Christmas 1947 in Stanley.

Christmas in Stanley was a most enjoyable one and the weather on Christmas day itself was all that could be desired. All the usual activities associated with Christmas took place including Church Services, and the customary home festivities. A large number of visitors were in town from the Camp and hopes were high for good weather for the Sports Meeting on the two following days.

In the morning of Christmas day many listened in to the programme from London, including the broadcast by His Majesty the King. In the afternoon a special programme of greetings went out to the Camp from the Stanley Broadcasting Station, ending with a Christmas message broadcast personally by His Excellency the Governor from Government House.

The first Sports Day was favourable to the enthusiasts in every way including the weather and a large number watched the exciting horse races. The second day was very cold and squalls fell in the morning. However the programme was successfully completed and in the afternoon the weather cleared to some extent although remaining very cold. The sports officials are to be congratulated on their planning and carrying through of this two days Meeting.

In the evenings of the sports days dances took place in the Gymnasium. Mr R.Reive was M.C. During the second evening before a packed hall, His Excellency who was accompanied by Mrs Clifford, distributed the

Among those who paid a visit to the sports meeting and watched the racing were His Excellency the Governor and Mrs Miles Clifford and also the Hon. the Colonial Secretary and Mrs Mathews.

Our Government School Closing Report.

Through an oversight we omitted to mention in our report of the Government School closing on page 8 of our last weeks paper that His Excellency the Governor presented the prizes. We regret this omission on our part.

Two Chans on an Island.

Arch Islands consist of five islands plus some rocks. The name is derived from the natural arch on the furthest out island of the group.

In the evenings one of us went round the sheep to see that none had "got down". After supper the washing up was done then the mending of our clothes attended to, and quite often the ordinary clothes washing was done at this time too. In the evenings we could listen to the radio programmes. Our particular wireless set could not pick up Stanley, but we enjoyed the London Bridge Programme from the B.B.C.

During our stay the "Paloma" passed twice about 2½ miles away - once en route for the West and another time making for Stanley. We also saw the s.s. "Fitzroy" going towards Port Stephens. On the night of the 30th November (at least as far as we could remember) a mysterious light was seen between midnight and 2 a.m. in the direction of Speedwell Island about 4½ miles away. As the two men on Arch Islands thought that it was their schooner - the Porvenir returning they showed a welcoming light, and as soon as they did this the other light went out and was not seen again. So far neither know of anything in the vicinity at the time. The light was clearly seen for about 15 minutes.

On the Arch Islands there is a Rocky and Shag Rookery about three quarters of a mile from the house. The island with the nissen hut on it must be about 2½ miles long by 1½ miles broad (at its broadest point). On this island one comes across enormous holes, often with narrow tops surrounded by dense tussac but not nearly so many actually as the islands have the reputation for. Some of them are 15 to 20 feet deep - this is exceptional. Sea lions and sea elephants are apt to fall into them while travelling at night and often they die in their helpless position at the bottom of the hole. You have to walk carefully when crossing the island but usually the "scent" of a dead seal or seals at the bottom of the hole can be sniffed thus warning you to look out for the hole in the vicinity.

During our stay together on the Arch Islands our alarm type (and only) clock stopped unfortunately so we were six weeks (Contd. on page 12) without a clock. We made a calendar and marked off the days. It wasn't too bad on a sunny day guessing the time, but on a dull day it was hopeless of course - and for instance we thought it was still morning when the "Porvenir" eventually came into view and sailed into her anchorage about 150 yards from the shore-although the time passed fairly quickly during our stay on the Arch Islands, we were glad to see the boat which linked us with the outside world once again.

CHILDREN'S CORNER

Weekly News Office,
Stanley
1st Jan. 1948

Dear Girls and Boys,

We start a New Year today, and so right away let me wish you all a "Happy New Year". This wish goes out to you, wherever and whenever you happen to read this particular paper. It is quite exciting to think of girls and boys, not only in Stanley, but also in the Camp, and in other lands reading this same Corner. While we're on the job, we had better wish the same good wishes for 1948 to mother and dad. So you can give them this from your very own Children's Corner.

Robert Rabbit had a most enjoyable Christmas, and I'm very sorry to tell you that he really ate more for Christmas dinner than he ought to have done, and like all little rabbits who do this, he was unable to eat as many of the good things provided for his Christmas tea, as he would have liked to!

Father Christmas brought him amongst other things a lovely new camera with a film inside-everything was ready for taking photographs. Robert managed to get the whole family out of the burrow for a family group. Just as all was ready for taking the picture, brrrrr! horrible Bungo a great big dog who hated rabbits appeared on the scene and the photograph as a result is still to be taken.

Cheerio, until next week, Uncle Jim.

Dance.

On the occasion of the closing down of the W/T Station, by kind permission of the Naval Officer in Charge, the officers and men of H.M.S. Pursuivant cordially invite the public to a dance in the Gymnasium on Friday January 2nd. Dancing from 9 until 1. Refreshments will be served. We regret that owing to restriction of space, children under 16 cannot be admitted.

CHRISTMAS RADIO PROGRAMME FOR F.I.D.S.

A special radio programme for members of FIDS was broadcast from Stanley on Christmas Eve. Tests carried out during the previous week indicated that reception would be possible at only the more Northerly bases, and for this reason, the programme was addressed to Signy Island and Deception Island only. During the programme personal greetings for Christmas were sent by Mrs Buse and Mrs Biggs to their sons Frank and Pat, by Mr D.O'Sullivan to Faghie Anderson, by Sigrid Roberts to her brother Bill and by Sheila Sedgwick to Eric Massey. The programme was opened by His Excellency, the Governor, and closed with Christmas greetings to the bases from Mrs Clifford.

The Late Emily Goodwin.

The funeral of the late Emily Goodwin took place from Christ Church Cathedral on Wednesday 24th of December, the Rev. R.G.R. Calvert officiating.

The Late Mrs George Alazia, Junior.

We regret to report the death in Stanley last Saturday of Mrs George Alazia who resided at the Head of the Bay, San Carlos. Mrs Alazia who was 43 years of age had been in indifferent health for some time, and will be much missed out at San Carlos. To her husband and family we extend our sincere sympathy.

The funeral took place from Christ Church Cathedral last Monday afternoon.

The s.s. "Lafonia" left Montevideo last Saturday morning with the following passengers: Mr & Mrs A. Mercer, Mr A. Finlayson, Mr J. Miller, Mr Davis. She has also 45 bags of mail on board. The vessel is en route for Stanley.

Adv. for Thursday
1st Jan. 1948.

Last Friday night the London Bridge Christmas Programme was introduced by Jerry Wilmot. Mr Wilmot introduced the speakers whose names we announced last week. By the way our apologies for incorrectly giving Mrs Emily Surrey's name in our last issue. All who had relations speaking as well as those who knew them as friends were delighted to hear their messages and news. Miss Avis Kelham broadcast news of the activities of other Falkland Islanders in the United Kingdom and altogether the whole programme was most enjoyable.

GOVERNMENT SCHOOL ATTENDANCE CERTIFICATES

In addition to the certificates presented at the Government School Prize-Giving Ceremony, attendance certificates for 1947 have now been awarded to Henry Smith and Denzil Turner.

SANTA CLAUS VISITS STANLEY PEOPLE

A number of sick persons in Stanley had a surprise visit on Christmas morning from no less a personage than Father Christmas himself. Accompanied by Mrs Clifford he drove round Stanley and paid calls at several houses. He had a cheery greeting and a small present for each of the invalids, including those in the King Edward Memorial Hospital. It is understood that Father Christmas's visit was under the auspices of the Stanley Branch of the Red Cross.

prizes. The Governor in the course of a few remarks congratulated those concerned on the success of the meeting and on the good sportsmanship seen on the course. His Excellency expressed the hope that "Silver Bowl" might win the Governor's Cup again next year and so make it the third successive win for horse and jockey.

Thus ended the 1947 sports and among others the Hon. A.G. Barton the Chairman of the Sports Association is to be thanked not only for his work in connection with the sports but also on his excellent broadcasting of the results and his impressions of the race meetings, to the Camp folk each evening after the sports.

Christmas is over once again, but there remain the happy memories of the occasion.

Wedding.

The wedding took place at the Tabernacle on Wednesday afternoon, December 24th, between Miss Phyllis McLeod and Mr Charles John Finlayson.

The bride who entered the church on the arm of her father looked charming in a white figured taffeta dress, with a waist length veil held in place by a coronet of orange blossom and carrying a bouquet of white roses and ferns.

The four attendants were—Mrs D. McMillan, Mrs C. Tew, Miss Hazel McLeod, sisters of the bride, and Miss Audrey Morrison, cousin of the bride. Mrs McMillan and Mrs Tew wore yellow taffeta dresses and Miss Hazel McLeod and Miss Audrey Morrison were in blue taffeta dresses with head-dresses of flowers and taffeta. The attendants carried bouquets of mixed flowers and ferns.

Mr William Finlayson, brother of the bridegroom was "best man".

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the brides' grandparents—Mr and Mrs N. McLeod and in the evening a dance was held in the Gymnasium, where a large company took the opportunity to extend good wishes to the bride and bridegroom. The dresses of the bridesmaids were made by Mrs T. Detleff, the six tier wedding cake by Mr A. Summers. We wish the young couple who will be making their home in Goose Green every year.

The Late Fanny Henriksen.

We regret to report the death in Stanley on Tuesday 30th of December of Mrs Fanny Henriksen at the age of 80 years. Mrs Henriksen who had been in indifferent health for some time latterly resided in Davis Street with one of her married daughters; she was always keenly interested in all good causes in the town, lending a hand whenever possible herself.

Until her last period of sickness Mrs Henriksen was often seen in the role of spectator at the dances in the Gymnasium.

The funeral took place from Christ Church Cathedral last Thursday and was conducted by the Rev. R.G.R. Calvert.

We extend our sympathy to the members of her family of five daughters and three sons who survive her.

THE FOLLOWING SHOULD HAVE APPEARED AS AN INTRODUCTION TO THE ARTICLE ON "ARCH ISLANDS" IN LAST WEEK'S PAPER.
Two Chaps on an Island.

The Arch Islands lie about $6\frac{1}{2}$ miles to the North East of Cape Meredith, the largest island being the one on which the house has been erected. This house (really a nissen hut) lies in a little cove on the north side of the island and here a mate and I spent some months together recently. The time passed very quietly and we both quite enjoyed the rather lonely experience. We rose early and first item on our programme was the milking of the cow and get in the peat. The milking of the cow (an importation from West Point Island) was easy - providing the cow came home, but on occasions the milking was delayed all day until late in the evening owing to the lack of co-operation on the part of the cow in the simple matter of coming home. "Getting the peat in" called for quite an extra effort - the peat being tussac peat and in order to get your supply instead of going into a peat shed as in Stanley, and chopping your peat supply one has to break it out of the house. This peat is dry when taken from the banks because many years ago this particular island was burnt and the great heat from the burning tussac plus the fire burning into the ground in places all helped to dry our present fuel. This peat is much better than ordinary peat for giving heat to a cooking stove. Unfortunately it is found in quantity only on tussac islands.

After getting in the peat and milking the cow, one of us prepared breakfast. We took turn about in the capacity of cooks the menu usually consisting of chops and coffee. The stove which is a ship's stove cooked the chops "to a turn"

Then out into the open to do the work for the day. Dinner was more often than not mutton (served as stew, curried etc.,) potatoes and coffee, while the evening meal was once again mutton with perhaps rice pudding and of course true to style, coffee also.

The house is built on the edge of a steep cliff looking North East and is painted grey on the outside and is lined inside with ten-test, up the side of the wall and through the window goes the chimney pipe. The hut placed in a valley benefits from the shelter from the wind.

NEW YEAR'S EVE PARTY AT GOVERNMENT HOUSE.

His Excellency the Governor and Mrs Clifford were at home to a number of guests on the evening of January 31st. Dancing commenced at 9 o'clock in the Drawing Room, and the guests were later treated to a delightful buffet supper in the Dining Room. During the evening His Excellency the Governor announced the award of the M.B.E. to the Rev. W. F. McWhan. The news was received with applause and guests congratulated Mr and Mrs McWhan, who were present, on this honour. The arrival of the New Year was heralded by a roll of drums and a most enjoyable evening came to an end with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne".

His Excellency Broadcasts from Government House
In a short broadcast talk from Government House last Sunday His Excellency the Governor read out the text of the message from Her Royal Highness the Princess Elizabeth acknowledging the wedding present sent from the Colony and the Dependencies (we publish this telegram on our cover page).

The Governor then went on to speak of local topics, giving the names of the Stanley Town Council which were as follows: Chairman - Mr Les Hardy, Deputy Chairman - Mr W. J. McAtasney, East Ward - Mr R. L. Robson, Mr Bob Reive, West Ward - Mr S. Barnes, Mr W. J. McAtasney, Centre Ward - Mr Les Hardy, Mr M. G. Creece. Miss M. Biggs was nominated as a member by His Excellency as also were - the Hon. the Senior Medical Officer - Dr F. J. Sladen, and the Executive Engineer - Mr E. Bunting. His Excellency stressed that the Town Council's task was difficult and responsible and promised all the help needed in counsel from Government and he appealed to the people of Stanley "in whose hands lies making this a real success" to give the new Council the very best and most unstinted help they could.

His Excellency announced that three ships were converging in Stanley - H. M. S. "Snipe" due here about the 12th and would be here for some weeks - if possible the vessel would visit the islands. The "John Biscoe" was expected about the 24th or 25th of January and this interesting ship would be here for a week or ten days.

Football Match - Kelpers v United Kingdom.

In a football match played on Sunday last in Stanley a team representing the Falkland Islands defeated one representing the U.K. by a score of 6 goals to 2. The game was not quite so one-sided as the score suggests but there was little doubt of the superiority of the home team. The difference was most marked in the defence where the Stanley players showed very good form to keep a tight grip on a clever and aggressive forward line, Les Halliday being outstanding. In the forward line for Stanley Steve Reive played well despite his recent illness and Bill Bonner was in a goal scoring mood. In the U.K. defence Kettle played well and Bavington was frequently in the picture. Up front Teggart and Hart worked hard but were perhaps a little less effective than usual. An early injury to Jimmy Green undoubtedly contributed to the weakness of the U.K. defence.

The fishing vessel which is being called the "Philomel" was at Las Palmas at Christmas and may be expected here somewhere around mid-February.

His Excellency hoped to get south about the 12th of January and would be away fifteen or sixteen days then he hoped to return to Stanley to meet the "John Biscoe" after which he would proceed to South Georgia.

The Governor mentioned his regret that after a fine lambing season the weather had not been kinder for the shearing. He was also sorry that it had not been possible to arrange for a race meeting on the West this year. His Excellency concluded by wishing all whom he had not done so before, a very successful New Year.

By-The Right Rev.
CHRISTMAS MESSAGE. D.Ivor Evans.

Strange as the statement may appear to some the plain fact is that Christmas is because Christ was. The Feast is fundamentally a reiteration of a divine declaration - an affirmation of uncompromising and, if you like, paradoxical Christian Catholic doctrine: paradoxical because of the union of contrasting poles - of God the Father Almighty and the Holy Babe in swaddling clothes. It will thus be seen that whatever be the complexion of celebrations of the event in our community, Christmas is meant to be more than a pagan holiday or a sentimental Dickensian interlude; and although I know many who affect to reject Christian doctrine, I have yet to meet one such who refuses to accept the benefit of "holy days". But in these times when the manners of some people, who ought to know better, are so sadly blunted as to regard Sunday as a good day for cocktail parties, and not the appointed day for God's worship; it becomes very necessary to remind people that these benefits are ones because of God's doing, and not for anything we have done. So you, good reader, enjoy your Christmas, as I hope you will; because as the old carol has it "A child this day is born" whose first earthly breath was taken up in the First Noel that still echoes through the arches of the years, and is still the greatest good news of the day.

May all who read this page find conviction in the feast, and come to acknowledge that the Babe of Bethlehem still clutches between his dimpled fingers the keys to real life.

Dear Girls and Boys,

Amongst the Christmas Cards which were hand-made in Stanley for sending to friends for Christmas 1947, was one with the drawing of a house on it. I thought that it was so nice that I would try to have it printed on this page. I think that we might have a Competition to see who could draw the prettiest and most attractive picture suitable for sending on a Christmas Card. Keep your drawing small in size and send your effort in to the Weekly News Office, with your name and age on the back of the sheet before next Tuesday. Children in the Camp should send their drawings in as soon as there is a chance. Remember too that it must be entirely your own work. We will try and reproduce the prize-winner's effort.

ST MARYS CHURCH

THE TABERNACLE CHURCH

Telegram Received from Secretary of State
by His Excellency the Governor.

"For some months now Colonial Governments have been pursuing a policy of restricting to the greatest possible extent imports from all sources including the United Kingdom for the following reasons.

2. Balance of payments difficulties make it most important for Colonial Governments to restrict imports of all United Kingdom goods which can be sold for dollars or for hard currency which are made wholly or largely of dollar materials or which are in short supply and can be used in trade negotiations in order to obtain essential supplies.

3. It is furthermore important from the point of view both of the Colonies and of the other countries in the sterling area that Colonial sterling balances should not decrease although it is recognised that for certain purposes, e.g. in order to provide goods required as incentives to production or in connection with Colonial Development Schemes some running down of the balances may be inevitable.

4. However it is no part of the Governments policy that Colonial Territories should be pressed to practice austerity simply for the sake of austerity, when neither supply nor balance of payments considerations require it. Accordingly Colonial Governments which are given a very wide discretion in the matter of import licensing against the background of the above principles have recently been informed that this whole question has been considered again by the United Kingdom Government in the light of the experience which has been gained since the present policy was adopted, and that as a result some relaxation appears to be possible where this can be done without detriment to the supply and balance of payments position. It has been suggested to them that there is no objection to their relaxing the restrictions on the import into their territories of goods from the United Kingdom and any other Colonial Territories, which do not fall into any of the classes referred to in paragraph 2 above to the extent that is possible without detriment to their territories sterling balances. In order to assist them in framing their new arrangements Colonial Governments have been furnished with arrangements under paragraph 2 above. classes of goods

H.M.S. "SNIPE"

Shortly before seven o'clock last Sunday morning the sloop-H.M.S. "Snipe" arrived in Stanley from Montevideo. The "Snipe" has on board eight officers and 160 men and is under the command of Commander J.G. Forbes R.N.

The vessel which is of 2000 tons anchored almost opposite the public jetty. On Sunday afternoon visitors were permitted on board to view the ship and many Stanley people accepted the invitation.

This type of ship was used during the war for convoy escort duties and in operations against submarines. The "Snipe" was commissioned in 1946 having been built on the Clyde and is now stationed in the West Indies.

On Sunday afternoon in a football match a team from the "Snipe" defeated a Stanley team by 5 goals to 2.

The Red Cross had Canteen facilities in St Marys' Hall and as always this service was much appreciated by the men.

The "Snipe" was expected to leave Stanley last Tuesday for the far south with His Excellency the Governor on board. We are glad to know that the "Snipe" may have a longer stay in Stanley on her return from her voyage to the Dependencies.

One of the things which indeed pleasantly surprised some of the visitors was the number and varieties of flowers in bloom in Stanley gardens.

We were sorry to hear that there had been so much rain in Montevideo when the "Snipe" was there!

Government House.

A 1947 LAND, SEA AND AIR "HITCH HIKE" TO AFRICA.

HULL AND BIRMINGHAM PEOPLE'S ADVENTURES IN TINY YACHT.

A 6,000 mile "hitch-hike", which started by land, continued by sea, is now to take to the air, wrote a correspondent from Lagos, Nigeria, on May 19, when a little party of men, women and children, drawn together by their determination to start new lives in a new country, sailed into Lagos harbour after a sequence of fantastic difficulties and adventures.

When the tiny Finnish yacht moored under the palms which edge the lagoon, passers-by were astonished to find that the happy cheerful group which came ashore, had made their journey from Casablanca in the frail-looking vessel.

The little 51-foot yacht had brought these 1947 pioneers on a month and five-day voyage through tropical storms, pitch-black nights and blazing sun.

The party, which immediately started making enquiries for any kind of passage to South Africa, comprised Mr and Mrs A.R. Greensides, of Coltman Street, Hull, with their 11-year-old daughter, Avril, Mr and Mrs A. Carr, with five-year old Patricia, and Jennifer aged 18 months, from Bilton, Hull; Mr and Mrs Davies of Birmingham; Mrs Howlett of Park Street, Hull; and Mr C.H. Benson, of Beverley Road, Hull.

Setting out from their homes in a motor-truck on February 13, the party made their way to Newhaven. That, they all agreed, was the worst part of the journey, through the snow and blizzards which swept England at that time.

Over the Channel, they made their way across France, driving and sleeping in turns, and making camp meals en route. From Marseilles, they shipped their truck to Algiers, intending to motor across the Sahara. But when the difficulties and dangers of such a venture were explained to them, they decided to sell the vehicle, and took a train to Casablanca in the hope of picking up a vessel heading South.

During their three-week wait, Mr Benson jokingly pointed out the yacht "Aurelia" and said "We'll make

A MALAYAN "NURSE CAVELL" NOW WRITES BOOK IN LONDON CONVENT.

From the proceeds of a book which she is writing in a West London convent, Mrs Sybil Kathigasu, who has been described as a "Nurse Cavell of Malaya", hopes to build a new church in her home town of Ipoh, Perak, Malaya. The book will describe her terrible experiences as a prisoner of the Japanese.

Mrs Kathigasu, who is the wife of Dr A.C. Kathigasu, of Brewster Road, Ipoh, came to this country in June last year for medical treatment. She has since had 10 operations including plastic surgical treatment and is now convalescing in the convent.

Mrs Kathigasu was arrested with her husband in 1943 for providing drugs and medical attention for the anti-Japanese guerilla forces and for giving shelter to isolated British soldiers. Questioned by the Japanese, Mrs Kathigasu admitted having listened to resistance broadcasts but refused to give any information about the guerillas.

In an attempt to force her to talk, the Kempetai - the Japanese equivalent of the Gestapo - resorted to torture. They pumped quantities of water into her mouth and nostrils, branded her with red-hot iron bars, beat her unmercifully with sticks and canes, and pricked the tips of her fingers with needles. Finally they kicked her with their heavy boots and trampled on her face as she lay on the ground.

An even worse ordeal came when she was told by an N.C.O. named Yoshimura - since sentenced to death by a British Military Tribunal - that if she would not give the desired information, her six-and-a-half-years' old daughter, Dawn, would be burned alive before her eyes. The child was tied to a tree above a blazing fire. She managed to say to her mother, "Oh, mummy, be brave, be brave". Soon afterwards Japanese officers arrived and ordered Yoshimura to release her.

Subsequently, Dr Kathigasu (who had been imprisoned in another building), and his wife were tried by a Japanese Military Court. The husband was sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment, she, to death, a sentence which was later commuted to imprisonment for life.

Mrs Kathigasu, who has been in hospital in Scotland during part of her stay in this country, plans to visit Canterbury and Oxford - and the Royal Albert Hall - before returning to Malaya.

She has already been to France and, while there, made a pilgrimage to Lourdes in fulfilment of a vow made during the days of her captivity.

Extracts from "The Strange Story of John M. Smythe" told by his grandson.

".....He then made his own way to Sydney (1854) intending to return home. To this end he booked a passage aboard the vessel "Western Star", and sailed for England.

When only a few weeks out the ship encountered very heavy weather, and finally ran on a reef off the Falkland Islands. The captain and sixteen of his crew were drowned, but Smythe and three others - the carpenter, a seaman, and an apprentice lad, named James Roche - succeeded in battling their way through the surf and making the shore. Here they were met by savages, who, however, received them very kindly, and gave them food and drink.

They lived among these natives for no less than two years on the friendliest terms One day a barque put into the island for water, and when a boat came ashore, Smythe and his two white companions (the carpenter had died) ran down to the water's edge. The three Crusoes were then taken to the ship, whose captain at once promised to take them back to Sydney (1856) and once more he booked his passage to England, this time in the steamship "Great Britain".

..... and James Roche, the one-time apprentice of the "Western Star", who spent two years with John Merrydew Smythe among the Falkland Islanders".

CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL.

January 18th Second Sunday after Epiphany - usual services.

From January 18th to 25th our prayers are asked for the reunion of divided Christendom. Our Lord Himself founded One Church and prayed that it might be for ever one (St John chapter 18). The divisions within Christ's one holy catholic church were not made in our time, but we are guilty of sin if we either say that they do not matter or if we fail to try to heal them or to pray for their healing. Let us pray that all who confess God's holy name, may agree in the truth of His holy Word and live in unity and godly love.

our trip in that yet". And sure enough, they did. When all else failed, they contacted the skipper of the little vessel, who agreed to take them as far as Lagos as the next stage of their journey. On the voyage they found themselves in a season of typhoons. But neither shark-infested waters nor violent tropical storms dismayed them, and all agreed they would have been happy to attempt the trip to the Cape in the "Aurelia". Though struck by an 80 mph gale, the yacht survived and landed her passengers safely at Lagos.

Now the party intend to take to the air. Mrs Howlett got the first single passage and is now well on her way to her objective. Mr Benson decided to take a gamble, and flew to the Gold Coast in the hope of getting a vacancy on a plane there.

The rest of the little party are busy finding accommodation in Lagos, where most people are doing all they can to help them. "Put people all the way have been like that", said Mrs Greensides. "We have made friends on this trip we shall never forget".

Dear Sir,

It occurs to me that the enclosed cutting from the "Daily Telegraph" of today's date might be of interest to your readers. It appears to have been almost on par with the Peat Slip in Stanley of Nov. 29th. 1878. (Any octogenarians who remember it?)

Yours faithfully—J.B.Felton.

The cutting—"Masses of mud which rolled down a hillside half a mile outside Todmorden, on the Lancashire-Yorkshire boundary, last night blocked the main Todmorden-Burnley road and threatened the L.M.S. Todmorden-Burnley railway line. By mid-night the mud-tide had reached a 5ft. wall protecting the railway. The mud, from the bog land above the road, oozed down the stream bed of 730ft wide Ratten Grough and spread 100 ft across the road... It is believed to have started from peat bogs and old clay workings."

The local Company of the Boys' Brigade have been in camp at Canopus this week under the leadership of their Senior Officer Mr L. Bound and other officers.

During the weekend a Stanley team travelled down to the Camp to play the boys at football. An enjoyable game ended in a draw-4 goals each.

Lorries are busy at present bring peat down from the Common to Stanley's peat sheds. The peat appears to be in good condition and this will be an appreciated fact during the cold winter weather in the houses.

AFRICAN MARRIAGE.

The National Council of Women, of Great Britain, are protesting against the so called hire-purchase and sale of wives which, they say, is still prevalent in parts of Africa. They will also call on the Government to stop the sale of girls of fourteen.

To those of us who have been brought up to respect and observe the social laws and customs of State and Church, the African marriage customs, such as the National Council of Women are protesting against, probably do cause some concern for the moral welfare of the African, but those of us who do feel concerned would do well to remember that we cannot force another nationality to except our social customs at the expense of theirs, which they believe to be right. For example, one will frequently find that the most ardent African Christian will marry in accordance with his tribal law before observing the marriage laws of his Church. Happily, however, British Colonial Governments appear to have retained many African laws and customs among which, are those of marriage. However, these laws and customs frequently come under native administration. The appeal of the N.C.W. will no doubt fall on sympathetic but deaf ears.

Since there are numerous tribes in Africa, tribal marriage laws vary, but the fundamental law, whereby a man must pay in either property or money before taking a wife, is universal. We too must pay; we pay State and Church fees. The African pays his prospective father-in-law. That which a man must pay is fixed by native law and varies according to tribe. In some tribes, if payment takes the form of money, this may be distributed among near relatives and the girl's parents. She herself receives a given amount to provide the dowry. In some cases the prospective father-in-law receives the greater share and this fact has no doubt, led people in the outside world to interpret such a custom as a sale. The African however, doesn't look upon it as a sale. Tell him that he bought his wife and he will be greatly insulted.

Trough Africans appear to hold no esteem for women, marriage is, to them, a most sacred state. A woman on

Once again the flowers in Stanley gardens are in bloom-- masses of spikes of blossom as for example in the lupins, look extremely attractive from a distance.

Yesterday (Wednesday) was visiting day at the Boys' Brigade Camp at Canopus.

The s.s. "Fitzroy" is expected to reach Stanley within a few hours. There is one passenger on board and 78 bags of mail. The "Fitzroy" left Montevideo last Sunday. Sickness is still going its rounds in Stanley--the latest complaint is a sore throat.

The star in the film shown at the local cinema last night was "Greta Garbo" the film being "The Two-faced Woman".

Among those at present in town is Miss Oldham who was at one time a member of the staff of the Government School. Miss Oldham is teaching at now in Valparaisa and is over on a holiday.

AFRICAN MARRIAGE.

becoming married is "taboo". Should another man attempt to consort with her then he commits a most serious offence.

The marriage ceremony is a most sacred service but ceremonies are so diverse that it is impossible to enumerate them in this article. Moreover, the writer is not in a position to attempt such a task. African marriages, however, for purposes of generalisation may be divided into two groups; the primitive and civilised.

In primitive marriage a man will secure a wife on the exchange of property, invariably livestock. The man who is in a position to provide more than the law stipulates is likely to be the most fortunate. He is likely to be the most fortunate because the girl herself has no power to express assent or disapproval. The father arranges the marriage and his decision is final. The question of a love marriage is not considered for it is believed that this will automatically follow as a result of the marital state. Moreover, a man may choose his wife at any time from birth onwards. A girl marries at a very early age, twelve to fourteen is frequently considered a suitable marriageable age. To the European mind this may seem a rather immature age but it should be appreciated that the African girl matures much earlier than a European. African native law is much more concerned with purity than maturity. African marriage custom is to marry young women thereby ensuring that a man's wife comes to him in her virginity. Should a man wish to do so, he is permitted to take more than one wife. His wealth, in fact, is disclosed by the number of wives he possesses.

Civilised marriages differ little. The fundamentals remain the same but in this case, though a man may choose his wife in the same manner as the primitive, the woman does have the right, on attaining marriageable age, to choose her own husband. As a result, one will find a man will woo in much the same way as Europeans. The dowries too, though fixed, are very fluid and a man seldom gives in proportion to his wealth but rather in proportion to his social status. This is presumably

Letter to Editor.
Christmas on Speedwell Island.

Dear Editor,

Would you kindly print this letter for me in your Weekly News about how we spent Christmas Day on Speedwell Island?

Christmas Day had arrived - everyone was astir early and cheery Christmas greetings were exchanged with a real good will. After having breakfast we all proceeded to the manager's house to wish them the seasons greeting - we were given a hearty welcome, toasts were drunk, chatting and jokes were passed and everyone was merry. The manager then gave us an invitation to tea in the afternoon. We returned home to prepare for the greatest event of the day - our Christmas dinner. At 12.30, Miss Bonner came along and presented each house with a lovely bunch of flowers and a nice present for each member of the household. At 4 p.m. we once more set out for the manager's house where we were received by the manager's wife who kindly took us into the dining room where the table was most elaborately spread with all good things to eat. The children's eyes sparkled. Fruit and jellies, blanc-mange cream and tarts, iced buns and cakes of different variety, sweets were provided and in the centre of the table a beautifully decorated Christmas cake. There were also crackers at each corner of the table, after pulling these each person was able to place a paper hat on their head. Tea was then served by the manager and his wife - the children preferred lemonade to tea and kept the manager busy refilling their glasses. I think there was a competition amongst them to see who could empty their glass first. When tea was over everyone assembled on the lawn. Photographs were taken by the manager. After this the children played games while their elders stood around chatting. As darkness fell we all retreated into the drawing room where a cozy fire was burning - many popular songs were sung and at intervals the children played games, drinks were frequently served by the manager. At 11 o'clock the children began to feel tired and so we decided to break up the party. Each child then received a book and a bar of chocolate from the manager's wife and the grown ups had a drink and a slice of Christmas cake. Three cheers were given for the manager and his wife and everyone sang heartily "For He's a jolly good fellow". The manager thanked us all and said it was a real pleasure to himself and his wife to see us all gathered together and hoped we should meet for many more Christmases to come. Good-nights were said and everybody returned home tired but with happy memories of a jolly Christmas Day.

I feel that much praise was due to the manager and his wife who by their noble effort tried to make Christmas Day a happy and lasting memory in the hearts of their employees.

Yours sincerely,

One of the party.

Have you heard this one?

During the war a dignified man was taking home a pair of his wife's shoes which had been to repair.

Strictly in accordance with regulations the repairer had not wrapped them up, so somewhat embarrassed, the husband had to carry them exposed to the gaze of the other passengers in the tram car.

A man opposite eyed him closely for a time and said on rising to alight, "Not going to let her gad about, eh governor?"

In these days when alarm clocks were rather difficult to procure a Scottie who had an early call next day and was afraid of sleeping in, thought out rather a clever plan. He addressed a letter to himself without a stamp on it, posted it, and went to bed.

Early next morning the postman called "Here's an unstamped letter for ye. There's fivepence to pay". The man replied "Take it back, I cannot stand such carelessness".

Dear Girls and Boys,

Here is the correct list of names which appeared as jumbled words in our corner last week - Girls Names - Mary, Annie, Betty, Joan, Jean, Peggy. The Boys Names were - Tony, John, James, Andrew, Peter, Henry.

The girls and boys in Stanley had all the excitement of a warship in the harbour recently. I expect that some of the boys would like to go to sea when they grow up and see other lands, and other towns as the men on board the "Snipe" do!

I hope that the girls and boys who read this Corner in the Camp are enjoying themselves and having good fun out of doors in the fine weather.

Cheerio,

Until next week,
Uncle Jim.

Brief Thought. Read Psalm 23. It is a wonderful thing that this Psalm contains truths which can be understood by everyone. The key thought is found in the first verse "The Lord is my Shepherd". When we understand this, the truths of the remaining verses are also experienced. Let us be grateful to God for all our blessings.

A Picnic becomes a Party.

The Tabernacle Sunday School arranged a picnic for last Thursday. The weather was not suitable on that day and as on Friday the rain simply teemed down, the only thing to do was to cancel the picnic and have a party for the children in the Tabernacle Schoolroom instead. This was what was done, and the youngsters seemed to enjoy themselves very much. Games were played and tea was served. It was disappointing of course having to substitute a party for a picnic.

HATS FOR EUROPE

Hat manufacturers in Europe, anxious to buy Doran machinery, will have to come to Manchester, where Oldham and Sons Ltd. have secured the sole manufacturing and European distribution rights of these machines enabling many processes in hat manufacture to be run on high-speed production lines and a more economical employment of labour. Inquiries reaching Manchester are already highly encouraging. Meanwhile, a considerable number of these new machines are being manufactured for the British market. Hat-exporting industry in Britain is getting into stride again and exports are already at a higher rate than pre-war.

The British hat industries will receive a new impetus from the recently formed Hat and Feltmakers Research Association attached to the Textile Industries Department of the University of Leeds, which is a long-established centre for research in animal fibres. British hatmakers hope that the new Research Institute will help them to achieve progressive improvements in quality and reductions in cost of manufacture.

Orders for Oilfield Equipment.

Cxley Engineering Company have several export orders in hand for electrically welded locomotive type oilfield boilers. They have also shipped abroad a large tonnage of plates for the erection of electrically welded oil storage tanks of various diameters up to 118ft.

Orders to the value of £150,000 have already been placed by South American oil companies and by the end of 1947 business worth £500,000, it is hoped, will have been secured.

BOYS' BRIGADE SUMMER CAMP 1948.

The 1st Falkland Islands Company of the Boys' Brigade commenced their camp on the 17th of this month and were more fortunate than the Advance Party which had gone the day before because the weather was fine. The Advance Party had to "put-up" with "rain" for most of the day while they worked hard in both cleaning the huts and transporting the food and equipment.

The fine weather of the first day did not continue all the week but nevertheless it was an improvement on last year. This year, however, sickness spoilt the camp for many, altogether 5 boys were brought back to town, but the rest of the lads enjoyed their weeks camp despite all this.

There were the regular routine jobs for the boys to do but they spent quite a lot of their time in recreation. The hours of recreation were devoted mainly to walking and fishing, special time was set apart for games which took the form of Football or Rounders.

The first Sunday in Camp a Church Service was held in the Mess Hall and was conducted by the Rev. W.F. McWhan. On Monday the Fishing Competition was opened and continued until Saturday. The heaviest fish, the heaviest haul and the most caught each received a prize of 10/-, these prizes were all won by Robert Allan and the prize of 5/- for the smallest fish caught was won by Stanley Hirtle. All the fish had to be mullet. Wednesday was visiting day and quite a number of people braved the bad weather to visit the lads in their camp. Among the visitors were the Colonial Secretary and Mrs. Mathews, Dr. Gladen and Commander Marshall. On Thursday morning a sports meeting was held and enjoyed by all who took part.

The prizes for the Fishing Competition were donated by Mr. J. Norris and that of the Tug o' War by Mr. E.J. McAtesney.

On the eve of their departure from Canopus the boys and their officers held a sing-song round the Mess Room fire which lasted into the early hours of the next morning. About Midnight some tinned fruit with milk was served-up for those who felt they could do with a bedtime feed.

The boys, their luggage and equipment was brought up on the 25th in more rain, which seems to be the lot of both the Advance and Rear Parties.

Once more the Brigade enjoyed their Summer Camp and will look forward to having another Camp next year when it is hoped both the weather and sickness will be kind to the boys.

on the liner. He had come to Britain to negotiate the building of a new 20,000-ton cargo passenger vessel for the Company's fleet and of a new ship for the Pacific.

The dress rehearsal of the new radar control tower at Seacombe took place a few weeks ago when, at a visibility not exceeding ten yards, regular traffic of ferry-boats between Liverpool and Seacombe was maintained without any hitch. Messages from the control tower informed the ferries of their exact position and of the proximity of other vessels. In the past the rule has been that one ferry-boat shall not leave the stage until the incoming vessel is in sight. With radar control this wait is not necessary.

The Danish subsidiary of the Decca Navigator Company will erect four Decca stations which should be ready by January 1948, when Denmark will be a country wholly covered by the Decca system. Another achievement of the British scientific instruments industry once more proved its value at a recent exercise of the British Navy, when the submarine Spirit had to be "rescued" from the bottom of the sea. The job was done by vessels fitted with "asdic", the British instrument which, with the help of sound waves, was able to locate exactly the spot in an area of 50 square miles where the submarine was "sunk".

Christmas at Fitzroy.

On the Tuesday night those who were going away for their holiday left the settlement. On the next morning Mr and Mrs Clement and the two little girls left in the lorry to spend Christmas at Darwin. Christmas dinners were enjoyed by those left behind in the settlement on that important day. In the afternoon the Christmas Broadcast was enjoyed by all. Just before supper Mrs Lyse, Mrs Skilling and Mrs Clausen came around to the writer's house to see if we felt like a dance. We agreed and the dance was a great success ending at midnight. In fact it was so good that we arranged for another dance on the Saturday night when with visitors from North Arm we numbered 22.
 Music for the dances was supplied by accordions played by Mr Fred Blyth, Mr Hubert Biggs and Mr Rupert Clausen, as well as the mouth-organ (Walter). On Sunday morning a number went away for a picnic. (Contributed)

"The Keeper of the Garden".

I dreamt I strolled through a garden
Where all was lovely and bright
And the moon poured down it's radiant beam Alighting up the night.
I walked right down a little path
Where all was ablaze with colour,
There was every tint and every hue
On every different flower:
Birds filled the air with music
There was rapture all around
And as my footsteps trod the crazy little pave
It seemed 'twas hallowed ground.
I came upon a very old man Whose beard was snowy white Tending all the beautiful flowers
'Twas indeed a surprising sight.
"I beg your pardon sir", I said
"Pray, not disturb your duty,
But I was wondering just where I am
And who owns all this beauty".
"Sit down in the bower by me my boy,
And don't be a'begging of no pardon
And I will tell you of my work and the owner of this garden.

This is the garden of God my son
And I just love to help Him
Keep this garden nice and neat
And worship, love and praise Him,
All the flowers you see around Are planted by His own hand
And for each good deed done down on earth
A new bloom is born on this land.
The flowers that bloom here never die
And their beauty fadeth never
But look fresh and grand throughout the years
As memories live for ever.
Now I must go back to my work", he said
And as I watched his retreating figure
'Twas just that moment I awoke
From the loveliest, sweetest dream ever.

Visit to H.M.S. Snipe.

On Friday the 30th Jan. the children and teachers of the Government School were invited on board H.M.S. Snipe for the afternoon. The "Clio" was waiting at the Public Jetty at 2 o'clock to take the children out to the "Snipe", and by the time set for the departure all children were aboard. A few minutes after 2 o'clock, we left the jetty, and as we drew near the "Snipe", great excitement was caused by a small jolly boat, which circled round the "Clio". Once on board we all went exploring, and saw many interesting things. The guns seemed to be the principal attraction to the visitors. Some of the ships crew dressed up as pirates for the amusement of the younger boys and girls. At four o'clock one of the ships pinnaces took some of the children back ashore, and the remainder returned in the "Clio". So ended an enjoyable afternoon.

Ships in Stanley Harbour.

With H.M.S. "Snipe" the R.F.A. "Gold Ranger" and the "John Biscoe" in Stanley harbour last week, a constant call upon the Gymnasium Hall was made for dances. Dances were held on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. Amongst those who helped to supply music for the dances was a band made up of members of the crew of the "Gold Ranger" - hailing from the West Indies. Vocal items to the music were also rendered by some of the visitors. On Thursday evening the West Indians featured in a special programme over the local broadcast system.

Called at Stanley.

On board the "John Biscoe", on their way to Deception Island, are Captain Arentsen and Chief Engineer Knutsen both of whom have frequently visited the Falklands in the Hektor Whaling Company's ships. They are representatives of the "United Whalers" who own the Whale factory "Balena".

These gentlemen have been commissioned to report on the condition of the whaling station at Deception Island in the South Shetlands, with a view to the reopening of the station.

Local Notes

The "John Biscoe" left Stanley last Saturday for the south but owing to the stormy weather had to lie in shelter in Port William for some time.

H.M.S. "Snipe" left for the Dependencies (including South Georgia) with His Excellency the Governor on board, last Sunday morning.

The tanker "Gold Ranger" returned to Stanley last Sunday after leaving for the north the day before.

West Point Island Outing.

Four people set out from West Point Island in a dinghy on New Year's day about 9.30 a.m. complete with literally bags of food, a camera, three torches and a packet of candles. - They were going exploring caves - and the youngest explorer known as "Wog" was only nine and a half years old.

The weather was practically perfect being flat calm, which made matters much more pleasant as the caves are in the Woolly Gut on the Grave Cove side facing Split Island. These caves can only be reached by boat, so probably very few people have been in them. To the writer's knowledge the only other people to have been in them were W.J. Davis and C. Bertrand in 1937 or 38.

By 10.30 the dinghy was going round underneath the cliffs, and though they look rather insignificant from West Point side, they towered above the boat at what seemed a terrific height. Mollymauks here and there peered down at the intruders and sea-lions roared and grunted disapproval from ledges of rock. Very soon they were at the mouth of the first cave - (Explorer No 1 had been into them all the day before but the back wash was too great to go in very far).

No words can really describe that cave, and Explorers No's. 2 and 3 and "Wog" were practically struck dumb. So far as height went, the s.s. "Fitzroy" could go in comfortably. The dinghy slid through the vast opening and the walls of the cave rose sheer on each side of it. The 'ceiling' was almost flat across and so high up, it seemed as if they were in an enormous cathedral. The dinghy went quietly on and the air was so still; a naked match was handed round for cigarettes. Voices echoed away into the middle of the earth, it seemed, and one of the 'explorers' was reminded of the boat journey on the underground river in the book "Allan Quartermain". The water was very deep and black and the sides of the cave glistened with purple and reddish lights. The only sign of life was close to the mouth, where a few shags were resting on a ledge. On went the

The Red Cross Canteen, which was housed in St Mary's Hall had Teas and Suppers for the men from the ships last week. The Canteen which was in the hands of Mrs Mercer and members of the local branch of the Red Cross was much appreciated. His Excellency the Governor and Mrs Clifford and also the Colonial Secretary-the Hon. A.B. Mathews O.B.E. visited the Canteen.

Included in the cargo of the "John Biscoe" was a new aircraft to replace the one lost in the Antarctic some months ago.

H.M.S. "Snipe" with His Excellency the Governor on board is due in South Georgia about the 9th of February and will return to Stanley about the 13th of February. The sloop will leave for Montevideo on the 15th of Feb.

INDIAN OCEAN FISHERY EXPEDITION.VOYAGE MAURITIUS: TWO YEARS' SURVEY OF PROSPECTS

The Scottish fishing drifter MERV No. 1 left last November on the way to Mauritius via the Suez Canal to undertake a two-years' survey of fishing possibilities on banks in the Indian Ocean not hitherto exploited by modern fishing methods.

The expedition has been organised by the Colonial Office and is financed by the Colonial Development and Welfare Act.

It is hoped that it will lead to a considerable expansion in the supply of fish to the people of Mauritius, an island with a population of some 400,000, by the establishment of a Mauritian fishing industry on modern lines. There is the possibility, too, of being able to supply dried fish to the East African market.

The drifter will "work" the banks off Mauritius and the Seychelles, and investigations will be made

INDIAN OCEAN FISHING EXPEDITION.

into the abundance of life in those waters. A general survey will be made of the ocean currents, the nature of the sea bed and the influence of these upon the abundance of fish.

The work will be directed by Dr. J.F.G. Wheeler, who was for a number of years on the staff of the Discovery Committee. He will be assisted by Dr F.D.
O'Malley, who was also on the Discovery Expedition and is the author of "South Latitude" and other books.

The drifter began her voyage at Falmouth on October 14th and it is estimated that she will take six to seven weeks to reach her destination. She carries a crew of 10, of whom eight are taking part in the outward voyage only. On commissioning, she will be manned almost entirely by a Seychelles crew.

The Master is Mr D.R. Davies, a well-known Milford Haven skipper, who holds a Deep Water Mate's Certificate.
He served his apprenticeship in Brixham smacks and then sailed with the Merchant Navy. After qualifying for his First Mate's Certificate he returned to fishing.

The present crew is made up of Scottish fishermen, most of them from Peterhead.

Just a Thought: Read St. Luke 19-Verse 1-10. Let us always remember that God is interested in us, in all we do, in what we say, in what we think. It was Jesus, God's Son who made it possible for all of us to have a real chance-He invites us to ask Him to forgive us our sins, and to follow Him. As we do these things, we really make a new start.

The Tabernacle Bazaar will take place on Thursday the 19th of February in the Cathedral Hall. The effort which is held on behalf of the Tabernacle Church, will be on the same lines as last year.

It was streaked, black and white, roughly about 3 inches high and 8½ inches in circumference. Dear Girls and Boys,

It is some weeks ago now since you have heard anything about our friend Robert Rabbit. Well this week we have something to tell you about this popular youngster.

Robert was ever so excited. He was invited to a special picnic. All the young rabbits in his area had received invitations—and so on a lovely morning every one was up bright and early, for it was the picnic day.

The scene of the picnic was a meadow in Farmer Brown's ground, and besides the good clover, there was a fine flat piece of ground suitable for the races. Here at the time mentioned in the invitations Robert and his friends collected together. Each rabbit carried a cup and as soon as arriving, this cup was placed beside many others on the ground.

The picnic was great fun. The games were enjoyed by all present, and when dinner was served (with such a delicacy as sliced carrots on lettuce leaves) all present were beaming with happiness. The sports took place in the afternoon and Robert came in second in the hundred yards. When the grown-ups race was about to start Farmer Brown appeared and everyone grabbed a cup and scurried off. You see no one had asked the farmer if they could hold the sports in his meadow. Anyway in this race the farmer was easily last!

Cheerio, until next week, Uncle Jim.

The Late Mrs Mary McPhee
We regret to report the death in Stanley last Friday of Mrs Jock McPhee at the age of 29 years. Mrs McPhee was well known around Hill Cove Camp, having been in the employment of Mr and Mrs Harding before her marriage. Latterly Mrs McPhee had resided with her husband on Saunders Island.

The funeral took place from Christ Church Cathedral last Sunday afternoon.

We extend our sincere sympathy to Mr McPhee at this time, and to all who mourn their loss.

An open letter to Communicants.

Which is the Great Commandment? Our Lord was once asked that question: the answer is "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God", with a second like it "Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself". When you were confirmed by the bishop those were two things you promised that you would try your hardest to do. Are you still trying as hard as you meant to on that day? Loving God means more than being on good terms with all men, just as love and friendship in life mean more than kindly and generous acts. We should be longing for the presence of God and for contact with Him. God is with us everywhere, but in particular we have contact with Him in the Holy Communion, the Lord's own service in remembrance of Him, and there He gives us strength to help us when we try. Thank God that you have been confirmed, and thank Him that you are privileged to be a communicant. Try to love God by being a faithful and regular communicant; and come not so much with the benefits in mind, though these are many, come with a longing for contact with God who loves you, and come to offer yourself to Him with a longing to help do His work in the world.

I write this letter now as next Wednesday is the first day of Lent; and I know in the past many of you have looked on Lent as a time to take stock of yourselves, a time to set wrongs to right, a time to renew your promises, a time to lift up your hearts again to your highest ideals.

With all good wishes for a holy Lent and a joyous Easter, your friend and parish priest,

R.G.R. Calvert.

THE RT. HON. HAROLD WILSON, C.B.E., M.P.

Harold Wilson was appointed President of the Board of Trade on September 29th 1947, when Sir Stafford Cripps gave up that post to become Minister of Economic Affairs. At the same time he became a Privy Councillor and a member of the Cabinet - something of an achievement for a young man of thirty-one, but in keeping with Mr Wilson's previous record.

He was twenty-nine when he became a junior minister - the "baby" of the present Government. He had never been in Parliament before, but he came to the Commons with an established reputation as a brilliant economist, and a year later he was heading the British delegation to the Preparatory Commission of the F.A.C. in Washington. The press began writing of him in terms of William Pitt, who was a Cabinet Minister at the age of twenty-three, and Mr Wilson is something of an infant prodigy himself. During the war he was a civil servant, and rose to be Director of Economics and Statistics at the Ministry of Fuel and Power; before that, he had been an Oxford don at the age of twenty-one.

He was born on March 11th 1916, and worked his way up from elementary schools in Huddersfield by scholarships to the local Royds Hall Secondary School (Huddersfield), the Wirral Grammar School in Cheshire and Jesus College, Oxford, where he took a Gladstone Memorial Prize, the Webb Medley Scholarship, and one of the most outstanding firsts in Modern Greats (Philosophy, Politics and Economics) ever achieved. He was a good athlete too, and ran for his University in cross-country events. Immediately after taking his degree he was made Lecturer in Economics at New College, Oxford, and at the same time Research Assistant to Sir William (now Lord) Beveridge on trade and unemployment questions. A year later he went to University College as Fellow. Sir William Beveridge was at that time Master of University College, and Mr Wilson was later to help him in the preparation of his great scheme of social security, and on unemployment work.

exercising communal rights: without this the isolation of herds and their improvement by selective breeding could not have taken place. Advances in ploughing methods led to the sowing of turnips and clovers and the modern rotation of these crops with corn, so that a field no longer had to lie fallow for a year after a crop of wheat; feeding-stuffs for milk and fattening became available the whole year round. Lastly, the growth of industry concentrating people in towns to an unprecedented demand for meat and milk.

Indigenous stock remained pure in remote parts of Wales, Cornwall and Scotland, but elsewhere in varying degrees there had been admixtures of foreign stock. This, together with the isolation due to transport difficulties, and perhaps local patriotism, produced distinct breeds with marked characteristics not to be found outside a particular area.

Cross-breeding had given British cattle a heterogeneity, a variety in characteristics and qualities from which to choose for selective breedings while isolation had firmly established many distinctive types. It was at this point that the Leicester farmer Robert Bakewell and his followers began their innovations which led to the establishment of the famous British breeds and influenced cattle-breeding all over the world.

Pioneer Breeders

To meet the demands of the towns, Bakewell aimed primarily to evolve animals producing a large amount of meat. He chose his foundation animals with care in 1760 or thereabouts and with them began his system of in-breeding, in each generation selecting only those animals that conformed most nearly to his ideal. He judged the worth of breeding-stock, particularly males, by the merits of their offspring and then concentrated outstandingly favoured animals by in-breeding. His herd descended from a few isolated animals. By their close relation they

 SECOND ENGINEER ON "S.S. FITZROY" RETIRES

Recently the s.s. "Fitzroy" steamed down the coast from Salvador Waters, en route for Stanley in stormy weather. This was the seas' farewell to Second Engineer Richard Atkins—who was due to leave the ship on her arrival in town and to retire.

"Dick" as he is known to his many friends worked at one time on board the tender "Flym" after a period spent ashore in the P.I.C.'s Engineering Shop. From the "Flym" Mr Atkins went to the Samson, and later served on board the s.s. "Falkland". When the "Fitzroy" arrived from the U.K. Mr Atkins went on board as Second Engineer and has served in that capacity ever since. His voyages have been north to South Brazil, and Montevideo, westwards to Punta Arenas, eastwards to South Georgia, and Southwards to the Antarctic.

During his years at sea Mr Atkins has served under 14 Chief Engineers, and in the s.s. "Fitzroy" under six Captains.

Interviewed in the yard of his own home, where he was busy sifting peat, Mr Atkins let me into the secret that in bad weather canvas is laid on the floor in the engine-room to keep you on your feet!

We wish "Dick" many years of happy retirement, and we can imagine how pleased Mrs Atkins must be to have Mr Atkins really at home! He'll be missed on the "Fitzroy!"

became very like each other and their ancestors, but unlike other animals of the same breed that were not related.

To implement his ideas Bakewell kept pedigree records, fundamental to modern breeding methods. Of all his innovations, this had probably the most far-reaching results; more so than his Longhorn breed, which was destined to be superseded by Shorthorns and Herefords.

Shorthorn cattle, derived from Teeswater and Holderness cattle, are a combination of indigenous British, imported Roman and later imported Dutch cattle. Yet they have become the most typically British and the most numerous breed.

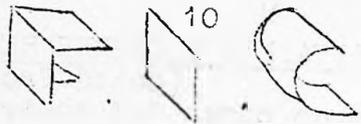

Early "Improvers"

The Colling brothers, pupils of Bakewell, were the first "improvers" of the breed. Unlike Bakewell, they did not find the animals of their choice in existing herds and, by mating "like with like" and in-breeding repeatedly, produced the ideal type. They started with a series of compensatory matings between animals which were unlike. Thus they mated small with large, coarse with fine, followed by close breeding of the offspring of these matings. Eventually the bull Favourite emerged in 1793. It was the Collings' most famous bull and was bred into every subsequent line of cattle.

The Booth Shorthorn herd was bred by three generations of that name and was still owned by them at the beginning of the twentieth century. A rival of Richard Booth, son of the founder, was Thomas Bates. Though both bred Shorthorns, their types were different; a contemporary saying put it: "Booth for the butcher, Bates for the pail". Both initially drew on Collings' stock.

In 1858 Amos Cruickshank, of Sittyton, near Aberdeen, bought for 30 guineas an inbred English bull named Lancashire Comet. One of that bull's sons, Champion of England, became the founder of the world-famous strain of Scottish Shorthorns. For thirty years

Cruickshank mated his cattle back to Champion of England, although he did not breed as closely to the line as either Booth or Bates would in all probability have done.

The Famous Shorthorn

In 1899 the whole herd was sold to Argentina. Difficulties, including shipping, having intervened, however, William Duthie, of Collynie, Scotland, purchased over thirty females and several bulls for a herd which already was derived considerably from Cruickshank stock. J. Deane Willis, of Wiltshire, bought others for his Bapton Manor herd of Shorthorns which had been founded on stock from Bates and Booth lines. Today these two splendid herds carry on the Scotch type of Shorthorn, from the Bapton Manor herd came the sire of the 1946 record champion, Pittodrie Upright. High prices are paid for such outstanding animals by breeders all over the world. For, as in Cruickshank's case, one or two first-class animals in the hands of a good breeder will in a few years spread their stamp throughout a herd.

Aberdeen Angus, dark, polled cattle, have very little infiltration of foreign blood, and are known to have existed in Scotland at least as early as 300 B.C. The improvement of the breed was begun in 1800 by Hugh Watson, of Keillor, and continued by McCombie, of Tillyfour, and William Fullerton, of Ardvie.

These were the outstanding names among the "improvers" of British breeds: but there were many lesser-known breeders, Herefords particularly being developed by a number of anonymous farmers to a very high state of excellence. Shorthorns, Herefords and Aberdeen Angus have influenced cattle all over the world.

Among notable transactions in the last two years have been a Hereford bull purchased for 1,400 guineas for Buenos Aires in May 1946, and a 2,000 guineas Aberdeen Angus bull purchased by New Zealand in February 1947. In the same month Mr W.J. Russell of Canada paid 4,000 guineas for a Shorthorn bull. In May

THE RT.HON. HAROLD WILSON, O.B.E., M.P.
(Contd.from page 4)

Mr Wilson was actually in the middle of reading a paper to the British Association at Dundee in 1939, on British export and import trade, when a message was brought in saying that Hitler had invaded Poland.
He volunteered for the Army, but the Government preferred to use him in the Civil Service, and after a spell at the Ministry of Supply, he went as Economic Assistant to the War Cabinet Secretariat from 1940 to 1941. He then served at the Ministry of Labour and the Ministry of Fuel and Power, was joint secretary to the Greene Board which investigated and reported on miners' wages (establishing a national minimum wage and setting up national and district conciliation and arbitration machinery), and to the Anglo-American Coal Commission, and was from 1943 to 1944 Director of Economic and Statistics, and produced a vast statistical digest of the mining industry. He gained a wide knowledge of every aspect of the industry and in 1945, just before the general election, published his book "New Deal for Coal", outlining the Socialist policy of nationalisation, described by the "Times" in a main leader as "a brilliant exposition of the Socialist case".

He had been created C.B.E. for his services in the New Year's Honours of 1945; by this time he had resigned his Civil Service appointment on being adopted as prospective Labour candidate for Ormskirk in Lancashire, being also appointed Praelector in Economics to University College. He gave this up too after his election to Parliament, when he went straight to the front bench as Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Works.

The appointment was something of a surprise, for with his record most people had expected him to return to the Ministry of Fuel and Power, but Mr Wilson, who had already turned his academic powers to good account in the fields of social security and coalmining, threw himself with zest into the postwar reconstruction campaign. Then he was temporarily detached to another

8,000 Miles Across the World in a Small Vessel.

An adventurous journey ended in Stanley Harbour a week ago last Wednesday when the M.F.V. 1185 of 44 tons and 74 feet length tied up at the Government Jetty, Stanley, after a voyage lasting from start to finish - 70 days.

The boat with Captain Hume in charge left London and went round the Coast to Falmouth. From there, after receiving favourable Meteorological reports, the course was set by her Captain, across the Bay of Biscay (which was fortunately calm) to Las Palmas in the Canary Islands. A short stop was made at this port and the sturdy little ship with her crew of eight men then made for St Vincent in the Cape Verde Islands. The ship and crew had been well tested by this time for rough weather travelling. From the Cape Verdes, the next call was at Pernambuco in Brazil.

We can imagine the interest passing ships would have in their tiny sister, ploughing her way boldly ever southwards - especially a 10,000 ton Dutch vessel whose men later came on board our ship in Montevideo.

From Pernambuco the craft made the long journey to Montevideo without calling in anywhere to refuel.

The vessel entered Montevideo harbour to find herself the centre of much interest. The s.s. "Lafonia" was in Montevideo at this time - a link with her final destination port.

Once again out to sea, and shortly afterwards heading for Stanley rough weather was faced. The ship stood

 "JOHN BISCOE" LEAVES WITH RELIEF PARTY FOR ANTARCTIC

MOTOR VESSEL REMAINED:
 CONTINUING IMPORTANT SCIENTIFIC WORK.

London. - December 19th. 1947.

With a relief party of 25 members of the Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey aboard her, the m.v. John Biscoe today set sail from the landing stage at Tilbury for the distant Antarctic where she will call at the British bases established there, discharge her cargo and mail, and bring back to the United Kingdom some of those men who for the past twelve months have been carrying on their important work of scientific discovery.

The story of the Falkland Islands Dependencies' Survey goes back to December, 1943, when a party under the command of Lieutenant Commander J.W.S. Marr, R.N.V.R. ("Scout Marr" of Shackleton's 1922 Expedition) left this country for the Dependencies.

Since then bases have been established at Port Lockroy, in Graham Land, Deception Island in the South Shetlands; Hope Bay; Laurie Island in the South Orkneys; Stonington Island, Neny Fjord, Marguerite Bay in South-West Graham Land; Argentine Islands; and Admiralty Bay.

Meteorological Stations are maintained at all the bases and an investigation is being carried out into the possibilities of weather forecasting in the South Atlantic with particular reference to the development and movement of Antarctic depressions. Extensive geological and biological collections have been made and research is being made into human adaptation to low temperatures.

Lieutenant-Commander Marr was succeeded as leader of the party by Captain (later Major) A. Taylor, of the Royal Canadian Engineers. In December, 1945, control

WORLD'S CUTLERY CAPITAL IS BOOMING.

Sheffield, home of the British cutlery industry, is striving hard to meet the world demand for its products. Probably at no time in the long history of the trade has the call for cutlery been so great or widespread. A world virtually starved of cutlery for six or seven years is making big demands on all sections of the industry, table knives, pocket knives, tea pruners, sheep shears, and particularly scissors. Some factories are devoted to this line. Substantial orders are on hand for knives, forks and spoons. Firms specialising in cocks' knives are as busy as makers of knives for the agricultural industries. The output of safety-razor blades continues on a large scale but there are many overseas orders for ordinary "cut-throat" razors. In an attempt to solve the problem of keeping the steel free from rust in humid climate razors have been made experimentally from stainless steel, but many customers prefer the article made from ~~crash~~ cast steel.

A Sheffield firm of razor-case makers is now hoping to perfect a waterproof glue to give greater protection to razors from the risk of internal "sweating" in humid conditions.

Rolls razors have become specially popular in recent years. With their sturdy Sheffield steel blades which can be used for years, and sharpened day by day, they combine the advantages of both the long-handled and the safety razor.

An electric dry shaver, a new type, to be marketed under the trade name of Viceroy Electric Dry Shaver, will be in production in the near future after many years of experimental work.

Equipping the "Queens"

When the Queen Elizabeth sailed for the first time she carried nearly 21,000 pieces of Sheffield cutlery for use on her tables. These knives, forks, and spoons, made to a special design by Roberts and Belk Limited, who also made the cutlery for the Queen Mary and the Mauretania.

There are few parts of the world with which was transferred to the Colonial Office and the organisation became the Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey. In that month relief parties went out under Surgeon-Commander D.W. Bingham, R.N., O.B.E., who succeeded Captain Taylor as leader of the party. A further relief party went out in December, 1946, in the Trepassey. Major K.S. Pierce-Butler took over command of the Survey in April of this year.

RELIEF SHIP NAMED.

The motor vessel John Biscoe, in which this year's relief party sailed, was named by Mrs A. Creech Jones, wife of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, at a ceremony held at Convey's Wharf, Deptford, S.E.8, on Monday, December 15th, 1947. She was accompanied by Mr Creech Jones. Standing on a specially constructed platform in the company of Captain A. Macfie, Master of the vessel and Commander Bingham, she declared, "I rename this ship John Biscoe. May good fortune attend all who sail in her". (applause). At the same time the Falklands flag, which had been fluttering over the grey bow of the vessel, was drawn aside to reveal her name. Members of the crew and of the relief party gathered on deck and at the dockside together with officials who were there to wish them Godspeed and then, after this brief ceremony, the derricks resumed the task of swinging aboard heavy wooden cases of stores for the party. Also on board in crates was an aircraft which will be used in the Antarctic.

The John Biscoe - now bearing the name of a famous explorer who was making voyages of discovery in the Antarctic over a century ago - was formerly H.M.S. Pretext, a netlayer which was in service with the Home Fleet during the war. She is of some 1,200 tons and is wooden hulled, which makes her especially suitable for work in ice fields. Alterations have been made to equip her for the specialised type of work she will undertake when replenishing the bases. She is 194 feet long, has a 34 feet beam, and is an ocean type auxiliary.

Dear Girls and Boys,

Well, did you manage to make sense of the sentences which we gave you last week? It is surprising how difficult it can be to find out the sense of mixed up words. Here, at anyrate are last weeks sentences when the words were placed in their correct order -

The boy arrived on his bicycle. The little girl was baking cakes. Johnny Brown liked to sing all day long. Pussy cat had large eyes and a ribbon round his neck. Next week we hope to have another "Robert Rabbit" adventure for you. - Cheerio, Uncle Jim.

FALKLAND ISLANDS DEPENDENCIES SURVEY SHIP SAILS.

Speaking at a reception held afterwards in a shed on the dockside, Mrs Creech Jones said that many people, when they thought of the colonies thought of the Tropics and hot weather - yet that afternoon they were thinking of just the opposite sort of conditions where these friends of theirs were going. She thought it would be the wish of them all to say Godspeed to this great adventure on which they were setting out within the next day or two. She wished Dr Fuchs and members of the party every success in their scientific work. She believed that in this sort of work we had been something of pioneers and she hoped their experiments would be a tremendous achievement and not only for our own British Empire, because after all science transcended all feelings of nationality and Empire. She hoped they would have the joy of discovering something of importance for mankind as a whole.

Dr V.E.Fuchs, who is the leader of the party of geologists, meteorologists, surveyors, scientists and general assistants, thanked Mrs Creech Jones on behalf of the party, Captain Macfie and the crew. He also thanked members of the F.I.D.S. Committee.

The John Biscoe is expected to return with members of the party who are now in the Antarctic, next year. (1948)

COLONIAL SECRETARY'S OFFICE, 4th February, 1948.

WORLD'S CUTLERY CAPITAL IS BOOMING.

Britain has trading relations that are not at present actual or potential buyers of Sheffield cutlery. Largest current deliveries are for South Africa, Palestine and the Middle East, and North, Central and South America, but there is a brisk trade with Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Holland and France too. There are some countries where currency and licensing restrictions, introduced recently, make it impossible to do business. These restrictions, however, do not affect the output of Britain's cutlery trade, which continues to work at capacity to satisfy pent-up demand. Because of labour shortage one Sheffield firm, B. and J. Sippel, has started production in the mining village of Maltby, with surplus female labour.

The most impressive order secured by the industry - probably the largest single order of its kind ever placed in Britain - is one for a million dollars' worth of cutlery and silverware, which has come to Viner's Limited from a New York firm. More than 60 per cent of the cutlery made in Sheffield was exported last year; the exports were worth almost three times the value sent abroad in 1938.

In volume, British table cutlery manufacturers have doubled their pre-war exports, while exports of knives with folding blades have increased five-fold. Half a million of these knives are leaving the country every week; the number of persons using Sheffield table cutlery overseas is increasing at a rate of one million every month, while more than 1,500,000 Sheffield razor-blades are being shipped overseas every single day of the year. Compared with a monthly average of 2,760 hair-clippers exported in 1938, monthly exports during the second half of 1947 increased to 57,000, an increase of nearly 2,000 per cent.

Quality v. Quantity.

Sheffield firms have built up their reputation on quality and design, and they have no intention of lowering their standard. It is recognised, however, that there is a substantial market abroad which is more

The Late Rex Buse.

We regret to report the death which occurred at the N.E.M. Hospital, Stanley, last Thursday of Rex Buse.

Rex, who was eleven years of age was of a very cheery disposition and will be missed by all who knew him.

The funeral took place from St Marys' Church last Sunday afternoon, the Rev. Mr. Kelly officiating and children from St Marys' Sunday School being present.

To his parents and sisters and brothers we extend our sincere sympathy.

Soccer.

As many of you will recall Stanley played N.M.S. Snipe at football before the ship left to go South. The result was a win for the visitors by 5 goals to 2. The return of the "Snipe" on Friday 13th, enabled a return game to be played. In this Stanley was represented by the following team:

C. Reive, R. Morrison, L. Halliday, A. Campbell, W. Jones (Capt.), N. Goodwin, T. Perry, D. R. Morrison, D. Clark, W. Bonner, S. Reive.

The result was a fairly easy victory for Stanley by 3 goals to 2. The game was particularly noteworthy from a local point of view for the brilliant play of Steve Reive on the Stanley left wing, and the opportunism of Don Clark at centre forward in helping himself to 6 goals - a double hat trick. In Defence best performances were turned in by Jock Campbell and Bill Jones.

This brought the score to one match each and the "rubber" game was played off last Saturday night. There was one change in the Stanley team - Len Grant coming in place of A. Campbell. The game this time was rather more even but Stanley just managed to keep on top and ran out worthy winners by 5 goals to 3. One notable feature of the game was that all five Stanley forwards scored one goal apiece. All the forwards played well both individually and as a line and had good support from a defence in which Bill Jones and Charlie Reive were outstanding although everyone played very well. (Broadcast News 15th Feb.)

BRITAIN'S PEDIGREE HEEDS.

Climate and Soil

Britain is alone in producing a surplus of outstanding pedigree cattle, and it seems that in Britain alone can the finest quality be consistently kept up for many generations. The climate and much of the rich grass-producing soil is ideally suited to the rearing of fine cattle - no other country in the world has better natural conditions for growing grass, New Zealand alone rivalling her. The great cattle-producing countries can continue crossing their own pedigree bulls and heifers for some time, but eventually they come up against a deterioration in quality and even a lack of resistance to disease. In the main this seems due to deficiencies in minerals and those qualities in soil and climate which produce the first-class bone and constitution of British-bred stock. Again and again foreign breeders return to Britain for fresh pedigree stock to maintain quality.

The variety of breeds in Britain enables the overseas buyer to choose stock that will flourish in his particular environmental circumstances and to attain the objects for which he is breeding - whether for meat or milk, early maturing or other specialised characteristics. Though Shorthorns with their remarkable adaptability continue to be bought in greatest numbers, all breeds are being widely exported.

concerned with quantity than supreme quality. Active preparations are being made to meet this demand, which comes from China and the Middle East and is largely for the cheaper kind of table-ware and scissors. Manufacturing capacity for this market is already considerable, but it is to be increased by mechanisation, though mass-production methods cannot generally be applied to so specialised a craft.

An interesting feature of post-war British cutlery manufacture is that lower prices are being made possible without lowering the quality of design. Economies will be achieved by concentrating production on a given pattern instead of dividing output among a variety. Proposals for a design centre which would provide a co-operative approach to the problem of good design in its products have been discussed by the industry. A suggestion by a medical officer is under consideration for the re-designing of forks; the present type, as he says, has not changed for centuries and is difficult to clean.

Part of the Sheffield production will be reserved for customers preferring exquisite design and willing to pay adequate prices for it. Greater study and research in relation to the requirements of the export market have supplied ample evidence that there are still some markets for high-quality cutlery of special design.

The old hand methods, are gradually being ousted, yet machinery will not be able to do everything; there will always be a place for the cutlery operative with his hereditary skill, judgment, and delicate sense of touch born of experience.

8,000 Miles Across the World in a Small Vessel.

up to the test and slowly but surely the distance between herself and Stanley lessened.

A week ago last Wednesday the sound of a siren was heard in Stanley's inner harbour as the small ship, flying the usual flags for a ship coming in from a foreign port entered our harbour - the ship had safely made the journey, and we feel sure that the Captain, Chief Officer, Chief Engineer and his colleague as well as the other members of the crew felt pleased that they had safely arrived.

We congratulate all concerned, on the successful voyage out of the boat now to be called the "Philomel".

must first go back a bit.

The great Antarctic continent which has an area of about 6,000,000 square miles - about as big as the whole of Europe and the United States of America put together - was shown in the old maps as TERRA INCOGNITA the unknown land, and so it remained until the circumnavigation of the Southern Ocean by Cook in 1772 - 3; while he did not touch on the continent itself he discovered and claimed South Georgia for the crown and the record of his voyage told of the vast multitude of whales and seals which these seas contained and this very quickly attracted British and American adventurers through whom our knowledge of "the last continent" was gradually extended. Some of those engaged in the whaling industry, and notably the brothers Enderby, lost no opportunity of pursuing geographical discovery for its own sake and we owe them much. Early in the 19th century another remarkable voyage was carried out by the Russian Admiral,

who again circumnavigated 'Antarctica' and surveyed the South Shetlands while at just about the same time Bransfield and William Smith discovered Trinity Land which we now know as Grahamland. The first half of the century rang with the exploits of such discoverers as Durville, Wilkes and Ross. Then - quite suddenly - this geographical fever subsided and those who sailed those seas merely for what they could get out of them, were left undisturbed to win as much as they could as quickly as possible with the result that the southern fur seal was soon reduced to the point of extermination.

Interest in the Antarctic did not re-awaken until almost the turn of the century when there followed in rapid succession the expeditions of de Gerlache, Bruce, Nordenskiöld, Scott, Charcot, Amundsen, Shackleton, Lawson, Byrd and - in recent times - Rymill. By these men and their companions our knowledge of the Antarctic has been greatly extended and scientific knowledge substantially increased and they have left for us a literature both fascinating and heroic. So much for the historical background.

On the economic side there has been, and still is, a great deal of colourful speculation as to the mineral treasures which lie buried in these frozen lands, but thus far there is nothing whatever to justify them; a few isolated copper deposits, unimportant traces of other metals and of some low-grade coal and that is all. And, indeed, unless minerals were to be found in immensely rich fields the task of winning them on a commercial scale could not be attempted. The only true wealth that this area contains, so far as we know today, is still as in the past its marine wealth - its whales and seals; these, as we have noted earlier, could readily be exterminated by indiscriminate killing and it was the recognition of this danger which decided His Majesty's Government to bring those industries under control and lead to the establishment of British sovereignty over the area now known as the

The motive was a purely unselfish one, to conserve the harvest of these seas for the benefit of mankind as a whole; as the result of that act, and of the international conventions which followed it, they serve today as one of the greatest sources of animal fats for a lean and hungry world. To this I should add that our revenue from the whaling industry has been ploughed back into it in the field of research through the activities of the Discovery Committee.

Let us look now at the political side and at the events which have led to the present situation. The Dependencies, as you know, comprise South Georgia, the South Orkneys, the South Shetlands, the South Sandwich Islands, the Palmer Archipelago and Grahamland which were brought within this Administration by Letters Patent, for the purposes I have indicated, in 1908 amended in 1917 as the earlier instrument had inadvertently included quite a large section of the southern extremity of South America.

Our claims to the South Orkneys were early challenged by Argentina who, in 1904, had acquired from him by purchase the Meteorological Observatory established by Dr Bruce of the Scottish National Antarctic Expedition on Laurie Island and have maintained it ever since. From about 1928 Argentine has also asserted what it is pleased to call "its inalienable rights, inherited from Spain" to the whole of the Dependencies as well as to the Falklands, its title to which it has never ceased to press.

Of Chili, who had no previous connection with the Antarctic other than furnishing a ship to go to the rescue of Shackleton's party on Elephant Island, we hear nothing much until 1940 when, quite out of the blue, came a Presidential Decree claiming sovereignty over the Antarctic area between the longitudes of 53° and 90° W which includes the South Shetlands and Grahamland and, incidentally, overlaps the Argentine claim - which at the time caused quite a stir in Buenos Aires.

The official attitude of the United States Government, the only other with any direct interests in this area, is that while it makes no claims to Sovereignty itself it does not recognise the claims of any other nation. In 1940 its Antarctic Service established two Bases in the Antarctic, one - the East Base which alone concerns us - at Stonington Island in Marguerite Bay which was evacuated by air in March 1941, the expedition being compelled to abandon its equipment and stores.

In 1942 when we were pre-occupied with the more serious business of endeavouring to save civilisation, the Argentines sent a naval transport, the Primero de Mayo, to Deception Island where an "act of possession" was deposited laying claim to the whole area between 25° W and 68° 34' W. and this vessel then went on to the Melchior Archipelago where it erected a navigation light as proof of sovereignty. In 1943 she made a second trip, with two Chilean naval officers attached, proceeding as far south as Marguerite Bay where the American Camp was visited and certain items of equipment etc. received.

It was not until 1944 that war conditions enabled us to resume our activities in the Antarctic, when we established a party of scientists at Deception Island and at Port Lockroy under the leadership of Commander Mair. In 1945 a party was sent to Hope Bay in the Trinity Peninsula and in the following season additional Bases were established at Laurie Island in the South Orkneys, and at Marguerite Bay where the old American Base was found in a state of great confusion.

This brings us to the 1946/7 season which marked the beginning of the present phase of feverish activity; we ourselves withdrew from Laurie Island where the Argentines had been so long in residence, abandoning it in favour of an infinitely better Base at Signy Island and set up further Bases at Admiralty Bay and the Argentine Islands. Meanwhile, a privately sponsored expedition from America led by Commander Finn Ronne had returned to the old American Base at Stonington Island while Argentine and Chilean vessels making free use, in face of repeated protests, of Deception Harbour had established Bases on Gamma Island in the Melchior Archipelago and at Discovery Bay in Greenwich Island.

This was the situation when I set off in the Fitzroy in March 1947 for my first tour of the Dependencies, visiting all but Signy and South Georgia from which I was turned back by bad weather. We called at the Argentine and Chilean Bases where protests were lodged on the grounds of unauthorised occupation; while at Marguerite Bay, discussions were held with Commander Finn Ronne which have resulted in most cordial relations and useful co-operation. We were able to rescue an American who had fallen into a crevasse and you will remember the untiring efforts of Commander Finn Ronne's men to rescue our party which had crashed on the ice in a light plane. A combined Met. Station was established on the Plateau and a combined sledging party has carried out a notable spring and summer journey.

The Argentines and Chileans have meanwhile made common cause and ships of both countries have been making free use of our territorial waters; the Argentines have set up a substantial Base at Deception Island and a summer camp at Admiralty Bay and we are at present witnessing a great deal of ostentatious and provocative display by both countries; naval manoeuvres, military exercises, presidential visits, solemn declarations and so on and so forth which it may be assumed are designed mainly for home consumption. There is no cause whatever for alarm.

My two recent visits in H.M.S. Snipe have enabled me to carry out what I wish to emphasise is a purely routine inspection of the activities of F.I.D.S. and to re-establish our Bases at Admiralty Bay and Port Lockroy. That we were able to get to the latter after five attempts through pack of varying Local Boy's School Record.

We gladly mention the success in his school career at Eastbourne College of Eric Fleuret, whose father Major A.E. Fleuret M.B.E., L.D., J.P., is Magistrate in South Georgia where he resides with Mrs Fleuret.

Last year Eric gained his school certificate, and while successful in his studies he was equally successful in sport, playing for his school XV and gaining his colours. During a holiday Eric also played in a team for a Middlesex High School and again in Southampton. He is now the Hon. Secretary of the present pupils Rugby Football Club of Eastbourne College. In gymnastics too, Eric has made a mark being in the senior team.

Mr Brown, who recently passed through the Colony on his way south as a member of F.I.D.S. attended the same school leaving it about the same time as Eric went there, and was therefore able to tell some of Eric's relations in Stanley something about school life in this well-known school.

Just a Thought. Read Matthew Chapter 7 Verse 1 - 5.

The first verse of Matthew Chapter 7 tells us "not to judge" - this means that as we think of others and their faults and failings, it is always a good thing to remember how imperfect we are ourselves. This is a thought given to us by Jesus, and it helps us to see that in the Christian World we should forgive as we ourselves have been forgiven.

The Tabernacle Bazaar: The sum realised at this effort last week amounted to $435:16:0. We thank all who in any way helped to make this occasion the success it was.

Tabernacle Bazaar.

The Annual Bazaar of the Tabernacle took place in the Cathedral Hall last Thursday evening. Among those present were His Excellency and Mrs Miles Clifford accompanied by Mrs Winter. In spite of the inclement weather a large number of people patronised the effort and the various stalls did good business. The Teas, Games, and Fortunes all proved popular and at the end of the evening the sum realised was $435:16:0½d - a very successful result.

Dance - Given by H.M.S. "Snipe".

A dance took place in the Gymnasium given by the Officers and Men of H.M.S. "Snipe", last Friday evening. Among those present were Commander Forbes R.N. and Commander Marshall R.N.

Music was provided by the radiogram and by the local band. A large company was present and thoroughly enjoyed the dance. Novelty dances took place during the evening and the following were prize winners: Mr K. Biggs and Miss O. Dentleff (Spot Waltz), Mr D. Earle and Miss A. Pettersson, (Statue Waltz), Miss I. Sedgwick and partner (Card Dance), Miss V. Smith and partner (Honesty Waltz).

An Unusual Visit to a Ship.

H.M.S. "Snipe" visited San Carlos last weekend and an unexpected adventure befell people from the settlement who visited the ship last Sunday afternoon. The weather became exceedingly stormy and not only did the ship's motor-boat go ashore (as well as the Redwing) but H.M.S. "Snipe" had to leave her anchorage and go out into the open with the local people still on board. The visitors were disembarked last Monday afternoon - back at San Carlos.

Editorial.

Surely never for many years has our Colony and its Dependencies received such publicity as at the moment. With the activities of Argentina and Chile receiving such widespread prominence and the constant claim of Argentina for the Falklands, we hope that out of it all there will not only emerge once and for all the fact that the disputed territory is under our flag but also that our own Colony and its Dependencies are a closely knitted family in themselves within the British Empire.

It is of importance in our day when United Nations Conferences are so essential to world peace that this dispute should be ended with the utmost goodwill and the admission that this territory which Britain claims and uses would not have been occupied without first rate credentials.

It is just as important to respect a nation's sovereignty in the Antarctic as anywhere else.

Birth.

At the K.E.M. Hospital, Stanley, on the 7th February, to Mr and Mrs J.J. Davis, a son - Raymond John.

Outside Interest in our Affairs

There is much interest in the situation which has arisen in our Dependencies over the Argentine and Chilean activities. Famous London Newspaper have sought local correspondents to give them the latest news from this area. Our territory must present unusual difficulties for papers to get their reporters to the spot in their customary very quick time.

Dear Girls and Boys, 26th February, 1948.

Robert Rabbit was in a great hurry the other day. He was invited out for a run in his Uncle Bob's new motor car - really it was not a new car but just a second hand one - all the same it was new to the owner.

Robert had to meet his Uncle (and the car) at 10 o'clock in the morning at the "Three Trees Crossing". Running, scampering, Robert reached this spot just on time, and along came Uncle in his car. Robert was soon in sitting beside him. The car made the strangest of noises as it went on its way. Actually this tale has rather a sad ending for on a lonely section of road, there was a terrific "bang" from the engine and the car jerked to a standstill. Just how far they were from any garage, Robert soon discovered for he had to walk and scamper miles and miles back to a settlement where he could obtain help.

Robert will think twice before he goes for another motor trip in his Uncle's car.

Cheerio until next week,
Uncle Jim.

What is a "CLETRAC". ?

Rather late in the day the farms of the Falkland Islands are becoming 'mechanized', and a "CLETRAC" track-laying tractor is no doubt one of the best items of equipment in the mechanical line.

A "CLETRAC" will go anywhere.

Mountains, bogs, swamps, ditches, streams, areas of the sea, they are all the same to a "CLETRAC".

A "CLETRAC" will replace a troop of horses.

A "CLETRAC" does not need to be fed excepting when actually in use.

One man with a "CLETRAC" and a trailer will do the same work as a gang of men and a troop of horses.

"CLETRACS" can be fitted with Power Pulley and Take-Off so as to drive other machinery - pump water, cut chaff, baling press, besides ploughing, harrowing, mowing etc.

We are Agents for "CLETRAC" and want to see one of these handy tractors on every farm, two on the larger farms.

Mass Produced Houses.

At the Oldmixon works of the Bristol Aeroplane Company prefabricated houses are being turned out at the rate of 30 a day from the conveyor belt where parts are moving 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches down the assembly lines. Houses are leaving the factory gates less than 20 hours after their first parts were assembled. Recently, the same company has exhibited a new type of permanent prefabricated seven-roomed house, known as the "Alcete". It has two living rooms on the ground floor, divided by folding doors; the kitchen is liberally equipped with built-in cupboards as are also the three bedrooms upstairs.

The principal materials used are concrete, half a ton of steel, 1,700 lb. of aluminium, and 100 cubic feet of timber. Seven hundred man-hours are required for construction in the factory, and 40 man-days for erecting the building on the site. The Company estimates its output could be 100 a week, and the cost is estimated at £1,500 each.

Plans are being prepared to erect two eight-storey blocks of prefabricated flats in the London area. They will house about 160 families and will vary in size from one to five rooms.

It is estimated that the whole 8-storey block could be erected on the site within 12 weeks, mainly by factory labour.

The architects claim that the "pre-stressed" frame will use only about one-sixth of the amount of steel used for a normal structural frame.

The Lillishall Company have started the manufacture of a standard type of factory building which is already in great demand.

Many countries in Europe have purchased licences for the manufacture of British type houses. The Dutch have bought a licence for a type of concrete prefab. A Belgian firm is already producing a British steel house under licence. Several British systems are included in French prefabs now in production.

Local Notes.

Dances took place last Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings in the Gymnasium Hall, with music provided by radiogram, local band and the dance band, Royal Marines, from H.M.S. "Nigeria". These dances were well attended and much enjoyed.

Last Saturday evening a programme of music by the Royal Marine Band, H.M.S. "Nigeria" was given in the Gymnasium Hall from 6 p.m. until 7 p.m. This programme was relayed to listeners in town and in the Camp.

Sailors from our visiting ships have enjoyed games of football during their stay in town.

The Red Cross Canteen has been open during the stay of H.M.S. "Snipe" and H.M.S. "Nigeria" in Stanley and this homely centre, held in the Drill Hall has meant much to those who have used it.

We welcome back to the Falklands the Rt. Rev. Bishop Evans, who arrived here last Sunday in the s.s. "Lafonia". Bishop Evans is hoping to pay a visit to some parts of the Camp during his short stay in our midst.

Fortunately the weather was reasonably fine last weekend, which enabled our visitors to "have a look around" our capital town and its neighbourhood.

We also welcome to the Colony our new Chief Constable Mr Jenkins, and his wife and family.

Among the passengers in the s.s. "Lafonia" was Mr Potter, the correspondent of the Daily Express, who flew out to Montevideo in order to get here to cover the Dependencies situation which has received so much publicity lately all over the world.

Fortunately the man was seen and later the suspected person was arrested and charged with the theft. We understand that the man had a revolver in his possession at the time. The culprit has been charged in the Magistrate's Court, Stanley.

a special relay of very high quality and applicable to many purposes. It has been introduced to the authorities in 24 countries and many orders have been obtained. Factory Laundry.

A machine which makes possible a factory laundry service as an additional welfare factor to increase production is now being taken up by industrialists in Britain. At present 73 per cent of all washing is done in the home. If, therefore, the woman is able to have her washing done at the factory for a nominal sum, she will not only be relieved of an arduous household drudgery, but factory absenteeism, due to the wash-day, will be greatly reduced. Recruiting supplies of female labour, Jeremiah Ambler, a Bradford firm of wool manufacturers, have already instituted a laundry service in order to eliminate "Monday absenteeism". The employees bring their laundry to work with them, hand it in, and collect it the same evening, washed, dried, and ready for ironing.

The machine is marketed by Fisher & Ludlow, Ltd., who also have a completely automatic washing machine, known as the Bendix Home Laundry, which uses no more electric power than the radio.

Alarm Clock.

An interesting device for absent-minded listeners is being made by E.K. Cole. An electric clock with an alarm is added to the set; it switches on the set or gives a musical tone warning at a required time, and switches off at the end of the programme if desired. Beethoven Electric Equipment Ltd. have devised a remote warning unit which will enable a cry from the baby to be heard both in the kitchen and the lounge.

Dear Girls and Boys,

I sometimes try to picture all who read this Corner while I am writing it. I can see young people in the town and others out in the Camp all reading about Robert Rabbit, or trying to do the Crossword Puzzle or whatever else may appear on this page. Why not write and let us have suggestions of what you would like in this Corner? - After all it is your very own part of the paper.

I am so sorry that so many of you have been sick but let us hope that all the sickness will soon fly away.

Don't forget that we are also pleased to have your drawings - especially from you who live in the Camp.

His Excellency in the Dependencies.

Travelling on board H.M.S. "Nigeria" His Excellency the Governor visited Deception last week and inspected our base there. A detachment of the Royal Marines mounted guard and a salute of seventeen guns was fired. Protest was made to the continued unauthorised occupation by the Argentines of Fourquoi Pas Bay where it was revealed their headquarters was central heated and there was a large store, workshops and powerful wireless equipment.

His Excellency the Governor boarded the John Biscoe to greet Major Butler F.I.D.S. leader and to congratulate all concerned on their memorable Spring and Summer sledging journeys. We learn that all our men were fit and well. The "Nigeria" has now an additional passenger in the shape of a young husky dog called "Jeeves" presented to the Governor by F.I.D.S.

Later more protests were lodged with the Argentine authorities and one with the Chilean authorities for the similar unauthorised occupation.

Golden Fleece Ashore

About three o'clock in the afternoon during the gale of 22nd February the "Golden Fleece" broke from her moorings and was driven ashore -striking at low tide and as there was a very heavy sea at the time no one was able to go to her assistance. On the Monday there was no abating in the gale and the schooner was at the mercy of the breakers. Next day the wind continued to blow, causing further damage to the Corceass schooner.

Examination of the damage was possible on the Wednesday and revealed considerable injury to her hull- the Golden Fleece's windlass had apparently failed in the gale thus freeing the schooner. The owner Mr Jason Hanson is hopeful that he will be able to repair the damage. We hope before very long to hear of the "Golden Fleece" speeding on her way once again between her home port and West Point Island.

Interesting Notes.Radar for Rail Safety.

British research workers are probing various methods to enable the engine driver with his precious passenger loads to "see" in the thickest fog. Theoretically there would be no difficulty in fitting trains with radar apparatus - especially electric trains, which would themselves provide all the power needed, at an installation cost not above £2,000 for each train. There are, however, some practical difficulties to which the experts are seeking answers, and radar will be brought to the aid of the engine driver as soon as these difficulties have been smoothed away and the operation of radar on trains may be considered foolproof.

Meanwhile the London and North Eastern Railway is trying "semi-radar". When the red, yellow and green lights of their special high-powered signals are completely obscured by fog, an experimental train travels a special length of track. Inside the driving cab is a replica of the signal lights. From the fog-obscured signal travels a series of electrical impulses which are picked up by a receptive rod carries across the front of the locomotive.

Constant interruption of the current from the fogged signals records a broken set of impulses and lights a green lamp on the driver's dashboard - safety. Fewer impulses and the green light goes out - two yellow lamps glow to warn "Caution". No impulses at all - and the red lamp for Danger and Stop lights up.

The Great Western Railway has adapted another automatic device for use with the four-aspect light signalling system. The new installation can be fitted to any existing railway track in Britain. The efficiency of the new device was demonstrated recently between Reading and Paddington at a speed of 96 miles per hour. For the "caution" type of signal a new aural signal has been developed by Great Western Engineers. It is the combination of the siren with an electricity operated horn.

"The Stina's Voyage"

The whale catcher "Stina" left South Georgia with Captain Begg in charge and a crew of fifteen on the 22nd of February bound for Stanley. On leaving the Dependency snow and fog were encountered and on the Sunday night a storm was met blowing in from the South West. By the Monday conditions had improved a little but stormy conditions were with them once again on the Tuesday. The weather on the Wednesday was fairly good with a strong westerly wind blowing and the best part of the voyage was entering Stanley harbour! On the catcher besides the mail were twelve King penguins of which five arrived in town - these five being kept under the focsle head. The other seven birds were in crates and heavy seas smashed the crates to pieces and the penguins escaped! The penguins appeared to enjoy the spray breaking over them. The "Stina" went from Stanley to Albermarle and returned to town on the 4th March.

Congratulations.

We extend our congratulations to Mr and Mrs Fred Blyth of Fitzroy today 11th of March when they celebrate their silver wedding anniversary. Of their married years they have spent nearly 24 at Fitzroy. We hope that Mr and Mrs Blyth will be long spared to each other.

CENTENARY OF A PIONEER LAND-OWNER.

In the year 1848 John Bonner came out from Liverpool for Samuel Fisher Lafone to take charge of his establishment at Saladero, at the Southern entrance to Brenton Loch, where hides from the wild cattle were collected and treated for shipment.

John Bonner continued with The Falkland Islands Company when Lafone sold his interests to them in 1851. He became Camp Manager in 1854 - 64 at Darwin, and again on Rudd's land 1864 - 67.

In 1867 he took up Campo Verde, as it was then called, and Port Sussex, making his settlement at Port Sussex; afterwards moving the settlement to San Carlos when he added the adjoining sections of Bodie Peak and 3rd Corral to the farm. He devoted himself entirely to cattle until 1873 when he bought 1,000 Ewes from the Company and commenced sheep breeding.

John Bonner married Miss Susan Reddy of Tullamore (Ireland) at Stanley in 1866, and they had a family of five daughters and three sons. He died at Southport, Lancs. in 1892 after retirement from the Falklands.

Of his family the following three daughters are still alive and well in England, Mrs Barr (Gertrude), Mrs Robinson (Elizabeth) and Mrs Richards (Kitty). The eldest daughter Helen (Mrs Farrow) died early this year at an advanced age. His eldest son, Harry, succumbed to blood poisoning in the Falklands in 1892 (un-married), and was succeeded by the second son, the late George Bonner O.B.E., J.P., who controlled the family property for many years and always took an active interest in the Falklands until his death at Droitwich Spa in 1940. The third son, Lieut. Colonel Singleton Bonner D.S.O., was killed in May 1917 when leading his battalion into action at Gavrelle in France.

The farm at San Carlos is now administered by John F. Bonner J.P., only son of the late George Bonner and grandson of the original John Bonner.

The fourth generation in the Colony is to be seen by the recent arrival of Christopher Bonner, only son of Mr & Mrs J. F. Bonner, having just completed 7 years at St. George's College, Buenos Aires. (Contributed).

Interesting Notes.

This is the reason why major racecourses throughout the world are using almost exclusively machines made in Britain.

District Hot Water System.

A new system of district heating for the rebuilt areas of the city of London is under consideration by a special committee. It is proposed that stations shall be situated outside the City on sites existing or discarded electricity stations from which heat could be transmitted to sub-stations within the City by underground pipes.

The advantages of district heating by electricity are listed as follows: Ample and cheap heat for space heating and for hot tap-water to buildings; reduction in thick and yellow fog by prevention of atmospheric pollution; saving of 100,000 tons of coal a year; reduction of fire risks; saving in building space as district-heated buildings would not require coal fire-places, central heating boilers, fuel stores or chimneys.

The estimate of cost has been based on the assumption that exhaust steam at electricity generating stations could be put to more profitable use.

this highly interesting talk. Mr Barton mentioned the fact that there were two lots of penguins in Stanley awaiting shipment en route to zoos - one comprising King penguins.

Mr Barton was hoping to make the journey out to Camp in a bren carrier once again - by this time he must be one of the most skilled of our drivers of these rather heavy transport machines.

Once again we are indebted to Mr Barton for a first class news round-up and we congratulate him on being invited to, and taking part in a B.B.C. Broadcast when he was in England recently with Mrs Barton.

DANCE AT SAN CARLOS.

On Friday afternoon Mr Bonner heard that the Snipe would be at San Carlos the following day and that the ship would like some shooting and a cookhouse dance. The shooting was easy. The dance was a different matter. Anyone who knows anything at all about the camp knows how a dance is anticipated and how many buns and cakes are baked for it and how many days the preparation takes. And this was a special dance with catering and partners to find for many hungry and thirsty men.

Mr Bonner immediately sent a message to Port San Carlos inviting that settlement for the weekend with special emphasis on the woman and children coming and Mrs Cameron answered straight away "What would you like us to bring?" and Mrs Bonner baking frenziedly with all the women in the settlement, paused for a minute to reply "Cups and tumblers and bread".

Saturday dawned and parties heedless of swollen streams began riding from Douglas and Teal Inlet intent on the excitement of seeing a Ship. Most of Port San Carlos came in the Redwing and there, creeping towards them round Fannings Head was a great grey bulk. Crew and passengers unanimously elected to go and meet her and have a good look at her gliding through the water. As she passed handkerchiefs were waved and cameras clicked and then there was another good view as the Snipe lay at anchor and the Redwing chugged round her on the way to the jetty.

That night about 30 must have been entertained in the cookhouse to a substantial cold supper while each house had about seven from the ship as well as visitors from other settlements and the Bonners had all the officers who were not on duty so that when the first ladies arrived in the cookhouse a sea of navy blue floated up before their bashful eyes.

The dance never flagged. The Falkland Islands men politely stood aside. The men from the Snipe had learned several of our dances during a strenuous week in Stanley and simple things like the Ninepins were quickly mastered. The bar was well patronised but not too well.

No Empty Grates Down Somerset Way.

From dawn to dusk whole families in Somerset are reaping a rich harvest of unrationed fuel - 28 lb. blocks of peat for door to door sale at £4 a thousand. Father and son, toiling bare-backed in shallow trenches as their ancestors did centuries ago, cannot work hard enough to meet the demand for the fuel in these days of coal shortage.

Forty years ago the peat-cutters received no more than ten shillings per thousand blocks. Today, a skilled worker can dig 1,500 to 2,000 blocks a day. The men's wives and daughters stack the blocks in neat-spaced rows to dry, a process known as wind-rowing and ruckling. The father of one of the workers supplied Queen Victoria with Somerset peat for her palace hearths.

successfully completed tests with a lorry that ran on peat. An Austrian named Zschorner, who experimented with peat for fifteen years proved that fabrics woven from peat fibres had the toughness of linen with the warmth of wool. He exhibited a building in which everything, including carpets, curtains and wallpapers were made from peat.

Peat is a splendid preservative. Over a century ago, the body of a woman who had disappeared nearly 100 years previously, was found buried in a peat bed by cutters. The body was perfectly preserved and even the striped petticoat and untanned leather shoes she wore were untouched by time. Superstitious Highlanders used to pass newly-born babies over a peat fire to avert the "evil eye". As an extra precaution, they carried a piece of burning peat in tongs round the bed where the baby slept.

About 1a.m. Mr Bonner spoke on behalf of the settlement and said how delighted everyone was to entertain a warship again, the first at San Carlos for many years, and Commander Forbes, on behalf of the Snipe, said how delighted they all were to be at San Carlos, that everyone would be welcome on board on Sunday afternoon between 2 and 5, that the children would have a party and cinema show and that in the meantime there would be a boat at 2a.m. for those who felt they couldn't stick it out till the 7 o'clock boat. Everybody cheered everybody else, the exhausted dancers had another breather while the talented obliged the company with many songs, and then dancing began again with vigour. Commander Forbes must have been surprised at the number of his men who could stick it out till 7a.m. One of the officers was heard to say that at no port had so many remained ashore till the morning boat. One man was heard to remark that it was better than New York-far more homelike-and Mr Bonner said "Thank goodness the Lafonia will be here soon with more beer!"

On Sunday morning there must have been a good deal of sleeping in in the settlement but everyone had brightened up by the afternoon and at 3 o'clock San Carlos was almost deserted, the mutton left sizzling slowly in the oven ready for a supper that was fated not to be eaten that night. But how a gale sprang up suddenly and how the Snipe put to sea with a goodly portion of the North Camp on board is another exciting story.

Wedding at Fox Bay.

On Saturday 6th March at Fox Bay West, the wedding took place between Evelyn Copeland and George C. Short - at 7 p.m.

The official ceremony was conducted by the District Registrar, Eric S. Smith and attended by almost all the people from both Fox Bays. The bride was most charmingly attired in a floral silk dress with a large wine coloured hat to blend. The witnesses attending were Philip Short, brother of the bridegroom, and Mrs Eric Smith.

After the ceremony there was the signing of the marriage certificates and then, silence and order gave place to a rush of congratulations and well wishing and a real showering of rice on the bridal couple. The next excitement was the cutting of the really beautiful 3 tier wedding cake made by Mr Summers of Stanley. Cake and drinks were handed round and toasts to the happy couple were made. Soon after this the floor was swept clear of rice and the accordion struck up the first waltz, which was led by Mr and Mrs Short. The dance was a great success. Fun and laughter and much strenuous dancing took place from 8 p.m. until 2 a.m. The M.C. Mr Philip Short, carried out his duties admirably, and there was not a single flat minute. The music too seemed to have an extra swing and was provided by Mr and Mrs Bob Pearson and Miss Olga Newing, The refreshment spell at coffee time was welcomed by all, the cakes and buns were made by Mrs Eric Smith. After the last waltz was over, Mr and Mrs Short were carried round the room to the music of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow" - Then followed "Auld Lang Syne" and much cheering. Goodnights were exchanged and so ended a very happy evening. The 50 or 60 guests now got down to the serious business of getting home, some by horse back and some by boat and others settled down until the morning.

Mr and Mrs Short rode out next morning to the house at Mount Sullivan where they will make their future home. We take this opportunity to wish Mr and Mrs Short much happiness. (Contributed).

EASTER MESSAGE :::: "Christ is risen" R.G.R.C. ^{By-}

"We preach Christ crucified" said St Paul to the Christians at Corinth, and at Athens he was mocked because he preached "Jesus and the resurrection". The Cross, the gallows of the Roman Empire, has become the symbol of Sacrifice and Victory - Why? On Good Friday evening the rulers in Jerusalem breathed again; the man who had challenged the right of the State to complete supremacy over the life of man, who had confronted the kingdoms of this world with a kingdom not of this world; who had attacked the black market in the Temple; who had won the heart of the uneducated masses; this Man was safely out of the way, dead on a Cross outside the city.

He died to show God's Love to man, He died to redeem man and restore him to union with God again. On Good Friday evening the cause of goodness and righteousness seemed lost, but on Easter Day Christ is risen: the powers of evil are overcome, sin and death are conquered. But it is only in the power of Christ that we rise again, only in His power that we overcome sin in our lives. We must seek forgiveness of our sins through His Blood shed on the Cross, and without any reserves try to apply His teaching to our lives.

"We preach Christ crucified, unto Jews a stumbling block and unto Greeks foolishness; but unto them that are called both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God and the wisdom of God". That, with "Jesus and the resurrection", is still the faith of Christ's Church today.

STANLEY TOWN COUNCIL.

A Meeting of the Town Council was held on Wednesday 17th March. Mr Robson was out of Stanley and Mr McAtasney unable to attend. Dr Sladen was called away from the meeting.

A letter from Government was read pointing out that as the Council was not responsible for maintenance of the Gymnasium building Government were not prepared to pay rent for the use of offices etc.

It was decided that the Sanitary Carter should make his rounds between midnight and 7.30 a.m. in Summer and between midnight and 8 a.m. during the winter.

A Public Assistance Committee was formed, consisting of the Chairman, Miss Biggs, the Town Clerk as Secretary and Dr Hamilton as non-Council member.

In view of the fact that wet weather had delayed the carting of peat it was agreed to advise Government against returning to Local Mean time before the end of the month.

The present system of ash dumping was condemned and it was agreed that the sea wall to the west of Sullivan House be filled in. The present scavenging contract was discussed in view of its coming up for tender in the near future.

The lack of street lights in certain localities is to be brought to the notice of the Electrical Department.

The suggestion that a tax be made on the export of live birds was forwarded to the Colonial Secretary.

THE STANLEY COMET.

Recently we were handed a paper which no doubt will bring back memories to many of our readers - the paper was "The Stanley Comet" and its heading announced it as "The Oldest Established Newspaper in these Islands" and also the fact that it had the largest circulation in the Colony. The Editor was Mr W.C. Girling and the paper which was beautifully printed cost one shilling per copy. The paper we saw was Volume 2 Number 1 and was dated October 15th 1913.

We give the following extract from the "Social Notes" column of this splendid little paper. Here they are -

Social Notes.

Stanley Cottage is the latest of our houses to be linked up by telephone with other Stanley subscribers as well as the trunk lines to Darwin, Fitzroy, Port Louis etc. Mrs Dean's number at the exchange is 26.

Readers of Newspapers from home will have observed that His Majesty the King gave a Garden Party at Buckingham Palace in July to representative members of the teaching profession, as well as various eminent personages specially interested in education. We believe that Mr and Mrs A.M. Souter were honoured with an invitation, and were present, and we venture to think this honour reflects upon our excellent school, its staff and scholars.

We learn that the West Falkland Sports Association will hold its next meeting at Fort Howard in February, and that there is every prospect of an excellent programme being well contested. By the way, we are told the Stanley Sports Association have a Cart Horse Parade in contemplation, and we feel convinced that this will meet with hearty support.

We have reason to believe that a vigorous attempt to complete the King Edward VII Memorial Hospital is being made, and that the Committee hope it may be possible to ask His Excellency the Administrator to declare it open before the end of the year.

Many of our readers will share our regret at the

Around and About

There is still a considerable amount of sickness in Stanley, including the sore throat. We seem to have had more than our share of illness in the capital of recent months.

We understand that a Montevideo Broadcasting Station, with a transmission in English gave out the other night that the "Lafonia" was expected to sail from there for England last Tuesday night.

With the time changing this weekend in Stanley we feel that winter is really upon us once more - but the summer which is just over has been a very poor one as far as weather goes.

Tonight (Thursday) is London Bridge Programme night!

somewhat serious illness of Mr Duncan Watson, and join with us in wishing him a speedy and complete recovery. His many-sided activities have brought him into contact with all sections of the community, and he is deservedly respected and liked on all hands.

We hear that Major Searight is still in Chile; he was able to meet His Excellency the Governor at Coronel, and proceed with him to Concepcion and Valparaiso.

Although we cannot personally vouch for it we are told that an excellent account of the Barque "Criccieth Castle" and of the subsequent extraordinary sufferings of the crew, from the pen of Captain Thomas, appears in the "Wide World Magazine". It will be remembered that one of the boats ultimately reached Stanley, and that the Captain, Mrs and Master Thomas, as well as a number of the men were cared for in the Victoria Cottage Home.

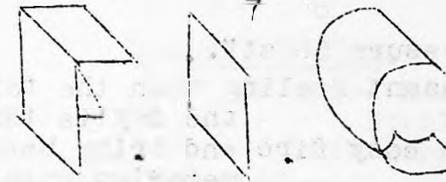

Mr Bernard Stickney has returned once more to England, after some few months spent in these Islands, amidst familiar surroundings and at his old occupation of farming the "tiresome, bleaty, stupid, troublesome brute upon four rambling, dust-raising feet".

H.M.S. "Glasgow" has been away from Monte Video - whence she has kindly sent us news by wireless - until the beginning of October, when she was due to return there to meet H.M.S. "New Zealand". Preparations are being made to give this great battleship a hearty reception when she reaches Uruguayan waters.

We are sure that readers of our bright little contemporary, the Church Magazine, will fully appreciate the new type and printing press, and will have readily pardoned the delay in issue, knowing that it was due to a change of residence.

Last mail brought us news of several of those who are away from us in search of health or recreation, or both, and a party was then being made up for an

"The Treasure Chest".

It's a nice and pleasant feeling when the toil of the day is thru,
To sit in front of a cosy fire and bring back memories anew.
Memories are treasures of happy days gone past
And as you turn back the pages of the years
You find ones that forever last.
There was the time in days gone by, we hurried off to school
There to learn to read and write and be taught the golden rule;
And there was the day we first started work
And the day when first we shaved,
The little things that keep rolling back
In our "Memory Chest" we have saved.
I sorted mine out one by one and it gave the greatest pleasure
To know it all belonged to me, when I surveyed my treasure.
But the greatest of them all I think
Is the friendships we have made Some born in the days of trouble and strife
And older ones that never fade.
New ones also will go there too to be kept fresh with the rest
All safely locked and stowed away in our beloved treasure chest,
And later on in years to come as we sit again
by the fire
From out of the chest they'll leap anew, fond memories to inspire.

extensive tour of the Continent. When these travellers return, however, we shall still address them in the vulgar tongue in the hope that they have not adopted that of any of their recent hosts.

We understand that amongst those who were competing at Bisley for the Ashburton Shield, which is open to teams of eight from the various Public Schools, was a scion of one of the smaller houses in Stanley, and that the paternal and maternal bosoms "visibly swelled" with justifiable pride.

Captain Frank Rowlands has recently taken up his residence in the cabin of the "Lady Elizabeth"; though he does not expect many nocturnal visitors he will be prepared to give a warm reception to any that may call.

We observed the following reference to our Islands in a recent number of the Parish Magazine at Monte Video, and transcribe it here as showing that our old friend, Mr Blount, has not lost his interest in the Falklands.

"Some Falkland Island people have been passing through Monte Video lately on their way to Australia.
Now that the population of the Islands is increasing, and all the available good land in Patagonia has been taken up, there is no scope for the coming generation in the Colony, and many of the shepherds therefore, who have been able to save money in the Falklands, and cannot lay it out there to the advantage of their families, are turning their attention to Australia, the Government of which is offering good terms to suitable settlers, and we are sure they will do well in their new surroundings."

The members of the Over-seas Club are patting themselves on the back over the fact that at their Bohemian Concert they introduced to the public a very accomplished and pleasing vocalist in the person of Mrs G.M. Smith, wife of our cheery Harbour Master. Her singing was much appreciated and proved a revelation to many of the audience.

Flying Notes

The popularity of gliding grows day by day in Britain.

Applications are coming in almost daily at the headquarters of the Gliding Association in London for the establishment of new gliding clubs.

The Bristol Aeroplane Company's new helicopter has been designed with four seats, and the aircraft is intended for use as an air taxi, feeder service, rescue work, or for artillery spotting.

Experiments have been carried out in West England with a helicopter letter delivery service.

THE STANLEY COMET.

We have been very glad to welcome to Stanley - even if for only a short visit - Mrs G.A. Felton and Mrs R.S. Felton, and it is pleasant to see smoke once more rising from the Chimneys at Malvina House. With so many unoccupied houses in, what we consider, our delightful town we are occasionally tempted to deplore the fact that the attractions of the Camp are sufficient to keep there those who might otherwise spend a few weeks in the Metropolis.

The departure of Captain and Mrs Watt and Miss Watt, after a residence in our midst of over twelve years, is an event which will be regretted by many. A fierce light beats upon all of us in the Falklands, where everything is known about everyone, and we who have the best means of knowing are aware that no good work or cause appealed in vain to either Captain or Mrs Watt. They have both interested themselves in many concerns of our public life, and the sincere good wishes of the whole community will accompany them in their retirement.

Readers of the "Comet" who would care to see any of the back numbers may purchase the same, upon application to the Publisher, Mr Barry Girling; the price remains the same as before. The Publisher will also be pleased to forward copies of the present number to any address, upon receipt of remittance.

Things We Should Like To Know.

(Also from the same - "The Stanley Comet")

IF it is really true that a new steamer will be out this year to take the place of the "Columbus?"

IF the Town Hall will actually be completed by next October?

IF the Cathedral Organ is going to be rebuilt?

IF a certain person is going to offer to asphalt the Stanley roads at his own expense?

IF silk pyjamas are all the rage in the Darwin Cookhouse?

IF the Wireless Communication between the East and West Islands will be completed in 1914?

We too share in that triumph because through it we have the assurance that Jesus' death on the Cross to give us forgiveness of our sins was acceptable by God. So now we can all find for ourselves the truth of the fact that Jesus is our Saviour.

Local Notes.

The "Porvenir" arrived back in Stanley early last Friday morning from Salvador Waters. Mr C.Jacobsen travelled in in the vessel from Teal Inlet.

The s.s."Fitzroy" reached Stanley from Montevideo at 9.30 on Thursday evening. The Post Office Staff handled the mail throughout Good Friday, letters being available in the morning, papers and parcels in the afternoon.

Passengers from Montevideo in the local steamer last Thursday were Mr and Mrs D.J.Clark.

Appropriate services were held in the Stanley Churches during the Easter period. Last Friday night at a service in Christ Church Cathedral the "Story of the Cross" was sung and in the course of the service solo parts were sung by Miss M.Porter and Mr R.Hannaford. The readings were given by the Chaplain - the Rev.R.G.R. Calvert.

Local residents who are "berry-picking"enthusiasts have been out on the Common lately picking Tea-berries. These are popular eaten just as they are, and are also much appreciated instead of currents in a cake.

Motor vehicles in Stanley had to show indentification number plates as from today.

Local Notes.

Stanley time went back to the usual winter time last week end and we had a fore taste of what winter can be like here in the snow squalls and bitter weather of last Sunday and Monday.

An enjoyable dance took place in the Gymnasium last Monday night given by F.I.D.S. members from here and overseas. His Excellency the Governor and Mrs Miles Clifford were present for a time during the evening.

Last Sunday evening the local broadcast took place from the Stanley Station at the same time as the week before the news being read at 6 p.m.

During her stay in Montevideo recently the s.s. "Fitzroy" went on dock, the bottom of the vessel being scraped.

In the third week in April the s.s. "Fitzroy" is provisionally due to leave Stanley for Hill Cove, Pebble Island, and Salvador Waters. After this she will make a trip to Montevideo and then a tour trip around the Camp.

Mr D.J. Draycott, Supervisor of Camp education, is at present on the East Falklands and is shortly due to visit San Carlos, Port San Carlos, Darwin in connection with education. Mr Draycott hopes to visit the Islands on the East later.

MEDICAL SERVICE IN THE SCOTTISH HIGHLANDS.

By MacNair Reid.

At a time when Britain is contemplating a State Medical Service, it is interesting to know that a similar service in miniature has been operating with great success in the Scottish Highlands for over thirty years. Under this scheme medical practitioners have financial security, while their patients, scattered widely over wild and lonely country, have excellent medical and nursing services.

The British people are at present discussing a great new undertaking in social legislation - a comprehensive State Medical Service. Controversy goes on with varying intensity all over the country, and Parliament will ultimately thrash out the details of, and vote upon, a Bill which the Labour Government will introduce. It might be to the advantage of anyone who is interested in the chances of such a vast scheme succeeding to know that already a similar scheme, but in miniature, has been successfully in operation in Britain for over thirty years. This is the Highlands and Islands Medical Service, which operates in the north of Scotland. Long before the economic and social conditions of the Scottish Highlands and Islands were getting anything like the public consideration afforded them today, a Liberal Government in Westminster was brought to realise the precarious nature of health services generally in Highland communities, and it took action. To understand properly the legislation that was then passed - in 1913 and subsequently - one must, of course, know something of the economic and social trends in that far-scattered and thinly populated roof of Scotland.

The Highlands and Islands were at one time comparatively prosperous. Gradually, however, in the 19th century, the great industrial areas in other parts of Britain drained away their young manhood and womanhood. Once lucrative trades fell to dangerous levels,

The Late William Clifton

We regret to report the death, which occurred in Stanley last Thursday of Mr William Clifton at the age of 67 years. Mr Clifton, who had been in the employment of the Falkland Islands Company for the greatest part of his life came to town recently in the s.s. "Lafonia" from North Arm where he was employed as cook, on account of his health.

Deceased, who was predeceased by his wife some years ago, was a native of England and for a time worked in Stanley, then at Bleaker Island, and after that at North Arm.

To his two sons and daughter we extend our sympathy at this time.

The funeral of the late Mr Clifton took place from Christ Church Cathedral last Saturday.

Local Shipping.

The m.v. "John Biscoe" was due to leave earlier this week for a voyage round the Camp calling at Fox Bay. The s.s. "Fitzroy" was due to leave Stanley about the same time for the Dependencies including South Georgia.

and with the spread of deer forests and shooting estates, the people's native wealth dwindled.

As this was going on over many years there were gradual but inevitable social changes, and one of these was apparent in the circumstances and character of medical practitioners. It came about here and there that only one doctor was left in a wide and difficult area where formerly there had been two or three. This doctor faced arduous journeys on bad roads, or over roadless wastes, and long sea and loch voyages. And in the end he was without remuneration, for his poor patients were unable to pay. Doctors, therefore, could not make a living out of it, and they thinned away.

Facing this actual situation, a Commission that was set up in 1912 to enquire into it, presented a Report that moved Parliament deeply, and out of it was born the "Highlands and Islands (Medical Service) Grand Act". The results of this beneficent Act - one of the best things accomplished by that remarkable Parliament - have been profound. Today there is not a parish in the Scottish Highlands, north of Perth, and excluding the Burgh of Inverness, and not an island, that is not encompassed by the Scheme.

A Fund was created in 1913 for grants to about 150 medical practitioners to be appointed to parishes throughout the whole area. This grant was to be adequate as a basis of livelihood, and it was assessed in individual cases according to the transport and geographic difficulties to be encountered. One of the conditions of appointment was that the doctor should possess himself of a car, and he was paid a mileage rate when the Scheme first got started. Island doctors, who travelled by steamer or motor-boat, were paid expenses. Nowadays, all costs of transport are included in an all-in grant from the Fund. The Administration of the Fund is undertaken by the Department of Health for Scotland.

The grant from this Fund, which is annually

The Late Mrs John Coutts

We report with regret the death in town at her residence last Monday of Mrs Maggie Coutts at the age of 44 years.

Mrs Coutts came to town with her husband and family some months ago after living for over twenty years on Lively Island where her kindness to callers was well-known.

To Mr Coutts and family we extend our sympathy in their loss.

The funeral was expected to take place from the house yesterday the service being conducted by the Rev.W.F.McWhan.

An Appreciation.

In the passing of Mrs Coutts people like ourselves would specially wish to extend our sympathy to Mr Coutts and the family.

Mrs Coutts was always ready to give all callers a warm welcome to her home on Lively Island and nothing was ever too much trouble to her. Many a time we had reason to appreciate her warmhearted kindness and hospitality and we know this fact is equally true of all other visitors to her home too.

Just a Thought. In John Chapter 3 Verse 16 we read "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life". The glorious truth of these words spoken by the Son of God lets us see that each of us is included in the invitation to obey God's voice. Our text assures us that we are all included in the invitation to accept Jesus as the Saviour and Captain of our lives.

ill-health from the drearier shadow of anxiety. It has done more. It has had a profound psychological effect on the people, who have become 'health conscious'. The services available are being more and more called upon the more the wide activities of the whole Scheme are realised.

Under his contract with the Department of Health for Scotland, the doctor has a fixed fee schedule. He must attend the families, and dependants of insured persons, at no matter what distance from his home, at modified fees. These are 5/- for an initial visit, and 3/6 for each subsequent visit. The same obtains with uninsured people, such as crofters and cottars, and all others who are in humble circumstances.

A great ancillary service to all this, of course, is that of nursing. In the bad old days, this was deplorably inadequate and undependable. Today, nursing associations throughout the Highlands receive liberal grants from the Fund to ensure efficient district nursing, to provide nurses with houses, motor-cars and bicycles. The result is that this service is as expertly run as is that of medicine itself. There are now well over 200 nurses working in the area, and all of them are certified mid-wives.

Naturally, the 1939-45 war held up some extensions to the Scheme that were being contemplated. Now, however, these will gradually be taken up again! There is no doubt but that, had the war not taken place, the Highlands and Isles would by this time have had a much bigger air ambulance service than exists. This will be developed. Indeed, it is the most important of immediate developments.

With the strengthening of Highland economy, which is in prospect by the reviving of the fisheries and agricultures, and the growth of light industries that should follow the great hydro-electric plans now being embarked upon, the Department of Health has in existence a health service that will be adequate for any influx of population.

appeal for uniformity over the matter of Public Holidays at least in Stanley if not in the whole Colony?

Is it not time that certain holidays were recognised as the right of all and that anyone expected to work on them is entitled to extra pay, as work on Sundays. This is an accepted principle in Britain.

Further I would suggest confining such holidays to those accepted in England - not England plus Scotland and a few more! These are: Christmas Day, Boxing Day, Good Friday, Easter Monday, Whitsun Monday and the first Monday in August. The latter might well be transferred in the Southern Hemisphere to the first Monday in February.

Dear Girls and Boys,

If you look at the date above you will see that today is April Fools Day - and this morning people will have tried to fool each other saying when successful in making you believe their story "Hunt the Gawk" and moving away laughing. "Gawk" simply means a person who is easily taken in.

This is a very old custom. Once upon a time there was a certain small boy who had this trick played on him - he forgot it was April Fools Day and when he was told that a neighbour was going to take him away for a holiday the little lad was ever so excited and hurried off to pack his bag. He was disappointed when it turned out to be just a "Jag pull". So anyway I hope that you have all been on your guard to make sure no one took advantage of your forgetting that this morning was the 1st of April.

Cheerio,

Until next week,

A week ago last Sunday the schooner "Paloma" owned by Mr Jack Davis, and at the time with Mr J. Halliday in charge, and Messrs W. Hutchinson and C. Parker on board lay at anchor at Triste Island. Conditions rapidly grew bad and soon the wind blowing up stronger every minute from off shore made the getting out into the open sea an impossibility. There was no hope for the ship. All three men on board worked like trojans to clear the vessel so that it might run towards the reef and give them a chance to get on shore - a chance

Dear Mr McWhan,

On the London Bridge Calling Programme which is going out to-night you will be hearing an interview I have had with Bertie Stevensen. I thought his description of the training he is undergoing very interesting and wonder if you would like to have it to print in your Weekly News. Anyhow, I thought it was worth while sending you a copy of it. Bertie himself is looking so happy and is obviously very much enjoying the training.

Occasionally I have a copy of your Weekly News sent to me, or lent by one of the Islanders over here and I am most interested in reading it.

The Falkland Islands have been very much in our news lately owing to the Argentine interference with its Dependencies. However, the Islanders who come into me here do not seem to be worried over it and I am sure the write up the Falklands have had in our British Press has taught many people the whereabouts of that remote British Colony.

With kind regards,
Yours sincerely,

Dear Sir,

As a Kelper and member of the Defence Force, I deplore the lack of publicity given to the Colony's recent double win at Bisley. The team has never been publicly welcomed and the cups themselves remained in their packing cases for some time before being exhibited in the Gymnasium. I now find that they have been sent away in the "Lafonia", seemingly about two months earlier than necessary. Are we ashamed of something?

THE WHITE MAN'S GRAVE.

The Gold Coast is universally known as "The White Man's Grave". It's evil reputation seemingly surpassed that of the other colonies comprising the West African group. The whole of West Africa however, was no health resort during the early years of European occupation. For that matter it is no health resort today and were it not for the fact that medical science has given man the weapons to safeguard himself against deadly diseases such as Malaria and Yellow Fever, white men would still be dying off like flies. Because medical research has provided safeguards, the reputation attributed to the Gold Coast many years ago is no longer applicable. Only the comparatively few Europeans who reside, or have resided, on this coast during more recent years appreciate this; the average individual, in the outside world, still believes that the West African Coast is a death trap. No one will deny that there are still many spots along this coast where one is still dangerously exposed to unhealthy conditions. One's health, unfortunately, is not safeguarded by drugs and vaccines alone. But in the main, Europeans may now enjoy reasonably healthy lives in this area. The measure of health to be enjoyed depends upon the individual. If one accepts and follows medical advice all should be well but any suggestion of excess is likely to bring disaster.

Though malaria has the highest incidence of disease, there is every likelihood of a considerable decrease within a year or so. Quinine was the universal malarial prophylactic until the advent of the reputed wonder drug - Mepacrine which was used almost exclusively, by the fighting services in tropical theatres during the late war. Mepacrine, however, has the unfortunate capacity for turning the skin yellow and consequently is not favourably accepted by civilians. Even more recently another drug - Paludrine has been produced. This does not discolour the skin and moreover, the results of the Miss K. Do tell us something about your practical work.

Mr S. Every Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, and all day each alternate Sunday we go to various districts where there is a Salvation Army Hall in which we hold evangelical meetings, Sunday School Classes and specialized meetings which appeal to young people. We also visit homes in the district and hold open-air meetings at which we sometimes have a band. Unfortunately I cannot play any instrument. Incidentally, we are always prepared to meet any emergency which requires our assistance. At present I am specialising in Young People's training, which we all have to undergo during our nine months in college.

Miss K. Now tell us something of what you do in college.

Mr S. Well, we all have to keep our own rooms and houses clean so we start the day early. Family Prayers are at 9 a.m. followed by private devotions until 9.45. Then we have classes on the Bible, Doctrine, and various other subjects, a knowledge of which is essential to Salvation Army activity, and some days we meet altogether for lectures. Each day we get some time to ourselves and have set hours for study, and have a half day free on Friday.

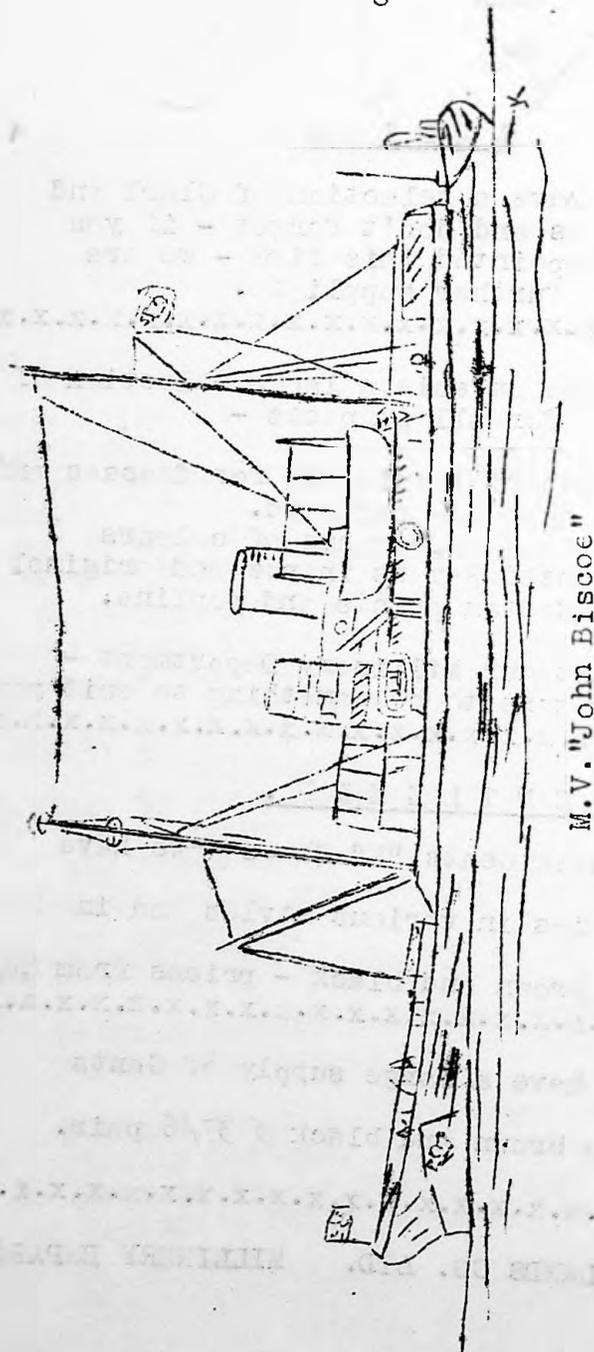

Miss K. That all sounds rather strenuous.

Mr S. Yes indeed it is, but I like it very much and feel I am in the right place training for the right work. I am hoping to be commissioned in the Salvation Army at a ceremony in the Royal Albert Hall on May 14th.

Miss K. Thank you Bertie, I'm sure that everyone in the Islands will be really interested in all you have told us, now from us both Good-night, everyone!

AIR REVIEW.

Britain's largest flying boat, the four-engined Short-Saro-Shetland, was launched at Rochester, Kent, recently. She can carry 70 passengers and a crew of 11, has a maximum speed of 267 miles per hour, and on her two decks she has modern and comfortable amenities. There are a promenade and a fully equipped kitchen. Two auxiliary generating plants provide current for such services as Lighting, Heating, Cooking, Refrigeration, refuelling and air-conditioning.

The series of serial refuelling tests carried out over the South Atlantic has satisfied the British authorities that the system can be used for regular passenger services between London and Bermuda. Now a series of trials is to be begun, this time between Britain and Newfoundland. If refuelling in the difficult winter conditions of the North Atlantic succeeds, flight refuelling is likely to be introduced on all British services this year. In the series of tests conducted over the South Atlantic "flying tankers" were stationed in the Azores. Eleven return trips between Britain and Bermuda were made according to schedule and all refuelling operations were completed without difficulty.

The Handley Page Hermes II air liner is to be used entirely for research to provide data for pressurisation, air-conditioning and sound-proofing.

Further climatic trials are being carried out with the Gloster Meteor jet-propelled fighter. Since 1945 Meteors have been continually subjected to a series of rigorous tests under Arctic conditions in Northern Canada and under arid desert conditions in the Sudan. Meteor IV aircraft have now been shipped to Singapore, and are being tested under tropical conditions of extreme humidity.

April 5th 1948.

Sir,

Politics!

There have been several issues recently discussed in the world press which concern our Colony and its future. But we look in vain for any kind of guidance (or even reference) to these matters in our only newspaper. It is true that you printed in full His Excellency the Governor's speech on the matter some weeks ago, but His Excellency by the nature of his official position is unable to go into the matter in public as deeply as no doubt he would like. I believe, sir, that it is your duty to the public to comment on such World Affairs as these, and we may be sure that the pen of a Christian Minister will be a fearless one provided he is convinced of the truth.

As a matter for discussion I add this. The recent Conference of American nations has raised the question not only of the Sovereignty of these islands and their dependencies, but of European Colonies in America in general. Would it satisfy the American nations if these were given complete self-government? And as an interim measure could a solution be found by the United Kingdom handing over the responsibility for Crown Colonies in or close to the Americas to the Canadian Government? This would still leave the question of French and Dutch possessions, but they are hardly our concern.

When the Bishop of the Falkland Islands discussed the subject in a talk "over the local" some weeks ago one comment I heard was that we who ought to know most about these things know least; and he was asked to discuss the matter again on another occasion but time did not allow.

Now, sir, it is up to you!

Yours faithfully,

R.G.R. Calvert.

We feel that we stated our point of view quite clearly in our editorial on page 14 of the Weekly News of 26th February of this year.

ESTATE LOUIS WILLIAMS

Ref/ 448/185
3rd April 1948.

Dear Sir,

Falkland Islands Wool used for Knitting Wools.

Being curious to find out what connection there might be between knitting wools imported into this Colony and the raw wools exported, we made enquiries from Messrs Patons & Baldwins Ltd., and they have sent us the following information:-

"... over the past 30 years they have bought Falkland Islands wool in large quantities.

The wool is of medium and fine crossbred qualities and is particularly suitable for hand knitting. It has softness and bulk and the better marks are of good colour which enable them to be used for some of the white yarns and delicate shades which are a speciality of Patons & Baldwins.

These wools are used in blends at all their mills at Alloa, Wakefield, Leicester, Melton, Mowbray and Holmfirth.

At auctions Falkland Is. wool is keenly competed for by both Home Trade and the Continent and the price higher than similar qualities from other countries"

No doubt it will be gratifying to the many expert knitters in the Colony to know that they are often making use of some local produce when their needles and pins click merrily along.

Yours faithfully,
p.p. Estate Louis Williams.

SNOEK CAUGHT IN STANLEY HARBOUR LAST WEEK.

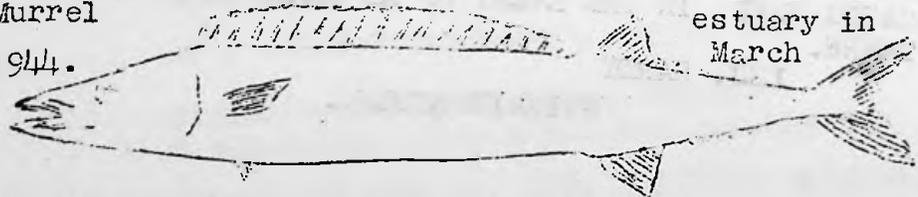

Recently a snoek or barracuda fish came into Stanley Harbour and tried to pass close to a boat where a young man was busy executing repairs; he caught sight of the strange fish and with a piece of wood struck the fish the knock out blow. With the help of a friend and a sturdy boat hook the "monster" was brought ashore....and proved to be a Snoek weighing 8 lbs and measuring three feet in length.

We were informed later that at least one home had a most enjoyable meal from the fish shortly afterwards.

We see looking back through our paper files that a similar fish weighing 8 pounds and measuring 39 inches was caught by the late Mr Hirtle in the Murrel drug surpass anything yet produced. Eighteen months ago a colleague was a chronic malarial case. He was advised to try Paludrine; the advice was accepted and today he is a new man, having suffered but one suppressed bout of the disease in that eighteen months.

It is frequently remarked that Europeans cannot lead normal lives in West Africa. This may contain some measure of truth if only because peoples from temperate zones can never become fully acclimatised to tropical conditions. The writer's experience and observations reveal that climate has a far greater adverse effect on Europeans than disease. Science may conquer and suppress disease but little can be done about climate. One seldom hears people complaining of ill health but complaints relative to climate conditions are frequent. The climate of West Africa varies according to topography, for general purposes it may be classified as hot, very wet and humid. The writer resides in the Forest Belt where the average annual mean temperature of his station is 86.2 degrees, rainfall 65 inches and humidity 85%. Usually, wherever the temperature is high and rainfall comparatively low, such as it is on low plains and open country, the humidity is very much lower. High humidity, and not heat in itself, is the factor which causes Europeans to complain. The effects of this sticky, oppressive heat upon the mind makes it much more necessary for white people to seek the refreshing atmosphere of temperate climates rather than for physical recuperation alone. The climate causes a rapid reduction of energy and many people suffer from functional nervous disabilities. On days when humidity is exceptionally high one barely has sufficient energy or desire to move, concentration is impossible and temper is difficult to control. On such occasions one is able to sympathise with the old timers of 25 years ago and more who gained a reputation for their hectic mode of life. Undoubtedly they sought to preserve their sanity by making the most of the so called pleasures of life. The bush dweller frequently suffers from claustrophobia. (Contd. on page 15)

Happy Occasion.

On Tuesday the 30th of March a Happy Birthday Party took place at the home of Mr and Mrs Alf Hookins, on the occasion of Mrs Hookins' 80th birthday; friends and relatives dropped in to offer their congratulations and sample the beautifully decorated birthday cake - the work of Mrs Smith, her daughter who resides with her.

Mr and Mrs Hookins came to reside in town from San Carlos a number of years ago and we are sure that the congratulations of friends in that area of the Camp as well as our own are offered to our friend on this occasion.

Falkland Islands Labour Federation.

The General Committee of the Federation wish to make it known that a suggestion made recently to the effect that the Federation employed an "agent" to stir up the trouble on the "Tofonia", when some of the crew left the ship, is completely untrue. There was no "agent" and no agitation of any description on the part of the organisation, which was unaware of there being any trouble until after the men had left the ship.

THE WHITE MAN'S GRAVE.

One is surrounded by almost impenetrable bush from which arise mighty forest trees which invariably limit the range of view to but a few yards. Such circumstances impart a sensation of imprisonment and utter loneliness, an acute form of loneliness peculiar to the tropics and quite unlike that experienced when one is alone in a large, strange city. The conditions described are not quite as bad as they may sound. One is not constantly suffering from depression, nervous disabilities, lack of energy or vile temper. One does however, suffer from these complaints often enough to necessitate a change of climate at frequent intervals.

Since the war, European women and children are arriving in West Africa in ever increasing numbers. From each vessel docking along this coast today, hundreds of women and children are disembarking. While their advent will contribute greatly to improve living conditions for the white man, one cannot help wondering if the present large influx is but a splash in the pan. All are agreed that the women and infant children have come to stay but it would appear that the majority are merely seeking a place of refuge until the countries from which they came regain prosperity. So these white women, West Africa is not only a haven but a paradise today. Will they always look upon it as such or will the climate break their spirit in the end? West Africa though no longer a white man's grave will certainly not be a white woman's life-long paradise.

so slender that at least one farewell letter was written -in case the worst should happen. In the dim light of a cloud covered moon, and with snowy conditions around, the jump was made..each men managing to secure a foothold on the rocks and grope his way to safety ashore.

Each one was wet..the first job was to get shelter for the night in amongst the tussac. The sea was tremendous and next day although the pram was rescued (the Paloma being a total loss, no one would dare make for the mainland until conditions improved. The only food was a sheep, killed on the island and boiled in water which was obtained with considerable difficulty.

We understand one of the castaways used the sheep's skin as an eiderdown amongst the tussec. The second mutton meal was decidedly more tasty than the first. It was a good thing that matches were brought ashore in dry condition and that a pan from the Paloma washed ashore!

On the Wednesday the crossing was made to the mainland and at Seal Cove the party received warm hospitality and kind welcome by Mrs Ben Ford, who was there with her two children and her sister. Mr Ford was in the Settlement for the dipping.

Refreshed the party walked to Walker Creek in 4½ hours from where transport was arranged in the "Speedwell" to Darwin. After resting there (this was advised by the doctor) the party came through to Fitzroy and finally to town reaching there last Sunday afternoon.

Thus in the course of their normal work shifting sheep, these men had to face this perilous situation.

We were all much relieved in town to learn that all hands were safe after the disaster, even although they had to spend three nights, and bitter ones at that, in the tussac of the island. We are sorry to think that the Paloma is no more but this seems to be just one of those unfortunate things which can happen to any schooner, no matter who is in charge. It is just a risk shared by all who do their business upon the seas in all its varying moods.

A Correction

In the front page article last week we said that the wind was blowing off shore at the time of the "Paloma's" mishap. This was a mistake in our wording—the wind of course was blowing in from the sea at the time. We apologise for this mistake which was quite unintentional.

Fire at San Carlos.

People who know San Carlos will be sorry to hear that the effective and up-to-date building comprising of stabling, cow-byres etc., was totally destroyed by fire last Thursday.

The fire originated in the small boiler house which is used for hens and pigs food. The boiler first was lit just shortly before lunch and during lunch time fire in some way must have caught from the chimney to the wooden partition, as when the door was opened within the hour the interior was a mass of flame.

Mr Bonner and son were away gathering with all the shepherds and when Mrs Bonner advised the settlement by telephone, all available, men, women and children came immediately and gave what assistance they could, carrying water, working hose, stirrup pump, fire extinguishers, etc.

Aided by a fresh westerly wind, unfortunately, the fire had gained too great a hold to be extinguished and water had to be concentrated on a nearby peat stack and also the surrounding gorse hedge to see that they

United Nations Appeal For Children.

His Excellency the Governor, in the course of last Sunday's Broadcast programme launched an appeal for the United Nations Appeal For Children; the appeal will close at the end of the month. This Fund will go towards the relief of children in many lands who have been suffering through lack of food and necessary attention as a result of the war. We are sure that this appeal will commend itself to all - contributions should be sent to the Hon. Treasurer, Stanley Branch Red Cross.

The following is the text of His Excellency the Governor's broadcast -

Good evening to you all.

I am going to appeal once again to your generosity in support of an object which cannot fail to touch all our hearts - that is the United Nations Organisation drive to save the lives and relieve the suffering of a great host of children in all the countries devastated by war.

The burdens of wars which are made by man fall always heaviest on the women and children; but, in this recent war, the tale of their suffering is not to be measured. It has no parallel in history and is such as those of us - and that is the large majority - who have no first-hand knowledge simply cannot imagine. Whole countries have been over-run and hundreds of thousands of children have been left orphaned and homeless. Many cannot return home even now that the war is over for their countries know them no more - they have no home to return to. There is hardly a country in Europe that you can name where these pitiful conditions do not exist - homeless, ill clad, half-starved children beyond counting and unless something be done quickly, without hope for the future; living in shattered hovels and in camps. Others with personal knowledge of these matters will be able to tell you more intimately about them.

It is very appropriate that the United Nations Organisation which is the instrument through which we hope to secure peace should itself be the instrument through which we can help to allay the ravages of war and I am sure that in this Colony where we have been spared so much and have still so much to be thankful for that we shall, each one of us, want to do what we can to help. It is not the extent of the gift that matters so much as that we should all be identified in the giving.

Nearly 2,000 years ago in the dawn of our Christian era the greatest of all teachers said "Suffer little children to come unto me" - and He didn't mind whether they were Jew or Gentile, friend or enemy. They were children - that was enough and it is in that spirit that we shall offer what we can.

The Churches have arranged to hold special services next Sunday and are, I believe, contemplating other activities of which you will be notified in due course.

The Red Cross as Mr McNaughton will have told you, will act as the collecting agency and has already come forward with a gift of £25; it will be holding a special tea at Government House on Thursday.

On the principle that he who gives early gives twice we are proposing to close this appeal on 30th April and I know that I shall be well content with the result.

Good night.

An 84th Birthday in Stanley
 Last Tuesday-13th April a well-known Stanley lady celebrated her 84th birthday-we refer to Mrs Joseph Aldridge and we take this opportunity of extending our congratulations to her.

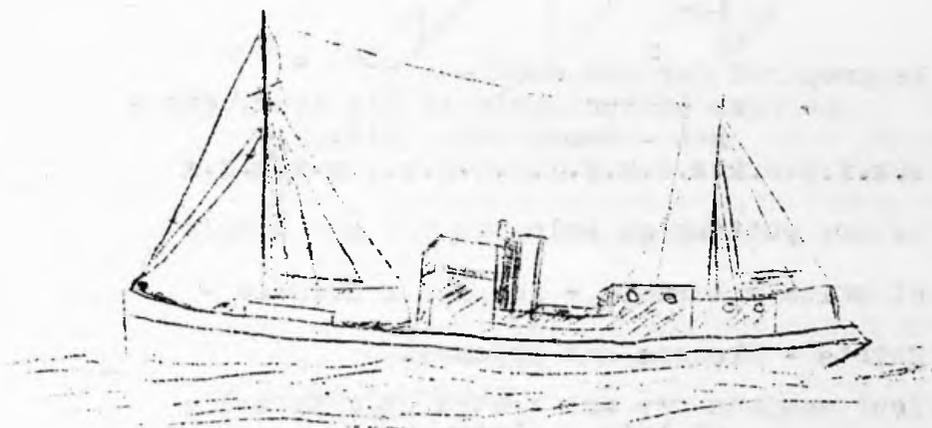

Mrs Aldridge lives with her daughter and son-in-law Mr and Mrs R. Reive in Stanley and is a native of the Colony never having been overseas. Of her family four sons and six daughters are living-two of the daughters are in England and one in Montevideo. The birthday was marked by a happy gathering in the home.

I wonder how many of you went out gathering berries this past few weeks? We have three good berry friends in our Colony-you all know their names-the Diddle-dee berry, the Tea berry, and last but perhaps best of all the wild strawberry. In times when the wild strawberry is not plentiful what a searching is necessary to find some!

Returning to the Diddle-dee berry-someone sent me in a contribution in verse on the subject which seems to fit in to this Corner-here it is:

Off we go berrying
 Up on the hill,
 Each with a basket
 Which we must fill.

The berries are on the diddle-dee
 And are as red as they can be,
 Some of the best we're going to eat
 There'll still be enough the household to treat.

 that we can reproduce the best of them in this Corner.
 Hand them in to the Weekly News Office, by next Monday

St. Mary's Star of The Sea, Mission.

19th April 1888 -- 19th April 1948.

Monday next the 19th April will be the 60th anniversary of the Apostolic Establishment of St. Mary's Mission. On the 19th April 1888 Monsignor Fagnano, Prefect Apostolic of Southern Patagonia and Tierra del Fuego arrived in Stanley to confer on the already flourishing but informal Catholic Mission all rights and privileges from the Holy See. For at least 30 years previously the spiritual needs of the Catholic colonists were seen to only at intervals as Irish Missionaries, attached to the River Plate Settlement, came to stay for periods of several weeks before returning to resume their Missionary work in the Settlements of South America. The last of these Missionary Priests was Father James Foran whose home was in Newcastle-on-Tyne. His last stay lasted 10 years till 1886, when he made preparations for the coming of the Salesian Fathers. It will be of some interest to the parishioners of St. Mary's to know that Father Foran wrote personally to Saint John Bosco (cannonized 1934) begging him to send the Salesian Fathers here; this was in 1887. St John Bosco died Jan. 31st 1888, only 10 weeks before the arrival of Monsignor Fagnano.

St Mary's produced its most effectual work and beneficial results for the Colony while the Sisters, under extreme difficulties accompanied with much hardship, conducted their school from 1907 till their abrupt and silent departure in 1941. Since the greater part of the 60 years has been associated with the training of the young we propose to celebrate our anniversary, in the little time we can spare, in a manner welcome to the young. Incidentally we feel it will be acceptable to all as a token of appreciation, though somewhat belated, for the good the Sisters have done for the Colony.

To this end, apart from the services in St Mary's Church, we are giving a tea-party to the children of St Mary's on Sunday the 18th. On Monday the 19th, through the kind offices of Mr Les Hardy, we are having a film show in the evening at 5.30. To this film show we invite all the school children of Stanley. This arrangement is in keeping with the spirit of the Salesian Congregation and the Sisters' Congregation - namely dedication of ourselves to the interests of the young.

The "Porvenir" left Stanley last Sunday for Speedwell Island - on board as passengers were Dr Sladen and Mr W. Hutchinson.

The s.s. "Fitzroy" returned to Stanley from the Dependencies last Sunday night. Ice and weather conditions had prevented the vessel calling at Hope Bay and Signy Island.

The s.s. "Lafonia" was expected to arrive in Tilbury last Tuesday and to dock in London on the Wednesday.

There is considerable activity in Stanley gardens still-the main task being getting up the rest of the potatoes. We feel sure that with the small crops generally it will be a great temptation to eat the potatoes put aside for seed!

Birth: at the K.E.M. Hospital, Stanley on 11th April to Mr and Mrs W. Anderson (of Roy Cove) a son-James Brian.

In the year 1851 the newly formed Falkland Islands Company took over the interests of Samuel Fisher Lafone which consisted of large tracts of land on the East Falkland and certain cattle killing rights. Lafone had a port at Hope Place in the Falkland Sound and this settlement naturally became the new company's centre of operations. As these operations were based on the destruction and not breeding of cattle it was obvious that there were to be other interests and one of these was the introduction of sheep. By 1870 operations were centred at Darwin Harbour, the settlement being sited on a spot very near to where Charles Darwin camped with his gaucho guides before a diddle-dee fire, as recounted in his journal.

The main advantage of the new settlement over Hope Place lay in its being some hundred or so miles nearer by sea to Stanley where the Company had its administrative offices as well as the trading and ship repairing business.

Goose Green, an adjunct of Darwin, came into being in the 90's as a trying out station. Two miles distant from Darwin it was within easy reach of the Manager and yet far enough removed to avoid offending with it's odours. With the introduction of meat canning, which reached its peak in 1918, Goose Green outstripped the parent settlement, and with its better harbour facilities was selected as the site for a new woolshed in 1928, since which date Darwin has declined from a busy settlement of some twenty odd buildings to a residential settlement of four to five dwellings.

The important and profitable canning industry collapsed with the peace of 1919 but some of the factory buildings remain, in various stages of decrepitude, housing the present killing and trying out plant, and still known as "the factory". From and around this building, every April, issues a variety of odours from the sickly sweet of boiling meat to the objectionable of decaying animal waste.

In connection with the United Nations Appeal for Children a successful Red Cross Tea Party took place at Government House last Thursday. Mrs Miles Clifford the President, being hostess. In the course of the afternoon various objects gifted by members and friends were raffled - for the cause. The amount realised from this effort was £11:13:6.

In connection with the same appeal, a dance was due to take place in the Gymnasium last night, organised by the local Red Cross. We are sure that this effort would be enjoyable and successful.

St Mary's Mission

The Anniversary weekend marking the 60th anniversary of the Apostolic Establishment of St Mary's Mission took place as arranged on Sunday and Monday 18th and 19th April. The children of St Mary's greatly enjoyed their tea party - and the film show kindly given to all the children of Stanley (a kindly thought - Ed. W.N.) was much appreciated by the youngsters. We wish the Rev. Fr. Kelly and St Marys much joy in their work in the future.

SURVIVORS OF INDIAN OCEAN CYCLONE.

SIX FISHERMEN LOST FROM ISLANDS' ALL-MALE POPULATION.

Fishermen who survived the cyclone which last month (Jan.) swept the St Brandon group of islets in the Indian Ocean, later took refuge on the main island of Raphael before being removed early this month (Feb.) by a rescue-party to the British Colony of Mauritius, of which the islands are dependencies.

During the cyclone, Fou Island which, like the others, has been described as "but a sandy bank at the mercy of the sea and winds," was completely washed away, and four men disappeared. Two men were drowned on the island of Avocaire which, at one time, was submerged under six feet of water. All boats and buildings were carried away, and similar damage was reported from Long Island, Pearl Island and St Brandon.

The St Brandon group lies about 240 miles NNE of Mauritius and was, at the time of the cyclone, being exploited commercially by the Raphael Fishing Company, Ltd., which, in addition to fishing activities, was working the guano deposits.

A feature of the group was that the population of 93 was entirely male, consisting of fishermen and labourers who spent a minimum period of six months under contract in the islands. When they were visited by a Mauritius magistrate in November last year, the question of sending families to the group was discussed but the fishermen said that they were happy and content and that the presence of some women on the islands would create nothing but trouble!

Little shops run by the contractors or the fishermen-in-charge existed on all the inhabited islands although there was no currency, the men being credited with their wages and debited with the value of goods they "bought" at the island shops.

The visiting magistrate reported that the prison on Raphael Island, which was badly damaged in the cyclones of 1945, was still without a roof when he visited the island.

However, the gaol had had no prisoners during the year and no fines had been inflicted.

Foundation Stone of New Town Hall Laid.

Last Friday - the 16th of April, the Hon. the Colonial Secretary and Mrs Mathews, Government Officials and their wives, the Chairman and Members of Stanley Town Council and members of the General Public gathered together at the site of the new Town Hall for the Foundation stone-laying ceremony.

His Excellency the Governor arrived accompanied by Mrs Miles Clifford with Captain L.W.Aldridge, M.B.E., as A.D.C.

The day was dry but cold - and the light of the early winter evening was fast fading.

His Excellency was introduced by the Chairman of Stanley Town Council - Les. Hardy Esq., B.E.M., J.P. who said "As Chairman of the Town Council, it is my privilege to welcome His Excellency and Mrs Clifford. His Excellency as you are well aware has arrived to lay the foundation stone of our new Town Hall - we trust sir, that it will not be long before our hall is completed."

The Governor, in his address, said that exactly four years had elapsed since the people of Stanley had to stand by watching while a much loved and greatly valued institution was consumed by fire; how great a loss it had been to them they knew better than himself. It was on this account that he had put its replacement high up in the list of "First Things".

It was not until last year that the people had decided at a public meeting upon what form they wished the new building to take. Since then the plans had been drawn, the costing and quantity surveying completed, the ruins cleared away, new foundations had sprung up and now - in a few moments - he was to have the honour and pleasure of laying a foundation stone to commemorate the occasion. This would give him particular pleasure in that the ceremony was to take place in the presence of the Chairman and Members of Stanley's first Town Council; "may the Town Hall and the Town Council flourish together" he said. The new building would certainly be more convenient, more comfortable and safer than the old and would he hoped, soon take the place of the latter in their affections. His Excellency in conclusion said that the time it would take to complete the building rested in the hands of the workers.

Following his address His Excellency proceeded to lay the upright foundation stone containing the bronze plaque with the wording - in summer. Shooting and excellent fishing for trout or mullet are within easy reach while the keen walker will find many hard but delightful rambles. The short walk between the two settlements is a real pleasure often unappreciated because of its very proximity.

Darwin is linked with Stanley by telephone and is also the centre of a privately owned radio telephone system. Travel to Darwin by sea direct takes about six hours while by horseback requires from twelve hours upwards depending on the weather, horses and last but not least the ability of the rider. From Darwin to Fitzroy, the ground being gravelly, an unsurfaced road has been cut which is suitable for motor traffic except during wet weather. The shorter distance from Fitzroy to Stanley being soft peaty country is not completely crossed by a road but given initiative and commonsense there is no reason why it should not be so. The value of such a road is debatable, but with its completion, or alternatively the provision of more frequent regular steamer calls, it is conceivable that Darwin would make an ideal holiday resort, for ever solving the problem of where to spend one's local leave. K.V.L.

Dear Girls and Boys,

Robert Rabbit has just entered for a Competition and he is so excited because the first prize is a large supply of special carrots - such a prize would bring out the best in any rabbit - who wouldn't like to win such a prize?

The competition was to take an original photograph and send it in with the rabbit's name on the back of the print - to "Rabbit World Ladies' Journal". Do you know what Robert chose as his subject for the Competition?
 - two rabbits side by side one very white and the other a dirty white with the title "Before and after on bath night". I wonder if Robert will win the prize - don't you?

NEW LONDON HOSTEL FOR COLONIAL STUDENTS.

The Balmoral Hotel, Queen's Gate Gardens, London, S.W.7, was opened by the Colonial Office Welfare Department at the end of March as a hostel for Colonial men students. It stands as the largest of the Colonial Office hostels.

The building, which was a private hotel before the war and was requisitioned for Government purposes during the war, has been renovated and will accommodate 200 students. There are about 25 single rooms, about an equal number of double rooms and the remainder will accommodate three to four students in each room.

In addition to a large dining room, there are several lounges and studies and a billiard room. There is a large room suitable for the library which it is hoped to establish there.

The bed-and-breakfast charge in respect of single rooms will be 42/- per week, double rooms 37/6, and in the case of the larger rooms 35/-. Hot lunches and evening meals will be served at a cost of 2/- and throughout the day there will be a running buffet where the students may obtain coffee and snacks.

The hostel is close to Gloucester Road Underground Station and the South Kensington Museums and Colleges. Students may entertain their friends at the hostel and it is hoped that it will be extensively used by non-residents as a Colonial centre.

The Warden is Mr A. Atkinson, a former missionary of the Church of Scotland and an accountant, who has had considerable experience of youth work in West Africa and South Africa.

BIRD IN THE BUSH

A Zanzibar local paper records that villagers using a certain narrow footpath were pestered by an unknown joker who snatched their caps from their heads as they passed. One victim who felt his cap disappearing, looked upwards instead of behind and saw a large bird making off with the cap. He followed it a short distance into the bush and saw it perch on a large tree.

There to his amazement he saw all the missing caps neatly hung as in a shop in the upper branches of the tree.

Accident Feared to Local Cutter Boat.

On Friday 16th April, Mr Fred Davis of Stanley and his young son James age 9, left town in the cutter in order to go for geese to bring back and sell in town. They meant to be away for some days as amongst their provisions were four loaves of bread.

Mr Davis is a regular trader in tussac and no one thinks much about his boat moving around Port William Waters, as it is such a common sight. However after a number of days, people began to grow anxious as there had been so many strong winds blowing from an easterly direction.

Last Thursday a search party, went out in the M.V. Philomel and searched from Sparrow Cove round Menearyto opposite Kidney Island and beyond - with no success. The beach from Cape Pembroke round by Yorke Bay was also searched and arrangements were made last Friday for the M.V. John Biscoe to leave Stanley the next morning to make a thorough search round the coasts. Over 90 men took part in this search - but no trace of the boat or occupants was found.

Our sympathy goes out to Mrs Davis and her family of small children in this time of anxiety.

THE DEPENDENCIES.

From "Falkland Islands Note Book" (now out of print).

If you wish to know what and where are the Dependencies you must take a map of the Southern Hemisphere and make on it two vast wedges, one beginning at 50 degrees South Latitude and tapering thence to the Pole between 30 degrees L. and 50 degrees L. West, the other starting at 58 degrees Latitude and fitting between 50 and 80 degrees of Longitude.

Inside these boundaries is a great multitude of islands and two big slices of the Antarctic Continent.

All these islands and lands are the Dependencies of the Falkland Islands.

Something is known of the shores and some of the islands but of the inland - nothing.

Those lands are of course almost completely snow covered and all possess mountains which do not reach a very great height but as for the most part may tower right up from the sea into the too common clouds; they are vastly impressive.

What do these snow-covered mountains look like? Not smooth white slopes like well iced cakes but with blue shadowed cracks and gorges where the snow masses have fallen under their own weight or hang ready to descend in avalanches.

These mountains are the parents of innumerable glacier, rivers of rough ice flowing down to the sea so slowly that the movement cannot be seen. Everywhere among the snow fields there project, black against the snow jagged peaks and points so steep that snow cannot lie nor ice form on them.

No foot of man has trodden these heights. Their solitudes are infinitely remote, empty, vast and cold as if waiting for man the invader to make one, just one little mistake. And one is always enough.

Of the islands there are four main groups - South Georgia, South Sandwich, South Orkney and the South Shetlands off Graham Land. South Georgia the largest of all is very little farther South than the Falklands out

Local Dance

An enjoyable dance took place in the Gymnasium last Tuesday evening with Miss V. Pettersson and Miss E. Aldridge as M.C.'s.

The s.s. "Fitzroy" was expected to leave Stanley for Montevideo about 10 o'clock last night. We will look forward to her return and hope that she brings a large mail back with her.

Wedding.

The wedding of Miss Eileen Hazel Slaughter and Mr Kenneth Forbes Davison was solemnised in the flower-filled Parish Church, Fembriidge, on February 21st, 1948. The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs T.G.Slaughter, Manor Farm, Staunton-on-Arrow, and the groom the son of Mrs Minchin, Southborough, Kent, and the late Capt. Davison, of the Indian Army.

At the service, which was fully choral, the officiating clergy were Canon Hodson, the Rev. G.I. Bourdillon and the Rev. Lawson Perry. The organist, Mr L. Evans, played wedding music. The flowers were arranged by Miss Molly Walker.

The bride, who arrived at the church on the arm of her father, who gave her away, looked radiant in white figured satin, with lace veil, which belonged to her great-great grandmother. Her retinue of three bridesmaids, Miss Vivian Gill spie, Miss Ann Everard and Miss Anne Speer wore yellow taffeta picture frocks. Mr Richard Green was best man.

Many friends were among the guests at the reception, held at the Rectory by kind permission of the Rev. and Mrs G.L. Bourdillon.

Mrs K.F. Davison (Eileen Slaughter) was born at Darwin in 1923 during her father's term of office as Camp Manager (1919/1931), and is a niece of Mr and Mrs J.F. Bonner of San Carlos.

Port Howard Potatoes.

Mr S. Heathman has grown some splendid potatoes in his garden at Port Howard this year - "seeing is believing" and he has sent them in to the Weekly News Office for inspection. There were 15 potatoes in the group and they weigh 8 lbs. altogether. The largest of this splendid collection weighs 14½ oz. We have been asked to hand these potatoes over to the Cathedral to be raffled, the proceeds to go towards their Bazaar.

A pig's head given by Mrs Miles Clifford to be raffled for the United Nations Appeal for Children brought in £10/5/- to the fund - the winner was Mr W. Jones.

United Nations Appeal for Children.

In conjunction with the above Appeal an enjoyable dance took place in the Gymnasium, Stanley on Wednesday 21st April, organised by the local Branch of the Red Cross.

Amongst those present were His Excellency the Governor and Mrs Clifford, who were welcomed on arrival by the Chairman of the Red Cross, Mrs M. Robson, the Hon. Secretary, Mrs A. Mercer, and the Hon. Treasurer, Miss M. Biggs.

Refreshments were served in St Mary's Hall - the ice-cream meeting with a ready sale.

Button-holes were sold during the evening by Miss H. Sedgwick.

"ESTATE LOUIS WILLIAMS"FAREWELL MESSAGE.

Mrs. Louis Williams and Miss Grace Bossingham are leaving this week for England.

Having originally arrived in Port Stanley early in 1912 they have thus been intimately connected with the Colony, its affairs, and its kindly people, for the past 36 years, and as it may be possible that they will no longer return to the Colony they desire to express to one and all their thanks and appreciation for both custom and services.

Their interest in the affairs of "Estate Louis Williams" will remain in the same state as heretofore and thus they will continue to be interested in the prosperity and happiness of all residents in the Falkland Islands, even though from afar.

Good Luck and Good Wishes to every one of you.

DEPENDENCIES.

of the season. It was a life of great interest, full of anxious competition and a little worry and adventure. The whalers are men.

Ships of 3,000 or 4,000 tons were habitually taken to unchartered waters and worked into secure berths among snow covered hills and reefs with the help of catchers but no sooner were they tied up than the catchers turned away to the hunt and great was the pleasure of the crew who brought in the first whale.

The preservation of the stock of whales in the South has long been a matter of great concern. It is not perhaps generally known that the famous ships Discovery I and Discovery II which carried out most extensive Marine research in these waters belong to the Falkland Islands Government. The Government Stations including Post Offices are maintained in South Georgia, the Shetlands and elsewhere in the South throughout the year. Attached to some of them are Scientists engaged in a wide variety of research.

Of all the Dependencies South Georgia is the only one permanently inhabited by whalers and there only except for two spots in South Orkney and two in South Shetland, is there any vegetable growth besides mosses and lichens clinging to rock. In S. Georgia the snow melts much farther up the hills and so there is plenty of tussac grass and a few other plants which in some places even cover the ground.

South Georgia possesses a true land bird, the Pipit or Titlark and a Pintail duck, these called a "Teal" both peculiar to the island and found nowhere else in the world. The Reindeer were originally introduced from Norway.

From the Falklands the distances are roughly as follows: S. Georgia 800 miles, S. Shetlands 600, S. Orkney 700, S. Sandwich 1,150.

It is 2,200 miles to the South Pole.

Letter to Editor.

Stanley.

26th April, 1948.

Dear Sir,

In your issue dated the 22nd April, 1948, you printed an article on the new Town Hall Foundation stone-laying ceremony in which you stated that His Excellency the Governor said that the time it would take to complete the building rested in the hands of the workers.

Well, everyone will have noticed that the progress of the Town Hall has been very slow. Up until now it has only got a couple of blocks above the foundation. Perhaps a lot of people wonder why it has been so slow. I expect a lot of you noticed that workmen have not been on the Town Hall steadily until quite recently, and as you all know the workers have to do exactly what they are told.

In five cases to my knowledge pieces of the foundation that have been built up as directed, have had to be pulled down or chiselled out and some re-built to bring them in right with the plans. These are five mistakes due to the lack of correct organisation, or Heads, P.W.D. not following plans.

If this state of affairs is to continue it will mean that by the time we have the Town Hall built, there will be innumerable mistakes made, which will cost a lot of money and the Hall will take three times as long to build as is necessary.

So it is up to the supervision as well as to the workers!

I am sir,

Yours respectfully,

One of the workers.

Just a Thought. Read Psalm 23. Time and time again when trouble and sorrow comes our way we find that it is only the simple facts and truths that we look to for comfort. "The Lord is my Shepherd" means that we have in God, One who always watches over us, even in a time of trouble.

The Late Albert K. Humble of Canada.

Broadcast Address by His Excellency the Governor from Government House, on Sunday 2nd May.

Good evening to you all.

It was with very great pleasure that I was able to telegraph the Secretary of State this morning that the appeal in support of the "Save the Children Fund" which I had commended to your notice only three weeks ago today, closed at midnight on Friday with the quite astonishing total of £500. This exceeded the best hopes of any of us - indeed I must confess to you that when discussing the project with Mrs Clifford and her Red Cross Committee, I said that I should be satisfied if they were to raise one hundred! I am sure that you will all be as happy as I am at this really splendid achievement and I want to thank, personally, not only those who subscribed but those of you in Stanley and the Camp whose enthusiasm made it possible; I am thinking now of all the organising and cooking, the sacrifice of rationed goods, the dreary business of washing-up after big parties, of the hundred and one tiresome but necessary chores that are apt to pass un-noticed. I hope you're proud as well as pleased and certainly my wife and I are proud to be associated with such a generous and warm hearted community. My thanks go, too, to the Churches which each contributed the proceeds of a Sunday collection. A statement showing how the final total was made up will be posted on the Public notice Board and at the Library, and it will also be Honour for Colonial Nurses.

It is announced that Her Majesty the Queen has been graciously pleased to consent that the title of the Colonial nursing service shall be given the title of Queen Elizabeth's Colonial Nursing Service. (The Unified Colonial Nursing Service was formed in 1948. Candidates for the service retain the right of civic of Colonial territory on first appointment. They are not transferred to another territory without their consent. Nevertheless transfers are now possible on request or promotion within the 26 dependencies or groups of territories whose appointment come within the service. All members are State Registered Nurses and most are also State Registered Midwives. After January 1st 1949 this latter qualification will become compulsory.

The origin of the Colonial Nursing service dates from 1896 when the first trained nurses were sent out to Mauritius under the auspices of a Volunteer Society. In the following year the first two Government employed nurses left for the Gold Coast. The number of appointments rose rapidly in succeeding years reaching three figures in 1925. A total of 228 appointments was made in 1947 and today the establishment of the Service stands at over 800.

During World War 1152 members of the nursing service lost their lives (the majority in Malaya).

published with the kind permission of Mr McWhan in the Weekly News.

While I am on this topic may I bespeak from you a kindly welcome for a handful of poor people who will be coming here next month? These are of the category of whom I spoke to you three weeks ago - people who have been driven from their own countries and have now, nowhere on the earth's surface, any place that they can call home, than which surely there can be no more tragic lot. There are hundreds of thousands of such unfortunates and the Dominions and the Colonies and the Americas are all doing what they can to give them asylum and new hope for the future. Our little handful are all workers, domestic workers, and should be doubly welcome for as those of us who have to rely on the help of others know only too well, there is not enough domestic help to go round. So please give them a kind hand when they turn up and remember that they are bound to find everything very strange at first; and it is from our reception of them that they will judge the difference between true democracy and that totalitarianism whether of the right or the left (and it is the same dog with a different tail) which has brought them to their present unhappy predicament.

I want now to talk of other things, and initially of two matters which are of particular importance to the Camp. The first is that I have on this mail addressed a despatch to the Secretary of State giving my firm support to the proposal for the establishment of a Freezer here. Now this is a project which has been talked about and written about for years, about which - until recently - opinions seem to have differed and about which there is still doubtless a measure of disagreement over the details of the scheme. While he would be a rash man who would attempt to prophesy a profitable outcome for this venture, quite certainly we cannot know until we have made the attempt; quite certainly, too, sheep-farming here cannot be placed on a sound economic basis until the surplus sheep can be economically disposed of. I have decided therefore that we must take the plunge and, on account of the speculative nature of the venture and to secure the maximum return to the farmer I have recommended that the Government either directly or indirectly should carry the lion's share of the risk. Other details can be argued later and there'll be time enough for this for we are told that it will take about two years to get delivery of the machinery.

Secondly, as some of you will know, I have recently sent an experienced pilot - accompanied, later, by the Executive Engineer who has knowledge of these matters, to visit some of the potential landing fields in the Camp. While their reports are a good deal less optimistic than those of an earlier investigator and there is a good deal of work to be done on most of the sites they inspected, it does appear that there are enough usable fields to justify the Government in inaugurating a limited service in the belief that the benefits to those farms which we are able to serve can be gradually extended to others. I hope, therefore, to have plane, pilot and mechanic here by the end of the year and I urge those of you who are interested and hopeful, to co-operate to the utmost. Let me remind you again of the requirements which are two strips one running roughly east and west and the other roughly, north and south each measuring 250 yards long by 30 yards wide or where only one strip is possible then the same length and double the width into the prevailing wind. Even this limited service will give immediate return in accelerating the distribution of mail which can be effected by parachute where there is no landing ground and in bringing sick persons to hospital or taking out the doctor or nurse where landing fields are available or within easy reach.

For the rest, one or two items of news. The John Biscoe left last week with a duplicate Falkland Islands crew which will bring her back after her re-fit in time for the next Antarctic season. Our commitments in the South are of a permanent character and their WORK OF COLONIAL OFFICE ADVISORY COMMITTEES.

Twenty "brains trusts" are at the service of the British Colonial territories. On them serve nearly 300 of Britain's leading experts on social, medical, educational, and political matters, who give the Colonies the benefit of their special knowledge and wide experience.

These "brains trusts" are the Colonial Office Advisory Committees. They cover most of the important subjects with which the Colonial Office deals, and their members, who give their services without payment, are chosen so as to be able to advise on as many aspects as possible of the problems placed before them. Thus they include not only specialists - scientists, economists, and so on - but also experienced Colonial administrators, industrialists, Trade Union officials, and members of other Government departments. Committees usually have power to co-opt particular specialists as required.

Meetings of the Advisory Committees are presided over either by the Minister of State for the Colonies or by the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State. The Colonial Office's permanent advisers are members of their appropriate committees.

It was in 1909 that the first important Advisory Committee was set up. Dealing at first with the problems of medicine in tropical Africa, it has now extended its scope to take in medicine and sanitation questions in the whole of the Colonial Empire. A special committee is studying plans for establishing a Tropical Diseases Hospital.

Among the most urgent questions to be tackled in the Colonies at present are soil erosion and loss of fertility of land, due to years of shifting cultivation and over-grazing. The prevalence of such plagues as cattle disease, too, combined with a general ignorance of the elements of animal husbandry, cause the death of thousands of head of cattle every year, and herds are of the poorest quality. These and similar problems are the field of the Colonial Advisory Council of Agriculture, Animal Health, and Forestry, which also ensures that all points in these spheres requiring research are brought before the special Research Committee, of which Sir John Fryer, the Secretary of the Agricultural Research Committee, is Chairman, and Sir Edward Salisbury, Director of the Royal Botanic Gardens at Kew, is Vice-Chairman.

Other Advisory Committees deal with such matters as Education, Labour, Co-operation, Survey, and Social Welfare both in the Colonies and of Colonial peoples in Great Britain. Many of these problems have become much more pressing lately as a result of schemes to accelerate Colonial development.

The framing of plans for economic and social development in the Colonies was the task of the Colonial Economic and Development Council, set up in 1946 under the chairmanship of Lord Portal. One of its members was the distinguished West Indian economist, Dr W.A. Lewis.

Another West Indian who sits on the Medical Committee and the Committee for the Welfare of Colonial Peoples in the United Kingdom, is Dr C.B. Clarke. His fellow-cricketer, Leary Constantine, has been invited to become a member of the Advisory Committee on Social Welfare in the Colonies. A former Nigerian newspaper editor, Mr S.L. Akintola, is attending the meetings of this Committee during his stay in England on a course of instruction.

Technical officers on leave from the Colonies frequently report in person to the Committees, in order to give them first-hand up-to-date information about the problems of their territories. With a similar end in view, Committee members also visit the Colonies from time to time, and the number of these visits is to be increased in future.

Matters for discussion by the Advisory Committees arise in the main from Colonial Government reports and from points raised by the Colonial Office and by individual committee members. After discussion, committees' recommendations are forwarded to the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

BRAINS TRUSTS FOR THE COLONIES.

Special aspects are often dealt with by sub-committees. Some of these are regional, others deal with particular questions. For example, the Colonial Labour Advisory Committee has a sub-committee on Social Security, and the advisory Committee on Education in the Colonies set up a special sub-committee to discuss the employment in the United Kingdom of teachers returning from the Colonies.

Scientific research in the Colonial Empire offers the widest of fields, and is the subject of several committees. The broad lines of research policy are laid down by the Colonial Research Committee, of which Lord Hailey is chairman, and specialist bodies deal with colonial products, medical research, agriculture, animal health, and forestry, social science, economic research, and insecticides. These committees differ from the majority in having as chairman one of the specialist members.

The complete list of Colonial Office Advisory Committees is:
 Colonial Economic and Development Council; Advisory Committee on Education in the Colonies; Colonial Advisory Medical Committee; Colonial Social Welfare Advisory Committee; Colonial Advisory Committee of Agriculture, Animal Health, and Forestry; Colonial Survey and Geophysical Committee; Colonial Fisheries Advisory Committee; Colonial Labour Advisory Committee; Tsetse Fly and Trypanosomiasis Committee; Advisory Committee on the Welfare of Colonial Peoples in the United Kingdom; Tropical Diseases Hospital Committee; Interdepartmental Committee on Locust Control; Colonial Research Committee; Colonial Products Research Council; Colonial Medical Research Committee; Colonial Agricultural Research Committee (covering also Animal Health and Forestry); Colonial Social Research Council; Colonial Economic Research Committee; Colonial Insecticides Committee; Advisory Committee on Co-operation.

TOWN COUNCIL.

A meeting of the Town Council was held on 29th April. Mr J. Hardy was in the chair. Mr Bunting was unavoidably absent and Mr McAtasney was absent from the Colony.

Mr McAtasney's resignation was read. The election of a Councillor for the West Ward in Mr McAtasney's place was discussed.

It was decided to approach Government with the suggestion that a qualified diesel engineer be obtained for M.V. Philomel in order that she may better be able to fulfil the purpose for which she was purchased. It was agreed that a person could then be trained locally to take over eventually.

It was decided to postpone until next year discussion on the question of grazing on Victory Green.

The Chairman reported to the meeting that he had conferred with Mr Baker on the subject of disinfecting the school.

It was disclosed that the Council had accepted the loan of a 30 cwt lorry from the Royal Navy.

The condition of the drain at the foot of Hebe Street and the lack of sewer in Dairy Paddock Road was discussed. Dr Sladen disclosed that the latter had been reported to him by the Chief Constable. The matter has been brought to the attention of the Executive Engineer.

Steps are being taken for the replacement of lifebuoys on the Public Jetty.

The Superintendent of Education has been asked to rearrange his programme of physical training and sports during bad weather in view of the distance to be walked by the children and bearing in mind the prevailing epidemics.

The Chairman advised the Council that in response to representations by various members of the community he had approached the Colonial Secretary on the subject of obtaining a throat specialist in view of the growing alarm at the continuing epidemic. Dr Sladen advised the meeting that it was not a question of a throat specialist but a specialist in infectious diseases and he would welcome the advice of such a person.

I read with interest in last week's issue of Weekly News, the account of Mr Heathman's Bumper Crop of potatoes, of which 15 potatoes weighed 8 lbs. The largest of this collection weighing 14½ ozs. Mr Joe Cletheroe of Stanley has achieved even better results than this. I witnessed the weighing of 16 potatoes, which weighed 9 lbs 6 ozs. There were 3 potato potatoes in this group which weighed 22 ozs., 20 ozs., and 18 ozs. respectively.

New Taxation

This week an issue of the Government Gazette announces general increases in direct taxation, and many new indirect taxes in the form of duty on a range of items from spirits, tobacco, to jams, marmalades, shaving soaps, and bicycles. The export duty on wool will still be one shilling for every 25 pounds or part thereof. Export duties on Whale and Seal Oil are increased.

On another page of this paper there appear the new postage rates for letters overseas from here. The Air Letter has been reduced to 6d but ordinary postal packet postage, and ordinary Air Mail has been considerably increased.

Editorial Comment on The New Taxation

A large rise in general taxation is inevitably distasteful and local opinion in town is extremely outspoken on the subject of the rise which is bound to come in the cost of living through these measures. The Weekly News feels uneasy that such drastic changes can come about in this Colony in our day while the great mass of the people who have to pay the new taxes and duties have no say whatever in the imposing of our taxation or in the spending of the Colony's money. The new rate of ordinary postage to the U.K. is a halfpenny higher than the increase which the people in England have to pay for their postage today compared to before the war. In England the charge rose from 1½d to 2½d for an ordinary letter—we feel here that 2d on a letter to Britain would have represented a high increase.

In the matter of jams and marmalade—with our sugar rationed and a small ration only allowed for jam-making we feel that this was an item that might also have been left alone. We think that with the duty on motor trucks and parts our peat may cost more for transport, and peat costs are high enough now as everyone knows with the bogs getting further and further from town.

We hope that the new export duty on whale oil will not have the effect of encouraging factory whaling at sea as practised by the Russians who visited us last season, and an adverse effect on our own shore whaling establishments.

As far as the Colony itself is concerned we badly need some other production from here—our authorities are aware of this—let us make sure that our taxation does not become a deterrent to such new ventures. We need to encourage new enterprise here, not drive it away.

A Visit to Keppel

During our February holidays, we set off from Pebble in the "Gentoo" and called in at Carthorse Island Point picking up four more passengers. Our total party by this time numbered thirty two.

We continued on our journey to Keppel arriving there at dead low water. Many of the lady passengers had to be carried on shore. We admired the strong, willing lads who volunteered so kindly to do this.

We spent an enjoyable day looking over the island and seeing the places of interest. Every building was visited. This island was once, as so many know, a centre of Church Missionary work to the Indians of Tierra del Fuego.

The return voyage to Pebble was not so pleasant as we struck a North West breeze. However we arrived home in time for the dance arranged for that evening. All returned to Pebble with happy memories of their day on Keppel.

Dear Girls and Boys,

Here is a
"Bird Story" written by a Stanley girl - Shirley Williams, specially for this Corner:-

Worm Hunting.

It was summer time and the Robin Family decided to go worm hunting after dinner. Roy and Rhoda (the little robins) were very excited.
"Shall we take our tea with us?" chirped Roy, "No", said his mother "we will be back for tea, we are only going as far as the Mile Pond". So off they went - it was a lovely day and soon they reached the pond.

Mrs Robin started to teach the little ones to hunt for worms. Mother Robin found the first one - it was a nice fat one. Soon Rhoda found one too. Ray got cross because his sister had beaten him in finding one; at last he found one, by that time Mrs Robin had found another one. So off they flew home with the four worms - one for Daddy Robin, one for Mummy Robin, and one each for Ray and Rhoda.

Rhoda and Ray quite enjoyed themselves and decided to go worm hunting the very next fine day.
"I hope there will be a fine day for them soon, don't you?"

Cheerio,

Until next week,
Uncle Jim.

direction is a matter with which I am much concerned;
from my experience of Falkland Islanders at the Bases and in the Fitzroy I am confident that they will make a first-class crew in time and it makes a new and profitable avenue of employment for those who have the spirit of adventure in their blood. As I told them before they left, if they turn out as good a crew as the Fitzroy I shall be satisfied.

The Fitzroy carried away with her two well-known personalities in Mrs Williams and Miss Bossingham who have been associated with the Colony for very many years and in wishing them a happy re-union with their family and friends in England I am sure that I am voicing the feelings of you all.

The new Wireless Station at Stanley was completed last month and commenced operating on the 16th. The reversion to the Colony of this responsibility was wished on to us at very short notice and it reflects great credit on the workers in the Departments concerned, the E & T and PWD, that the new station should have been brought so quickly and smoothly into being. From the point of view of supervision, administration and economy the new site offers every advantage.

Last Monday, as most of you know, was the Silver Wedding anniversary of our very beloved King and Queen and although, in deference to official intimations, no celebrations were held here to mark the day, I took the occasion to send to Their Majesties on your behalf our most sincere felicitations and the continuing assurance of our loyalty and affection. As a memento of this happy event we are to have two new postage stamps both for the Colony and the Dependencies. This will be good news for the philatelists.

It is time now for me to stop but I - and I much hope Mrs Clifford too - will be seeing many of you in the Camp quite soon, by the Fitzroy. I intend to leave the ship at San Carlos and ride from there via Port San Carlos, Douglas Station and Teal Inlet back to Stanley.
We would like to meet as many of the workers and their families as possible.

Good night.

Red Cross.

There will not be a Red Cross Tea Meeting in May. The next Tea Meeting will be early in June and the date will be announced later.

The Late Phyllis Stewart.

The funeral of the late Phyllis Stewart took place from the Tabernacle on the Wednesday afternoon following her death. A large number of mourners were present and the floral tributes at the graveside bespoke the popularity of the one who had passed away.

Card of Thanks.

Mr and Mrs Stewart and family wish to thank all who sent messages of sympathy and floral tributes at the time of their recent bereavement.

We are requested to say that owing to it now being winter time, Government House Gardens will not be open to the Public until further notice.

Just a Thought. If we read the account of the man who owned the vineyard as told by Jesus in the first part of Mark Chapter 12 we will see that in it is the story of God sending his Prophets and then His Son into the world. Jesus died to make the forgiveness of our sins possible. We who understand just what this means in gratitude seek to follow the teaching of our Master each day.

A Good Cause.

Under the auspices of the Stanley Town Council various activities have been held in the town with the idea of raising a sum of money to help Mrs Fred Davis and family. Readers will recall that recently Mr Davis and his elder son were reported missing from a voyage in a small cutter - no news has been heard of them since. In the efforts for this good cause people have come forward in a way which has been greatly admired by residents in the Colony from overseas, to support one of their own in a time of trouble.

Last Friday night a dance took place in the Gymnasium at which were present a large company including His Excellency and Mrs Miles Clifford. Door money and raffles realised a sum of £58 - while a Whist Drive organised by the Rev. Fr. Kelly the same evening brought in £10. Last Monday night Mr W.H. Young kindly gave a performance of his cine show in the Tabernacle Schoolroom for the same cause. In spite of the snow this was well patronised and realised another £7. People in the Camp as well as in town have been given an opportunity to contribute.

Broadcast given by the Hon. the Colonial Secretary to Stanley listeners last Thursday and the text of which was broadcast throughout the Colony last Sunday.

In his Address to the Legislative Council in November, 1947, His Excellency the Governor remarked, when dealing with the financial outlook, that the Colony was again confronted with a considerable short fall in revenue, and that such a situation could not be permitted to continue. He added that certain increases in direct and indirect taxation would be proposed with the object of narrowing the gap between revenue and ordinary expenditure, and he remarked: "these increases are such as the Colony can afford to bear, and in applying them the interests of the lower income group have been scrupulously safeguarded. The community will still stand as one of the most lightly burdened in the Empire and will still enjoy a higher standard of living than most".

In an Extraordinary Gazette published this week new Custom Duties are introduced by Order-in-Council, and a Resolution will be proposed at an Extraordinary Meeting of the Legislative Council on Wednesday the 12th of May, confirming the Order-in-Council. It had been expected that they would be introduced earlier, but for various reasons, especially consultation with the Secretary of State, this was not possible.

The printed Estimates for 1948 which have been before the public since January, reflected His Excellency's remarks, and showed substantial increases in Import Duties on spirits and wines, and introduced a new "ad valorem" import duty. Thus, both directly and indirectly, Government has given ample warning of the new duties.

In the past, only a limited range of articles such as spirits, wines, malted liquors, matches and tobacco, have been liable to import duty. But the new duties include a considerable range of articles, none of which are "essentials", on which ad valorem duties will be levied in future. That is to say, the

NOTES AND NEWS FOR FILM-GOERS

Coincidence stretched out its long arm the day Michael Balcon's "Scott of the Antarctic" went into studio production at Ealing (London), after its three long locations in the snow and ice of the Antarctic, Switzerland and Norway. As the cameras turned on the first scenes to be shot indoors, snow began to fall outside. And it snowed all day long. After the first few weeks of filming the pre-expedition sequences, the studio sound stages will become Antarctic wastes. Experiments have been carried out during the past few months to find the best type of artificial snow for filming in Technicolor. John Mills is Capt. Scott; James Robertson Justice is P/O Evans; Reginald Beckwith is Bowers; Harold Warrender is Wilson, with Anne Firth as his wife Oriana, and Derek Bond is Gates. Charles Friend is directing, with Sidney Cole as associate producer.

STAMPS TO COMMEMORATE UNITED KINGDOM EVENTS

Philatelists will be interested to learn that Britain's Post Office will be issuing, during the present year, three special series of postage stamps. The first series, in denominations of 2½d. and £1, will commemorate the silver wedding of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, on April 26th, (last Monday). In addition, there will be four stamps of the denominations 2½d., 3d., 6d. and 1/-, to commemorate the opening of the Olympic Games in July. In May, and until the end of the holiday season, stamps of 1d. and 2½d. denominations will be on sale in the Channel Islands only to commemorate the anniversary of the Liberation of the Channel Islands from German occupation. The Silver Wedding stamps will be the seventh British issue of special commemorative stamps since the introduction of the postage stamp in 1840. The first issue was the one to mark the Wembley Exhibition held in 1924-25. There were two issues of 1d. and 1½d., the main symbols being the British Lion together with the head of King George V.

Weekly News-Correction

In the New Taxation paragraph in the Weekly News for last Thursday there appeared a mistake which we wish to correct here. The statement that ordinary air mail rates have been increased is incorrect—they have been almost halved.

The Weekly News wishes to make it clear to all its readers that only overseas rates have been increased. Postage within the islands and Dependencies will remain the same. "Postal Packet" is the technical term for a letter.

The Weekly News takes this opportunity of saying that when errors such as the above occur (and they happen very easily) they will when noticed be corrected in our next issue. We dislike them occurring just as much as our readers must do!

Misprints through typing errors which have passed undetected are also another nuisance—we see we have several in our Editorial Comment paragraph last week. We do our best to keep these annoying misprints down to a minimum also—and we ask your forgiveness when they occur in our columns. E.D.W.N.

Local Notes.

The s.s. "Fitzroy" will be calling at Port Louis, Johnson's Harbour, Green Patch, Bluff Cove and Fitzroy South on her next voyage as well as the long list of ports mentioned in a previous issue of our paper. A call will also be made at Bleaker Island.

The "Porvenir" left Stanley last Monday for the West. It is expected that the vessel will be away from town for some weeks.

The "Lafonia" we understand was due to leave the U.K. about the 15th of May for Goteborg, in Sweden.

A Meeting of the Legislative Council was due to be held at Government House yesterday. We will be reporting His Excellency's address in our next issue.

Letter to Editor.

2nd May, 1948.

Dear Sir,

In these days it is very pleasant to hear of different people's fight against adversity and coming out on top.

Listening the other night to the B.B.C. we had the pleasure to hear of the victims of blindness fighting their fight with cheerfulness and success and the gentleman who gave us this very interesting talk was also blind and was reading from the "Braille". He spoke of the diverse ways he and the other people stricken with blindness were overcoming their handicap, and I thought perhaps your readers would like to know how several blind people back home in Scotland still keep touch with sport of all description. My own home town team, "Dundee Football Club", allocate twelve grandstand seats every home game, for war blinded boys - fellows who used to always be there, pre-war to cheer their team on. (Several other Scots clubs do likewise). However the hospitality doesn't end there, because a band of sportsmen, mostly ex-referees and players, take charge of a party each and give them a running commentary on the game as it moves from one goal to the other. There is usually about six in each party and of course the commentator, and if you could only see these boys all turn up for Saturday's game bedecked with the various rosettes of club colours you would know what I mean when I say it is a sight to bring gladness to any heart. They are all fervent supporters too and don't think they only support with their presence but voice their approval in no silent manner.

I had the pleasure to sit behind a little group at my last home game and two of them had everyone around literally bursting with laughter. Being opposite supporters they argued and passed comment on the various periods of play all in good sporty manner all through the game and their ready wit and humour was a joy to hear for all around. One of them even told the referee he would have been better sitting up beside duty will be assessed at a varying percentage of the landed cost of certain articles, from non-essentials to those of a "luxury" character.

For instance, on one hand, clocks, canned fish, bicycles, and other articles which might almost be classed as "conventional necessities" are charged 10% - which is just over a penny in the shilling - while cosmetics, lipsticks, hair oils, perfumery, jewellery and some patent medicines will be charged at rates varying from 33 1/3% to 50% with artificial flowers at the top of the scale at 100%.

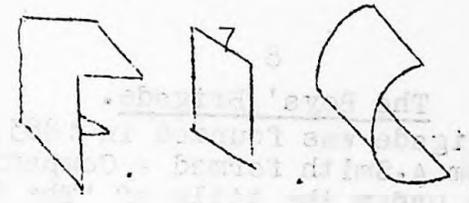

Spirit duties are doubled. A bottle of whisky will now cost about 16/-, an increase of about 4/-; and wines will cost 5d. or 6d. a bottle more. As may be seen by looking at the Customs duties figures in the printed Estimates, spirits and wines produced some £6,000 a year at the old rates - a large sum for a Colony of this size, which shows that there is a considerable consumption of them. They are purely luxurious and will stand further taxation, in the interests both of revenue and of public health and welfare, and if the consumption is reduced there will be more money available to spend on more necessary goods.

Cigarettes will cost 3d more for 20 and tobacco about 2 1/2d an ounce more. But those interested will be glad to know that there will be no increase in the price of beer.

Now for new Postage Rates. As you will already have heard postage on ordinary mail to the United Kingdom or to anywhere within the Empire has been increased from 1d. to 2 1/2d. an ounce, - local rates remain the same. But the postage on airletters has been reduced from 9d. to 6d. while the air mail rate to the United Kingdom has been cut by about half.

As to Export Duties, the duty on whale and seal oil is being increased for the 1948-49 season to bring in 9/- a barrel or £2. 14. -. a ton on present prices.

The Boys' Brigade.

The Boys' Brigade was founded in 1883, when the late Sir William A. Smith formed a Company of thirty Boys in Glasgow under the title of "The Boys' Brigade".

At the very beginning the Object - with which every Boy should be familiar - was laid down as "the advancement of Christ's Kingdom among Boys, and the promotion of habits of Obedience, Reverence, Discipline, Self-respect, and all that tends towards a true Christian Manliness."

The Boys' Brigade is the richest organization for Boys. From one small Company the Brigade has grown into a world-wide organization with Companies in every part of the world. Its normal strength is 110,000 without counting Overseas Companies. The Diamond Jubilee to mark the sixtieth year was celebrated in 1943 when The King and Queen inspected a contingent of senior Boys at Windsor Castle. For thirty-one years Sir William A. Smith was Secretary of the Brigade and Captain of the 1st Glasgow Company. He died suddenly in London on 10th May, 1914, and Boys of the Brigade will ever remember with gratitude the life which he lived for the Boys of Britain.

The work of The Boys' Brigade has long been recognised as of great value to the Nation. His Majesty the King is Patron. The Archbishops of Canterbury and York are Vice-Patrons, and many distinguished in national life are Hon. Vice-Presidents.

The Brigade President is the Earl of Home, K.T., and the Brigade Treasurer The Duke of Hamilton.

FASHION NOTE FROM BRITAIN.

Five well-known British designers - Charles Creed, Angele Delanghe, Digby Morton, Bianca Mosca and Victor Stiebel - have given London pre-views of the new 1948 evening and day clothes. Skirts were 14 inches from the ground for day, ankle length for late afternoon, and mostly had fullness somewhere. Jackets balanced the skirts, and were usually rather short, standing out over the hips from tiny waists. Interest

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Stanley.

4th May, 1948.

To commemorate the Silver Wedding Anniversary of Their Majesties the King and Queen, a special issue of two postage stamps throughout the Empire has been approved.

The stamps will correspond to the local letter rate and the highest value in the current series.

Accordingly, the stamps for the Colony will be the 2½d and 2d denominations, and for the Dependencies the 2½d and 1/- denominations.

It is not expected that the stamps will be available for sale locally for some months. They will remain on sale for three months.

By Command,
(Sgd.) A.B. Mathews, Colonial Secretary.

centred on pockets, basques and peplums. Shoulders were normal, neither square nor exaggeratedly sloping. On the evening dresses, interest was concentrated on the back. For instance, a bustle effect was used several times, mostly in dresses in deep rich colours.

Charles Creed, who is noted for his tailored suits and whose work is considered to have a world-wide influence on the tailleur, showed town suits with a decidedly new line. One side of the jacket dipped almost diagonally and the same line followed through in the tiered skirt which fastened on the longer side with four large buttons. One model in black was worn with a crushed strawberry coloured blouse. Digby Morton, who consistently uses rounded shoulders and padded hips, accented the line by the treatment of his material. The town suit he presented in black and red pin-striped suiting was an excellent example of this method, for the intricate working of the pattern formed the detail. Bianca Mosca was one of the first to introduce the wider skirt, and both she and other designers paid particular

WHITSUNDAY May 16th.

Whitsunday is the great festival of God the Holy Spirit reminding us of His coming to the early Church (Acts 2) giving the disciples boldness with fervent zeal constantly to preach the Gospel unto all nations. In an age in which men seem to have largely forgotten their need of God, Whitsunday stands out as a light proclaiming the World's need for Him and the futility of organizing without Him.

The times of Sunday services have been circulated this week in a Parochial letter.

IS THIS DEMOCRACY ?

Dear Editor,

It was highly pleasing to see your condemnation of the recent tax imposition, the population of the East and West Falklands are with you 100%.

It is innocuous that a state of affairs exists in a British colony with over 100 years allegiance, which permits a council with a Government majority to impose taxes upon the subjects of the colony without the peoples representatives being given the opportunity of voicing public opinion.

All taxation without effective representation is contrary to the principles of democracy. When is this state of affairs going to cease?

Yours faithfully,
A Democrat.

Editor Weekly News says-
(The non-official appointed members of Legislative Council may voice public opinion but cannot effectively carry their points)

Dear Sir,

On reading through the Ordinance to amend the Income Tax Ordinance 1939, I find that a person having a small income is charged more, or practically on a par with United Kingdom rates, whilst a person enjoying a higher income is well below United Kingdom rates. Below is an example of taxation in the U.K. as compared to the Falkland Islands.

For a man married with no children.

Earned Income Per Annum	Tax U.K.	Tax Falkland Is.
		£.	s.	d.
£200	Exempt		7	6
£250	£4 7 0	3	15	0
£350	£26 2 0	11	10	0
£500	£80 5 0	25	0	0
£800	£192 15 0	56	17	6
£1,000	£267 15 0	82	10	0

If taxation is needed to increase the revenue, surely there is room for adjustment here.

The "Fitzroy" has had a rough trip this time from Montevideo and was expected in yesterday.

This paper went to press at noon last Tuesday.

The "Philomel" brought a number of Managers from Green Patch to town last Monday.

MEDICAL NOTICE.

It has been decided that the Nursing Staff of the K.E.M. Hospital shall be increased from four to six, and, in consequence three vacancies now exist.

The reason for this step is to bring Nurses' working hours into line with those now prevailing in the United Kingdom, without reducing the standard of services to the patients.

Thus, if suitable recruits are forthcoming, they and the present staff will have shorter working hours and more leisure than formerly, and one months' annual holiday, as well as less frequent spells of night duty.

The rates of pay remain the same: - £50 per annum rising to £60 on confirmation after six months satisfactory work, and then by annual increments of £10 to £90 per annum, and £10 uniform allowance. This, with better off duty hours, it is hoped will attract girls of the same excellent type as have served, and are serving, the public so well.

Applications addressed to the Chairman, Appointments Board, Secretariat, should be handed in by noon on Monday May 17th. Camp applicants may apply by Telephone or Telegram.

them than on the field. They get the atmosphere of the game as well as jumping up excitedly when their team is pressing hard for a goal and when they do score they shout as loudly as the rest. Surely there was never a finer example of British grit and determination and the ability to crack a joke and laugh in the face of tremendous odds. These lads gave their sight for their country and surely we must say "well done" to these clubs and sportsmen for the easing of their great burden. A helping hand to the other fellow is a very fine gesture.

Dear Girls and Boys,

ROBERT'S HOME

Robert Rabbit had a brainwave the other day - it came about through the visit to their burrow of old Mrs Muffin - a great friend of Robert's mother. Unfortunately this visitor was rather short-sighted and as a result she wandered down into the wrong burrow on her way and of all the people to come across in this burrow, who should be there but Mrs Briar - a rabbit Mrs Muffin never could get on with. The result was an argument then a real rabbit fight and rather beaten in all departments, Mrs Muffin retreated in great distress and was very careful to make sure that it was Robert's home she was entering the next time. Robert, who was sorry that Mrs Muffin had had such an unpleasant experience, set to work straight away and made a sign post which he placed at the entrance to his parent's burrow. Mrs Muffin was so delighted when she heard what Robert had done, that she gave the youngster 1/- to buy himself a packet of sliced carrot. Robert was delighted.

FASHION NOTE FROM BRITAIN.

attention to the cocktail suit, using a good deal of black and almost invariably a wide ballet skirt.

The back of the head angle was so marked in millinery last year that it was interesting to see that the newest tendency is to tilt the hat on one side of the head, though not over the forehead. Victor Stiebel showed one of the few large off the face hats and this, trimmed with ospreys and worn with a chiffon dinner dress, was one of the most elaborate on view.

A brilliant evening gown by Angele D'Alange was carried out in black and gold striped satin. This designer's best work is done in her afternoon and evening gowns and the bodices in this model showed stripes used diagonally in a corselet from which unpressed pleats emerged to form a hip ruff, the gold stripes on the skirt giving the impression that they had sprung from the petals of a black flower.

Local Notes.

Mr E.J. McAtasney who left the Colony by the last voyage to Montevideo flew from there to England. He arrived there last Friday - his plane having been delayed at Lisbon.

Mrs Jenkins, who has been receiving clothing and shoes for children in need in Europe had by last week end, four mail bags full of clothing including forty pairs of shoes.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM BRITAIN.

In 1929 to commemorate the 9th Congress of the Universal Postal Union - the organization responsible for the international postal regulations, there were five different types issued. The ½d., 1d., 1½d., and 2½d., stamps bore a portrait of King George V against a background of the Union Jack. A special 3d stamp was also issued bearing the design of St George and the Dragon with a portrait of the King inset. This was of special interest to stamp collectors since at that time the 3d stamp was not in use for ordinary purposes. It was issued primarily as a courtesy to the other nations in the Universal Postal Union who had all issued stamps of a like denomination. Its market value to-day is from £5 to £6, unused.

At the Silver Jubilee of King George V and Queen Mary in 1935 there were special issues of ½d., 1d., and 2½d., stamps, and for the Coronation in 1937 one stamp of 1½d. The Silver Jubilee stamps were the first double-size stamps issued by the United Kingdom Post Office and were designed by Barnett Freedman. They were also the first photogravure commemorative stamps to be issued. The change from typograph to photogravure stamps had occurred in 1924 and this change permitted much more variety and subtlety. The Coronation stamp was of a composite design - Edmund Dulac being responsible for the actual design and the late Eric Gill for the lettering.

The centenary of the first postage stamp in 1940 was marked by the issue of ½d., 1d., 1½d., 2d., 2½d., and 3d. stamps of special design. In 1946, stamps were issued to celebrate the end of hostilities in 2½d. and 3d. denominations. The theme was "Peace & Reconstruction" and various symbols such as the dove and a house were on the stamps.

ESTATE LOUIS WILLIAMS.

10th May 1948.

OPEN LETTER to:-

His Excellency the Governor of the Falkland Islands and Honourable Members of Executive Council.

We regret having to express our strong disapproval to most of the new Import Duties published in Order No. 3 of 1948.

Apart from the fact that they will increase the local "cost of living" they will also complicate business and we prefer simplicity in business affairs, in fact the greatest measure possible of "free trade".

We do not like that new taxation.

Please take it off.

NOTE to General Public. We suggest that for those members of the public who would prefer to address their own complaints on the new Taxation to the Government, the above form of protest might be suitable to copy.

PUBLIC MEETING IN STANLEY.

A company of some five hundred people met at a Public Meeting in the Gymnasium Hall, Stanley, last Thursday evening at the invitation of a group of local tax-payers, including the Chairman of Stanley Town Council. The Meeting which was a model of good order and serious thought heard a petition read out to which if acceptable to the meeting after discussion, those present would be invited to append their names. The town was to be canvassed for signatures and also the Camp.

It is intended to forward this petition to His Excellency the Governor for forwarding to the Rt. Hon. the Secretary of State for the Colonies. In its wording the petition seeks amongst its requests, the recall of the present Governor, complaining of excessive expenditure, also the cancellation of the new taxation as published in the May Gazette. The Petition requests constitutional reform included in which the inhabitants of the Colony would have reasonable control in the direction of its expenditure and taxation. The Petition goes on to welcome the idea of the Secretary of State advising the appointment of a Commission to come out to the Colony and verify the statements in the petition.

THE TABERNACLE (NONCONFORMIST CHURCH)

Tomorrow Night (Friday 14th May at 7 p.m.) - Special Meeting in the Tabernacle Church marking the forthcoming commencement of full time service as an officer in the Salvation Army of Cadet Bert Stevensen, a Falkland Islander and a member of our Church.

 Sunday 16th May - Services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.
 (Sunday Night's Service will centre around the work of the Salvation Army).

Tuesday 7 Choir Practice. 7.30 Prayer Service.

Just a Thought. It was Jesus who gave the invitation "Follow Me" - to His disciples and from that time forward people have spread abroad the same wonderful invitation in Jesus Name. "Follow Me" comes as an invitation to our busy world of today from the same Lord. What a privilege to seek to live in the light and love of such a wonderful Saviour and Friend!

Meeting of the Legislative Council.

An extraordinary meeting of the Legislative Council took place at Government House on Wednesday the 12th May. The Governor presided over the Council, and after the opening prayers led by himself, His Excellency delivered an address to the council and others present which was broadcast at the same time throughout the Colony. A printed copy of this address appears in the centre of this paper.

The Hon. Mr A.G. Barton at the appropriate time moved the postponement of consideration on the Import Duties Resolution and the Income Tax (Amendment) Bill on the grounds that the Hon. Member for the West Falklands was unable to be present and therefore the West viewpoint could not be put forward. These motions were at once accepted by His Excellency. The Governor emphasised that this was a postponement solely through the absence of a West Falkland representative, and that discussion of the subject would be resumed on the return of the "Fitzroy" from the Camp.

In the meantime the tariffs specified in the Customs Order No.3 of 1948 are held in abeyance.

A Cold Weekend.

Last weekend was exceptionally cold, with snow and hail squalls. We do not object to having winter now - as long as the Spring and following Summer are fine!

Colonies.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR AND THE PUBLIC.

Gentlemen,

We, the undersigned, have been Unofficial Members of the Legislative Council for 13 years, 8 years and 6 months respectively. Only one of any one of us received a direct request to ask a question or to make a statement in Council. This occasion was a week ago and proved successful; enforcement of the proposed new taxation measures was delayed.

We know we were nominated to our seats in Council by the Governor, not elected by popular vote, but that does not prevent us from making known to him the views of different sections of the Public if we are asked

Card of Thanks.

Mr & Mrs Hannaford and boys wish to express their heartfelt gratitude to the innumerable friends and relatives who sent floral tributes and letters and telegrams with expressions of sympathy to them during their recent bereavement.

They would also like to express their sincere thanks to Mrs George Perry, Mrs John Blyth and Dr Arthur for their kindness during their distress.

Captain of s.s. "Fitzroy" Broadcasts.

Captain White of the s.s. "Fitzroy" gave a talk in the course of the Stanley Broadcast Programme last Sunday in which he told the story of his last voyage southwards to the Dependencies and the gales which were encountered. People listening in, we are sure, would enjoy this talk.

Oil Tanker Calling.

The "Black Ranger" - an oil tanker, is expected to arrive in Stanley about the weekend.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

We are extremely indebted to the Government for printed copies of His Excellency the Governor's recent address to the Legislative Council. Copies of the address appear in the centre of this paper. Our thanks to the printers!

Wedding

On Saturday morning, at half a minute to ten, Miss Marjorie Downs in powder blue afternoon frock, navy halo hat, navy shoes and gloves, walked down the aisle of Christ Church Cathedral on the arm of Dr J.E. Hamilton. She was met at the chancel steps by the bridegroom, Mr R.G. Vinson, who in the unavoidable absence of Mr Gilruth, was ably supported by Mr F. Jones, and there, in the presence of a few friends, the happy couple were joined in Holy Matrimony by the Rev. R.G.R. Calvert who afterwards gave a short and friendly address.

In the afternoon in the Ship Hotel the school staff was entertained to a sumptuous tea and later in the day a reception was held for between 40 and 50 friends of Mr and Mrs Vinson at the home of Dr and Mrs Hamilton.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM BRITAIN.

BRITAIN WILL BROADCAST OLYMPIC GAMES TO WORLD.

Elaborate arrangements are being made by the British Broadcasting Corporation to radiate throughout the world news, running commentaries and eye witness accounts of the coming Olympic Games in the United Kingdom. On the Continent of Europe, for example, millions of people who are unable to visit Britain during the Games, will be able to hear up-to-date accounts of them in their own languages.

Broadcasters from most countries competing in the Games will be visiting London, and the B.B.C. will supply them with facilities for their work. At the same time the European Service of the B.B.C. will put in the field some 60 commentators who will follow the Games day by day and report in 24 languages.

A special Olympic Games service will be broadcast from London on the transmitters normally directed to Europe. At a fixed time every day listeners in every language will hear a full account of the Games, while events of particular interest to each country will be broadcast "live" with a commentator giving a "running" description. The times of these special broadcasts cannot, of course, be fixed in advance, but announcements over the microphone, and through other sources, will warn listeners when to tune in.

FAMOUS LONDON EXHIBITION HAD SILVER JUBILEE IN SPRING

Buyers from all over the world were invited to visit the Ideal Home Exhibition at Olympia, London, which celebrated its silver jubilee in the spring. Some 600 of Britain's leading manufacturers were exhibiting, and managing directors of firms concerned were hosts at a special club for such potential overseas customers. Visitors saw six miles of illuminated show windows. The Exhibition also presented a 12-acre arena of entertainment and fascinating discoveries.

New inventions, now reaching manufacturing stage, were shown for every department of the home, and it was possible to test various new implements under working conditions.

Clockmaking, now regaining its eminence as a world famed British trade figured in one of the exhibition's highlights - The Pageant of the Hours - which told the story of its progress through the ages. Strange, romantic, "wizardly" old clocks and watches, including those that measure time by dripping water, burning oil, and by weights and springs, make a collector's treasury. This feature presented probably the greatest collection of priceless watches and clocks ever shown to the public.

BRITAIN'S ROYAL AIR FORCE TO PROVIDE SEARCH AND RESCUE FOR CIVIL AIRCRAFT.

Britain's Royal Air Force organisation which, from its formation in 1918 until the end of the war saved about 11,000 airmen, sailors, soldiers and civilians, is to provide search and rescue facilities for civil as well as military aircraft in future. Under an agreement between Britain's Air Ministry and the Ministry of Civil Aviation this service will be known as the Search and Rescue Organisation of the Royal Air Force, not by its former title of Air-Sea Rescue. The present organisation was designed by the Air Ministry and the Admiralty and relies primarily on facilities provided by the Royal Air Force and the Royal Navy though valuable assistance from a number of other sources is also available.

The areas covered by the new agreement extend throughout the United Kingdom and in those areas overseas in which the Royal Air Force maintains facilities. Within the organisation, liaison is kept with the Admiralty, the National Lifeboat Institution and other bodies concerned in sea or land rescue. In the wider field, the closest contact is maintained with the International Civil Aviation Organisation who, in future, will receive from the Air Ministry in London such information for publication concerning search and rescue as is not secret.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM BRITAIN.

Since its inception in 1941, Air-Sea rescue built up a highly efficient and well-equipped force of aircraft, launches, and units specially trained in the art of mountain, desert and jungle rescue. The specialised units of aircraft and launches have been disbanded for economy, and now operational squadrons and units carry out the search and rescue duties as a secondary role.

When an aircraft is reported missing or crashes in an area administered by the United Kingdom, all available data which will assist the Search or Rescue Organisation will be passed by the Air Traffic Control Centre to the appropriate Rescue Co-ordination Centre of the Royal Air Force. In the case of missing aircraft an air search over the route the aircraft was following is made, with due allowance for deviations which might have been caused by weather conditions, engine or navigational failures or fuel shortages. Broadcasts to shipping ensures watch on the sea lanes and the assistance of the British Broadcasting Corporation and the Press is sought in asking the public to report facts that may assist in the land search.

In cases where the missing aircraft is found to have crashed and has been located, aid is immediately despatched by aircraft carrying airborne lifeboats, high-speed launches, lifeboats or shipping and, in the case of land crashes, by search parties of mountain rescue units where necessary. Helicopters are also used when conditions are appropriate. Besides the work of rescuing aircraft, the organisation has been able to assist others in distress such as ships, and civilians cut off by floods, or snow, or stranded in mountainous areas. During the severe weather conditions last winter, mountain rescue units of the Royal Air Force brought relief and supplies to a number of villages cut off by snow drifts. These operations are not always carried out without losses to the rescuers.

at Westcott in the English county of Buckinghamshire is the centre for research and development on every type of rocket propulsion system and unit for Britain and the Commonwealth. Testing is done statically on test-beds; the actual flying tests are being carried out at various ranges in isolated parts of Britain.

The Department concentrates exclusively on the study of the power behind the rocket. The test beds have been planned very carefully. Ducts for exhaust gases have been constructed so that they may be flooded immediately from high pressure mains in an emergency. Control and observation chambers are of reinforced concrete, with narrow windows glazed with armour glass. High pressure nitrogen at 1,000 to 100 lbs. per square inch is on tap for feeding fuels; consumption is at the rate of two or more gallons per minute.

When the propulsion unit is clamped down the recording instruments are attached. Some are recorded in the Control Room and others are electronic measurements recorded in a central building far enough away not to be disturbed by vibrations. More than 30 measurements of thrusts, pressures, temperatures, rates of flow, and so forth are recorded at one time, while high speed cine records, at the rate of 3,000 frames per second, can also be made.

SPORTS NEWS FROM LONDON

Two Royal Air Force bob-sleigh teams which left England for Switzerland, to take part in the Olympic Games at St Moritz, used bobs built to a secret design by a British firm of aircraft manufacturers. They were designed to travel at speeds of 80 to 90 miles an hour, and to be capable of approaching bends at 60 miles an hour.

 Britain's Amateur Athletic Board is to send a representative team to Iceland in May. In return, Iceland champions will compete in the Amateur Athletic Association championships at the White City, London, on July 2 and 3 next. Britain's team for the Olympic Games will be announced on July 6 or July 7. New honorary treasurer of the A.A.A. is Mr Walter Jewell.

The Public are requested to note that permits for a further ration of Butter amounting to 2 lbs per head will be issued on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons between the hours of 2 and 5 p.m.

Due to the sudden change in shipping movements it is regretted that the amount of Butter shipped by the last voyage of the s.s. The Public are therefore asked to make the best possible use of this issue as no supplementary ration will be possible under the circumstances.

FAIR COMMENT - By "Simplicitas"

The recent fairly heavy falls of snow in Stanley were certainly enjoyed to the full extent by the youngsters, although the "oldsters" amongst us moved about in some trepidation-not quite knowing which to fear the more-a slip and fall on the back or a snowball on the back of the neck-but as was pointed out to me the other day "Snow use worrying"-Ugh!

Readers outside of Stanley might be interested to know of the wild rumours which were circulating recently concerning the origin and purpose of an ominous looking black and yellow flag seen flying over the entrance of one of the Stores in the town-was it a symbol of some political significance-or what? Speedily fears were averted when closer inspection revealed it to be the same as may be seen in many hundreds of towns throughout the Empire-the flag of the Murphy Radio Dealer!

The joint letter by three (un-official) Members of Legislative Council, published in last weeks "Weekly News" must surely be a step in the right direction, in that these Hon. Members have shown willingness to be the Voice of the People in a way similar to that of Members of Parliament in the United Kingdom. This surely will give the "Man and Woman in the street" the assurance that ideas when put forward to them will be seriously considered by Legislative Council, and that any questions which are raised by the People will be answered after due deliberation by the Council.

PUBLIC NOTICEStamp Duty Ordinance

The public is informed that the Stamp Duty Ordinance is now in force.

Under that Ordinance it is necessary for anyone giving a receipt, other than in respect of a cash sale transaction, for £2 or over to fix on the receipt stamps to the value of twopence and to cancel the stamps. Cancellation may be effected by defacing the stamps with ink but it would be more satisfactory if the recipient signs across the stamps or impresses them with a rubber stamp as is done in the United Kingdom.

It is an offence not to give a stamped receipt, or to refuse to give one or to give a receipt for less than £2 or to give separate receipts each less than £2 in order to evade the duty.

The Ordinance does not apply to receipts given by the Government. The reason for this will be obvious - it would be taking money out of one pocket to put in the other, nor does it apply to receipts for wages pensions or amounts received under the Workmen's Compensation Ordinance.

Engagement.

The engagement is announced between Major John Tonkin of Bournemouth, England, and Miss Heather Sedgwick, elder daughter of Mr and Mrs Lawrence Sedgwick of Stanley.

Miss Sedgwick is Secretary in Stanley to the Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey. Major Tonkin is now in Montevideo, and was for two seasons stationed in Marguerite Bay as a member of F.I.D.S.

We understand that Miss Sedgwick will travel to Montevideo in the s.s. "Fitzroy" next voyage, and will be married there, later flying with Major Tonkin to England. We hope that we will receive an account of this wedding for publication and in the meantime extend our good wishes to Miss Sedgwick and Major Tonkin.

New Ways With Wool.

Britain's oldest industry, the wool industry, is optimistic. Its overall production figure has increased by over five per cent and is now half-way towards the target of 12 per cent set by Sir Stafford Cripps in September of last year.

Output of cloth for export has risen from 22 per cent of the total figure in August, 1947, to 30 per cent at the end of December, and is still on the increase, while cloth delivered by manufacturers for export in the last quarter of 1947 was about 40 per cent higher than in the third quarter.

Two factors are behind this vastly improved production picture. In the first place, fuel supplies have returned to normal, after the crisis a year ago which caused a loss in output of 20 million square yards of cloth. Good "cushions" of reserves have been built up and, in the unlikely event of another fuel crisis there is little danger of it materially affecting the mills. Secondly, there is the big rise in manpower - figures of all those engaged in the industry now stand at 190,200.

Delivery Dates.

However, despite the happier position of production, delivery dates still remain a problem. The general return to seasonal buying and hardening of market conditions overseas mean that exporters must give definite delivery dates and keep to them in 1948, if they do not want to risk cancellations. Overseas buyers are also asking for firm prices at the time of sale, thus bringing an end to the method of taking orders subject to "the price ruling at the time of delivery." This unsatisfactory system caused considerable delivery delays last year, with the inevitable tendency in certain quarters to hold up delivery in order to get higher prices.

Overseas buyers seeking British wool fabrics will find woollens much easier to buy than worsteds. At present the delivery delay in woollens varies between six and nine months; with worsteds it is considerably longer. So heavy is the demand that this situation exists in spite of the fact that the bulk of worsted cloth output is now being produced for export.

With woollens in more ready supply at the present time, it was natural that these fabrics should have taken pride of place at the recent exhibition of wool fabrics for export held in London, and staged jointly by the International Wool Secretariat and the National Wool Textile Export Corporation.

In the words of Mr A.G. Bottomley, Britain's Secretary for Overseas Trade, who opened it, the exhibition illustrated the distinctive character of British wool fabrics which are being produced for export markets.

It also showed one of the most important advances in Britain's wool industry - the development of lightweight woollens.

Demand for Special Clothing

The vast field which is now open for these lightweight fabrics has been revealed by recent market research in the United States, South America and other overseas countries with a demand for tropical and sub-tropical clothing. For this reason the accent was on lightweight, soft draping cloths at the exhibition.

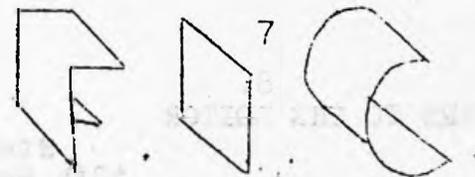

A most interesting feature was a display by Edward Gardiner of Selkirk, Scotland, of their new 'Crepe Tweed' fabrics. These fabrics, which are in plain or corded weaves, can be made as light as eight ounces in dress weights, and up to 10 or 11 ounces for suitings and edge-to-edge coats.

Another relatively new fabric is the super lightweight printed wool dress material, woven with the aid of alginate rayon carrier yarn.

Shortage of jute for camouflage during World War II was directly responsible for the development of alginate rayon, which is an artificial fibre produced from seaweed.

It opens up a new field of development in textiles; for alginate rayon possesses the peculiar quality

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Stanley,
10th May 1948

PRICE CONTROL

Dear Sir,

During the past week most of us have been heatedly discussing the increased taxation, of course taxation in any shape or form is never welcome. But have we realised that we are also being "taxed" (out of all proportion) by the present prices of commodities in our Stores?

For example:-At this store we buy toilet soap at 5d per tablet, and at that store for the identical article we pay 8d! Again at this store we pay £3:0:0 for a certain garment and at that store the self-same garment costs us no less than £3:16:0!

Now, this store is a thriving concern, leaving nothing to the imagination, regarding the financial position of that store. It is therefore, essential, that with the new taxation, complete Government Price Control be introduced at once.

The effect, obviously, would be to minimise the new taxation, and in many instances, the cost of the commodity (plus the new tax) would be less than the price paid at present.

Dear Sir,

Since my daughter married into a Falkland Islands family, she and her husband have been sending us the F.I.W.Ns. regularly every mail and now it is only natural that we like to know what is going on in this lonely Colony of ours.

This is to let you know how we look forward to the arrival of the "Fitzroy" or "Lafonia" here in Montevideo, knowing that there will be one or more

F.I.W.Ns. for us on board and how very much this little paper of yours interests us.

The 30th of April was my wife's birthday and she gave a party at our house and among the guests present were, Mrs Stewart, Mr Des Peck, Mrs Audrey Bonini, Billy Etheridge, Rex Browning, Iona Norris and Jean Bonner, by this list you can see that the Colony was well represented.

My daughter is Mrs Sam Hennah, who was born in England - as we all were; we have lived here in Montevideo for the past 18 years.

I am hoping soon to visit Stanley - that is if I can get away from my job here.

I will not take up any more of your time now, but will end this letter wishing you and the F.I.W.Ns. every success in the future.

Yours faithfully,

John H. Bennett.

-We know how grateful parents of our Scholarship pupils will be to Mr and Mrs Bennett, we hope that the writer manages to pay a visit to Stanley...Ed.W.N.

Dear Girls and Boys,

I am sure that you have all been enjoying the snow that has come our way this winter. I wonder how many of our young readers in the Camp have sledges and use them when the weather is suitable? There is nothing more exciting than travelling down a slope in this way - in some lands men travel over the snows on a kind of sledge drawn by dogs - down in our Dependencies in the far south some of the people living there travel for miles and miles in this way. So perhaps some of you, when you grow older will spend a time in these lands of ours where there is sure to be snow.

Next week we'll be telling you of Robert Rabbit's adventure in the snow of his home field - so don't miss your corner next week. Cheerio until then,
Uncle Jim.

Mrs Fred Davis wishes to thank all who so kindly took part in the search for her husband and son, also the many who have, in one way or another helped her since, and particularly Stanley Town Council.

Local Notes.

The s.s. "Fitzroy" up until the time of going to press, was having good weather on her voyage round the Camp. The vessel provisionally leaves here for her long journey to the United Kingdom via Montevideo early next month. It will seem strange to have the "Fitzroy" away from the Colony for a number of months after her regular visits around our Ports since 1933. We will look forward to her return.

We remind our readers of the Boys' Brigade Display in the Gymnasium tonight (Thursday). Admission is by programme ticket. It is fitting here to pay tribute to the Officers of this splendid movement for their work amongst our local boys. We are sure those who witness this week's display will endorse our words of praise. We wish the Boys' Brigade much success in Stanley in the days ahead.

in the discovery of new methods for making wool shrinkresistant, tickle-free, water-repellent and flame-proof.
Moth and Fire-proof.

A number of well-known firms are now producing non-shrink worsted cloth in all weights, among them a leading Huddersfield exporter, A.E. Clegg. Another interesting feature in this field is the new range of moth-proofed and fire-proofed Bedford Cords which are being produced by T. & J. Finker of Holmfirth, Huddersfield.

As might be expected, it was the war, with its extraordinary demands and conditions, which contributed largely to the speedy development of many of these new ways with wool.

Before the war, methods for rendering wool fabrics shrink-proof were, comparatively, in a crude state.
During hostilities two processes for treating wool to make it shrink-proof were introduced. One of these, dry gaseous chlorination, was applied with success to over 30 million lb. of wool clothing and equipment for the armed forces. The other, called the Perzyme process, involves the treatment of wool with a solution of sodium bisulphite and papain, which is the dried juice of the sub-tropical papaw tree.

Since the war, scientists have found that by combining these two processes in a new Chlorzyme process for treating wool, they can replace the usual rough scaly surface of the wool with a smooth, lustrous finish, which not only renders it unshrinkable, but also tickle-proof to sensitive skins.

Variety in design and colour, for long a speciality of the British manufacturer of high quality woollens, provides another important aspect for the overseas buyer.

New 1948 Colours

Faint pastel colours for dress-weight fabrics, with designs ranging from plain crepes, dobbie effects, loosely woven hopsacks to boucles, jacquards, fancy stripes and double diagonal weaves, are popular at the moment. Checks ranging from tiny checks to bold checks

A meeting of the Committee on Wednesday 19th, May, drew up a prize list of Highest Score Prizes, Sealed Score Prizes, and "Certificate" competitions, details of which may be seen on the Club Notice Board.

Also posted on the Board are details of the "Forces Day" competition. Members wishing to take part in this competition should notify the Secretary before the departure of the next mail.

The Annual Prize Shoot will be arranged for the first week in August.

The "Exeter Shield" competition commences forthwith under the same conditions as previous years.

A sub-Committee was formed to select a team to represent the Colony in the 1948 Postal Match. Members are asked to put in as many practices as possible during the next month so that the best possible team can be selected.

A point of interest. Several members have recently been using ring foresights. Some possibilities have been returned, and a generally higher average maintained. It is the belief of the writer that other members would benefit by giving the "ring" an extensive try-out.

Tweeds are very colourful this year with such gay combinations as red, yellow and grey, or blue, lilac and green. Some new colours for 1948 include bedouin green, a new tan, stone colour, pale orchid and a rich mulberry; but the tip for the autumn 1948 fashions is that there will be a return to the sober hues of the Victorian era.

Boys' Brigade Display

On Wednesday and Thursday evenings of last week the 1st Falkland Islands Company of the Boys' Brigade held their Annual Display in the Gymnasium, Stanley.

After the Company marched in and prayers, the audience watched work varying from boxwork to tableaux, mat rolling to physical exercises. It would be unfair to single out any names for special mention, everyone gave of their best and Mr W. Jones the Company Captain and Mr D. Williams an Officer and Instructor are to be congratulated on the smooth running of the programme and for their part in preparing the boys for this occasion. A word of special congratulations must be extended to the Senior lads who gave a display of first class and in some cases daring work.

Among those present on the first evening were Mrs Miles Clifford-His Excellency being on a tour of the Camp at the time. The Hon. the Colonial Secretary and Mrs Mathews were also present on the first night.

We hope that the Boys' Brigade will be able to carry through next season's activities without the large amount of sickness which, in common with the town, has been their lot this present season.

Local Concert

A Concert was due to take place in St Marys Catholic Church Hall, last night (Wednesday) arranged by the Rev. Fr. Kelly. Part of the Concert was to "go over the air" for the entertainment of Camp friends. We will be publishing the Concert programme in our next issue.

Folk Dancers say "Farewell" to Miss Bosworthick.

On Monday evening the 31st May, a very enjoyable folk dance party was held in the Gymnasium at which all the folk dancing members and members of the dress making classes were present.

During the period of Miss Bosworthick's stay in the Falklands she taught folk dancing and dress making at evening classes.

The party was attended by Mrs Miles Clifford, who presented Miss Bosworthick with a bouquet of flowers.

Just before refreshments were served Miss Bosworthick gave a farewell speech and said how much she had enjoyed the classes and her stay in the Falklands.

On behalf of the dress making members, Mrs Mercer presented Miss Bosworthick with a bracelet made of Falkland Island pebbles in appreciation of the many hours she spent teaching them.

At the end of the evening, "Auld Lang Syne" was sung and everybody wished Miss Bosworthick the best of luck.

The Weekly News also expresses it's thanks to Miss Bosworthick for her period of service and her helpfulness in Night School and Folk Dancing during her stay in the Colony and express good wishes to her for the future.

Extract from "Opinion" Column of Daily Express - March 20th 1948, which stresses the same point as this paper - the immediate need in our Colony for effective constitutional reform -

The world has had a glimpse of the hardships and grievances of the Falkland's people. Are they now to be left without attention or reform until the next dictator brings another crisis along?

Notes on the FALKLAND ISLANDS AND DEPENDENCIES.

1. Falkland Islands

Up to the end of the 18th century and indeed the year 1833, the position in the Falkland Islands was obscure as regards discovery, occupation and title. The first authenticated discovery of the islands was made by a Dutchman Sebald de Weert in 1690, but the first authenticated landing was English, by Captain John Strong, who in 1690 navigated the passage between the two main islands and named it Falkland Sound, a name later transferred to the whole archipelago. The first British settlement was established in 1765-6 at Port Egmont by Commodore John Byron who took formal possession of the harbour and all the neighbouring islands for King George III by the name of Falkland Islands. In 1764 the French had also established a settlement, but disposed of their rights to Spain in 1767. In 1770 the English were expelled from Port Egmont by a Spanish force, but a declaration and counter declaration were exchanged with Spain in 1771 by which the Spaniards disavowed the expedition and provided for the restoration of the status quo ante. In 1774 the British withdrew their forces for reasons of economy, maintaining their title and leaving a leaden plaque asserting it. The Spaniards likewise maintained their claim to sovereignty and retained a small settlement and a penal colony, which were withdrawn in 1811.

During the period of the emergence of an independent Argentina the position was particularly confused, the Falkland Islands being deserted, apart from the visits of whalers and sealers.

The first Argentine claim was made in November 1820 by Colonel Daniel Jewett, who stated that he had come "to take possession of these islands in the name of the supreme government of the United Province of South America". He lacked any real government authority. In 1825 a Governor was apparently appointed to the islands without ever visiting them. Not until June 1829 did a decree appear appointing a military and political Governor of the Falkland Islands. This provoked British protests in 1829 and 1832 on the grounds that British rights "founded upon the original discovery and subsequent occupation of the said islands" had not been affected by the withdrawal in 1774.

In 1833 Captain Onslow of H.M.S. Clio was instructed to resume the exercise of rights to sovereignty over the Falkland Islands. For the next 8 years occupation was effected by the maintenance of a naval detachment to prevent occupation by any other power and to preserve the wild cattle on the islands from destruction by the crews of passing ships. In 1834 Lieutenant Moody was appointed as the first Governor of the islands. In 1846 land was granted to a private settlement venture which in 1854 was bought outright by the Falkland Islands Company which was incorporated by royal charter in the same year. The population, all of Anglo-Saxon origin, which amounted to 800 in 1850, had doubled itself by 1885. Thus from 1833 British occupation and administration had been uninterrupted and continuous.

If in 1833 the title to the islands had rested in the Argentine Government the British action would unquestionably have raised issues under the Monroe doctrine enunciated 10 years previously. The United States did not, however, take the view that the doctrine was involved and indeed specifically repudiated it in 1886 on the grounds that "the resumption of the actual occupation of the Falkland Islands by Great Britain in 1833 took place under a claim of title which had been previously asserted and maintained by that government".

The events of 1833 provoked protests from the Argentine; and there have subsequently been further occasional protests to the exercise of Britain's sovereign rights; but it should be noted that there were long periods of silence between 1849 and 1884 (35 years) and between 1884 and 1908 (24 years); and that at no time have the Argentines pressed their claims before the League of Nations or any international tribunal. The earlier Argentine protests are based exclusively on succession to the Spanish title, and it is not until 1885 that the doctrine of contiguity appears, a doctrine which has no legal validity whatever. The Argentine assertion of continuity of possession from Spain is ill-founded. The Buenos Aires Government was far from representing, either territorially or politically, the whole of the former Vice-Royalty of La Plata within whose jurisdiction, even if the Spanish title were admitted, the Falkland Islands came. Moreover, the right has consistently been denied by His Majesty's Government whereby the insurgent South American Republics of the liberation period accepted among themselves the territorial delimitation of the Spanish vicerealties.

Even if they had not other claims (as they have) the British have a title to the Falkland Islands resting upon 115 years of open, continuous, effective and peaceful possession.

2. Falkland Islands Dependencies

If claims based on succession to Spain and geographical contiguity seem somewhat unreal in the case of the Falkland Islands they become fantastic in that of its dependencies (South Georgia, South Orkneys, South Sandwich Islands, South Shetlands, and Graham Land). Even if the treaty of Tordesillas between Spain and Portugal in 1494 had been applicable 500 years later to territories thousands of miles beyond its ken, part at any rate of the dependencies would have fallen within the Portuguese sphere. Moreover there is none of the uncertainty about the original discovery which attaches to the Falkland Islands. South Georgia and the South Sandwich Islands were discovered by Captain Cook in 1775, the South Shetlands by William Smith in 1819, Graham Land by Edward Bransfield in 1820 and the South Orkneys by George

Powell in 1821. All of these, except the South Sandwich Islands, were formally claimed as British at the time of their discovery and all have remained in continuous British possession since they were claimed. While for obvious geographic and climatic reasons occupation has not been as continuous as that of the Falklands, administrative acts have nevertheless been performed at intervals, whaling licences issued and exploratory and other visits paid, naturally to a varying extent in the various parts of the Dependencies.

Nothing was heard of any Argentine, still less Chilean, claims during the 19th century but in 1904 something happened, as a result of which Britain has become the victim of her own generosity.

In March 1903 Dr W.S. Bruce, leader of the Scottish National Antarctic expedition, established a meteorological station on Laurie Island (South Orkneys). Failing to gain enough financial support to make this a permanent observatory he conveyed to the Argentine Government, through His Majesty's Minister, Buenos Aires, an invitation to convey four Argentine scientists to look after the observatory. On arriving in the island the Argentine scientists made no attempt to claim sovereignty, nor can anything in the correspondence between the two Governments be construed as recognition of Argentine sovereignty over the island. The four Argentines were relieved annually, though the Argentine Government lacked the courtesy to request the permission of His Majesty's Government for the annual visits.

On July 21st, 1908, Letters Patent were issued for the Government of the separate dependencies as Dependencies of the Falkland Islands and vesting all powers of government and legislation in the Governor of the latter. The islands and territories were defined by name and stated to be situated in an area lying south of 50° S. and between 20° and 80° W. As the area enclosed within these coordinates included a substantial portion of the South American mainland, to which no claim was of course made, in order to avoid any confusion amended Letters

Stanley Town Council.

A meeting of the Stanley Town Council was held on Wednesday 26th May. All members were present.

Mr L. Hardy, Chairman was appointed Registration Officer with effect from 17th May, for the purpose of electing a Councillor in the place of Mr McAtasney.

A letter was read from Government advising the Council that it was the intention to make a charge for licences to collect wild birds and animals. This was in reply to the Council's suggestion that the export of birds be taxed.

Matters concerning Public Assistance were passed to the Public Assistance Committee.

A suggestion from Mr Hallett that the Council form a Sports and Social club was turned down as being somewhat beyond the scope of the Council at present.

It was decided to bring to the notice of the Executive Engineer the condition of the Gymnasium chimney and boiler and the replacement of the latter by the boiler from the Town Hall, also to commend for attention certain defects in Hebe Street. The Electrical Supervisor also to be written concerning street lighting in Dairy Paddock Road, James Street and Ross Road West.

Mr R. Reive was elected Deputy Chairman in place of Mr McAtasney.

The Chairman informed the meeting that the Davis Relief Fund had reached a total of £235 to date.

The Registration officer informed the meeting that there was one candidate for the West Ward, Mr A.R.A. Pettersson, who was therefore elected as Councillor.

New Venture in Stanley.

From the 24th of May a new venture has started in a very efficient and successful way in town - a Tea Room. This enterprise has been opened in Stanley Cottage, and much credit is due to Mr Les Hardy for all the work which has gone into the preparation of the house for its present purpose. The Tea Room is entered from Ross Road and is large, and tastefully decorated. To a background of music from a self-changing record radiogram one can have tea with ones friend, brought by waitress, and in most attractive surroundings.

Not only people in town, but visitors from the Camp, and men from visiting ships will appreciate this Tea Room.

We hope that it will prosper!

Patent were issued on March 28th, 1917, modifying the definition to include the areas between 20° and 50° W which are south of 50° S. and between 50° W. which are south of 58° S.

The original Letters Patent drew no comment from the Argentine Government, who acknowledged their receipt in 1909, and it is difficult to avoid the assumption that Argentina, knowing that she had no real title to any of this area, was hoping unobtrusively to build up "squatters' rights" in the South Orkneys.

In South Georgia, with the full cognisance of the Argentine Government, an Argentine company had taken out from the British authorities a lease of land in 1906. For the next two decades Argentine let pass obvious occasions for asserting any supposed claim, and it was not until 1927 that she notified the International Postal Union that Argentine territorial jurisdiction extended de jure and de facto over the South Orkneys and South Georgia. There was no reference to the other Falkland Islands Dependencies. In 1928 the Argentine Government informed His Majesty's Government that they laid claim to the South Orkneys on, inter alia, the ground of "first effective occupation constantly maintained". In 1940 this claim was expanded into one

"over a zone to which occupation and geographical proximity of the sector formed by prolongation of the American continent afford it just title". Not till 1943 was this zone defined as "the area south of 60° S lying between 25° and 68° 34' W". On this occasion the Argentine Government stated that their claims were "inherited from Spain".

Chilean claims are even more recent and artificial. In 1906 the Chilean Ministry of Foreign Affairs declared that the delimitation of the Chilean territorial limits was the subject of preliminary investigations which had not yet been completed. In 1907 a Chilean company took out a British whaling licence covering the South Shetlands and Graham Land. Not until November 6th, 1940, did Chile put forward a claim to an area unbounded to the north lying between 53° and 90° W.

This claim was based on the argument that the Spanish conquerors of Chile gave to her undeniable rights to all lands south of the continental territory, that the Andes submerge in Drake Passage to reappear in Antarctica, and that Chilean territory is the nearest to the Antarctic islands and mainland. Bases of claim of this kind have seldom previously been put forward and have no sort of recognition in international law.

It may be noted that until this year there were no Spanish names for the Falkland Islands Dependencies other than direct translations from the English; the South Orkneys for instance being known even to Argentines by the revealingly un-Argentin name of Orcadas del Sud. Dear Girls and Boys, Tremendous excitement prevailed in Robert Rabbit's village. Snow had fallen-and all over the ground lay a smooth coating of lovely white snow. Fortunately it was a Saturday and Robert and the other bunnies did not have to go to school. So, as soon as breakfast was over Robert called down the burrows of his chums and away the company of young rascals went to the neighbouring rabbit village. This was in order to take part in a challenge snowball fight. When Robert and his friends arrived they were soon in the thick of the fight. The rabbits of this village were awaiting their visitors with heaps of snowballs in reserve as ammunition. At first Robert's team were no match for the others, then Robert had an idea which turned the tide and gave them the victory. Do you know what he did? He sent a message post haste to his village and asked his sister to bring her friends along-and they made the snowballs for Robert and his comrades to fire! What a battle! What a victory! Cheerio, until next week-Uncle Jim.

Just a Thought: Read Psalm 121. "I will lift up mine eyes" - it is true that when we turn to God and listen to His teaching then we find God always ready to help us. Let us learn to fully rely upon God.

Extract from "Opinion" Column of Daily Express.

They are our own stock, bred on our ideas of freedom. But they have no vote, no form of representative Government.

They produce one of the foods most needed by the people of Britain. But they have no means of selling it to us or anybody else.
Warned!

Now this is the kind of thing that leads to the kind of trouble we have just been having with rioters at Accra in West Africa. The same warning comes from the West Indies.

What folly for the British to allow any part of the Empire to bring forth trouble and contagion, when it could be providing good things and happiness for its own people and ours as well!"

Wedding.

The wedding of John Murdo Morrison only son of Mr and Mrs Murdo Morrison of Port San Carlos and Hyacinth Emily McKay, third daughter of Mr and Mrs J.R.McKay of Port San Carlos took place at San Carlos on May 26th. The ceremony was performed by J.F.Bonner Esq., J.P., Acting Registrar, and was celebrated in Mr & Mrs Bonner's house where the bride had been in service for almost 7 years.

The bride looked very charming in a white satin gown, net veil and halo headdress and was attended by Mrs W.R.McKay, sister of the bridegroom, also Miss Gillian McMullen, neice of the bride, tastefully attired in pink taffeta, all dresses being the work of Mrs D.J.Murphy, sister of the bride. The Best Man was Mr W.R.McKay brother of the bride. The wedding bouquets of chrysanthemums and fern were presented by Mrs J.F.Bonner.

Many snapshots were taken after the ceremony and a reception was held at the home of Mr and Mrs D.J. Murphy where guests were invited to drink the health of the happy couple and to sample the wedding cake of Mr Summers' well known make. A dance was held in the cookhouse later that evening. Mr and Mrs J.M. Morrison are to make their home at the Wreck Point, San Carlos and have our good wishes for their future happiness.

Loading Wool - Swan Island

It was July and the winter, which had held off for some time, had recently manifested itself with a fierce blizzard which had affected practically the whole of the islands. The "Fitzroy" had left Fox Bay at daybreak and when the anchor was dropped at Swan Island shortly after there was every promise of one of those beautiful days, met with only in the winter. Overhead the sun beat down from a sky ringed with towering cumulus clouds that foretold of snow or hail showers on the mainland. Along the western horizon the West Falkland peaks reared their snow covered heads into the passing clouds. A gentle breeze stirred the wavelets which slapped at the motor boat as, with the raft in tow, she made her way shorewards.

The lone inhabitant met us at his door, the first people he had met for several months. All hands then started rolling the bales down to the beach, small bales and easily handled by one man. Soon loading commenced, the bales being rolled up two heavy planks and into the scows. At this point I betook myself shooting - rolling a bale down a slope is one thing but the same operation reversed is quite a different matter.

The snow was a dazzling white and a foot deep. The frozen surface was not sufficiently strong to bear my weight but it effectively hid all the inequalities in the ground. Walking then consisted of alternately plunging into a hole and tripping over a grass bog. The geese were plentiful but wild and the old vintage rifle was no match for them so I returned to the boats minus game but like a true sportsman full of excuses.

Arrived at the beach I found the scows loaded and was just in time to board the motor boat before she picked up the towline. Then followed an hour's tug of war. The tide had bored out and left the raft sitting on a rock. We pulled and strained, straight ahead, to port, to starboard, the raft swung round, one scow was afloat but the other was fast.

The Call of the Open Spaces

Some seventeen years ago a man by the name of Lachie MacLeod lived on the West Falklands. To be precise, Lachie lived on Weddell Island and was also on Beaver. No doubt some residents in the Colony will remember him well.

Lachie, who was engaged by the late Mr John Hamilton, did not stay more than a year and a half or so in the Colony, then he left and went over to the Coast to Chile.

Towards the end of the nineteen thirties, the dark clouds of war hovered over Europe and when war broke out the Highland blood in Lachie was stirred and he returned to Britain to "do his bit". The war years saw serving in the Royal Engineers.

After the war Lachie felt the call for the wide open spaces-where should he settle? The call of his native Highlands came to him and from an article in The Sunday Post of March 14th we see that our former resident is now living on the island of Pabbay, in the outer Hebrides-only twice in eighteen months has Lachie come off his island home where he is the only inhabitant and in each case to visit his home which is in South Harris.

Lachie is shepherding on this far off island-he according to the article in the "Sunday Post" has no wireless set but he has contact with Harris by a visiting motor boat which takes an hour and a half to reach his island, and pays a call every three weeks.

Lachie seems to grow the vegetables which he knows grow out on the islands of the West Falklands. He also shoots and fishes. His island home is some four square miles in area.

We mention this story of Lachie McLeod's life with acknowledgment to the "Sunday Post" knowing that it will be read with interest by our readers out in the Camp. We extend our best wishes to Lachie, should this Weekly News happen to reach him on Pabbay.

Hello Children,

We are called the Six New Hens, though we are not really very new. But, you see, there are Six Old Ones, and we don't want to be mixed up with them. We are Reddy, Brownie, Top-Knot, Freckles, Feathers and Scratcher. I am not sure which I am, nor are the others. If anybody calls "Come here, Reddy," we all come. If they say "Come here, Brownie, or "Come here Feathers" we all come too. We lay lovely eggs, and we are careful to lay them in shells, or they wouldn't be any use. Cluck-cluck! Topsy and Bimbo may be very clever, but they can't lay eggs.

Legislative Council.

The adjourned meeting of the Legislative Council will be resumed at Government House at 10.00 a.m. on Friday 11th June 1948.

SINGAPORE GIVES FALKLAND ISLANDS AN EXAMPLE OF AN EFFECTIVE DEMOCRATIC ADMINISTRATIVE SET UP.

The newly-established Legislative Council of the Colony of Singapore held its inaugural meeting at Singapore on April 1st.

In the new Council, there are 13 "unofficial" members ("unofficial" means those members who are not Government officials) and nine "official" members, four of whom are ex-officio members and five Government officials nominated by the Governor.

Nine of the 13 "unofficial" members are elected, one each by the three principal Chambers of Commerce (European, Chinese and Indian), and six by popular ballot in the two two-member and two single-member constituencies into which the Island is divided.

The four remaining "unofficial" members are nominated by the Governor to secure representation for important interests which may not have had representatives returned in the elections.

Editorial Comment. A Committee has been appointed by His Excellency's will be seen on page 15 of this paper to examine the estimates of expenditure and to make re-recommendations as to possible economies. This was foreshadowed by His Excellency in his address to the Legislative Council on May 12th. This will be of value, we note that there are three names on the Committee other than Government officials. Would not the existence of a set-up in our Legislative Council on a smaller scale, but with similar proportions to Singapore be the perfect answer to advising on expenditure as well as on economies? Such a Council could then offer criticism, if it was in the public interest on matters which it might be extremely difficult for any other body in any Colony to bring forward.

It does not matter whether our taxation in the Falkland Islands is light or otherwise, the principle of taxation without effect representation is wrong....and we do not forget that one of the first things we did, when possible, in our sector of Germany was to give the people there back the rights of the democratic vote. With the march of Time the vote will come to the Falkland Islands. The sooner it comes the better. The sooner it comes, the easier will be the task of whoever is Governor, and the co-operation of the people will be there, wholeheartedly, in the carrying out of schemes which will develop down through the different Governors' terms with a continuity which has been hitherto unknown.

We ask for effective representation as soon as possible.

Loading Wool - Swan Island.

We tried jerking but that threw us off our feet and eventually broke the tow rope which obligingly attached itself to the propellor. Shifting the load proved unavailing as the tide was still ebbing so the mate in disgust said "Lets go and eat". No second bidding was required and the raft was left to the mercy of the tide which conveniently rose while the meal was in progress. We left Swan Islands that afternoon in a rising wind which developed into a half gale which would have put finis to any idea of lifting wool. We had beaten the elements by twenty four hours.

RESUMED MEETING OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

Last Friday morning the Legislative Council met at Government House and in the presence of members of the public continued the session which had been adjourned from May the 12th. After prayers led by the Governor, the Hon. Mr K.W.Luxton was sworn in as a member of the Council.

On the resumption of consideration of the Import Duties Resolution the Hon. Mr D.W.Roberts moved an Amendment which suggested raising the wool tax to 1/3d instead of the present 1/- per twenty five pounds in place of the ad valorem Import Duties. This was seconded by the Hon. Mr K.W.Luxton who emphasised that he did so for one year only. This amendment was carried.

In the course of the session the Hon. Mr K.W.Luxton emphasised the need for cutting expenditure on the part of Government. The Hon. Mr Barton in a wide survey (of which we are printing extracts in this paper) stressed the need for economy and spoke against the increase in income tax. Mr Barton emphasised that the whole prosperity of the Colony centred around the Camp and the exportation of wool.

All four unofficial members expressed the feeling of objection to taxation without representation.

The Income Tax (Amendment) Bill was carried. The higher Income Tax comes into operation in 1949.

His Excellency congratulated Mr Barton on his review of the position refuted the charge made that he was over Broadcast by His Excellency the Governor last Sunday evening.

Good evening to you all.

I am intervening in your programme for just two minutes as I could not let this Sunday pass without sending my good wishes to the Camp and, more particularly, my sincere thanks to all those who entertained me so hospitably during my recent tour of the East and West Falklands. I enjoyed our talks and hope that these have disposed of misunderstandings; these conversations were certainly most valuable from my point of view. I also enjoyed my journey back from San Carlos and it was a wholesome experience to see something of the track in winter though I cannot pretend to have seen it at its worst, being blessed with three remarkably fine days whilst the trek from the Estancia was lightened by good company. A horse is clearly the best way to get around and my next visit will be a more leisurely one, the ship gives one all too little time and there is the further difficulty that everyone is busy loading and unloading and one is merely getting in the way.

The adjourned meeting of Legislative Council was resumed as you will have heard on Friday and that too

Extracts from Address of the Hon. Mr A.G. Barton, J.P.
Unofficial Member of the Falkland Islands Legislative Council on the 11th June 1948.

I wish to thank you (Your Excellency) first of all for your readiness four weeks ago to adjourn the debate on this amendment (on the new taxation measures). You were under no compulsion to do so, you could have altered the law had you so desired but instead you chose to give time to talk the matter over.....

Regarding the new taxation measures we have not been asked to put forward any opinions except those of the Sheep Owners Association. It surely cannot be that no one is interested, as it must be the old story that non-official members are not the chosen representatives of the people, and therefore are unfit to speak for any one but themselves. I do claim however to speak for the Sheep Owners Association, the largest employers of labour in the Colony, and I sincerely hope that when non-official members are elected to this Council the public will give them that confidence which we have failed to win.

Income Tax in this Colony was unknown until December 1939 when this Council passed at record speed the necessary legislation. There was no opposition whatsoever to a measure which was considered as being part of the Colony's share toward the cost of the war. It did not matter in those critical times that direct taxation had been introduced without so much as a by-your-leave. It was accepted as a war measure and remained so for seven years. In November 1947 when the estimates for 1948 were passed, it was made abundantly clear not only that Income Tax has come to stay but that it is in future to be regarded as a profitable source of legitimate income, as a screw which may be tightened at will. This is a decree from Whitehall - it is the will of the Secretary of State for the Colonies that we shall pay approximately 45% more in direct taxation, three years after the war has been fought and won. On the other hand Britain, with a millstone of debt around her neck reduced Income Tax in 1947 by 10%.

I know that a maximum of 3/6 in the £ here compares lightly with the corresponding 9/- in Britain, but conditions are vastly different, quite apart from the fact that tax payers here have no vote in the administration of their affairs.

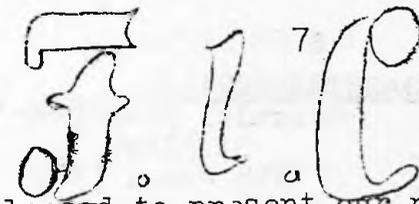

It is most unfortunate that any increase in Income Tax rates should have to be made at all, and I am far from convinced that such an increase is necessary. It is doubly unfortunate that the increase should be effected before proper representation is secured. I sympathise with you in your dilemma, and I believe that you honestly hoped to have presented Council with the new constitution long before this. This may be a very small Colony but we are British, and white, and loyal and deserve a better fate than to be the last and least on the Colonial Office's waiting list for new constitutions.....

(Mr Barton then proceeded to review the Colony's financial outlook as seen by the man in the street, showing that there were four main sources of income:-

- (1) Interest from Investments bringing in about £10,000 a year. These Investments form our Capital and are the proceeds of the Land Sales Fund.
 - (2) A contribution of £4,000 per annum from the Dependencies.
 - (3) The erratic but considerable revenue obtained from the sale of Postage Stamps outside the Colony.
 - (4) The proceeds of the Sheep Farming Industry. The speaker estimated that we had some £250,000 at most of new money coming into the Colony every year the biggest source of income being the proceeds of the Sheep Farming Industry, providing no less than 92%. This was the money which kept practically everything going - the very life-blood of the Colony).
- Mr Barton welcomed the freezer project.

Reviewing the Colony's finance from the war years onwards the Honourable Member went on -

The War years offer no true comparison though in December 1944 Governor Cardinall told Council the average annual deficit was £7,100, which figure did not include extraordinary expenditure due to the War costing the Colony some £100,000.

From now on we get into real financial trouble, with deficits of £23,000, £26,000 and an estimated shortage of £13,000 for the current year even allowing for the proposed new taxation. You intend to take £85,000 and spend £96,000. This is a very big bite indeed out of our average annual income of £250,000, but this is the beginning only. Every speech you make contains reference to some new welfare work which sooner or later must increase the Colony's expenditure, regardless of who provides the capital in the first place, the British or Falkland Islands Government. Last November, when you outlined your plan to Council you said "It has too the sovereign virtue of leaving little in the way of additional recurrent liabilities behind it" and you made the very obvious exception of Education. I cannot share your optimism in other respects, for surely every improvement in communications whether by land, sea, or air, every extension to the Hospital or other Public Buildings, every variety of Government-sponsored social amenity, bring in its wake increasing expenditure which must be provided for by revenue.

We are now discussing legislation which is much delayed and it is worth remembering that in four months from now we are due to meet again to discuss your proposals for 1949. You are already committed to introducing a scheme of children's allowances, on the heels of which will follow Old Age Pensions and the like, most praiseworthy objects but requiring more than the pass of the magic wand to finance them.

Last year and this year you have been or will be extremely lucky in the returns from Income Tax which will produce nearly double the expected Revenue. You could not possibly foresee this windfall, nor can anyone accuse you of counting your revenue chickens before they are hatched. The Industry is now enjoying a period of prosperity, which it could use to better advantage were the labour and materials available. The workers share in the prosperity, Government profits by it, and even the much-maligned Owner or Shareholder is entitled to a more generous share than has come his or her way for the last twenty years.

So much for the present, what of the future? Every Farm Owner or Board of Directors will be well advised to build up a Reserve Fund with every £ that can be spared as a precaution against that slump in wool, which throughout the long history of sheep-farming has followed every boom. Governor Cardinal said to this Council in 1944 "It is fairly safe to predict a short period of boom, say until the end of 1948, and then unless some new miracle occurs, a standstill in trade of unprecedented magnitude". What is this Government doing about its Reserve Fund? Certainly not adding to it, in fact it has been drawing from it for some years! If these new taxation measures allowed for a surplus however small, which could be set aside for a rainy day, I would have little to say, provided I was satisfied that every £ spent was well-spent and well-earned. But no surplus is budgeted for, in fact you have told us we shall be £13,000 on the wrong side of the books. In addition to that very large sum, there are other items included under the heading of "Public Works Extraordinary" amounting to £9,000 odd which are not included in Ordinary Expenditure, and are neither covered by Revenue nor by grant from the Colonial Development & Welfare Fund.

There is no end to your troubles that I can see except further increased taxation, if the present orgy of spending is to continue.

In your first three Addresses to Legislative Council I can find no single reference to the possibility of a sudden drop in Revenue which will necessarily follow a fall in the market price for wool. Let us face the facts squarely and assume that a colossal slump comes June 15th, 1948.

Sir,

If you have a disease cure it, don't tinker with it! I refer to your remarks about Singapore's so-called "Effective Democratic Administrative Set Up" (and, sir, what an awful sentence!) What we want is "Home Rule" - and there is nothing disloyal to the British Commonwealth of Nations in that. Singapore has a mixed population; it would seem that we still have to convince those at home that we really are white! Would not the constitution of the Channel Islands provide a better basis for a new constitution here?

Yours faithfully,

INSET EXTRA PAGE

Wind Up of Legislative Council Debate
by His Excellency the Governor.

His Excellency the Governor in winding up the debate congratulated the Hon. Mr K. Luxton on his maiden speech, and the Hon. Mr A. G. Barton on a full and objective review of the position as seen by the Hon. unofficial members; he had now visited almost every station in the Colony and the views of the farmers reflected in every respect the argument presented by Mr Barton. The answers to many of the charges were to be found in his opening address to Council to which he had little to add but he must say at once that the reference to "an orgy of spending" had not been substantiated by the Economy Committee now sitting; nor could he accept the suggestion that the Development Programme would leave behind it a burden of additional recurrent expenditure except in regard to education as to which he had warned Council earlier. This was not to say that no further economies were possible and the situation would be most carefully watched. As regards the Agricultural Department which had been the main source of complaint during his recent tour, the position was that the new Agricultural Officer would by now have digested the reports of Messrs Munroe, Davies and Gibbs and on his arrival would make a tour of the Camp, staying for several days at each of the principal farms and discussion and observation of the problem in its natural setting should enable him to advise on the future functions of the Department; any recommendations that he might make would of course be discussed with the Sheep Owners whom the Department was designed to serve. He (the Governor) had been asked why he had not at once closed it down and the short answer to that question was that to have taken such action as a newcomer, and without independent advice, would have been quite indefensible; to the suggestion that he could have obtained his advice from the Sheep Owners he must retort that the latter body did not always talk with a single voice, as was only too evident in the early discussions about the Freezer project. As to this latter he was glad to find that opinion was now unanimously in favour of it; that it would operate at a profit, initially, was not to be supposed and it might well seem at a loss for a few years but he was himself entirely convinced that until some means were found of disposing economically of surplus sheep the industry could not be put on a sound basis.

On the question of representation the Governor quoted from his earlier address and added that he would be discussing the proposals on his forthcoming visit to London and had every hope of returning to the Colony with the draft instruments in his pocket; he had warned Council last year that such changes could not be introduced overnight and that the Department in the Colonial Office charged with the preparation of these constitutional instruments had been greatly overburdened since the end of the war and we must inevitably take our turn. With the advent of the new constitution, the responsibility for "vetting" the annual estimates of expenditure would pass to a Finance Committee comprising the unofficial members sitting with the Colonial Secretary, a step which no one would welcome with greater enthusiasm than His Excellency.

In conclusion, the Governor reiterated the need for assistance to the married man with children and for some real provision for old age; in this the Administration must play its part. He was not interested in taxation for taxations sake and for the rest was concerned to see that the various Departments of Government were equipped to discharge their several functions with the greatest possible efficiency.

He paid a tribute to the Sheep Owners for their public-spirited action in putting forward their proposal for an increase in the export duty on wool as an alternative to the ad valorem tariff.

The Late William Joseph Alazia.

We regret to report the death last Monday of Mr William Joseph Alazia.

Mr Alazia who passed away at the home of Mr and Mrs Alazia (his son and daughter-in-law) in Stanley was 75 years of age and was predeceased by his wife.

People around San Carlos in particular will be sorry to hear of the passing of one who was so well known in that part of the Camp as a shepherd.

We extend our sympathy to those who mourn their loss.

Sir,

I have recently made the round trip on the s.s. "Fitzroy", calling at quite a number of places on the East and West Falklands and would like to make a few comments through the medium of your paper.

On leaving Stanley although no cabin was allotted to me, I had the privilege of sleeping on a narrow settee which I must say I got accustomed to, and after seeing the sleeping accommodation some of the passengers had to deal with, thought myself in clover.

The cabins, first class, which number six, suitable to accommodate eighteen were well packed, or in fact over packed. Outside this, there is a berth on the bridge deck which was occupied by an F.I.C. Ltd. business man making round trip and another which is used for Directors or Managers cabin, which I believe has a bunk and settee.

This special cabin was occupied by His Excellency the Governor for an office and also a cabin below with two bunks and also a settee, which is used for a shake down in many a case. During my trip I saw many passengers come aboard, men, women and very small children. In one case a married couple came aboard with a very large family. They happened to be shifting all furniture and bedding to another settlement. On seeing the double bed amongst their belongings I advised them to hold on to it and lay it on the Smokeroom floor to give the poor little mites a sleep during the night. This was done which meant other male passengers had to sit and sleep or else wait until some other passenger or member of the crew awoke and they occupied their bunk.

The hospitality I received during my trip is beyond praise and I would like to thank one and all.

Some farms I must admit have their cookhouses kept in perfect order but some which I will not quote but leave it to the Managers to think for themselves, in my opinion a box of matches would be the best remedy - I suggest that they pay a visit to Pebble Island and get a few tips.

I would like to comment before closing on the work carried out by the crew of the s.s. "Fitzroy". In a good many ports of call I took particular notice of the jetties, from which any green horn would have jumped to the conclusion that the farm was just in its early infancy. In many a case with the matter of a few pounds the jetties could be made quite respectable.

The job commences, the crew sort the cargo into the scows, take it ashore and in many cases ground before reaching the jetty.

Then the mule work commences. Trudging over slimy stones in a good many cases, sixty or seventy yards, perhaps with a bag of flour, a bundle of bagging or timber, which ever the case may be, on their backs to deliver above high water mark.

I consider every penny was well earned by the crew, which worked almost day and night and feel the F.I.Co. Ltd., have got a crew on their boat to be well proud of. In conclusion I must say a word or two on the signing off of one steward who had worked so devotedly during the trip. After being paid off and signed on again Saturday morning, he was informed half an hour before sailing, by the Captain, that he had received instructions to pay him off - the reasons were asked for and none given. I heard later one too many passengers had been signed on, which gave the answer to this deplorable act. I ask is this the way to treat a faithful servant? - Treat others as you treat yourself!

Yours sincerely,

W.H. Sedgwick

(We have brought this letter as is our custom to the notice of the parties concerned, including in this case, His Excellency the Governor, who expressed surprise and regret that the matter was not brought to his notice by the writer of this letter during the voyage when he would have been only too glad to vacate his cabin - Ed.W.N.)

Whist Drive.

A Whist Drive was held in St. Mary's Hall last Friday evening organised by the Rev. Fr. Kelly. The following were prize winners - Ladies' 1st: Miss V. Middleton, 2nd: Mrs C. Henricksen.

Booby: Mrs B. Sedgwick.

Gents. 1st: Mr W.E. Spencer, 2nd: Mr T. Fleuret.

Booby: Mr W. Burrige.

Twenty tables were occupied and Mr B. McAtasney acted as M.C.

The dripping on sale at the Vegetable Stall at the Cathedral Bazaar was a good idea, especially for those sending this valued product to the U.K.; in the same stall were twelve tomatoes grown by Mrs A.B. Mathews under glass - those fetched £2/7/- . We are pleased to think that tomatoes were available so late in the season here, for such a good cause.

The "John Biscoe" recently towed the "Charlton Monarch" into Pernambuco.

Address by the Hon. Mr A.G. Barton J.P.

within the next 18 months. What will the Income Tax returns for 1950 look like? For 8 years before the War the average net price of wool for the whole Colony was 7½d. The cost of production including taxation was 7d. During the War the price was controlled, for the first three years at 10½d. net, and the next four at 1/0½ net. By 'net' I mean the proceeds after Freight, Insurance, Brokerage and Commission are paid. These charges in 1947 amounted to just under 4d. per pound, and I estimate that any Farm whose wool-clip does not gross 14 pence per pound will have no income to tax. It will, in fact be sorely pressed to pay its bills for wages and materials, for it by no means follows that expenses fall as quickly as income. The Government of this Colony will find this out one day, to its bitter cost.

I maintain that so long as sheep farming continues to be the sole industry of the Colony there is little hope of a permanent rise in the standard of living for our people without help from outside. It would be fatal for any one to take present prosperity as a yard stick for the future, though it would be extremely pleasant to do so. Outside help has been offered us from the Colonial Development and Welfare Fund, £150,000 worth. I implore you to use this money wisely and not too hurriedly so that if bad times befall us once again and our annual income dwindles, you will still have something in hand to pay for works already in progress. You will not be compelled like your predecessors to waste money on works of an uneconomic nature. You will have no problems of unemployment to face.

The Committee recently appointed to explore possible means of economy in Government expenditure know my views through one of its members. I maintain that £10,000 can and must be saved. If this is done I find no case for increasing rates of Income Tax.

Note: Although we have chosen extracts from only one of the Unofficial Member's Addresses to Legislative Council, this is simply due to our lack of printing facilities to handle more - the words spoken by the Hon. Messrs. D.W. Roberts,

On behalf of our Customers and of our Staff, we hereby express our appreciation of the action taken by the Sheepfarming Industry to prevent the imposing of new Ad Valorem duties.

This is a small Colony.

It is in fact a very small Colony with only some 2,300 inhabitants, and to complicate our affairs with Ad Valorem duties would have proved to be most irksome.

We sincerely hope that due note may be recorded in the Colonial Office in London that Ad Valorem duties are not a suitable Tax for application to the Falkland Islands, and that it shall never be tried on again.

Editorial Comment :::: Social Security for Falklands.

We welcome the idea of a form of Social Security for our Colony - the fact that people getting up in years can have the burden of the problem of maintaining themselves lifted from their shoulders by some contributory scheme during the years when they were younger is one of greatest blessings which have come to Britain. It is a Social Security of the first importance for we all have to grow old. Whatever form the scheme can follow in our Colony to be workable - the Weekly News wishes it success. There is no doubt that such a scheme would be of benefit to Camp as well as town. We hope it will be possible to include under such a scheme provision for women too, especially widows, at a later date.

Broadcast by His Excellency the Governor

I enjoyed a good deal more than hitherto as there was on this occasion really active participation by the unofficial members which imported a much-needed air of reality into the debate. I was able to congratulate Mr Luxton on a good maiden speech and Mr Barton on a long, objective and able review which expressed in greater detail a good deal of what I had heard from so many of you on my way round; now that it has been said - and it was all to the good that it should be said and the air cleared - I hope that we shall all be able to turn our thoughts to the future with renewed confidence. On a motion by Captain Roberts, the Government withdrew the proposed ad valorem tariff and accepted an alternative provisional suggestion for an increase in the export tax on wool; I should like to express my appreciation of this public spirited action on the part of the Sheep Owners.

Mr W. Murdoch gave a rousing selection of Bagpipe music, although this instrument is very seldom used in Goose Green it was greatly appreciated by the dancers. A word of praise should be given to Mr Murdoch for the masterly way he can handle the bagpipes.

Letter to Editor.

Dear Sir,

I have been in the Falkland Islands for the past three and a half years serving aboard the "Fitzroy". I must say before I leave for England that I am very grateful for the hospitality shown to me by people in Stanley and the Camp - I shall never forget it.

I wish you all good-bye and the very best of luck.

Yours sincerely,

Chief Engineer.

PLAN TO END WASTE OF SURPLUS SHEEP

We learned with interest at the Legislative Council meeting last Friday that the plan to have a freezing plant in the Colony to dispose of the surplus sheep had the approval of the farmers in the Colony. We heard too that the project was not to be financed alone from Government sources but that the Stations would help bear the charges.

The Weekly News feels that any other outlet for bringing income to our Colony is worthy of attention and with the backing of the Camp, we feel sure that this new effort will be given every chance of success.

optimistic in his Broadcast Addresses and said that in the 18 months he had been in the Colony His Excellency had visited every station and what Mr Barton had said was what every farmer had said to him. The Governor felt that on the charge of excessive expenditure there had been some misunderstanding and that the charge was not supported by the Committee appointed to enquire into the subject. The Governor then went on to explain how the Agriculture Department would under the new officer now in Montevideo, be run with a view to true efficiency - the new officer would make a thorough tour of the Camp shortly after his arrival.

On the subject of "no taxation without representation" the Governor informed members that the proposals on the subject which had been in England for a year were being considered and when His Excellency went to England shortly he would be discussing the subject and hoped to bring back a detailed draft of the new constitutional proposals with him. In the reformed Council a Finance Committee would be set up with the Colonial Secretary and the unofficial members to advise on finance. The unofficial elected members as people's representatives would then share the burden of financial responsibility.

The Governor emphasised the need in his opinion for the provision for the needs of the children

by the Government. There would be no taxation for taxation's sake but he wished to raise sufficient money to see that the activities of Government were carried out and that the public received the maximum advantages.

Wedding.

A very pretty wedding took place at the Tabernacle, Stanley, last Thursday afternoon, when Mr Michael James Murphy was married to Miss Bessie Kivell, second daughter of Mr and Mrs W. Kivell of Port Stephens.

The Rev. W. F. McWhan officiated. The bride who was charmingly attired in a dress of white crepe with veil and head-dress to match was given away by her uncle Mr William Goodwin.

The bride was attended by Mrs Ellen Summers (sister of the bridegroom), as Matron of Honour and by Miss Belle Butler (sister of the bridegroom) and Miss Pam Berntsen (niece of the bride), as bridesmaids. The Matron of Honour and bridesmaids all wore dresses of blue silk trimmed with pink and with pink head-dress to match. Master David Summers, nephew of the bridegroom, was page-boy.

The Best man was Mr Furt Goodwin, cousin of the bride. The tiny youngest bridesmaid and the page boy were "a picture". All the dresses and the bouquets were made by Mrs Ellen Summers.

After the wedding, the customary photographs, and a visit to Mrs Hookins, grandmother of the bridegroom - who was indisposed and unable to be present, a reception took place at Stanley Cottage where many guests met to wish the young couple "future happiness". The three tier wedding cake was made by Mr A. V. Summers. A supper was held in the evening at the residence of Mrs Ellen Summers.

Mr and Mrs Murphy will be making their home at Port Stephens on the West - we extend our best wishes to them for the future.

Deat Consumption Case.

An interesting hearing took place in the Stanley Police Court last Friday when the Hon. Mr R. S. W. Winter J. P., occupied the bench and sat with a jury.

Mr F. Jones appealed against the decision of a previous hearing and had been granted this re-hearing with a jury.

SHIPS FOR EXPORT.

More than half of the world's merchant ships now under construction are being built in Britain's shipyards, and, of the total of more than two million tons gross, nearly one-third is destined for registration outside the United Kingdom. During 1947 nearly one million tons were delivered to their owners, and, of these, 218,000 tons gross, valued at about £19 million, were for export. More than 1,200,000 tons gross were launched during the year. The proportion of ships being built for export is steadily increasing, for at the beginning of 1948 there were 674,000 tons gross under construction for registration abroad, compared with only 175,000 tons two years previously. In addition, firm orders had been received for a further half-million tons for overseas owners and work on some of these new ships for export will begin during this year.

More than twenty countries outside Britain have ships on the stocks in British shipyards. The largest single customer at the moment is Norway, with nearly 290,000 tons gross under construction, followed by Portugal with nearly half as much. Thirty-five vessels, totalling more than 85,000 tons gross, are for British Commonwealth countries and colonies, as well as some 62,000 tons for France and 58,000 tons for Argentina. Other countries represented in British yards include Brazil, Chile, Denmark, Egypt, Iceland, the Netherlands, Panama, Poland, Sweden, and Switzerland.

River Craft and Liners

Ships of almost every type are being built for foreign flags, ranging from the smallest river and harbour craft to large passenger liners. They include specialised ships such as dredgers, tankers, refrigeration ships, fruit ships and timber carriers, coasters and fishing vessels, as well as tramp ships and cargo liners.

Practically every shipyard in Britain, large as well as small, has some of its births devoted to export work, but some shipyards have been turned over almost entirely to export shipbuilding. On the North-East

Coast, for example, the order book of Bartram & Sons, Ltd. is devoted entirely to foreign-flag ships of up to 10,000 tons deadweight, mainly cargo motorships for Portugal, Norway, and Denmark. This yard built three "Rio" class motorships last year for the Argentine State Fleet.

Ocean-going Collier

Another yard with a strong international aspect is that of William Gray & Co., Ltd., West Newcastle, which is almost wholly engaged on ships for export. Examples are the Dona Isidora, an ocean-going collier of about 4,000 tons gross for Chile, and the Armelino Matarazzo, the second of two sister ships for the Sociedade Paulista de Nav. Matarazzo, Ltda., of Santos, Brazil. Scandinavia, Eire, Greece, and Switzerland are also represented in this yard.

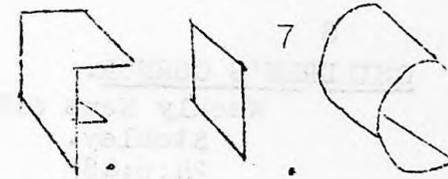

A British ship of unusual design is also a product of this yard, the third of a series of three ships for the Dene Shipping Co., Ltd., which have their boilers placed on the second deck in order to give more room for cargo holds.

One of the largest ships at present fitting out in Britain for overseas owners is the Portuguese passenger and cargo liner Imperic, a sister ship to the Patria, which has recently been delivered. Both these liners, were built by John Brown & Co., Ltd., Glasgow, the famous Clyde-side shipyard which produced such world-famous ships as the "Queen Mary" and "Queen Elizabeth". Designed for the Cia. Colonial de Nav., of Lisbon, for service between Portugal and her African colonies, they are twin-screw turbine steamships of 13,000 tons gross, with a length of over 500 feet. The main turbines develop 13,200 shaft horsepower and give a service speed of 17 knots.

Modern Accommodation.

Accommodation of the highest modern standard is provided for more than 500 passengers, and all crew and passenger accommodation is heated and ventilated. Cargo-carrying space in each liner amounts to 11,630 cu. m., of which 400 cu. m. is insulated, cargo being handled by one 25-ton and eleven 7-ton derricks, all

Ping! Pong! Ping! Pong! Ping!
Tournament.

On Wednesday the 10th June at 8 o'clock a Table Tennis Tournament took place in the F.I.D.F. Drill Hall between the Defence Force Badminton Club, and a Visiting Team. The Badminton Club won 17 games and the Visitors 8. Bailey and Bunting were outstanding for the Visitors having won 3 games each out of a possible of 5 games. Rothery and Miss Joan Biggs (1) game each. Goodwin for the Badminton Club, must be congratulated on his grand performance of having won all of his games, in spite of his unorthodox method of holding his racket. Jones and Reive won 4 games each, King 3, and Thompsen (1). At the conclusion of the Tournament Jones challenged Goodwin to a session of 3 games. Goodwin won the first game 21 - 14. Jones after a terrific battle won the second game 21 - 18; in the third game Jones drew even 20 - 20 with Goodwin, finally defeating him 22 - 20. Evidently luck favours the bold. After this Miss Joan Biggs, a very promising young player, defeated the would be Champ. 21 - 18. It appears that Jones, after his Victory over Goodwin, was suffering from fatigue, caused no doubt through old age. It is said that a Ping Pong player is finished after he passes the age of 26 years.

This demonstration of skill and endurance, on the part of the younger participant, concluded a very enjoyable evening. And I am sure everyone concerned is looking forward to a return match, which, I hope, will take place in the very near future.

Meaning of a Word.

Especially for our readers overseas, the word "cojonillo" in the paragraph at the top of page 9 of this paper is pronounced "cockenesia", and means the sheep skin on the back of the horse, upon which one rides in our Colony. It is a Spanish word.

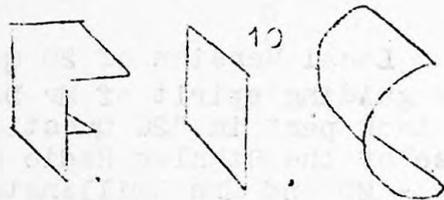

Snow in Stanley

On Tuesday of this week, Stanley, and the rest of the Colony was carpeted with snow. In the moonlight, the streets of the town look like scenes from Christmas cards, under the conditions which we have had of late. It is better to have our winter now than much later on in the year.

winchcs being electrically driven.

Another ship of similar size for the same owners is the "Mocambique", a motorship from the Neptune Yard of Swan, Hunter & Wigham Richardson, Ltd., Walker-on-Tyne. Three even larger passenger liners, turbine steamships of about 18,000 tons gross, have been ordered by the Argentine State Fleet from the Barrow-in-Furness yard of Vickers-Armstrongs, Ltd., builders of the Orient liner "Orcades" and many of the largest passenger ships in the world.

The special requirements of the Indian Ocean trades are well known to British shipbuilders, for they have been designing and building ships for these trades since the days of sail. It is not unnatural, therefore, that the new Dominions of India and Pakistan, with their keen maritime ambitions, should look to British shipyards to help them in their task of creating new merchant fleets. In particular, the Scindia Steam Navigation, Co., Ltd., has several ships on order in British yards, and the launch of the first of this series, the "El Hind", by Wm. Hamilton & Co., Ltd., Port Glasgow, was the occasion of a picturesque celebration on Clydeside.

Pilgrim Ship.

Another recent product of a Port Glasgow yard, that of Litgows, Ltd., is the pilgrim ship "Mohammedi", built for the Mogul Line, Ltd. Her fine white hull is propelled by a single screw driven by a triple-expansion engine, incorporating a low-pressure exhaust turbine, with double-reduction gearing and hydraulic coupling.
Coastal ships, as well as ocean-going vessels, require careful design and construction so that they can give the most efficient and economical performance in the trades for which they are intended. Several British shipyards have for years specialised in building ships for the New Zealand and Australian coastal trades, examples of which can be seen today in the yards of Henry Robb, Ltd., Leith, Scotland, and of Alexander Stephen & Sons, Ltd., Govan, Glasgow.

Company of New Zealand, Ltd., from the latter yard is of special interest because they have a new type of diesel and elaborate cargo-handling arrangements. The conditions of service for which these ships are designed are severe, for they serve ports which amount to little more than river mouths. Ships of about 3,500 tons gross, their three large hatches are fitted with 12 derricks and a heavy-lift derrick of 25 tons capacity.

The derricks have a proportionately long reach overboard, are specially strengthened and have extra fittings. Steel hatches, with rolling and tipping sections, help to reduce labour costs, and to reduce wear and tear the holds are lined with hard and heavy Australian tallow wood.

No Piston Rods.

The main engine is a new type of Sulzer 6-cylinder diesel designed so that there are no piston rods, the piston skirts being so constructed that all the load is passed to the engine crosshead through the walls of the skirts. The first ship of this type is the Komata, and on her voyage to her home waters from the United Kingdom, a distance of nearly 17,000 miles, she experienced only one involuntary stop of ten minutes in order to change a valve seat. Between Abadan and Fremantle she maintained an average speed of 11.45 knots with an oil consumption of 7.4 tons per day.

Every ship, from the largest to the smallest, has the benefit of remarkable technical advances which have been made during and since World War II. New methods and new materials are now available and in general use, examples being the greater employment of welding and of light alloys; laminated plastics and fluorescent lighting in passenger accommodation; electric cranes and auxiliary machinery; patent hatch covers and welded sidelights, and so on.

Meanwhile, an enormous research programme is being carried out by the industry, important items on which valuable experience has been gained being the development of the marine gas turbine, the use of low-grade fuel oils in diesel engines, and the fitting of stabilisers to reduce rolling.

Letter to Editor.

The Deanery,
Stanley.

June 21st 1948.

Sir,
My attention has been called to the following letter in the "Times" for March 10th 1948:
"Britain and the Falklands"

Bishop Golding-Bird.

There is one fact with regard to the Falkland Islands which has not been sufficiently emphasized - it is the strong pro-British sentiments which characterize the population. I have lived in the islands, and well remember how much I was impressed by this fact.

Bishop Golding-Bird was successively Canon and Dean of Stanley following Dean Brandon 1907 to 1909. He was consecrated Bishop of Kalgoorley (Australia) in 1914, and was Bishop of Mauritius and Seychelles 1919 to 1930. He is now Assistant Bishop in the Diocese of Guildford and Archdeacon of Surrey.

Yours faithfully,

B.G.R. Gilbert.

Local Notes.

We understand that the s.s. "Bitzroy" was in Rio de Janeiro last Friday evening.

The s.s. "Lafonia" and the m.v. "John Biscoe" were in Pernambuco together. We understand that the "John Biscoe" is due in Le Havre (France) about the 28th or 29th June. This vessel will proceed to Southampton for refit at Messrs Thornycroft's Yard.

The "Lafonia" is expected to reach Stanley early next week.

Dr Stewart Slessor, who is coming to the Colony to take over the duties of Senior Medical Officer from Dr Sladen, left the U.K. recently for Montevideo en route for the Falklands.

The programme "Calling All FIDS" which is for the men in our southern bases is due to start again from the Stanley Broadcasting Station tomorrow (Friday) night.

TREASURY NOTICE.

The attention of house property owners in the Town of Stanley is drawn to section 5 of the Stanley Rating Ordinance, 1928, which reads:-

"All rates shall be paid to the Colonial Treasurer before the 1st day of July in each year and should any rates be unpaid on the 1st day of July in any year the same shall be recoverable by civil process in the Magistrate's Court. The owners of house property shall be responsible for the due payment of the rates."

(Sgd.) E.F. Lellman,
Assistant Treasurer.

The Colonial Treasury, STANLEY, Falkland Islands,

16th June, 1948.

The Late Mr W.J. Alazia.

The funeral of the late Mr W.J. Alazia, whose death in Stanley we reported in our last issue, took place from the home of Mr and Mrs W. Alazia in Stanley last Thursday afternoon. The Rev. W.F. McWhan conducted the service in the house and at the graveside.

Peat Consumption Case.

in July and August 1947 was estimated to have used 20 loads of peat and complained that this was an excessively estimated amount. One of the main arguments of the defence was that this proportionate amount was far higher than the average consumption of large houses in the town, the P.W.D. who sought payment for the account contended that that amount of peat had been used from the shed in the time.

The Jury after retiring to consider their verdict at the end of the hearing returned the verdict that it was impossible to burn the stated amount of peat in the time and that the estimate of the amount of peat left in the shed had been wrong and that Mr Jones had burned at the most two cart loads a week - and that he be charged for the peat at that rate.

The Court found in accordance with the Jury's decision.
