do if we cannot run to pegs!) In view of the fact that we even drink surface water here I see no difficulty about disinfecting the water, and the flow from the stream is adequate for changing it regularly.

We don't want a pansy lido with coloured tiles and a temperature of 70 degrees. We want somewhere for boys and girls to learn to swim - but we want it now. I suggest the formation of a committee to look into the matter and to put through the above, if workable, before next spring.

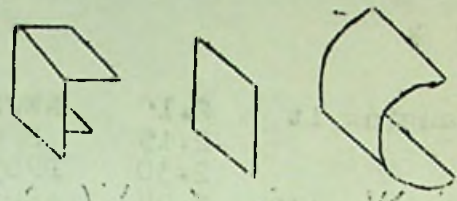

Yours faithfully,
R.G.R. Calvert.

TWO LIVES LOST IN BOATING ACCIDENT

It is with deep regret that we record the passing, as the result of a boating accident, of two of Stanley's well known public figures, Mr. Axel Richard August Pettersson and Mr. Albert Edward Ratcliffe.

Both men left Stanley last Sunday in the morning in Mr. Ratcliffe's motor boat bound for Murrell River to take some food, a coop of chickens and a milk separator to Mr. Ernest Reive, the brother-in-law of Mr. Pettersson.

Mr. Reive, on his return to the area, spotted the motor boat at anchor, but could see no sign of the two men and did not think anything to be amiss at the time. However, at 2 o'clock, he decided to go and look for them.

He saw that the dinghy and men were missing, and that a crate of hens and an oar had been washed up on the beach. Telephoning from his house, he reported his fears to the Chief Constable who immediately organized a search party and proceeded to Murrell River in the Alert.

It was just after 4 o'clock that the dinghy was sighted ashore on the south bank, a half-a-mile south of the anchored motor boat. Constables Shackel and O'Sullivan pulled off to examine the dinghy, and on seeing the body of Mr. Ratcliffe lying half-way into it, returned to the Alert for the Chief Constable.

The dinghy was half full of water, and from the position of his body it seemed that Mr. Ratcliffe had been trying to climb back into it over the port side before either collapsing through exhaustion or dying of shock.

On Monday the Chief Constable again headed a search party to look for Mr. Pettersson. Shortly before 10.30 a.m. Constable Shackel and Mr. Robert Reive spotted the body lying some 200 yards east of the spot at which Mr. Ratcliffe's body had been found. Mr. Pettersson was lying face down on the edge of the water with a pair of mallets (saddlebags) under the arms. There were scratches on the face, and it is thought that these may have been caused by the jagged rocks at the water's edge.

The Police have no reason to believe that the deaths were due to anything other than misadventure, and at the Coroner's inquest held on Tuesday, a verdict of death due to heart failure was recorded on Mr. Ratcliffe, and of drowning in the case of Mr. Pettersson.

The funeral of Mr. Ratcliffe took place on Wednesday from the Tabernacle Church, and that of Mr. Pettersson, from Christ Church Cathedral, on Thursday.

We extend our sympathy to those bereaved in this unexpected and tragic accident.

BROADCAST TALK

The following text of His Excellency the Governor's Speech was broadcast on Sunday, 17th April.

"Good evening.

It has been suggested to me by Mr. Barton that you might care to hear something from me about "Biscoe's" last trip to the South so you must blame him and not me for this intrusion into your Sunday programme.

"Well, we set off on the 7th March bound first for South Georgia where the ship had to re-fuel and where we hoped to get some necessary repairs carried out on her starboard generator which was suffering from a cracked cylinder head; in a twin Diesel-Electric job such as the "Biscoe" the main engines are activated by electric generators and it would have been the height of folly to cruise around these difficult waters with one of them out of action. We had hardly got clear of the harbour and on to our course when the ship began to roll with a violence which even the "Fitzroy" would have to be at her very liveliest to equal and conditions remained like this for the next few days. We had, as you will remember, a lady passenger on board - Mrs. Atkins and her little boy - and in such moments as I could spare from being sorry for myself I felt very sorry indeed for her; but she bore up bravely while young Michael was full of beans after the first day and never looked back. We steamed into Grytviken on the 11th; it was a fine day for South Georgia with the sun shining merrily and the station gay with bunting. We berthed at the Government jetty where Major Fleuret and his little Colony were waiting to welcome us - and amongst them a strange but half familiar figure; I looked, and looked again - could it be? It was indeed our good friend the Auditor nestling behind an impressive black beard. Having recovered from this shock, we went ashore and spent a pleasant evening with the Fleurets who were in good fettle, and I was able to congratulate him on the very handsome cup he had won last year at Bisley, Mrs. Fleuret endeavouring (quite unsuccessfully so far as I was concerned) to hide her pride in his prowess, remarked that it was just one more thing to clean. The next day I spent inspecting the Government station, the new Constable's house with which Mrs. Goss is very pleased and the second new house which will be ready for occupation next season; these houses have been put up for us by the ever-helpful Pesca Company and should be very warm and comfortable. In the afternoon I met the wives and children at a tea party given by the Fleurets and we all commented on how extremely fit the children looked, a tribute not only to their parents but to the South Georgia climate. Before we set about the attractive array of cakes and buns prepared for us by Mrs. Fleuret I took the opportunity of presenting her husband with the Efficiency Decoration awarded to him last year in token of his long service with the Falkland Islands Defence Force. Here too I must say how very pleased I was with the excellent work done by Jack Mercer in setting up the new power house at South Georgia and installing the generators; it was a first class job on which he and his helpers are to be congratulated and I was very glad to hear a few days ago that the new transmitter is in operation. South Georgia now has an up-to-date and efficient Wireless Station which will remain as a monument to him. Mercer will be a great loss to the E & T Department and I am sure that you will all join with me in wishing him every success in the Gold Coast Colony. Early next morning we set off for Leith Harbour where we re-fuelled and here we spent some days while Salvesen's people wrestled manfully with the defective generator and made as good a job of it as it was possible to do; I am most grateful to them and to their capable and friendly Manager, Captain Begg. The delay, tiresome as it was, gave me a closer insight into the mysteries of whale utilisation and there are few parts of that useful beast with which I am not now almost sickeningly familiar; it also enabled me to visit both Stromness and Husvik at which latter station I was very happy to renew my acquaintance with Captain Henriksen. At Leith I was particularly pleased to see the progress made by Captain Begg, in the face of great difficulties, in improving amenities for his workers who lead a pretty hard life; it is most creditable and will pay good dividends. The hospitality of the whalers was, I need hardly tell you, prodigious and speaking for myself I must have put on several pounds; the younger and more energetic members of our party worked this off by climbing Mount Dunc and Coronda Peak and in taking long walks, and generally speaking a good time was had by all. Once again I was impressed by the happy relations and co-operation between the three Companies and was glad to hear that in spite of bad weather they have enjoyed a successful season. In view of certain increases in the export duty on oil I had quite expected to be pursued with a harpoon gun but it seems that the whalers, like the sheep farmers, will find it a great pleasure to pay their taxes this year; long may this happy state of affairs continue. I hope to station a Weather Forecaster and a Met. Observer there next season and have a number of other schemes in mind for the service of the whaling community.

"Meanwhile we had been anxiously watching the daily ice reports from further south which were, alas, anything but encouraging and time was against us so that it was with a feeling of considerable relief that we got away at last on the 18th and could start to tackle the job that lay ahead of us. It was a grand day when we left and with a reasonable weather forecast from Stanley we crossed our fingers and hoped for the best and two days later arrived, dead on time, at Signy. We were quickly ashore and were met on landing by Laws, Melling and Skilling; Kendall, the new W.T. operator being on duty up at the Base. The party was in good health and spirits and we were all soon hard at work getting their new generators up to the hut; this was quite a job as the approach is steep and rough but the crew of the "Biscoe" and members of the Survey take this sort of difficulty in their stride and the job was soon completed. The principle task at this Base is the study of the life and habits - mostly unpleasant - of the Elephant Seal in which the Biologist, Laws, has made substantial progress. His routine includes such items as weighing the creatures, branding them for future identification, examining their teeth and so on which would be a tough proposition if the other party were co-operative; he is anything but and Laws must have some exciting moments. He is, however, so at home with the singularly unattractive objects of his study that he has asked to do a third year with them. In his spare time he has produced some really fine water colour sketches which I could have spent much longer with and I hope we shall all have an opportunity of seeing them when he returns to Stanley.

"Skilling is taking up photography in a big way and the party plan to make a survey of Coronation Island during the year. While the rest of us were enjoying a cup of coffee after our labours the Auditor was busy making history by checking the Post Office accounts and I noticed him looking with ill-concealed envy at two of the lushest beards those eyes have ever seen; young Skilling is trying to grow one too but his colleagues have too long a start and he might as well give up the unequal contest. On the few fine days that they get during the year there is a lot to said for Signy - some fine, rugged scenery, climbing for those who like it and plenty of bird animal life to occupy one's interest; there is perhaps less to be said for the hut but we hope to give them something a good deal better next year. We would have liked to have spent longer with them but time was pressing and we had to be on our way.

"That night and the whole following day were most frustrating for time and again we came up against heavy and impenetrable pack-ice and twist and turn as we would there seemed to be no way round it; at one time we were almost a third of the way back to the Falklands. This meant further delay in our programme and it was not until the morning of the 23rd that we fetched up in Admiralty Bay with heavy snow, poor visibility and a stiff on-shore wind. With no great optimism in the face of these conditions the motor-boat was lowered, stores and equipment piled aboard and with Slaughter at the helm and a number of willing helpers we set off for the shore; it was soon fairly obvious that we were going to have a sticky time and as we neared the beach we found it some feet deep in ice with brash and bergy bits bobbing up and down in the swell which made a landing quite impossible. We then turned the boat and made for the lee-side of a rocky point to the west of the Base but that wasn't any good either so there was nothing for it but to make our way back to the ship and try again later.

"By now we were all drenched to the skin for there was a considerable lop on and the spray broke over us continually but the boat was skilfully handled, the engine stood up nobly to its task (to my great relief) and we were soon climbing up the ladder and drowning our disappointment with something to take the chill out. Doctor Sladen's pup, Kimbo, who had come with us to stretch his legs ashore took a very poor view of this expedition and it was the first time I had ever seen a dog turn green. Towards evening the wind moderated and we set off once more, this time with complete success. We managed to get the motor-boat fairly close in and with planks laid over the ice and other ingenious devices we were soon shaking hands with Hattersley-Smith and his companions. They were all in excellent spirits and Lenton whose aching tooth had been an object of concern and which we had come equipped to deal with would have none of us; the business of getting the stores and equipment ashore and sledged over to the Base was quickly disposed of. After a brief stay at the excellently built hut on which Davis did so much good work last year we returned to the "Biscoe", were under weigh by four in the morning and had an uneventful run down to Deception which was reached at two o'clock. The ship was very busy the next day, landing stores and embarking the huskies from Hope Bay which were to go South with us but we were able to spend an enjoyable evening with Stock and his party at the Base before we left.

"The next evening found us at Port Lockroy where, for twenty-four hours we were held up by bad visibility which had also hidden from us the real beauty of the Neumeyer Channel which is worth travelling a long way to see. Resuming our way on the 28th we soon encountered new ice and some heavy bergs in the Lemaire Channel which was not to be expected so early as this and it boded ill for our passage further south; for the next hour or two conditions got steadily worse with more and bigger floes which occasionally brought the ship to a standstill. With her bluff bows "Biscoe" is not good in ice, tending to sheer off instead of cutting through and this will be attended to when she gets back to Southampton.

"We arrived ultimately at the Argentine Islands in the early afternoon anchoring off the entrance to Skua Creek; nor were our troubles at an end for the Creek was frozen over and it took the motor-boat two good hours to break a way through to Winter Island on which the Base is situated, before the task of unloading a year's supply of stores and equipment could commence. It was thus almost dark before the first scow-load was put ashore and work had to be suspended. Early next morning the ship's company turned to again on what was quite the loveliest day of the trip; brilliant sunshine, an almost cloudless blue sky and scenery to remember but the way to the shore which had taken so long to hack out the day before was again solidly frozen over and the wearisome process had to be repeated. We would gain a few feet, get stuck, rock the boat violently from side to side, reverse out of the gap so made and then charge at it full speed ahead while energetic hands thrust at the loose floes with oars or anything else available and so, gradually, we we came to land. Everybody was hard at it all day, getting the loads up off the beach on to level ground and stacking them so that they could be sledged over to the Base which lay hidden from us on the other side of a steep slope, while once again we had the business of hauling up two heavy generators. It would surprise you to see what a lot it takes to sustain a party of four for a year in the Antarctic; it would surprise Mr. Strachey too, but they need it all. In the afternoon Elliot sledged me over to the hut which he and poor Dick Burd had built together in 1947, and it brought his loss back to me very keenly; this is perhaps the most attractive of all our Southern bases and the hut was as snug and comfortable as one could wish.

"Ice reports from further south were still depressing and there was every indication of an early winter. It was bitterly cold that night and the inside of the porthole in my cabin was covered with a heavy layer of hoarfrost while the sea temperature was down to 27 degrees Fahrenheit. Our plan, on leaving the Argentines, was to get out into the Bismarck Strait and then turn south for Marguerite Bay, a distance of about 370 miles, and at 8.30 we set off with this pious intention but more pack had drifted into the Lemaire Channel since our journey down two days before and pretty formidable stuff it was, particularly in such a confined space. We could make little headway against it and were further hampered by frozen snow from the ice floes getting sucked into the circulating system which choked the filters and so necessitated stopping the engines about every ten minutes. After some hours of this painful process and with signs of worsening weather and falling visibility, Commander Kirkwood decided that discretion was the better part of valour and that we had best get back to our safe anchorage while the going was good. So back we went, the return journey being even more painful and it was at this stage that we had to give serious thought to the possibility of spending the winter in these parts. It was colder than ever that night and the dogs, of whom we had now some 30 or more on board, howled lugubriously; we woke to a cold, grey sky and a melancholy winter scene. There seemed to be only one possible way out - French Passage - which though it has been navigated in the past has never been sounded and is known to contain at least one pinnacle rock so that afternoon we set out in the motor-boat to reconnoitre. There were promising stretches of clear water but the sea was freezing rapidly as we went through it and I do not think I have ever looked upon such an eerie and dismal scene; the sky leaden grey except for the ghostly light of ice blink and mirage on the horizon where, so far as the eye could see there stretched a formidable barrier of towering icebergs of the most fantastic shape. It looked like a dead and forgotten world and had some primeval monster suddenly reared its ugly head out of these dank and dismal waters I should not have been in the least surprised. Stamping our feet and clapping our hands to keep the circulation going and trying to persuade each other what jolly fun it all was we turned back at last and I for one was glad to see the "Biscoe's" masthead in the gathering gloom, to clamber on board again and take something for it.

"That evening I managed to have a talk with Dr. Fuchs at Marguerite Bay on the R/T only to find that he had no better news for me of conditions at his end and I had, regretfully, to break it to him that the prospects of our getting through were becoming increasingly remote.

"Next morning saw us under way once more following the previous afternoon's course but the pack had moved further over during the night and we were very soon in the thick of it; there seems little doubt that another six hours or so would have seen us neatly tucked up for the winter which would have raised an interesting constitutional problem for me. Once into the Bismarck Strait there was no way out of the pack until, after many hours and not a few anxious moments, we emerged into the Bellingshausen Sea. By this time it was all too clear that the way to the south of us was blocked and that to attempt it was but to risk the ship to no good purpose. There was nothing for it

Stage and Restaurant on the upper floor there is accommodation below for a Council Chamber, Supreme Court, Town Council offices, a commodious Post Office where telegraph business will also be transacted, a Public Library and Reading Room and a Museum. I have already received a gift of £100 from the British Council towards new books for the Library and if any member of the public should have anything of interest for the Museum I do hope that he or she will bring it forward when the building is ready for occupation as all the former exhibits were destroyed in the Town Hall fire.

Both Hospital and Town Hall, as well as a hundred and one other things, depend on efficient light and power and we have been fortunate in obtaining on most favourable terms three new 150Kw Blackstone diesel generators with spares. This plant should meet all foreseeable future requirements but there is provision for expansion of the service at need. Work on the new Power House will commence at once.

The problem of improving our Broadcasting system so that it will give optimum reception to listeners in all parts of The Camp as well as in the Dependencies has been referred to the BBC for expert advice and I have no doubt that the present difficulties will be overcome.

A 16mm 'talkie' Cinema with portable generator has been obtained free of cost thanks once again to the generosity of the British Council and Mr. Jones, engineer-designate of the "Philomel", is being trained to operate the equipment so that displays can be given whenever the ship goes to The Camp; a supply of films has been arranged.

A Hellschreiber tele-news printer has also been received on free loan and a daily bulletin of headline news is contemplated.

New conditions of pay and service have been devised for the clerical and technical employees of the Government and these have been approved by the Secretary of State. They provide a more stable and satisfactory career for new entrants to the Service as well as for those on the present establishment who have elected to take them; negotiations are proceeding for participation in a Widows and Orphans Pension Scheme. I have fostered and approved the setting up of a Civil Servants Association which will be recognised as the official channel for the submission of the views of the Service as a whole, though not of course for the consideration of individual grievances.

At this point I think it well to reiterate, although it should not be necessary, that it is the policy of the Government to fill vacancies as they occur by local rather than by overseas recruitment whenever this is possible and in the public interest; this implies, however, that the local candidate must possess both the ability and the character which will fit him to discharge the duties of the post. If he has the character but not the technical ability then to qualify for consideration he must have the education and intelligence which will enable him so to profit from a course of instruction that he will be able to discharge the duties of the post efficiently. Lacking this or should character fall short of requirements the Government must look elsewhere.

Rapid progress has been made with the revision of the Laws and the Legal Secretary expects to finish his task, as far as it is possible to do this locally, early next year; proof reading, indexing and printing will be carried out in England. As the present volume takes us only to 1915 the completion of this work will be a great convenience to all of us. About a year of Mr. Winter's contract will have been occupied in performing the duties of Colonial Secretary in addition to his own job and I have no doubt that Honourable Members will share my appreciation at the zealous and expeditious manner in which this exacting task has been tackled.

The economic outlook is distinctly hopeful for whilst we have suffered a disappointment over the British American Kelp Company, a sealing venture has been established under the auspices of the Colonial Development Corporation and is expected to commence operations next season.

This will bring in some modest but welcome revenue to the Colony and provide one more avenue of employment. I have not yet given up hope of a resumption of whaling and reports point to a considerable increase in the number of whales around our coasts. I shall go further into this matter when I am in London.

The Corporation has also, at my suggestion, sent out an expert to investigate the possibilities of setting up a Freezer; while the decision rests in their hands it can at least be said that the investigator's findings are highly encouraging. The advantages of a dual economy, wool and meat, where for so long we have had all our eggs in one basket are self-evident. Meanwhile the farmers are enjoying excellent prices for their wool and I felicitate them most cordially while venturing to hope that they will impress upon their Directors and Shareholders the desirability of ploughing back some part of this prosperity into improvements, including better accommodation for their workers.

I obtained last year the Secretary of State's approval for an experimental Fishery scheme and a grant to carry it out; an expert fisherman from Thurso was engaged and a boat and gear acquired. On the advice of the Economy Committee the project was abandoned but while I appreciate the considerations which dictated their advice I nevertheless lament the jettisoning of this scheme if only on dietary grounds. With the loss of its only wholetime fisherman in the tragedy at Easter, Stanley is going to be hard put to it for a fish supply and we may live to regret that decision. I have meanwhile granted an exploratory licence to a South African firm which is interested, however, only in commercial exploitation which I had never seriously considered. A large number of fingerlings have been distributed to streams and rivers in The Camp from the Trout Hatchery at Moody Valley and the experiment should soon begin to bear fruit.

The seeds of what promises to develop into a flourishing little home industry have been sown by the inauguration of a Spinning and Knitting Guild and I take this opportunity to congratulate Mrs. Roberts and her co-workers on their enterprise; so good is the quality of the work that I have been able to give the Guild the entire order for knitted woollen wear for the Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey and the "John Biscoe", while I hope also to arrange for specimen garments to be put on display during the Festival of Britain. If interest is maintained at the present level I shall resuscitate my earlier proposal to bring out a skilled weaver from Harris.

I have drawn up a ten-year Development Plan which was laid before the House at its last meeting and will be discussed in the House on my return; I hope that Honourable Members will study it carefully during my absence so that I may have the benefit of their criticisms, suggestions, and advice.

His Majesty has been pleased to approve a new Coat of Arms for the Colony and this will shortly appear in a new stamp issue.

Looking over the field which has been covered during the past two and a half years Honourable Members may incline to the view that some progress has been made while it is also gratifying to record that despite the additional burdens imposed by wage improvement and Childrens' Allowances the Budget which revealed a most formidable deficit on my arrival in November, 1946, is now balanced. This agreeable state of affairs has been brought about in part by new but by no means onerous taxation, in part by the prosperous state of the wool market and by an increased contribution from the Dependencies and in part by economies.

Let us then take comfort and encouragement from these conclusions but let there be no complacency, I beg you, for there is yet much to do and it will require the combined energies and good will of all of us - and a new sense of Citizenship - if then but to re-arrange our plans and make for Deception where we arrived on April 1st with our decks and tackle sheeted in ice which had to be freed before we could work cargo. Here we decided to leave the two weasels and the party who drove out in them to Teal Inlet some months ago will be interested to know that they really do travel on water and they made the 300 yards across Whalers Bay and clambered up on the beach in fine style. Here too we left Richards for his second spell in the South, and Peck, and embarked Duncan and Borland and still more kuskies. The following day brought a howling wind with it which prevented work ashore but gave the Chief Engineer a much-needed opportunity to give some attention to his sorely tried generators. We were to have left at daylight on the 6th but at 9.30 were still tethered ignominiously like a goat to a tree as we couldn't get the anchor up - it having fouled what I suspect to be the cable John Forbes lost last year from "Snipe". Having unknitted ourselves from that predicament we made a quick run to Admiralty Bay which was reached at 9.30 that night. In the morning we found that the beach which had obligingly cleared itself of ice the day before was once more piled up with brash and bergy bits from the glaciers and we had the same old fun and games trying to get ashore over a causeway contrived by the Base party of planks, boxes, oil drums, a sledge and the last few yards on Lenton's back. Here we left Jardine, the new Geologist, and Pearson from the Argentine Islands and my recollection of this Base is of a happy and united team which, I have no doubt, will give a very good account of itself.

"Here too we left some of the Hope Bay dogs who were delighted to be ashore again, and Sladen's pup, Kimbo, who was promptly put into harness and helped to sledge me back to the beach; I could quite easily have walked but he would clearly have been disappointed so I let him have his way - he is a dog of character. A quick round of farewells and soon we were heading out of the Bay on our last lap and, making a record run, arrived in Stanley early last Sunday.

It had been a long and in the end a disappointing trip because we had failed in our main objectives but we learned some useful lessons and I have carried away the memory of much good comradeship and of a happy and efficient ship for which credit is due to her Commander. She will be going round the Islands in about a week's time and I hope that you will share my good impression and my pride in her. No words of mine can praise too highly the cheerful, willing work of the ship's company (in which I of course include the members of the survey) in conditions which were often trying and sometimes very trying indeed. Reverting to our major disappointment, our failure to get to Marguerite Bay, this must be said and must be remembered; a second winter where a man has contracted for one or a third where he has contracted for two is just part of the normal hazard of service in the Antarctic where man is contending always, and on unequal terms, with the forces of Nature - they are quite unpredictable. The party down there is in good heart, already busily planning the next season's work and not at all minded to be the object of public commiseration. They have adequate reserves of food and fuel and from what I know of Doctor Fuchs and his colleagues will waste no time over their natural disappointment but take it all in their stride. For our part here, we are already engaged in organising the details of their evacuation next year by air should there be a third bad season in succession.

"Talking of hazards I must now refer to one a bit nearer home. On my return I was greeted with the news of a minor mishap to one of the Austers at San Carlos which did not surprise me in the very least. This is a pioneering service on untried landing grounds; such minor mishaps are all part of the day's work and so regarded by those concerned - we shall doubtless have more of them. The point is that with a light aircraft such as the Auster with its low landing speed and with a good pilot - and I wish to emphasise that we are particularly fortunate in that respect - there is small risk of serious damage. I am not in the least worried, neither was his large passenger, and still less Spencer himself as you will see from his contribution to next week's "Squeaker". I repeat, this is a perfectly normal hazard which we must accept but it does hold a useful lesson for us and that is the need for the landing strip to be marked out in the manner I have suggested and to be walked over before a scheduled landing is to take place so that any soft spot can be notified to the Pilot as he makes his run-in, by dropping some sheepskins or other readily visible object on it. To him, unless there should be standing water on it the runway will look quite normal and he will come down confidently but after a spell of bad weather there is quite likely to be a soft spot or so and these he must be warned against. Obviously too, drainage and consolidation as a long term improvement are necessary and I know that farmers will do their best in this way; the sooner we can get our runways into proper shape the sooner will it be possible to get a regular service running which is our intention. I, personally, would be quite happy to land on Bonner's field tomorrow - it is an excellent field and the first to be prepared. The Pilot would have gone back on Friday but that I want him to be available to take the mail out as soon as it is sorted and he cannot be in two places at once. Meanwhile, Hill - his partner in crime - has gone out to assess the damage and decide whether it can be put right on the spot or is better done at leisure here. Let us remember then the housewifely motto that one cannot make an omelette without breaking eggs, and not let the first small mishap discourage us.

"I am expecting to leave for the West on Sunday next and I shall look forward to my visit.

"Goodnight to you all."

PROPOSED CLIMBING CLUB

In Mr. F.K. Elliot, former leader of the British Base at Hope Bay and now appointed to the Headquarters establishment of F.I.D.S., the Colony has an experienced mountaineer and rock climber; he has climbed in the Himalayas, the Alps and the Pyrenees and is a member of British Mountaineering Clubs.

At His Excellency's suggestion Mr. Elliot has consented to start a Climbing Club in the Colony and to instruct members in climbing technique. There is excellent rock climbing to be had in the environs of Stanley, notably at Mount Low and The Sisters and some interesting ascents have already been discovered.

Rock climbing is a healthy and exciting pastime and its devotees run into many hundreds in England alone where young people of all classes may be seen going off happily to the hills at the weekend to share in the pleasure of this fascinating hobby. It is moreover a inexpensive hobby since all the climber needs is a pair of gym shoes if it is dry or nailed boots if it is wet, a rope between two, and such food as he can carry with him.

If sufficient young people become interested the old army huts at Mount Low and the Murrell will be put into adequate repair and handed over to the Club for the use and enjoyment of its members.

Any persons interested are requested to apply to Mr. F.K. Elliot at Government House.

DON'T HELP THE RATS

Town Clerk Appeals to the Public

"The extermination of rats has long been the aim of health authorities all the world over," says the Town Clerk in an appeal to the public to help in the fight against this animal.

"The destruction of property caused by rats, quite apart from the loss of life," says Mr. Lellman, "runs into millions of pounds annually, and there can be no let-up in the battle against these animals. We owe it to ourselves and our neighbours."

TOWN COUNCIL TAKES OVER

For many years now the Police Department has been responsible for the laying of rat poison but the Town Council has now taken over this duty.

Mr. Lellman stressed that rat poison could have but little effect unless the rats were hungry, and therefore householders were asked to take special care not to put anything in the ash drums which would provide food for them.

"Food scraps and other edible matter should be burnt or cooked for the poultry," he said to me.

"Though the amount you put in your drum may appear small, it's multiplied three hundredfold if every householder does the same.

"Help to safeguard health and property, and don't help the rats," were Mr. Lellman's final words.

AN APPEAL FOR ASSISTANCE IN PUTTING OUR CEMETERY IN ORDER

This appeal by the Stanley Town Council is made not only to residents of Stanley but to everyone in the Falklands and to the many interested persons overseas.

As is probably well known the care and maintenance of the Cemetery has been in the hands of the Cemetery Trustees but is now vested in the Council. Some years ago a sum was raised by public subscription and invested as an endowment. The interest from these investments, together with some financial aid from Government was barely sufficient to keep the Trustees solvent without undertaking any major repairs or renovations.

A considerable sum will have to be expended on the Cemetery cottage while the Cemetery itself has grown beyond the capacity of a single caretaker. To use the endowment, to spend the capital, would be undesirable but may be necessary, depending upon the results of this appeal.

The Council asks that every person who has a pride or interest in Stanley should give this matter very careful thought, should think of the cemetery not as "the graveyard" but as a Garden of Remembrance and give according to their means in order that their pride may be justified and the interest of others maintained. Just as no gift can be too large neither can one be too small and may be in cash, materials or labour.

(Sgd.) Les Hardy, Chairman.

WEDDING

BUSE - KIDDLE

Yet another pretty wedding took place in Stanley when, on Wednesday afternoon at two-thirty at St. Mary's Chapel, Miss Melvina Buse, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buse of Stanley, became married to Mr. Robert Kiddle, youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kiddle, formerly of Green Fatch, The Revd. Father Kelly officiated.

Given away by her father, the bride made a charming figure in a long white satin wedding dress with which she wore a half-moon shaped toque of white artificial flowers and a full-length tulle veil. Her bouquet of mixed flowers had been kindly given by His Excellency the Governor who also gave the bouquets for the bridesmaids.

The bride was attended by three bridesmaids and a train-bearer: Miss Doreen Middleton (her cousin), Miss Olga Buse (sister), Miss Joyce Biggs, and young Miss Sheila Campbell. All wore long pink satin dresses with head-dress of white artificial flowers and carried half-length white gloves, with the exception of Miss Campbell who wore a dress of blue silk and head-dress of white flowers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held by the bride's parents at Stanley Cottage from 3 o'clock until 6.30, at which some 150-200 guests attended.

In traditional custom the wedding cake - a 4-tier mounted with a silver cup, and made by Mr. A.V. Summers, was cut and the health of the newly married couple toasted.

Later in the evening some 70 guests attended the wedding supper at St. Mary's Hall, given by the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Kiddle are to spend their honeymoon in Stanley before leaving at the end of next month, I understand, to make their home at Teal Inlet.

Just A Thought: It is in the Old Testament Book of Isaiah that we read: "Ho everyone that thirsteth, come ye to the waters." The importance of water to quench thirst need not be emphasised... Equally important is the Water of life... given us by God through His Son. Let us make full use of this gift from God. To live fully, trusting God is to have the "water of life" within us.
