

Vol. 3. No. 27

July 4th 1946.

The death is announced to have occurred on 27th June 1946 of His Excellency Señor Juan Antonio Ríos, President of the Republic of Chile.

The deceased was elected President of Chile for the period 1942 - 1948 and assumed the functions of his high office on 2nd April 1942, during one of the darkest periods of the war.

Delegations were sent to Santiago de Chile from all parts of the world to give a high standing and importance to the celebrations of that day, when the recently deceased Señor Juan Antonio Ríos received the transmission of the popular mandate from the Provisional President who had temporarily assumed office after the death of President, Señor Pedro Aguirre Cerda on the 25th November 1941.

The head of the British Delegation to the Ceremony was His Excellency Sir Charles Orde, as British Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary on Special Mission.

The late President was born on 16 November 1888 and was thus only 57 years of age, and it is undoubted that the cares and worries of his high office during the strenuous years of war have helped to hasten his early death.

His father died when he was still a child of 6 nevertheless he persevered both as a child and youth in acquiring a sound education and received his degree as a Barrister from the University of Chile in 1914. In order to help his finances while still a student, he filled various minor posts in the Administration, such as sub-inspector of boarders in

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Stanley, Falkland Islands.
29th June, 1946.

His Excellency the Governor directs the publication, for public information, of the following telegrams exchanged between His Excellency and the Secretary of State for the Colonies, on the occasion of the Official Celebration of His Majesty the King's Birthday:-

10th June, 1946.

I should be grateful if you would convey to His Majesty the King, on the occasion of his birthday, the humble duty, loyalty, and good wishes of the people of this Colony and its Dependencies, including those Officers and Men now wintering in the Antarctic and the representatives of the Royal Navy stationed here.

24th June, 1946.

Your telegram has been laid before the King who desires that an expression of his sincere thanks, for the message contained therein, may be conveyed to you and to the people of the Falkland Islands, including Officers and Men wintering in the Dependencies and to representatives of the Royal Navy stationed in the Territory.

By Command,
(SGD.) A. B. MATHEWS,
Colonial Secretary.

The Secretary of State has sent the following message to the Commanders of Colonial Contingents, Victory Camp, Kensington Gardens:-

"Now that your visit to this country is drawing to an end I send you all my sincere congratulations on the part which you played in the Victory March and my best wishes for the future. Your fine appearance and bearing during the March made a deep and lasting impression on all who witnessed it. Your fellow countrymen have indeed every reason to be proud of the way in which you represented them at this great celebration of Victory

A very pretty wedding took place in Christ Church Cathedral, Stanley, last Friday when Mr. Leslie Charles Gleadell was joined in marriage to Miss Mildred Nessie Lees. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. R.G.R. Calvert, Chaplain of the Cathedral.

The bride who was given away by her father, Mr. D. Lees, wore a beautiful white brocaded satin dress trimmed with "lily of the valley" and orange blossom. The bridal veil was of embroidered net and orange blossom.

The bridesmaids - Miss Betty Skilling, Miss Gladys Skilling, Miss Nora McGill (cousins of the bride) and Miss Deanna Gleadell (sister of the bridegroom) were dressed in blue taffeta with head-dresses to match.

The bride's bouquet was of mixed flowers intermingled with fern, while the bridesmaids carried bouquets of chrysanthemums and fern. The dresses of the bridesmaids were made by Mrs. F.G. Berntsen.

Mr. B. Jones (brother-in-law of the bridegroom) was best man.

After the Ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in John Street, and in the evening a large company assembled at the Wedding Dance which took place in the Gymnasium. The Hall was tastefully decorated with many coloured electric light bulbs - an appropriate touch as the bridegroom is on the staff of the Electric and Telegraph Department. All present sampled the five tier wedding cake.

The dance went with a swing and a word of praise is not out of place here, to the best man for his work as M.C.

We wish Mr and Mrs Gleadell, who will be making their home in Stanley - "many happy years".

IN STANLEY Arrived from Sea Lion Islands in the Porvenir - Mr W. Hutchinson.

Junior Wanderers' Club,
Stanley,
25th. June, 1946.

Dear Sir,

Watching the snowflakes swirl past the Club window caused me to muse on Antarctic journeys and their perils, and the subject of perilous journeys brought before my eyes a picture of a recent hazardous voyage made by myself and three intrepid companions (now, alas, no more) in an attempt to cross Ross Road at its most dangerous point.

Recent opinion on the subject has been unanimous where the question of a possibly successful crossing has been concerned. To many the idea was hopelessly quixotic: one competent judge stated that his opinion was quite unprintable; others put the project on a par with the attempts on Mount Everest. No one thought that it could be done - and therefore we decided to do it.

Our preparations were simple but thorough. A stout rope to prevent our getting lost in the deep crevasses in which the road abounds; a pick each; an axe to cut steps down the sides of the vast craters known to intersect the route; a compass, three blankets apiece and provisions for a fortnight - these few arrangements completed our plans and finally, on a gloomy Thursday in June, we signed our wills, bade farewell to our anxious relatives and, one by one, descended into the awful chasm opposite the West Tor. The temperature was 30 F, and the barometer was falling.

The climb down to the surface of the road was comparatively uneventful, an unexpectedly smooth patch of snow permitting us to reach the bottom in a long glissade. We landed in a clay swamp and at once found ourselves in a new and frightful world. Before us, as far as the eye could see, stretched a huge desert churned into fantastic ridges, ranges and mountain peaks by some primeval disturbance, and pitted with vast and awe-inspiring fissures and craters. There was no smooth land for walking, for where the mountains and stone runs ceased, the swamps began, and where there were neither mountains or swamps, the craters opened their yawning mouths to engulf the unwary traveller.

For a moment our hearts sank then, with a cry of the very school where he was studying.

In politics he joined the Radical Party at the early age of 17, where he made a brilliant political career and in 1937 as President of the Radical Party he signed the pact of all Leftists Parties which brought into being the "Popular Front".

He held various municipal posts in Concepcion, then became Chilean Consul General in Panama and the Canal Zone. His political friends persuaded him to leave the Consular Serria and stand for election as a Deputy (1923), to later (1929) be elected a Senator. In 1932 he held short terms of office as Home Office Minister and also as Minister of Justice.

He has also held important posts in Government Commissions, President of an Insurance Company and Counsellor of the Directorate of an important newspaper.

In 1921 he married Doña Maita Ide Pereira and set up a model home in Concepcion. They had three sons who now mark their great loss accompanied by the mass of the inhabitants of Chile where the late Señor Rios was without doubt a truly popular President.

POWERS COLNER.

we have received the following effort from a "poet" who wishes to remain anonymous and we publish it without comment and prejudice. We can only assume that it refers to the W.I.D.P. Officers and N.C.O.s Instructional Class.

There's a democratic army a-drilling in the town,
Where officers take orders from Junior Corporal Brown,
And any "conduct prejudicial" by the C.O. or the Adj.
They're told by just a sergeant that they'll lose their blinking badge.

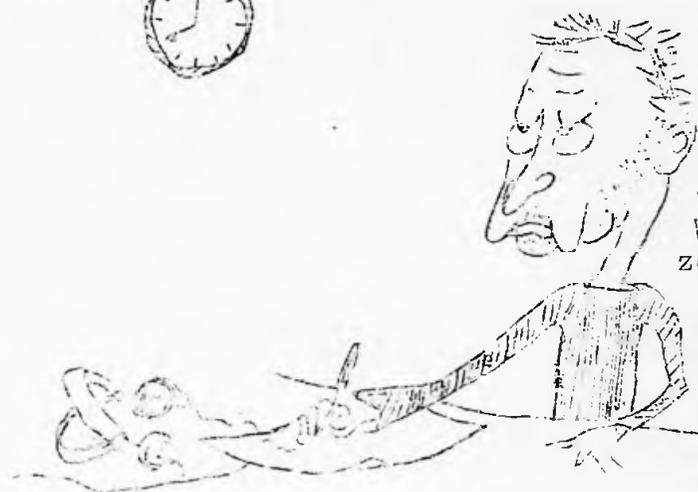

But when the Quartermaster started sloping of his 'hype',
And was told by Sergeant Whats-his-name "it was just a lot of tripe",
We all began a-thinking whether it was all O.K.
And wonder if the Quarterbloke might stop our weekly pay.

There's another handsome corporal who can 'registrar' displeasure,
And revels in the chance to give an officer his measure, E'en the normal time instructor is told to put a punch on
And not hold his something rifle as though a policeman's truncheon.

You'd love to see one corporal when he's drilling training squads,
He trues up the slope of rifles with a set of boning rods,
'Tis said that if you don't behave he's just a little devil,
And sets your forearm in its place with straight-edge and a level.

But perhaps the finest sight of all that up to now's been seen,
Is the padre fixing bayonets with eyes and teeth aglaze,
He whips it out and whips it on and turns one's blood to water,
But his presence stops the Sergeant saying things he didn't oughter.

Don't think we've all gone dappy,
'Cause everyone is happy
In keeping up the record of the Force.
We want to make it snappy,
Not like these lines-all dappy,
And we're out to be efficient? Why, of course.

To Whom It
May(Or May Not) Concern.....

Can you picture
the boys at the Wireless Station, zealous,
Conscientious, sober, temporary citizens of Stanley!
(You can't, well, well).

To cut a short story sideways, and so arrive at the point of this narrative almost at once, we would like to state that this is in the nature of a protest to the powers that be. We're feeling "hard done by". It's this business of dances..... At the moment, at the control, we are working alternate days, and the present arrangement for dances, also alternate days each week, leaves our pair of watches out in the cold all the time. To say that we are chokers would be putting it very mildly indeed. A much better idea from our point of view is to hold the dances on the same days every week. This is constructive criticism and we hope it doesn't offend.

Another reason for us wishing to grace the Gymnasium is this, and here we brush all false modesty aside; the clocks that don't get the breaks are undeniably the best looking, best dancing matelets on the Islands and we are sure that the feminine population would find us a welcome change from the bunch of cripples who usually stagger down to the Gymn.....???

Signed.

GARDENING NOTES.

Ferns may be propagated either by division, cffsets or by spores, depending upon the nature of the plant to be propagated. The Maiden-hair fern is in the group which may be freely propagated by division. The Shuttlecock section of ferns, or those which send up their fronds in a circle round the central crown often develop young plants from the base of the fronds outside the circle and if these are left alone until they develop, they may then be lifted out and transplanted. Propagation by spores, especially when dealing with the fine fern types is not always so simple but if one requires new types, this is the only way to secure them. It is not advisable to use an ordinary seed compost for fern spores; the most suitable material we have here, is the short moss found growing in swampy areas. This should be chopped up very finely and then be placed in a small box or flat tin. Drainage holes and drainage material must first of all be provided in the receptacle. Press the moss firm and cover it with paper, then secure a kettle of boiling water and saturate the compost repeatedly. By doing this, the soil is sterilized and all spores of fungi, moss and insect eggs are destroyed. When the compost has cooled, the fern spores should be sown as thinly and evenly as possible over the moss surface. No covering of the spores is necessary but a sheet of glass covered with paper will be placed over the receptacle.

VICTORY PARADE.....EYE-WITNESS ACCOUNT : : :By a Falkland Islander living in London

(It gives us great pleasure to reproduce this extract from a truly first class descriptive letter reflecting credit on the writer whose name we have not permission to publish..Ed.)

I must tell you about the Victory Parade.My,it was a grand sight!

We prepared sandwiches etc to take with us on the Friday evening.On Saturday(Victory Parade day)we were up at 5:30a.m.and rushed through breakfast then-off to the station..at 6:30.about 6:45 we managed to get on a train which left the station absolutely packed-we managed to squeeze into the guard's van! What a crush!

Well we arrived at Charing Cross about 7:30 and were soon caught in the terrible crush.The crowds started to surge in from the opposite direction and we were the first to meet them! Oh the relief when we got out of the"jam"!Eventually we managed to make our way up

Northumberland Avenue and began looking for somewhere to stand.This certainly was a problem!Whilst we were strolling along someone called my name.I recognized the voices and looking round there on the front of the pavement were three fellow Falkland Island folk!

After speaking to them we continued on our journ -cy.There seemed to be no room anywhere-we retraced our steps and a policeman directed us up to the back of the crowd on the front of the pavement and we took up our stand by the Victoria Hotel in Northumberland Avenue.At this stage there were about five rows of people in front of us..by the time the parade was half way through we were right in the front!Such are the fruits of a little wriggling!

We waited about two hours-no more,before the Royal Family arrived in their open carriage drawn by Windsor greys.The Royal party looked charming.Then came the marching lads and lassies.I'll never forget the Scotties especially the pipers!It was wonderful to hear them!In our Colony's crowd I saw John Blyth first and then I spotted Dick Henrickson.Our contingent did the Islands justice.I did get a kick out of seeing my own kinsmen marching along.

I thought that the Falkland Islands lads looked very smart.

The Navy halted by us and the girls in front started singing "All the nice girls love the sailors"and I was surprised to see some of the nautical contingent blushing!

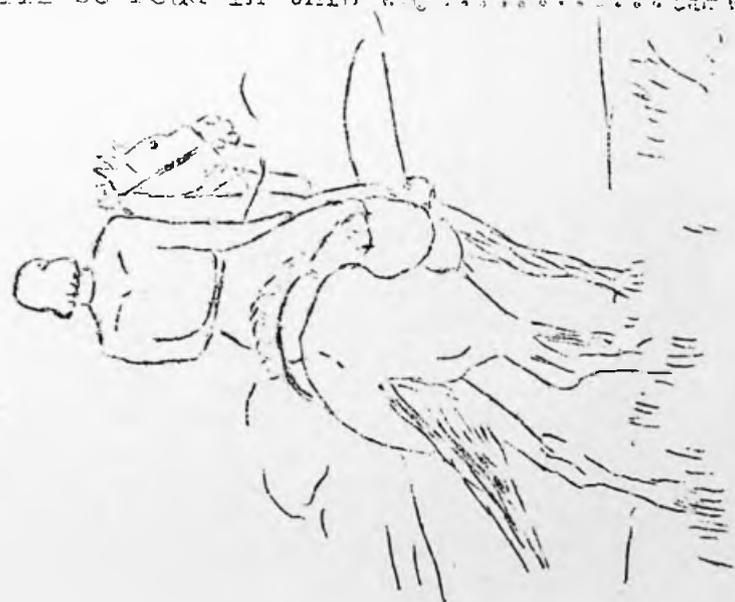

I thought that the Royal Marines looked really grand.

Others came marching along..the Greeks in their white uniforms and many many others of all nationalities--all our Allies.

After the parade was over it started to rain.We took turns to sit on a box in a doorway and have lunch as all the streets were crowded.Then we tried to make our way home but the rain started to team down and we had to shelter in a temporary shelter in the Mall.The clouds opened and we had to stay there until about five o'clock just watching the rain and eating snacks.At 5:30 we arrived at Hyde Park Corner and made our way back to Paddington and home.

(and as the B.B.C.would say in Radio News Reel-"thank you Falkland Islander in London ..good wishes!Ed.)

The article "Go East Every Lady Go East" is written for us by Westerlin a spirit of friendly rivalry.We know it will be read in this way.....See Page 4

K. H. Piers

"Go East Every Lady Go East" by "Wester"

I came from the West with its large amount of attractive hard camp to try out the East! Sometime ago there appeared an article in the Weekly News with the heading "Go West Young Man" - well I thought I would try and Go East, just to see the difference.

I left Stanley (not as so many East Islanders are prone to do) on actual horseback and with the party who were my jovial companions, we set out for Teal Inlet. Our first call was at the Estancia - the track to this part was soft in my opinion as a Wester (but later I was informed that it really was in superb condition for this time of the year). Tea was kindly given us at the Estancia and after the acceptable beverage we hit the trail once again. This time our course passed the Male where time did not permit us a call, and the track (which to anyone else other than a Falkland Islander would seem to be no track at all) was in good order, although only a few parts as good as some of the tracks I saw on the West.

We reached Teal Inlet about 4.30 p.m. having left Stanley at about 9 a.m. After a very pleasant stay at Teal Inlet I pushed on to San Carlos. Mr. Frank McCallum acted as my guide to the Third Corral. On this section - as far as Hope Cottage, where tea was again kindly brewed - I found the track in good order. We left Hope Cottage and headed for Third Corral, passing close by Bombilla. We had in all about six hours of horse-riding on this section of the journey in the day. The track from Hope Cottage to Third Corral was "passable" considering it was winter time. At Third Corral a new horse was given me - of San Carlos "colours" and a new guide - Mr. James Goodwin. The track from Third Corral to San Carlos can best be described by a Wester in the terms "definitely soft". It was a treat to come down Verdi Mountain - even though it was pitch dark with numerous small craters and soft patches. To encourage us on our way the lights of San Carlos twinkled ahead, and there was a light of special interest to me - the "guiding light" placed specially in the sitting room of the house I was bound for.

"Go East Every Lady Go East"

(Contd. from P. 4)

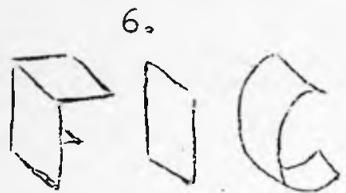

After a goodly stay in this pleasant part of the Camp I mounted a horse once again to set off on the first stage of my journey to Stanley. It was a calm morning and one could see the reflection of the hills in the San Carlos water and the Settlement was plainly visible. I changed horses just past the "Verdi" - a shepherd's house, and then with the party travelling from San Carlos proceeded to Third Corral where again tea made a welcome break. Teal Inlet horses awaited us. The track from San Carlos to Third Corral was very wet and especially in parts there was a greater danger of the horse bogging than on most tracks on the West.

Teal Inlet was reached in much the same time from San Carlos as we took from Stanley to Teal Inlet. During my stay at Teal Inlet, I was present on the Saturday night at the fourth of the series of Winter Whist Drives and at the end of the Whist Drive the prizes for the month's Weekly Whist contests were distributed to the successful players. 1st Prize Ladies went to Mrs. H. Newman and 1st to the men - Mr. James McCallum. A dance followed this particular evening. The social period which was a great success was held in the Cookhouse. Some nine couples plus a few extra were present and enjoyed themselves. Visitors from San Carlos, from Fort San Carlos, and some from Douglas added their numbers and their happy company to the occasion. Accordion music kept feet tapping the light fantastic with all the fervour of a hot rhythm club in New York!

Now the time came (the morning after the dance at 8.45 a.m.) for me to take my departure from the hospitality of Teal Inlet, and set my course for Stanley.

The weather was drizzly - we stopped at the Male, waiting for the tides to go down, so that we could ride over the passes of the Creeks in safety. Tea once again helped to make this waiting period very pleasant. By the time we set off the rain was coming down in good style. We trotted (when we could) and walked our horses, on the section of the journey leading to the Estancia. The track was extremely wet and soppy. At the Estancia we had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Felton. Mrs. Felton kindly Passing of the Late Dean Brandon's Wife.

News has been received by the last mail that Mrs. Lowther Brandon passed away in Derby, England, recently at nearly ninety years of age.

Mrs. Brandon had crossed to England a short time ago from her home in Eime. Her husband predeceased her many years ago.

As long as the Falkland Islands are in being, people will remember the name of "Brandon". One of our streets in Stanley, as well as the magnificent Christ Church Cathedral ever keeps the name in mind.

Dean Brandon gave many years of his life to the Falkland Islands, and was as well known arriving at an out of the way shepherd's house, as he was speaking his mind in the Monthly Cathedral Magazine or preaching the Gospel in his Church. In all his work the Dean was ably supported by Mrs. Brandon. Choir Practice, Sunday School, Sewing Class, visiting all found Mrs. Brandon at the post of duty - which to her and those who knew her have left an impression of interest and love which will not be forgotten in her passing.

Even after leaving the Colony Mrs. Brandon corresponded with friends living here. We mourn the loss of a true friend of the Colony in the passing of this faithful friend and Church stalwart.

The Late Mrs. Sydney Browell.

We regret to record the death which occurred suddenly in England on the 1st of July, of Mrs. Sydney Browell. Mr. and Mrs. Browell had been on leave.

Mrs. Browell who was the daughter of the late Mr. Jack Short and Mrs. Short was of a cheery disposition. Before her marriage she was on the staff of the K.E.M. Hospital as Cook for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Browell were married in South Georgia, and lived there for a considerable time where Mr. Browell was employed in Government Service. Recently Mr. and Mrs. Browell had lived in Stanley - Mr. Browell being in the local police force.

Mrs. Browell's unexpected death is all the more sad because it came at the time of their long looked for holiday.

We extend our sympathy (Contd. on page 9)

SKATING BEFORE 3,000 PEOPLE.

Roderick McRae.

We have received the following notes about Roderick McRae, who joined the Air Force during the War, in South Africa. Roderick is out of the South African Air Force now.

After his leave in South Africa he went to Colombo Ceylon, but as the War in the East was about over he only stayed there for a week and was then taken back to South Africa. Shortly after his return he was demobbed and since then Roderick has been training to be a brick layer. The South African Government are paying the expenses, he is also attending school in general educational subjects.

This Falkland Islands lad took up brick laying as, to use his own words, "air mechanics would be worth about 5/- a Dozen in civil life".

Roderick is very fond of swimming and skating. In fact he is reckoned to be one of the leading skaters in Johannesburg. In one of his last letters he sent his parents a programme of a Skating Performance in which the Ice Hockey Match of the Season was played and exhibition events took place. The proceeds were for the People of Britain Fund, the date Thursday 28th March, 1946, the venue Johannesburg. On the special programme the third out of five outstanding items is listed the name of Roderick McRae and the item "The Mighty Atom" Three thousand people were present. (Well done Roderick, I'm sure you're making a name for yourself in a unique line - we'll see you on Mr. Les Hardy's film screen in Stanley yet. Ed.)

Roderick met another "Kelper" in Johannesburg - Mr. Darwin Atkins who has been a great friend to him.

A Friendly Gesture

As a memento of their visit to Stanley, and of the services attended at the Tabernacle, the Chaplain and United Church of Canada members of the H.M.C.S. "Uganda" sent a signed letter sometime ago from further north in which thanks was extended for the welcome given them.

Now, from Canada, by the last mail a copy of the crest of the United Church of Canada has been received by the minister of the Tabernacle. This is to be framed and placed on the wall within the Church premises and will be a constant reminder not only of the "Uganda's" visit but also of the fact that the Tabernacle which is in a very true sense the "United" Free or Nonconformist Church of the Colony is not just a church on its own but is one of the great band of Free Churches found in Canada; England, Scotland, and other parts of the world where, seeking to do what it can to be a living witness to God's teaching, it tries to play its part in friendship and co-operation with the other churches in the community.

A dance, organised by the band, took place in the Gymnasium last Friday night.

The gorse-bush bordering the fence alongside the pavement in front of the Deanery has been completely removed. It was a danger point for fire.

Fox Bay has been reinstated as a port of call in the "Fitzroy's" next trip around the islands, which takes place on her return from South Georgia.

Those who left for Darwin by the s.s. "Fitzroy" on the Saturday morning (early), were:-
Mr. J. McPherson, Mr. E. Finlayson, Miss F. Campbell.

Passengers to South Georgia were Mr. and Mrs. B. Goss.
Mr. and Mrs. D. Niddrie were making the voyage and back.

The absence of snow throughout last week's holiday was a matter of disappointment to the Stanley children.

A number of the Agriculture Dept. employees are at present busy sorting and arranging seed potatoes - omens of Spring and Gardening.

lent me a pair of water proof riding trousers - had I known what was to follow I would have asked her for a complete diver's outfit!

We left Estancia, walking ploughing our way, bogging, and repeating the process. Nearly all the time (just to keep us in good humour) the rain was falling steadily. This part of the journey can best be described by a Wester's pen in this way - !!!!!

On arrival at a point ten minutes from the road end at the "Two Sisters" we saw the lights of our four wheeled horse from Stanley - a motor car coming to pick me up. We struck the road actually in darkness - it was after 5 p.m. and the car coming on the scene to take me the four miles run to Stanley, reminded me of a Wild West Cinema picture, of a Cow boy hold-up - the horses were frightened by the car, its noise and lights. Like East Island riders I appreciated the car run from the road out in the Camp to town.

So Wester was glad to reach town and as the traveller steeped the mud stains off in a warm Stanley bath the thought arose - East is East, but WEST IS WEST!

(Editors note for overseas readers -- in the Falklands we call all our country outside the town of Stanley "Camp").

Two Stanley Boys On An Outing.

By D. Earle.

On Wednesday afternoon the 3rd July a friend and I went for the afternoon's outing.

First we started by catching a friendly lorry at the Common Gate which took us as far as Surf Bay. From there we had to walk. After having had a look at Mr. Martin's Hotel we passed along down the road to the Canash. Next we went to Hookers Point, there we almost fell upon a seal which we soon lost sight of because he went away in the water.

From there we went to Canopus. Only one of the huts were open.

which she told me that she read the Children's

each time the papers

arrived. Brian, who is 7 years of age drew a picture (in a bright red colour!) of his idea of what the Lively Island cutter boat looked like and I have tried to make a copy of Brian's drawing on this page for you all to see. Thank you Brian!

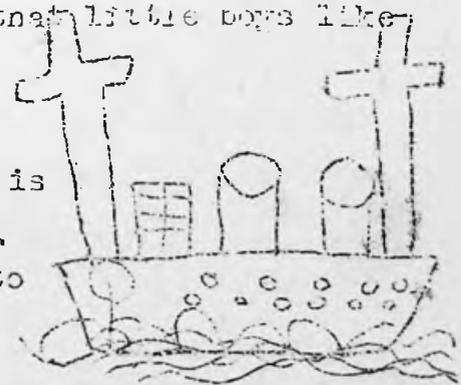

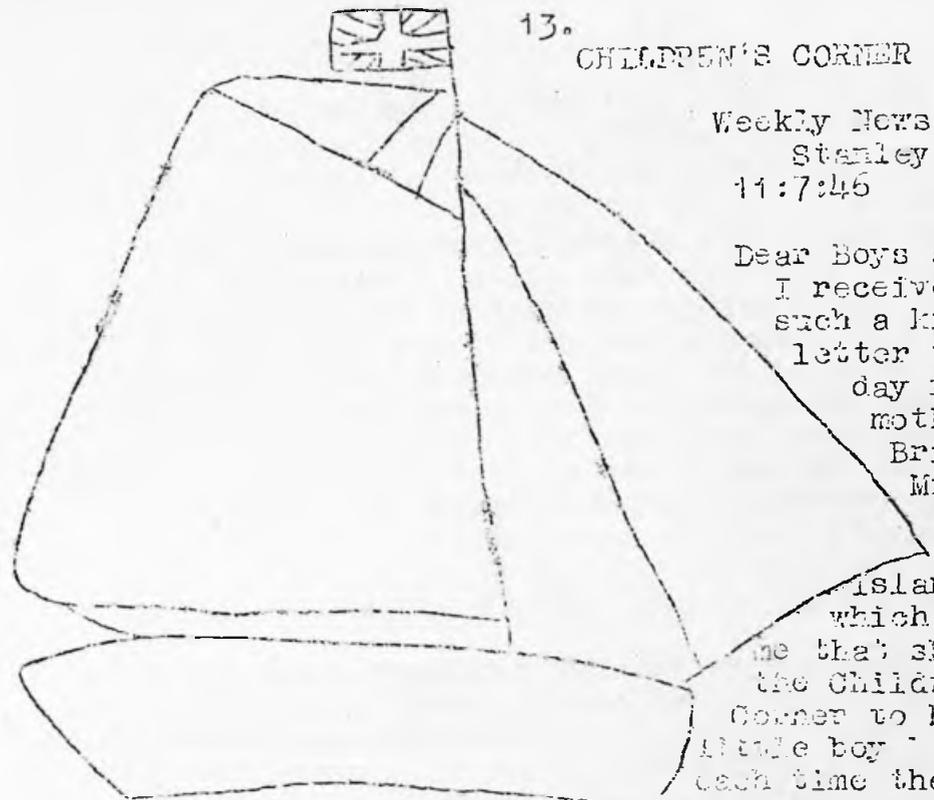

The other day a little boy called at our Office on a message and had to wait a few minutes until we could attend to his message. I know that little boys like to be kept busy - so I gave our visitor pencil and paper and asked him there and then to draw a boat. Our visitor was Denzil Turner who is six years of age. We have made a picture of Denzil's work for all you other boys and girls to see as well.

Cheerio,

Until next week-

WEDDING

On March 5th at St Mary's Church, 45 Ashley Road, London, the marriage took place of Miss Lily (Babs) Summers to Mr Reinier De-Haen of the Royal Dutch Navy.

The bride wore a costume with a small pink feathered hat to match her pink georgette blouse. Supporting the bride as Matron of Honour was her sister Mabel (Mrs Brock) who also was dressed in a costume.

Friends of the bride at the "flatlet" where she was staying arranged a small reception, after which the happy couple left to spend their honeymoon in Edinburgh.

Babs was leaving England about June 27th to join her husband in Holland where they are making their home.

The Weekly News extends its best wishes to this Falkland Islander and her husband.

We left there and went to the Lady Elizabeth but could not go aboard because it was high tide.

We went nearly up to the remains of the "Samson" and turned over the hill for we wanted to go over to York Bay before going home. There we had a game in the sand dunes. Then we set out for home passing Canopus on our way back. We were intending to catch the lorry again at Surf Bay, but unfortunately it was half past four before we reached Surf Bay, and the men leave work at half four, so we had to walk home. By the time we got to the "bend" on Surf Bay road it was getting dark. After a very tiring walk we reached town weary and hungry. However after supper we were both as fresh "as a daisy" again.

GARDENING NOTES. (Contd. from last week)

On no account must the compost be permitted to dry out; the moment the loss of moisture is observed water must be supplied. Now overhead watering is futile, so the plunging method must be used. The receptacle being plunged to the rim level within the receptacle. If the moisture content is maintained, germination should be complete within six weeks. The moment the seedlings are large enough to handle they must be pricked out into boxes. If pricking out is delayed then the seedlings may just as well be thrown on the rubbish heap. It is advisable to prick out three times as many seedlings as required because many mongrels make their appearance. The moral in good fern detection is - if a fern is defective in its first four or five fronds, throw it out.

ROYAL NAVY AND MERCHANT NAVY SUNDAY.

By The Editor.

Once again the time has come round for remembrance with thankfulness, the services rendered when our liberty was at stake by the men who sailed the seven seas in man o'war and busy trading vessel.

I wonder if we will ever realise the debt which we owe to these men? Not only did they sweep the enemy from the seas but they also brought us food - I often in the face of great danger.

I see once again a scene which I happened to witness during the recent war....Our ship was the humblest of merchantmen small in size outward bound from the United Kingdom. The sea was raging in one of its most fiery tempers, snow was falling, visibility was practically nil....ice covered our rigging, our cargo had moved, and not only did we have a tremendous amount of rolling and pitching to stand but the ship had a permanent list as well. Water flooded the tiny saloon, and into the cabins beside the saloon. Our siren had wailed until it had broke down, our lifeboats were smashed, davits were flush with the deck, and just to cheer us up a little our vessel went on to a mine field area, It had no choice, to go ahead was impossible, to go back meant possibly running into the other ships of our convoy, -we were the leading vessel with a Commander James on board and our own Captain (who was at a later stage in the war decorated for bravery at sea).

Whilst the storm was raging - and we daren't go nearer the shore for fear of running ashore those on board just went about their duties as usual.

ROYAL NAVY AND MERCHANT NAVY SUNDAY.

No proper meal could be served during the days of the storm but small amounts of soup in large cups were taken when possible. It was truly January at its worst, in the North Sea.

When we had come through the ordeal the outstanding impression I had was of the utter indomitable spirit of the whole of the ship's crew. The officers were from the United Kingdom, most of the crew were from the West Indies. I never heard any murmur or complaints. Everyone just got on with his job.

So this coming Sunday which is recognised as Royal Navy and Merchant Navy Thankful Remembrance Sunday, let us think of these services wherein our own boys have played a part, and give God some thanks for the peace which we now through them - as well as othersenjoy.

O Trinity of love and power!
Our brethren shield in danger's hour;
From rock and tempest, fire and foe,
Protect them wheresoever they go;
Thus evermore shall rise to thee
Glad hymns of praise from land and sea.

LETTER TO EDITOR.

10th June 1946

Dear Sir,

I have recently had come into my possession a copy of your "Weekly News" dated 31st January 1946, and I would like to express to you my own together with my friends appreciation of such an interesting and unusual publication. I enjoyed all the various articles contained in this quaint newspaper and am taking great care that the "News" is not lost as I am rather proud to show it to my acquaintances, and do not expect I shall have the fortune to possess further copies.

As a Stamp Dealer, I am of course interested in the stamps of the Falkland Islands and the Dependencies, and would like to get in touch with someone who would be able to supply me with used stamps from those Colonies, especially the Falklands Dependencies. Do you think you could put me in touch with a reliable person who would be willing to send me used stamps at a nominal percentage over the face value of the stamps? If you do know of any such a person living in the Dependencies, I should be grateful if you would send me their address. Also if there is anyone on the Island who has stamps for disposal, I am always open to purchase odd lots or collections.

(Editor's Note - Someone may care to write in answer to the above letter. If so address replies to Arthur E. Allen, 27 Guildhall street, Bury St. Edmunds, England.)

GREAT EXHIBITION FOR LONDON.

Much interest has been aroused by recent discussion of plans for a Great Exhibition proposed to be held in London in 1951. Hyde Park is named as the most likely site for the project - a fitting commemoration of the first Great Exhibition of 1851, also held in Hyde Park. The proposal has met with enthusiastic response from all sections of opinion in Britain, including well-known industrialists, famous scientists, and leaders in arch architecture and the arts.

The first international exhibition of the atomic age should provide a tremendous stimulus to scientific and commercial development. It will have the guiding example of 1851 before it, and that exhibition provided the source of many of the great advances of the twentieth century.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Applications for the post of Orderly and Caretaker, Government House, were at first invited with a time-limit of July 8th, 1946. But in view of the impending return of the Falkland Islands Contingent it has since been decided, in fairness to any of them who may wish to apply for it, to extend the date until a week after their arrival. Moreover, no decision has yet been reached as to the precise duties of the post, since Government House will have to be under repairs and unoccupied for some time.

Whist Drive at Douglas Station.

On Saturday evening 29th June a Whist Drive took place at Douglas Station. The Whist Drive which was organised by Mr. J. W. Alazia, was enjoyed by all present, so old Bill said, "Well boys, we had better have another one."

COLD WEATHER

The Colony has experienced some very cold weather recently with easterly winds.

PUBLIC NOTICE

In June 1936 a Committee was appointed to consider the establishment of a permanent memorial to the memory of His Majesty King George V in the form of a Playing Field for Children. The Committee consisted of the following:-

The Hon. the Colonial Secretary- Chairman
 The Hon. G. Roberts, J.P.
 The Hon. A. R. Hoare, M.B.E., J.P.
 The Hon. L. W. H. Young, J.P.
 The Hon. N. Keith Cameron, J.P.
 The Hon. V. A. H. Biggs.
 The Rev. W. F. McWhan.
 W. Meatesney, Esq.
 J. McGill, Esq.,
 A. Newing, Esq., J.P. Hon. Treasurer.
 A. I. Fleuret, Esq. Hon. Secretary.

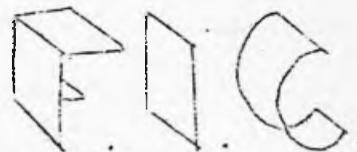

The total sum collected by public subscription and by other means was £563.12.4d., and after paying for the levelling of the open space in St Mary's Walk and for two pre-cast reconstructed stone panels which were intended to be placed on an entrance gate, there remains in the Savings Bank, in which the balance has been earning interest, the sum of £274.12.6d to the credit of the fund.

Now that war conditions have begun to disappear it is felt that the time has come to proceed with a project which has had to remain in abeyance owing to prior claims for attention in the last few years.

Several of the original Committee are no longer available, and as it is desirable that the fullest public representation should be obtained, and the views of as many as possible expressed, all who wish to give their opinions on how the work should be completed and on any relevant matter are invited to write to the Colonial Secretary before the end of August.

It is then proposed to hold a further Committee meeting in order to decide the final form of the Memorial Playing Fields plan.

THE LOCAL RED CROSS.

The Local Branch of the Red Cross Society held its monthly Tea Meeting on Thursday 11th July in the Public Library.

On this occasion H.E. the Governor, our President, was the guest of honour and he arrived accompanied by Mr. A.B. Mathews (Colonial Secretary).

After tea His Excellency addressed the meeting. He spoke of the work done and contributions made by the Falkland Islands, assuring the members that this would not go unacknowledged. We were reminded too, that our first chairman, in fact the founder of the Local Branch Mrs. Norman Cameron was returning to the Falklands shortly. His Excellency hoped that we would have a tea meeting for her during her stay in Stanley.

In closing His Excellency used the expression "Fare Ye Well," assuring us that we should indeed fare well.

The Chairman thanked His Excellency for all that he had done for us and on behalf of all members wished him Good Luck and Good Health in the years to come.

The usual raffles were now drawn and we were all delighted that Mrs. John Turner was the lucky winner of a tin of meringues plus the cream to eat with them.

Mrs. Turner is the good neighbour who boils our tea kettle for us on these occasions, to say nothing of lending cups or plates when these are short.

Another good friend to the Local Branch of the Red Cross is Mrs. McCarthy who has kindly sent us fresh milk for our meetings since she started the dairy. We would like to take this opportunity to express our gratitude to her for her generosity.

During 1945 - 46 several of our members have left the Colony for England. These include Mrs. Lanning and Mrs. E.J. Gleadell, both indefatigable workers for bazaars, Mrs. Hamilton who was the Chairman for some years and also the Editor of the Red Cross Journal.

This month we lose Mrs. Thomson, who has been a member from the time the Local Branch was started.

We wish her the best of luck and many years of happiness with her family in England.

For the last few weeks the rehearsals for the Concert have not been well attended. Some we know have not been well, but there are others who have not this excuse. It was reluctantly decided last week that unless there is a better response this week, the venture will have to be abandoned. After so much hard work this would be a great pity, and a disappointment to those who have come regularly and tried so hard. The rehearsal is on Thursday (to-day) in the Gym at 7.30. Please do your best to come. Choir Practice is at 6.30.

Notes.

The s.s. "Fitzroy" arrived in Stanley from South Georgia last Monday morning. The vessel was due to leave for her voyage round the Islands last night.

Folk Dancing enthusiasts still meet each week in the Gymnasium to do these well known traditional dances.

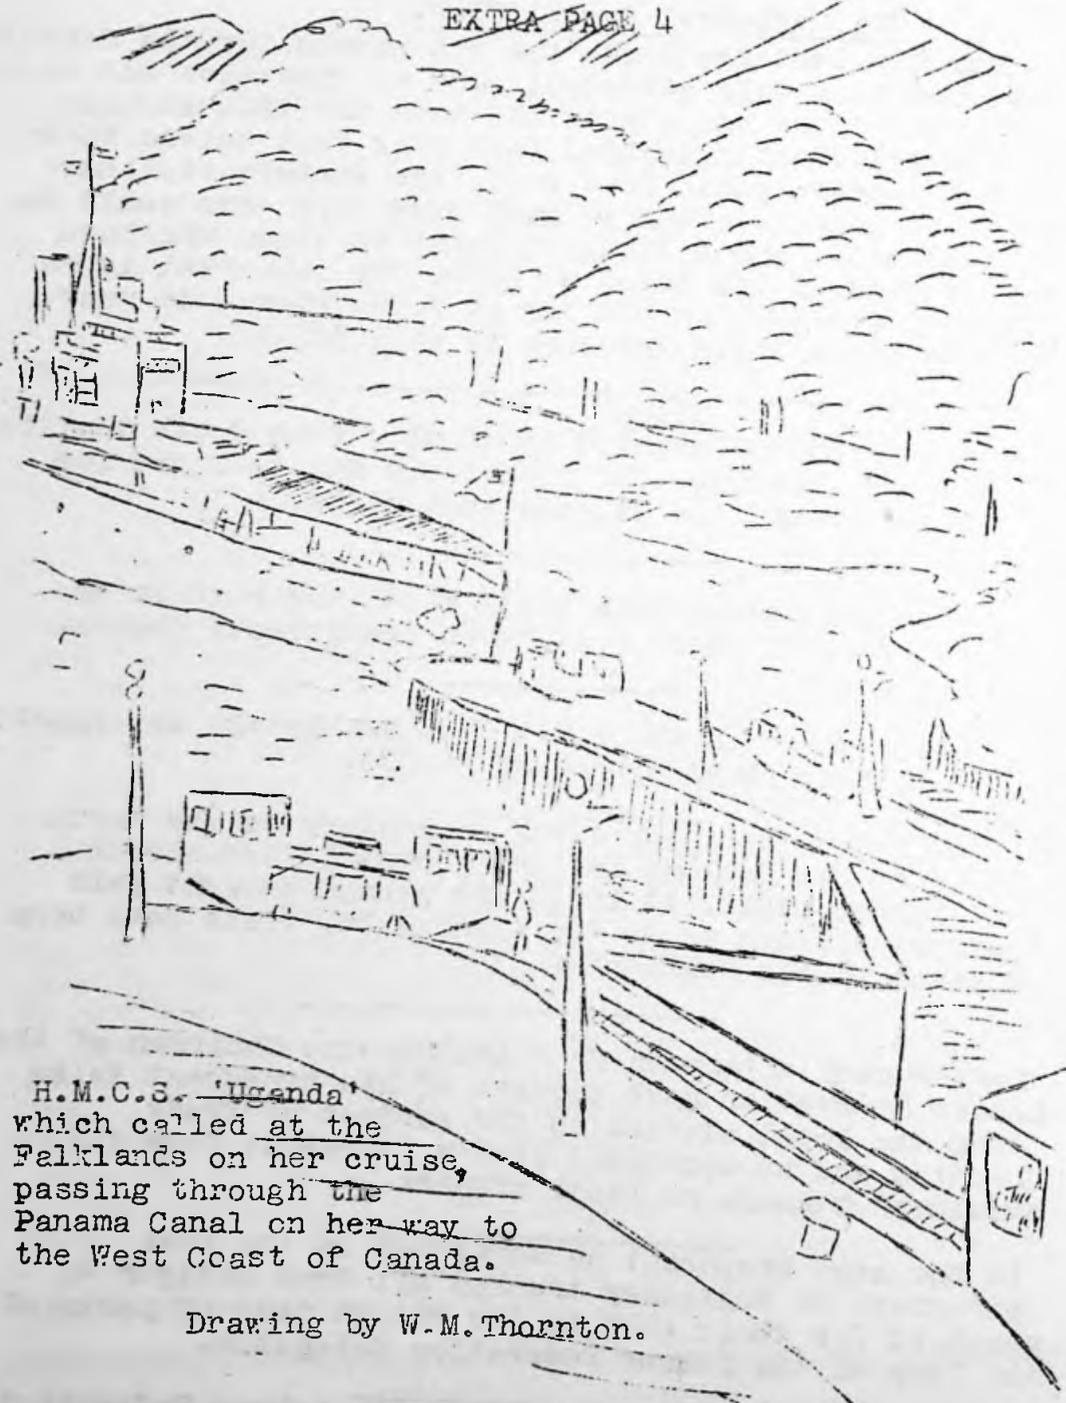

The Prize money in the Rifle Club Sweepstake is expected to be in the neighbourhood of £1,000.

Dr. Gibbs gave an interesting commentary on the North Island of New Zealand in the Tabernacle Schoolroom last Monday night. At least one person present felt that hot springs to do the washing in, would have been an asset in the Falklands!

Last Sunday afternoon Mr McAtasney - the Chairman of the Labour Federation gave another of his broadcast Talks from the local station on the subject of Trade Unionism and he concluded with a "straight from the shoulder" message on local affairs.

In the same broadcast as mentioned in the last paragraph Mr McAtasney thanked all from Manager to shepherd for their help in the recent tour of parts of the Camp of the Labour Federation Delegates.

We hope to print an account of the Labour Federation delegates tour in our next issue.

PROMOTION FOR MR. A.R. CARR:

The news has been received of the appointment of Mr A.R. Carr to the post of Supervisor of Customs in Mauritius.

Mr Carr has been in charge of Customs, and Commissioner of Income Tax in the Falkland Islands. He came to the Colony in September 1938 and during his stay here he has been ever ready to lend his help and musical talent to any cause. During the war years Mr Carr has carried out the unenviable duties of Competent Authority in a able manner. We congratulate him on his promotion.

We understand that Mr and Mrs Carr and family will not be going to their new post for a few months yet.

The island of Mauritius lies in the Indian Ocean some five hundred miles due east of Madagascar in the same latitude as Rio de Janeiro. It is about thirty miles long and has an area of approximately 700 square miles, and in this small space it manages to squeeze a population of nearly 400,000. Of these, some 200,000 are Hindus who work on the sugar plantations; Contd. on P.15.

FALKLAND ISLANDS MOUNTED INFANTRY.

The F.I.M.I. was started some years before the war, and considering the vast area of the camp to be covered by so few men, the ordinary use of infantry is useless. So taking advantage of the facts that most camp men are born riders, and that plenty of horses are available, it was decided to form a separate section of the F.I.D.F. for use in the camp. The men of the "Mounties" were to act as ordinary infantry soldiers, except that instead of marching, the normal method of movement was on horse back, with all combat and arms practice being done on foot.

The "Mountie" uniform is in itself rather picturesque with the Inzac hats, bombachos, long boots, sam browns and ponchos tied to the saddle. They have their drills one week a year, in winter time.

When war broke out, lookouts were opened in various parts of the camp, and these were manned by members of the Mounted Infantry, but when German Naval Strategy was seen to be confined solely to commence raiding, the lookouts were discontinued.

On Japan's entry into the war, these lookouts were again manned until the tide of Japan's conquest had been stemmed. The arrival in the Colony of imperial troops aided an extra fillip to the activities of the mounted infantry by their making use of the opportunity of more modern tactical training, and by the N.C.O's undergoing vigorous courses, under the tuition of personnel of the West Yorkshire Regiment.

The role of the Mounties during the war years has not been spectacular, but it has been useful.

Darts.

On Tuesday July 9th an interesting Dart Match took place at the "Rose Hotel" between the customers assembled there. The Match was played in the form of an open competition for a Set of Darts, which were presented to the Landlord of the Rose Hotel by Mr L. Coster, late of the W/T Station for this purpose.

A draw was made prior to the competition to determine the opponents, and a similar draw was made for the "Starting Double".

An enjoyable evening then ensued with many "needle" games being played. A feature of the evening was the consistent scoring of the ultimate winner—Mr W. Cantlie.

Will this player eventually constitute a menace to our "Uncrowned Champion" Cyril? Time alone will tell: Bob Snell must be singled out for special mention inasmuch as he scored a most notable win over G. Sornsen and proved to the company that he is well conversed with the flight of "Projectiles" other than H.T.s. Congratulations Des Peck for so successfully battling under adverse conditions. The two Naval entrants were well and truly "whitewashed". Perhaps the board was too steady.

G. Cocks beat J. (Scribe) Crossman by 501 (Whitewash)
C. (Champ) Betts beat A. Pettersson Jr. by 86. -ed)
R. (Barg-Barg) Snell beat G. Sornsen by 413
L. (Cants) Cantlie beat F. (Tots) Gleadell by 501 (Whitewashed)
A. (Hanse) Anderson beat T. (Floric) Ford by 501 (whitewashed)

Des Peck beat The "Don" Miller by 2.
W. (Yaks) Summers beat L. Pedersen by 12.
G. (Bags O' Time) Bowles beat L. (Rabbit) Morrison by 86.
H. Ford beat A. Sornsen by 187.
A. Clifton beat H. (Shot) Aldridge by 2.
C. (Nuts & Bolts) Ford beat C. (Sykes) Detliff by 2.

The winners of the Three "Whitewash" events then competed for the Final. W. Cantlie securing a bye. The final results were as follows:— A. Anderson beat G. Cocks. W. Cantlie beat A. Anderson. Congratulations to "Cants". In the future may all your "Doubles" be "Toys".

Dear Boys and Girls,

Here are some overseas notes which will be of interest to you:-

While a Plymouth market gardener was going on his rounds he saw a kitten lying by a hedge with its head wedged inside a pint milk bottle. He had to break the neck of the bottle in order to set the kitten free, when it quickly ran away down the road. Then he noticed that right at the bottom of the bottle was a very frightened mouse. Kitty must have been chasing the mouse and it had run into the bottle to escape, when the too eager kitten had tried to squeeze in after it and had become stuck.

An official of the Merchant Navy Comforts Service received a cardboard box, and when he opened it, it seemed to be full of toffee papers; so he thought someone was playing a joke on him, and emptied the contents of the box into the waste-paper basket. Paper money fell out, and when he gathered it up again and counted it, he found it was worth £99/10/0 and there was a note enclosed saying: "For coppers of merchant seamen."

lying in the Cathedral safe marked "To be opened after the death of Dean and Mrs. Brandon". On Thursday evening last week this was opened by the Chaplain in the presence of the two Wardens. It contained a letter from Dean Brandon to Dean Stanley Smith, following the latter's appeal for £18,000 for endowment of the Cathedral. Dean Brandon discloses that he has provided in his will that after the death of himself and his wife, a sum of money shall be paid to the Cathedral Endowment Fund which should bring in about £100 each year.

In Dean Brandon's time the stipend of the Senior Chaplain was assured by the Colonial Office. In the "eighties" with the support of Bishop Stirling, Dean Brandon started what is now the Sustentation Fund to provide for an Assistant Chaplain.

This followed the withdrawal of the Scottish Minister from Darwin and the consequent leaving of the Camp without an adequate Ministry. Canon Hopkiss came out to help Dean Brandon in 1892, followed by Canon Blount in 1900 and the Rev. C.R. Hall in 1906. Dean & Mrs. Brandon left the Falklands in 1907 but we can see how their hearts remained here. They not only gave the best of their lives (thirty years in all) to the Colony, but have done their best to see that the work which Dean Brandon started shall be carried forward both in Stanley and the Camp.

GARDENING NOTES.

Hardy biennials should be planted in place without delay if planting has not already been completed. Wallflowers, nyosotis and eubrietia should be placed not more than one foot asunder. Canterbury bells require at least eighteen inches either way. Hardy perennial plants should now be cut back to their base. Never attempt to remove dead growths from such plants by pulling, because much damage will be done to the growths which will be produced for the coming season. If the plants are in need of division, lift them and perform the operation. Overgrown plants seldom produce flowers either in quantity or size. Should division not be necessary, weed, and then lightly fork over the bed or border but never do this if there is frost in the soil. All dead material taken from the plants should not be discarded but be placed in the manure pit.

GOODEY,
SIR-ALAN CARDINALL

BEST WISHES!

SIR ALAN CARDINALL K.B.E., C.M.G., GOVERNOR AND COMMANDER IN CHIEF - THE FALKLAND ISLANDS 1940-1946.

Very shortly the Colony will be taking farewell of His Excellency the Governor-Sir Alan Cardinall who has held his high office over a period of six years, years of outstanding importance in the history not only of the Colony but also of the World.

I had the privilege of interviewing His Excellency recently on behalf of the Weekly News. I was amazed at the varied life of unusual experiences of our Governor - in 1907 from January until April 1910 Mr. Cardinall (as he then was) lived in Vancouver and was a reporter on the staff of important newspapers there. His Excellency has never lost his outstanding ability to grasp the important facts in any matter under consideration.

His Excellency sailed from the west coast of Canada from Vancouver on board a three masted barque bound for England (Cardiff) via Cape Horn. The trip took 203 days and 291 of these were spent out of sight of land.

I asked the Governor if he caught a glimpse of the Falklands as he came northwards from the Horn... the answer was "no" then Sir Alan told me how a dotterel came on board and he caught it, hoping to make a pet of it - unfortunately suitable food for the bird could not be found and two days later, much to Sir Alan's disappointment the bird died.

Later the Governor became a member of the teaching profession and right up until now scholarship and the interests of education have been of the greatest interest here to His Excellency.

In 1914 Sir Alan joined the Colonial Service. After experience in the service in West Africa, in 1934 (February) came his appointment as Commissioner in the Cayman Islands. I mentioned the varied experiences of His Excellency....the Governor told me how he once went out as a young man from British Columbia to the Hawaiian Islands to work on a sugar plantation. He liked the work very well and found the Islands interesting. This was before the tourist trade had developed....and of course films were practically unknown.

In January 1940 our future Governor was appointed to the Falkland Islands as Colonial Secretary and acting Governor...on the departure of Sir Henniker Heaton. Shortly after Sir Alan became Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony and its Dependencies. With these duties he has also performed the duty of Judge of the Supreme Court.

During the years of his stay in the most southerly of our Colonies, Sir Alan has been in charge during the most of the war period. He has not been out of the Colony on leave since he came, and for quite a part of the time with no Colonial Secretary or Financial Treasurer he has had to more or less tie himself to town.

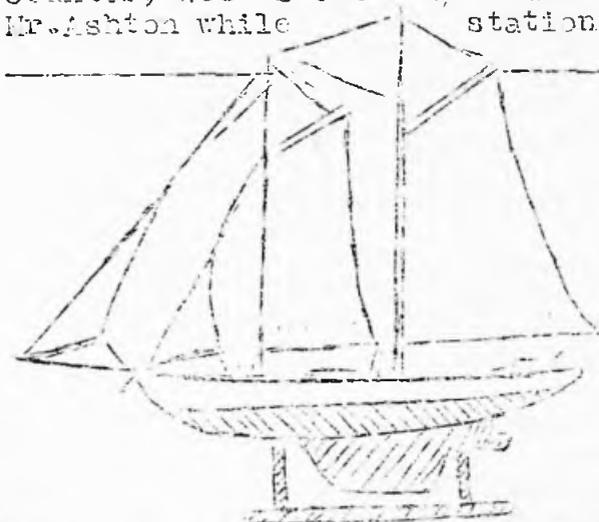

Outstanding memories of his time of Governorship include the institution of the Red Cross with affiliation to the Red Cross Society in England-Sir Alan has been the President of the Society, the period with the Imperial Troops stationed here, the Scholarship scheme whereby the outstanding children in the Colony (two per year) have the opportunity to study at the English School in Montevideo up to School Certificate standard, the introduction of trout into our streams as a practical proposition; on the debit side of his memories would be the sad loss of our lovely Town Hall, Museum, Library, Council Room and Offices by fire, and the fact that a road through the Colony could not be proceeding with owing to the war.

In conversion Sir Alan stressed the fact that the ridged control of prices had been a great help to the community during the war years, and that prices here we were met by the Manager and Jim. After a jolly good lunch provided by Mrs. Peck we interviewed the manager and arranged for a meeting that evening in the cookhouse, which all attended.

The next day (Sunday) we visited the various houses. In the afternoon Jim invited us to a run in his Cheverlot to that beautiful sand beach. This will be an event which will long live in my memory. On the return journey, of the 7 mile beach, George took the wheel and I believe he thought he was driving along Ross Road; but not so rough, for every time he saw a sand grass bog he blew the hooter and gave a hand signal.

We then moved to Saunders Island and the Islanders were surprised to hear the blast of the Gentoo's siren breaking the stillness of the dark night. We had a very good night ashore, but the Islanders, although happy, have not been able to get much news owing to the only wireless set breaking down.

We remained overnight and left for Shullow Bay early next morning, again that wild sound of the "Gentoo" aroused Ronnie and Florrie from their morning slumber. We bade farewell to Capt. Griff and his crew and after a refreshing cup of tea, the horses were gathered and Ronnie took us on our way to Hill Cove. On arrival all the shepherds were sent for so that they could attend the meeting to be held that evening. This proved very successful and many useful statements were made.

The following day we visited the top settlement, in company with Eric Johnson. The forest impressed us greatly, this looked very pretty although it was winter time. I thought to myself, "Oh, if only those things could be done in Stanley."

We next moved to Roy Cove, held our meeting the same night and passed on to Chartres the next day. This hurried visit was due to the moving of the school teacher and to avoid any bother on the part of the Manager we decided to move at the same time.

At Chartres we held the meeting on the Sunday morning, this was after a very restless night, we wonder if those two chaps are still doing the sword dance at 2. in the morning. On Monday we were boated across the creek by our staunch friend - A. Etheridge, who had made our stay at Chartres a very pleasant one. On the other side W. Lee awaited to deliver us to Dunnose Head.

On arrival at Dunnose we were given a very warm welcome. Eddie had a 4 course lunch prepared in the cookhouse, after which we held the meeting.

We were greatly impressed by the very large stock which the store held, for so few people, but it was explained that the boat only called once a year.

The only serious grievance we found was the lack of communications. There is no telephone or Wireless telephone to this most outlying place. If the weather is too rough to cross the creek, it takes 7 hours good riding to reach Fox Bay.

After consultation with the Manager of Fox Bay East, he assured us that communication was a priority on his programme.

Next day we were boated across the creek to the point leading up to Spring Point, but owing to rough weather during the day Mr. Felton did not arrive with horses, and believe us, it was rough in an open boat. Cursynathics go to the young female teacher who has to do that crossing. We headed on foot for Spring Point the direction being given us by Keith Betts, but darkness fell upon us, and after an hour's walk I began to wonder! - George had good faith in finding our destination, and after a further walk of a quarter of an hour I suddenly noticed to our right a white building silhouetted against the blue sea. We turned right and after quite a while we knocked at a door, and were sorry that the ladies received a fright, but after an explanation we were shown where Mr. Felton lived.

We remained for the night. Next morning Arthur collected our belongings and placed me upon a one eyed horse with only a leading rein, and he immediately ran for the beach; after collecting my wits I managed to steer for George and his charger! Things went well for awhile, but a ditch had to be crossed, this was jumped, and off went my old nag at the full gallop, leaving George behind. I pulled, I shouted, the air was blue - the more I did, the worse the old nag got, next thing off flew my overcoat, which was not fastened, this gave him more running power, off he went on the long gallop, I didn't know if he had run in any special

H.M. the Governor Visits the School.

By Ola Summers.

Last Friday 19th July His Excellency the Governor accompanied by Mr. Mathews visited the school to give the children a farewell message, there was one special thing he pointed out to us that we shall always remember, that we should be proud of being of English descent, and I am sure we all are.

We all wish His Excellency a pleasant voyage and many happy and peaceful years of retirement.

Thanksgiving and Prayer for the Royal and Merchant Navies.

His Excellency the Governor, members of Council, and units representing the Royal Navy, the Defence Force, and the Boys Brigade attended the service at Christ Church Cathedral last Sunday morning. The lessons were read by the Hon. the Colonial Secretary and Lieut-Commander (S) J.B. Williams R.N. In his sermon the Chaplain spoke of links between the groups of British People all over the world being maintained by men of the sea. If those links had failed the cause of Freedom might well have been lost. He went on to the need to make our Holy Religion a link not only between British People and the different Nations making up the Empire, but between all men everywhere. Without such a unity there could never be a lasting peace.

FAREWELL BROADCAST FROM STANLEY STATION

In a farewell broadcast from the Stanley Broadcasting Station to the people throughout the Colony, yesterday at five o'clock in the afternoon, His Excellency the Governor spoke of his six years as Governor of the Colony, and how he had felt that the people were giving him their support even during the darkest days of the War years. His Excellency felt that he had indeed had the confidence and trust of the whole Colony. These memories would be taken with him, the Governor said, and cherished in his retirement.

The Governor went on to say that he left them to a future which planning and prosperity would play their part.

The Governor concluded with these words:-

"Thank you and may the Almighty God guide you in the years to come".

F.I.C. ENGINEER RETIRING

Mr Thomson who has been in charge of the engineering section of the Falkland Islands Company leaves with Mrs Thomson on Friday for the United Kingdom where they hope to take up residence in the Waterloo district of Liverpool. Mr and Mrs Thomson came to the Colony first of all in 1929 and have made many friends during their stay in Stanley. Mr Thomson's retirement will be a matter of regret to all who worked with him.

Mrs Thomson has taken a keen interest in local Red Cross Work during the latter years of her residence in Stanley.

The Weekly News wishes Mr and Mrs Thomson many years of happy retirement.

Dear Boys and Girls,

This week we have pleasure in introducing to you Master Robert Rabbit again.

Robert was very excited. He was going to see the Rabbit's football team playing against the hare's team. This was always a very exciting match, and it was not always a victory for the hares either!

What a crowd of rabbits and hares lined the field - great excitement when the teams came out. Master Robert danced up and down and banged his paws together. The referee was Chippe, a friendly dog. He started the game off - soon the hare's team had scored two goals - then the rabbits managed to get the ball into the net - two goals to one! Half time saw the score still the same, then in the second half after a terrific display of fine football the rabbits scored another goal - and the match ended in a draw. Something happened after the match to make young

Robert come home smiling - Chippe the doggie referee gave him his signature in his autograph book. Robert carried the book and the signature to his burrow in triumph. All the other bunnies were quite envious.

had been reasonable considering the rising costs of all things through the war. It was obvious that Sir Alan had a deep interest in the welfare of the people of the Colony.

I am sure that all readers of the Weekly News will join with us in wishing His Excellency a happy retirement in England and not only many years to be spared to enjoy it in, but also renewed health as well.

(In Sir Alan's term of Office too, have come into being our Air Mail facilities and Labour Legislation along the lines of Trade Unionism. The Governor has been anxious to see Constitutional Reform coming to our Colony thus giving the people a greater share in the power and responsibility of directing their affairs.)

especially Mr. & Mrs. E. Smith.

In conclusion we would like to say that the whole tour was most successful, The whole of the West Falklands is now Federation, except two men, outside Managers.

This could never have been achieved by propganda from Stanley in the next 10 years. Many minor grievances were settled on the terms. The more serious ones will be laid before the Sheep Owners Association, and the Government.

We have brought back with us many happy memories of the greatness, and kindness of which the Westers are so well noted for.

The Co-operation of Managers and men in charge of all Stations cannot be expressed in words, all we say is "THANK YOU ALL".

Co-operation between workman and workman, between employer and workman, is the foundation upon which our organisation is founded. Let it never fail.

GARDENING NOTES.

Now is the best time to wage war with the scrubbing brush, upon the homes of many enemies of porch plants. Much dirt and decaying plant residues have accumulated in the porch or greenhouse during the summer months, and if allowed to remain, serve as an ideal home for diseases and pests until conditions become favourable for attacks upon plants. It is the many corners and crevices which should receive most strict attention and as it is impossible to use a scrubbing brush in such corners and crevices one must resort to the syringe which, if used with force, will drive out any accumulations of dirt. Carbolic, paraffin, or some other strong disinfectant should be used, both in the scrubbing and syringing water. This house washing task is always a permanent feature of garden operations and should never be forgotten.

Note: We regret that we spelled the Christian name of our Governor in last weeks issue incorrectly-it should have been Sir Allan Cardinall.We apologise!

Departure of His Exceellency the Governor
 Last Friday afternoon His Exceellency Sir Allan Cardinall K.B.E.,C.M.G.took farewell of the people whom he had governed over for the last six years and embarked on the s.s."Fitzroy"which lay alongside the Public Jetty on this special occasion.

Down the Jetty could be seen a detachment of men from the Royal Navy drawn up as a guard of Honour, further along were the Boys Brigade, the children from the Government School, a Falkland Islands Defence Force guard of Honour and Government Officials.The F.I.D.F. Band was drawn up close to the steamer.

Shortly before three o'clock the familiar car with the Union Jack flying in front,drew up at the roadside near the jetty.Sir Allan,dressed in lounge suit,overcoat,and felt hat walked along the jetty inspecting the guards of honour,and taking farewell of his friends.

As the Governor boarded the s.s."Fitzroy"he was received by the Manager of the Falkland Islands Company -the Hon.D.W.Roberts C.B.E.,and Captain Johnston .

The Royal Salute was given and silently the vessel slipped away from the jetty on her journey to Montevideo and the world beyond.Three cheers were given for His Majesty the King,and then three cheers for His Excellency.As the "Fitzroy"went down through Port William a seventeen round salute was fired by the Charles Point Battery. Our good wishes go with Sir Allan !

ACTING GOVERNOR SWORN IN

Shortly after the departure of Sir A.W. Cardinall the Hon. A.B. Mathews, Colonial Secretary took the oaths as Acting Governor in the Gymnasium Hall, before a large company including children from the Government School - His Excellency then spoke the following words:-

Members of Councils, Ladies and Gentlemen -

I have just taken three Oaths, three solemn obligations. For these Oaths are no formality. They bind me to do my duty to the King and to the people of the Falkland Islands.

In taking them to-day I have made the most solemn obligations of my official career, and I will do my best to carry them out. I mean that quite literally, and it is the only promise I am going to make.

I want you, and everybody else in the Falkland Islands and the Dependencies, sincerely to believe me - not only as I make that promise now, but as I try, in the future, to fulfil it.

But I can only succeed with the help of you all. I shall rely on the Members of the Executive and Legislative Councils for frank, constructive, and unbiassed advice, and upon the members of the public for trust, confidence, and co-operation. For it is of vital importance that the Government and the people should work together in the common interest of all; and we cannot achieve that if there is any idea of bad faith or lack of co-operation on either side.

My experience is that difficulties in administration often arise through misunderstanding, which is generally due to lack of correct and ample information. In a word, to use the old phrase: "It is not enough that justice be done: it must be seen to be done".

To that end I shall hold myself open and accessible to all reasonable people at all reasonable times: and I shall try to keep you informed of what is going on.

I only want to make one plea - for good faith on your part, believing that I, for mine, will do my best to have a "right judgment in all things". For only so can we all work together as men of goodwill for the welfare and prosperity of these islands, (Contd on page 6)

WEEK OF MIRTH, FUN, AND ENTERTAINMENT ON PEBBLE ISLAND.

By our special correspondent "NORTOLET"

On the 30th of June the motor vessel "Gentoo" left Pebble Island for Port Purvis, in order to bring across the visitors from Fort Howard to that northern island. Port Howard had been invited to join Pebble Island some-time before this, to spend the week there and the invitation had been gladly accepted by a large company.

The sturdy little vessel arrived back at her home port at three o'clock on board the full complement of five ladies and eight gentlemen. The passengers were landed safely at "Logger-Duck Pier" - which was crowded with Pebble Island residents who had gathered to give the voyagers a very hearty welcome. Some of the visitors were quite normal but others! - we put their rather unbalanced walk down to the fact that they were accustomed to horse transport and not to sea-transport!

After the welcome ceremonies Peblers forgot that they had still a job to do owing to the old Camp rule being kept up but nevertheless the weeks programme was uninterrupted.

On Monday at 2.30 p.m. the crowd gathered for a Grand Concert in the wool shed. The shed was beautifully decorated for the occasion. When the curtain went up the hall was full of smiling faces. The Pebble Island Jazz Band broke into a lively opening chorus. The title of this extra special number was - "Pebble Boys are here again". This was followed by a piano-accordion solo by that star player Mr. Fred Lee of Port Howard. A song came next "Swannie River Moon" beautifully rendered by Mrs. Alex. Betts of Fort Howard - with a background of Hawaiian Serenade accompaniment. Mrs. Arthur Llamasa made us think of the long rides we do so often in the saddle on the West Falklands... "Round up time out West"... here again the strumming of the guitar played by Mr. A.S. Betts. Then came the turn of the music-makers and our minds were wafted to the sun-kissed beaches of the sunny lands further north - the music was from a Spanish Guitar played by Mr. A.S. Betts and Mr. J.W.C. Peck.

TEXT OF BROADCAST BY SIR ALLAN CARRSALL CN
WEDNESDAY 24th JULY.

Good evening, everybody, not only in the Falkland Islands but in all the Dependencies. I hope I am not taking too much of your time, but I should not like to go away without talking to you for a short while. As most of you know already, I shall be leaving this country towards the end of this present week to go home on leave before my retirement from the King's service. For more than six years I have been with you and those six years have been probably the most eventful in the history of the world. But here, except for the strain of worry and anxiety, we have scarcely been affected. Threatened we have been; in danger we may have been. I suppose without risk of being accused of immodesty I can claim to have borne as heavy a share as any other in the Falklands of the mental disquietude and cares of those days; but if I have borne them without failure, it is thanks to you and your patience, your apparent trust and confidence in me.

For these I thank you. Of course I cannot forget; but I should like to say to you that the memory of them will be and must be more cherished than any other in my retirement. Then there will be much time for reflection on the past and the remembrance of your support will remain, as it was at the time, a thread of light running steadily across what was in view of my closer knowledge of events a tapestry of utter gloom.

For six years you have helped me to bear the mental burden of the war in which defeat loomed so often close ahead and the catastrophic disaster of the victory of evil seemed almost certain. Your support without questioning, without murmur, was given to me. This gift shows in no small way the measure of your loyalty.

I leave you with many regrets. I am sorry it has been utterly impossible to have left the seat of Government and thus prevented me from visiting you. I am sorry that it is not given to me to lead you was the song "Blue Eyes" sung by Mr. T. Walsh of Port Howard, Mr. A. Betts again rendering the accompaniment on his guitar. Then came one of the high-light spots in the unique Show - a sketch called "Cow-boy Sketch" in which Mr. A. J. Betts starred as the Sheriff. T. A. Ilamosa was the bar-keeper and Gordon Peck played a memorable part as "Slim" A. C. Betts was in the role of "Pina" while B. Steen and H. Betts played the part of cowboys. The cowboys brought the house down again and again with their made up horse. At one point the horse came out on the stage and danced in hot ~~hot~~ style ending up by dealing the sheriff a ~~kick~~ kick on the place where mothers give chastisement to naughty boys.

After the laughter and the clapping had died down from the sketch Mr. R. Berntsen sang "Somewhere in England" with guitar accompaniment and then followed the Sailors Horn Pipe danced by Mr. B. Steen. The encore in this lively dance was given by the tolerant performer - with the sweat dripping off his nose! For this dance the music was provided by Mr. J. W. C. Peck on his piano accordion.

Next came another sketch "I'm afraid to go home in the dark". This dealt with a man who was approaching a very bad alcoholic state - played by Mr. R. Berntsen, his wife - (Mr. B. Steen) with a very exciting climax.

The concert party then sang another song of their own composition - "We'll always remember the 24th of May". The concert ended with a selection from the band. The players in the band were - Jazz Drums, W. Pearson; Violin-J. W. C. Peck; Piano Accordion-H. Betts; Mandoline-A. Betts; Hawaiian Guitar-G. Peck; Spanish Guitar-A. S. Betts.

At 3.30 p.m. the dance hall opened and dancing continued until the early hours of the morning.

On the Tuesday a sausage-supper took place commencing at 6 p.m. This outstanding event was held in the Cook-house where everybody seemed to have full and plenty - in fact some of the people present seemed to have packed their pockets as well, because sausages turned up afterwards in various places including the dance-hall. ADDRESS BY HIS EXCELLENCY THE ACTING GOVERNOR FROM
THE STANLEY BROADCAST STATION ON 28TH JULY, 1946.

That is what I said at the Swearing-In Ceremony on Friday: and I had particularly in mind those of you in the Dependencies and in the Camp, who were not present that day.

To-day I want to add this to what I said then - that I have only been in the Colony a very short time yet, and so have only had time to pay brief visits to two or three Stations. But I intend to take the earliest possible opportunity of visiting other places soon, and in September will be coming, with my wife and daughter, to the West Falkland, when I shall look forward to meeting many of you. Later on I hope to go farther afield and to see you people in the South.

May I be forgiven a word of personal reminiscence?
I have spent so many years of my career away from headquarters, and often quite alone, that I think I know something of, and can sympathise with, the point of view of those of you to whom I am especially talking this afternoon. I shall not find it hard to remember that in the end the most useful work is often not done in a comfortable office; and that the people who have the least chance of expressing themselves are by no means the least important.

All I would ask is patience and credit if-as may happen - I appear ever to overlook a particular claim in what I may believe to be the common interest.

Finally, I do want to say this, too, how very deeply my wife and I have been touched by the friendliness and kindly welcome we have received on all sides, ever since we began to meet some of you at Montevideo on our way down; We like being here immensely, and we have no other idea than to do our best to be of service to all of you. So we ask you to give us some time to find ourselves in our new home,

The Late Mr. Jack King.

The death occurred very suddenly last Thursday morning of Mr. Jack King of Stanley, second son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Tom King, at the age of 57 years. Mr. King had been in indifferent health for sometime but carried on at his work in Government until the day before his death.

Mr. King was of a retiring disposition but was an interesting conversationalist to those who knew him.

We extend our sympathy to Mrs. King and to his son and three married daughters living in England.

The funeral took place from Christ Church Cathedral last Sunday afternoon.

Camp Notes.

Mrs. Ted Robson of Swan Island rolled the wool there this last season.

Another place where heather can be found growing besides at Fitzroy on the East Falkland is at Port Stephens on the West.

Mr. R. Bonner who is now on Pebble Island, and will be also teaching at Saunders, carries as part of his equipment a film-slide projector - one of the five gifted to the Colony by the Ministry of Information in London.

At a film-slide show at Port Stephens Cookhouse a week ago last Monday 43 people were present including visitors from Weddell Island.

Mr. Griff Evans is skipper of the Gentoo around Pebble Waters, during Mr. Lindenberg's absence on holiday.

The Pebble Dance and Holiday Week - which is featured in this issue, had one quite unusual point. The lady guests were conveyed to the Dance hall in Mr Jim Peck - Petts saloon motor car. Well done Pebble!

DANCE AT DOUGLAS STATION.

A most enjoyable two nights dance was held at Douglas Station on 5th and 6th July which was attended by quite a number of people. Visitors arrived from San Carlos, Port San Carlos, Teal Inlet, Hope Cottage, San Salvador, Rincon Grande, Horse Shoe Bay and Port Louis South. Music was supplied by the Douglas band and accordions. On both nights the dancing continued until early hours of the morning. As usual old Bill the chef was in his excellent stride. By Sunday and Monday visitors were leaving for home taking with them memories of a jolly good dance.

Dear Boys and Girls,

Here is an unusual story from the West. The drawings are by our good friend-Miss K.

Napier of West Point Island.

"Be Quick" is a drake, just an ordinary mallard drake. He is very old - STRANGE COMPANY at least 16 years old but possibly older.

A lady in Stanley owned "Be Quick" and his ducks. When she went to England for a holiday she sent her ducks to her sister at Roy Cove - so that they might have a holiday also! On her return she got "Be Quick" and the two ducks back to Stanley.

About eighteen months later the lady left the Falklands for good so she gave "Be Quick" and Co. to her sister at Roy Cove and there they stayed for a couple of years, until she also left the Falklands. Before going she gave these much-travelled ducks to Mrs Hansen on Carcass Island. Once when the two ducks were "set" old "Be Quick" was so lonely that he went away and joined a flock of Brent geese in the harbour! Several people turned out - one in a dingy to round the gentleman up and return him to his lady friends! Eventually the two ducks died so Mrs Hansen gave him to the writer on West Point Island - where he has been in residence over ten years!

He still looks as young and smart as ever, in fact many people think he is young because he is smaller and neater than the rest of the duck family! (K.N.)

Cheerio, until next week,

So good-bye; thank you again and may the Almighty God be with you and guide you in the years to come.

Recent Departures

Dr J.G. Gibbs

Among the passengers who sailed in the s.s. "Fitzroy" last Friday were Dr and Mrs Gibbs and their small son Douglas. The doctor is en route for England and New Zealand on leave after being in the Colony since 1942, where he has been in charge of the Agriculture Department.

Dr Gibbs has taken a keen interest in the various sides of his department's interests and has done a considerable amount of experimental work especially in Agriculture. He has given frequent broadcasts on behalf of his department over the air.

During part of the war years Dr Gibbs was in charge of A.R.F. work.

The Weekly News owes Dr Gibbs a debt of gratitude for his helpfulness on many matters in connection with the publication of the paper.

Major Robert Greenshields C.B.E.

Major Greenshields, who for many years during the War was A.D.C. to the Governor, sailed in the s.s. "Fitzroy" last Friday en route for England. Major Greenshields had been associated with Douglas Station for many years, where he was Manager of that well known east Falkland Island Station.

The Major has had a long association with the Falkland Islands Defence Force where he was Officer Commanding the Mounted Section.

For some time now the Major has been suffering through ill-health and was in hospital in Stanley until his departure. He now goes to (Contd. on page 14)

WEEK OF MIRTH, FUN AND ENTERTAINMENT ON PEBBLE ISLAND.

8.30 p.m. dancing commenced with the usual dances and also novelty dances. This was also carried on until the early hours of the morning.

Half past two on the following day Cock-fighting was in full swing in the Hall which had been the scene of the previous nights dance. This caused great laughter especially when Miss Phyllis Peck and Miss Pearl Clifton gave an excellent exhibition bout. Both contestants in this exhibition affair belonged to the Pebble section. The actual competition was won by Mr. Perring of Port Howard, in the case of the gents, and in the case of the ladies the winner was Mrs. A. May of Pebble. Dancing commenced at 8.30 p.m. and went on until 1.30 a.m.

On the Thursday a Social Afternoon commenced at 2.30 p.m. This was held in the Cook-house. The main interest was in the pinning of the tail on the donkey. This was won by Miss W. Manoga. Bagatelle, Snakes and Ladders, Ludo and numerous other card games were also on the programme and took their toll of winners and losers. Some of the audience gave a display of card tricks. Everybody returned to their houses or the houses of their hostesses at 6.15 p.m. for supper. Dancing again occupied the evening, and two o'clock in the morning saw people moving from the direction of the dance hall, some even discussing the weather. One gentleman decided that bed was the best place for him and a few others thought that they would help him carry out his wish - this was done with much vigour and even exhibitions of bedside physical jerks. At one stage the gentleman being helped to bed found it necessary to issue an urgent S.O.S. in the form of cries and shouts broken by laughter.

On the Friday and the Saturday dancing took place in the evening as usual. Much credit was due to the ladies who so kindly provided the light refreshments.

On the Sunday morning at 6 a.m. sadly but truly the day for returning home dawned. The people of Pebble felt very sorry that the holiday week was at an end but they decided to draw it out to the very last and so quite a

PORT STEPHENS: EAR SOUTH STATION OF THE WEST FALKLANDS HOLDS JULY WEEKS HOLIDAY.

By our special Southern Correspondent "Onlocker"

A very enjoyable week of dancing took place recently at Port Stephens. Dancing took place every night of the week until 2 o'clock in the morning. On the Saturday night Mr. Sprules gave a birthday party dance to celebrate the 72nd birthday of Mrs. Jack Halliday who had been out there on a visit from Stanley. This party commenced at nine o'clock and lasted until three the next morning. At about eleven o'clock some of the company disappeared to reappear in fancy dresses... among those dressed up could be recognised an Eastern Lady, a Ghost, a Fisherman, a Gentleman with a two coloured face, two niggers and a butcher.

All present sat down to a delightful tea which was much appreciated. Mr. Lang obliged the company by playing the accordion. Gramophone music was also used to provide the tunes for the people present to dance to. "For He's a jolly good fellow" - some substituting "she" for "he" and "Auld Land Syne" brought the proceedings to a close...after which we had "God Save the King".

Editorial

More than half of 1946 is gone, and soon thoughts will be turning to another busy season. In this Colony, in which we have our homes, we have a great deal to be thankful for, good gardens, ample peat, our work - all these are valuable assets.

Still as we think of our Colony as a whole and of its future, it seems to the writer anyway that much remains to be done and that the representation and active interest of the people in their own country is a primary needed reform.

There are many improvements which can be suggested, from communications to higher educational opportunity for all but in all suggestions, the well-being of the people who live in the country must surely be the first consideration of administration authority and until there is a satisfactory way of recording majority public opinion - until we have in the Colony that sign of democracy which is found all over the world - the vote, we cannot assess what the people think about any vital matters.

If on the other hand the vote is given us, in other words, if we have a voice in the ordering of our affairs, then things will be tragic indeed if we do not make the utmost use of such a privilege and right.

So let us press on for representation by election, and when the day dawns as it surely must, when representation becomes a fact in the Falkland Islands, then a man or a woman in Stanley or on the West Falkland, or for that matter on one of the smaller islands, will have a part to play in the shaping of their own destiny. (Contd. on page 2)

Every interest must be protected in a recognised manner - this can be done; other difficulties will be overcome, patience and understanding will be asked for, let us then even now practise for the future, by taking as great an interest as possible in our Colony's affairs.

W E D D I N G

A very pretty wedding took place at the Tabernacle, Stanley, last Thursday afternoon, when Mr James Lee of Manybranch, Port Howard was joined in marriage to Miss Joy McMullen.

The Rev.W.F.McWhan conducted the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her uncle Mr W. McMullen, made a charming picture in a dress of white georgette over satin. Her beautiful net veil and white rose head-dress was a gift from her sister. The bride carried a lovely bouquet of mixed flowers and fern arranged by Mrs W.E.Summers.

The bridal party consisted of Miss Edith McMullen (sister of the bride) Mrs W.E.Summers (cousin of the bride) who wore dresses of lupin blue georgette and carried white and pink posies, the Misses Winifred and Ileen Llanosa (nieces of the bridegroom) in salmon pink georgette, and Miss Marjorie Enestrom cousin of the bridegroom - also in blue georgette.

The three small bridesmaids carried dainty georgette bags trimmed with lace and all wore floral head-dress.

Mr Frederick Lee, cousin of the groom, carried out the duties of best man.

After the ceremony, a reception, and later a supper, was held at the home of Mr and Mrs F.Lee (Uncle and Aunt of the groom) at which the bride's mother and the bridegroom's father were also present. Many guests gathered to drink the health of the happy couple and to sample the lovely six tier wedding cake made by Mr J. F.Summers at the Woodbine Bakery.

Later in the evening a large company gathered to enjoy the wedding dance which took place in the Gymnasium at which Mr W.Cantlie capably carried out the duties of M.C.

A word of praise must be given to Mrs W.E.Summers who was responsible for the making of the bride's dress and also those of the bridesmaids.

We wish Mr and Mrs Lee, who will be making their home at Manybranch, Port Howard, on the West Falklands - "every happiness".

In this lesson the Son of God tells us that the blind cannot lead the blind. Let us remember how important it is for a blind man if someone with his eyesight can take his arm and help him across the street. In the way Jesus meant, he tells us that if we have our eyesight - if we know what is good, and pure, and worthy, then try to live that way; as true Christians we will be in a position to be helpful to others.

It is a source of encouragement to the minister of any Church to have goodly numbers present at the Church Services.

The New House of Commons: London.

The intimate and traditional style of debate will be preserved in the new building, which implies that some Members of Parliament will still be without seats in the event of a full House.

The reason is that whereas there are now 615 Members, original plans provided for only 437. The picturesque Houses of Parliament at Westminster were designed by Sir Charles Barry and cost £3,000,000, & finished 1860.

The first stage in the Mon-Star Hotel programme was reached last Thursday evening when the bar part was opened for the first time to the public. The tea-room will open later.

A party went down by lorry from Stanley on the opening night and on arrival found three customers in the room. The whole place was painted in a cheery cream colour and the lamp-light gave it an old-fashioned setting in keeping with its surroundings. Mr. George Martin the proprietor welcomed the visitors, drinks were served at the tables (soft drinks also can be had) and with the warm air from the peat-burning bogie stove making the room seem homely, the visiting party felt that the enterprise when completed will be an asset to the town.

"A free drink on the house" was a toast to Mr. Martin, and the unofficial opening proceedings were concluded with the singing of "For he's a jolly good fellow" to the chords from Mr. Martin's own accordion.

I questioned my informant on this article, who was one of those visitors: the opening night was pitch black - what did she think the place would be like on a lovely moonlight night? - her snappy answer is embodied in her pen-name

LOCAL BROADCAST CONCERT

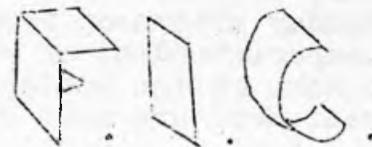

Mr Des Peck's local broadcast Concert was repeated last Tuesday evening. Our reporter was present at the "studio"-which was really the chief class-room in the Government school, Stanley. This room was kindly lent for the purpose.

I sat at a school desk-in the second back row. A youthful audience came in and sat around me: soon the Concert was "on the air". The microphone used was the same one as is used for broadcasting the Cathedral services. On the south side of the room was the piano at which fourteen years old David Earle played accompaniments so ably. The Concert party sat or stood around while number followed number. Mrs Shepperd and Mr Des Peck took in turn to announce. I noticed two of the lady artists busy knitting while waiting their turn-just as actresses sometimes do behind the scenes in a London theatre. Occasionally anxious queries-"Where do I come in?" were asked and Mrs Shepperd soon put minds at ease as she pointed out the all-important place on her programme sheet.

I liked the homely atmosphere and the enthusiasm of all. It was good to hear Fred Lee "in town tonight" from Port Howard, playing his piano-accordion. The general programme of the Broadcast followed much on the same lines as the one published recently in the "News".

I congratulate Mr. Peck on his organising this entertainment which gave so much pleasure to so many, Miss Ola Summers for her wonderful singing, the three girls who sang "Journey to a Star" Miss Ola Summers, Alva Pettersson, and Lorna Luxton - they were delightful, Mr. Ernest Summers for his singing of "Roamin in the Gloamin" (he might have passed for a Scotchman - I must see if he can say "Loch" properly!) - and the quartet who sang "Just a Prayer Away". This quartet consisted of B. Rumbolds, Ola Summers, J. Luxton, J. Thompson.

The individual items were all very enjoyable, and to me, at anyrate, everyone present did their best to make the Show a great success. I am sure that the many people all over the country who listened in, will agree with the writer who was present at the actual broadcast - "A good show: thank you all !"

RECENT BROADCAST BY SUPERINTENDENT OF EDUCATION

--Scholarship Information--

In a broadcast last Sunday afternoon from the Stanley Station, Mr H.L.Baker, Superintendent of Education had important comments to make on the Montevideo Scholarship plans for this year. Here are some extracts from the broadcast:-

GOVERNMENT SCHOLARSHIPS TO MONTEVIDEO, 1946

"Most of the conditions for the scholarships are the same as last year, but there are a few small differences.

The age limits for candidates have been slightly altered, so that the lowest age at which candidates may sit for the scholarships is now 13, instead of 12½. Candidates who have had more than two years' schooling in Stanley must be between the ages of thirteen and fifteen on 31st December of this year; candidates who have had less than two years' schooling in Stanley must be between the ages of thirteen and fifteen and a half on 31st. December.

Next year the age limits for Camp children will probably be altered again, so that they have to be between the ages of thirteen and fifteen, the same as Stanley children. This is partly because fifteen is a better age than fifteen and a half for children to go to Montevideo, but chiefly because having different age limits does not seem the best way of getting over the difficulty of varying educational opportunities. Some Camp children get as much schooling in the main exam. subjects (English and Arithmetic) as the Stanley children do - some get even more; the Camp children themselves do not all get equally good chances of schooling, so that in any case each child has to be considered separately; and what will happen is that the Selection Committee will consider the opportunities different children have had, and where it seems fair, they will add to the marks gained by children who have had poor opportunities of education. Because of this probable change in the ages next year, children who will be over fifteen at the end of next year had better sit this year, if they want to try for a scholarship, as next year they are likely to

SHEEP SHEARING. - By Joan Penney. Shearers!

In all mountainous parts of Britain - in Scotland, Wales, or the North of England - there comes a day in July when, with the first sunlight, a noise like the breaking of surf is carried on the wind down from the hills. Shearing-day has come, and down the mountain sides streams a tossing torrent of galloping woolly backs, as the sheep are brought to the fold.

Men from the farm will have been out since dawn, with their lean, shaggy, black-and-white collie dogs. While the men have tramped many miles, the dogs will have covered at least double, racing high upon the hillside rounding up every ewe, until finally the bleating, jostling flock was ready to be shepherded down the rough, stony track leading to the farm. In north-west Scotland there is a peak called Sullven where the sheep perch like mountain-goats on the steep, rocky ridge, and no man over twenty-five will go to collect them.

In Scotland the sheep are chiefly brought down to open, stone-walled pens on the lower slopes of the hills. But in Wales and the north of England they are often driven down to pens in the farmyard, which is handier for the farmer's wife - for shearing day is a busy day for her. Wherever it is, there will be long trestle tables set out, laden with home-baked bread and scones, farm butter and jam, porridge and soup, fruit-tarts and tea. And, in peace-time, there will be the cheeses for which the various districts are famous, cakes and pastries galore, and perhaps a ham or a huge round of beef.

For on shearing-day all the neighbours lend a hand, and shearing is hungry work. Farms for miles round will send men to help, when there is a big flock to be sheared.

Most farms wash their sheep a week or so before shearing, so as to rid the wool of dirt and grease. Then, on shearing day, with anxious glances at the sky unless the weather signs are "set fair" - for it is impossible to shear wet sheep, the blades of the shears stick to the wool - the sheep are brought down from the hills and the ewes penned away from their lambs. A flock of fourteen hundred sheep probably occupies several main pens, and from those they are driven into smaller sorting-pens, for feeding to the shearers. The tighter a sorting-pen is packed with sheep, the easier it is for a "carrier" to lay hold of an individual animal. Once he lays hold of it, probably clutching a horn with one hand while the other grabs a handful of wool on the rump, the animal is heaved along, kicking and struggling. A good shearer will clip a sheep in four or five minutes, so the carriers are kept busy.

Once in the hands of the shearer, the ewe is soon immobilized. Most shearers work seated, though some prefer to stand. Laying hold of the ewe, with a quick jerk she also is thrown into a sitting-position, her head held in the clutch of the shearer's elbow. Young ewes are easier to clip than old ones. Every year the wool rises from the sheep's skin about the month of July: it is preliminary to the natural sloughing of the fleece. On some sheep the wool rises late, and at shearing time is still clinging close to the skin, making clipping much more difficult. There is more rise in a young ewe's wool, and the shearer can clip her in great sweeps using the whole shears. With an old ewe only the points of the shears can be used on the shorter wool. In little snipping movements.

After clipping the short coarse wool of the ewe's belly, a shearer slips the points of his shears under the curly wool of her neck. Working to and fro along the ribs he peels off the wool on one side until it is white and naked. Then he turns the ewe over and clips the other side until the whole fleece tumbles off the rump on to the ground, held by a few strands only. These last threads snipped and the wool clipped off either side of the tail, the shearer calls for a marker and for his next sheep.

The mark of the farm stands out well on the white, close-clipped wool, whether it be done in pitch or in red paint. Perhaps some of the animals are stamped with a different mark, meaning that they are to be sold.

All through the day the work goes on, and up till nine o'clock at night. Respites are few. When the men

GARDENING NOTES - Mint

Mint should be lifted periodically for the purpose of root thinning and manuring of the bed. The plant generally indicates the necessity of thinning and nourishment, by the yellowish or mottled appearance of the foliage. On replanting, which may be undertaken from April onwards, until the end of August, plant the long string roots either singly or in clumps an inch deep, treading the soil firmly about them. There is no need to plant thickly, allow at least three or four inches between single lengths of roots or six inches between root clumps.

New Member of Executive Council

We extend our congratulations to another of the Weekly News' valued contributors - the Hon. A. R. Carr, Esq., on his appointment to the Executive Council.

Appreciation of Broadcast Concerts

Appreciation has been expressed by many for last Sunday's Broadcast Concerts arranged by Mr. Des. Peck. We give the Programme on Page 7 of this paper.

In the matter of these popular Concert Broadcasts, Mr. Peck has received a letter from the secretary of the Falkland Islands Labour Federation - Mr. M. Evans, in which he says:

I wish to express to you and your party the sincere appreciation of all our camp members (of the Federation) and their families on the West Falkland and that part of the East Falkland (The F.I.C. farms) of which I recently had the opportunity of visiting, for your most entertaining variety programmes.

These are looked forward to with great enthusiasm.

The demand for more local programmes is the cry of all those people who are cut off from the pleasures which we, here in Stanley, enjoy.

I have been asked to let you know that the people earnestly wish your programmes kept separate from the usual Sunday afternoon ones.

--- I can assure you that the question of a better broadcasting system is part of the basis of our report on camp conditions.

The policy of the "Federation" is better Social and Living Conditions for those people on the farms.

You and your Party are to be congratulated in your efforts and your co-operation. Keep the good work going.

ENGAGEMENT

The engagement is announced between Idg. Tel. C. B. Tew of the Wireless Station Stanley, and of Hounslow, Middlesex, England and Miss Joyce McLeod of Stanley.

Mr. A. Snell

Amongst departures in the last s.s. "Fitzroy" for Montevideo and the United Kingdom was Mr. Snell. Mr. Snell has been in the Colony since 1940 in the service of the Royal Navy (Civilian branch). During his stay in Stanley Mr. Snell made many friends. We hope that he has an enjoyable voyage home.

The F.I.D.F. Victory Parade Contingent are due back to the Colony on the return of the s.s. "Fitzroy" from Montevideo this time. The vessel is making the voyage back via Punta Arenas.

lay off for a meal, they seem to have no sooner swallowed their last mug of tea and lit a pipe or cigarette, when the farmer says: "Well?" and they all get up and with a few parting shots in the way of jokes and laughter at the women who have served the food, they clump back to work.

As the sun sinks behind the hills, the midges begin to bite, and the tireless chorus of bleats which has risen all day from the huddles flock becomes more plaintive.

At long last, the last sheep are in the sorting-pen, and then the last ewe is marked and released to join the jostling, tight-packed mass of the shorn flock, the close-clipped wool gleaming in the rippling ridges made by the shears. Then the lambs are turned out to join their mothers, and a couple of men with their dogs volunteer to drive the reunited flock as far as the gate in the stone wall which is the last boundary before the open hillside.

The greater part of this year's examination will be similar to last year's, with tests in English, Mathematics, and General Intelligence. There will however be one additional paper, to test General Knowledge. In considering the marks gained by each child in the General Knowledge test, special allowance will of course be made for their varying opportunities.

The examination will be held on Thursday, October 31st., at places to be announced later. Wherever possible, we will arrange for candidates to sit the examination in their home districts, but in some cases it may be necessary for them to travel to some other centre.

Names of candidates for the scholarship examination may be sent in to the Supt. of Education by mail, telephone, or telegram; they must reach him not later than September 1st. An entry form should also be filled in for each candidate and sent in by the first mail. Some copies of these entry forms have already been sent to various places in the Camp, and others will be sent out from Stanley in September to wherever they are needed.

The final selection of the scholarship winners will as usual be made by a Scholarship Selection Committee, consisting of members nominated and presided over by His Excellency the Acting Governor. In making its selection the Committee will take into consideration not only the results of the scholarship examination but also the candidates' scholastic records, their general ability, and their character. In this connection, candidates may be required to attend an interview in Stanley. A medical certificate of fitness will be necessary before any scholarship winner can proceed to the British School in Montevideo.

As last year, three Falkland Prizes of four guineas, three guineas, and two guineas respectively, will be awarded by the Scholarship Selection Committee to children who are either unsuccessful candidates for scholarships, or who win scholarships but do not accept the financial assistance offered by them. One at least of these Falkland Prizes will be given to a child from the Camp. (Any further information that is required about the Scholarships can be obtained from the Supt. of Education.)

FILM PROJECTORS FOR THE CAMP.

Last week's number of the "Weekly News" referred to five film-slide projectors that the Ministry of Information in England has given to the Colony. Sincere thanks are due to Mr. McWhan for this gift, for it was he who, as Information Officer, obtained the projectors.

One of these projectors has already been sent out to Pebble Island, and the others will soon be sent out to other places in the Camp. They will usually be in the charge of Camp teachers. After a projector has been in one place for a certain time, it will be moved on to another place when there is suitable opportunity of sending it by boat. Films will be provided from the combined stocks of the Education Department and the Information Officer. The projectors can be run on 6 volt accumulators; accumulators are not provided with the projectors and the loan of accumulators for the film-shows which will be of such value for Camp schooling, will be much appreciated.

Dear Boys and Girls,
Here is another rabbit story.

I suppose that you all remember the different stories about Robert Rabbit? Well this is a short story about Robert's sister, who is very much like Robert in many ways. She is a little younger than her brother and her name is Susan; the family call her "Sue" for short. It was Friday evening and Susan was in her room getting ready for the dance. She was feeling very happy, because Mrs. Rabbit had not only said that she could go to the dance that evening, but that she could put on her new frock as well. The time soon passed and it wasn't long before Susan was ready for the dance and looking lovely in her new frock. She wished everyone good-night, and away she went. Then something happened which upset Susan very much. She was turned away from the dance because she was under sixteen. Poor Susan walked home feeling very sorry for herself, and thinking that her new dress would be far too small for her when she was the right age. After arriving home and telling Mummy all about it, Mrs. Rabbit smiled and said she need not worry because the frock would still fit her when she was sixteen. Susan had quite forgotten that her birthday was only a month away - then she would be sixteen! In the meantime as a special favour Mother Rabbit allowed Sue to go to dancing lessons at Madame Bouffie's Rabbit Hole Teaching School - you can be sure that Sue will not only look pretty but will be a good dancer as well, at the next Annual Rabbit's Ball!

The Late Mrs William J. Alazia

We regret to record the death, which occurred in Stanley last Friday, after a period of indifferent health of Mrs William J. Alazia at the age of 68 years.

Mrs Alazia lived for many years in the Camp-the last place being at San Carlos on the East Falkland. Her kindly disposition and homely outlook won her many friends while resident in the Camp and also in the town where she and her husband (who survives her) have resided latterly.

Amongst Mrs Alazia's many outstanding qualities was that of an expert baker-her skill in the line of pastry making etc. being well-known.

We extend our sympathy to Mr Alazia and the family who are left to mourn their loss.

The funeral took place from the Tabernacle, last Monday afternoon.

GARDENING TIPS.

Those who value the lawn, whether it be large or just a small grass patch, should remember that grass requires attention during this season of the year. Most people appear to believe that a lawn only requires mowing during the growing season to keep it in good condition. Nothing could be further from the truth because grass is a gross feeder which quickly impoverishes the natural food elements in the soil. This deficiency must be restored if the lawn is to be maintained in a healthy, presentable condition, this can be accomplished by the application of artificial manures. Before applying such manure, it would be well to remove perennial weeds, especially dandelions, which are always in evidence. Coarse grasses and moss should also be eliminated. Moss is best removed by raking the area with a sharp-toothed rake.

ST DUNSTANS DANCE IN THE GYMNASIUM, STANLEY

Last Thursday evening a dance took place in the Gymnasium, Stanley. The Social Occasion was organised by the Band under the auspices of The Weekly News—proceeds being handed over to St Dunstans for its work amongst the war-blinded.

It was unfortunate that the weather was wintry, with quite a deep carpet of snow lying on the ground—this made the attendance smaller than might have been if the snow had stayed away.

Senior members of the Boys Brigade gave their services as door-keepers.

The music for the dance was provided by the Band, members of which also took it in turn to act as Master of Ceremonies. Mr J. Lellman and Mr Fred Lee (of Fort Howard) provided accordion music.

The dance itself was very enjoyable, going with a swing. The Gymnasium looked quite attractive with bunting overhead, and also coloured lighting, the latter being provided through the kindness of the Electrical and Telegraphs Department.

In the course of the dance, novelty numbers were introduced - Elimination dances, a Cinderella dance, a Card dance and a Twilight Waltz, the winners receiving small prizes. A present was also handed over to the oldest lady in the hall - this proved to be Mrs. Henricksen age 81. That grand old lady - Mrs. Hall, regular dance goer and dancer who was also present proved just to be a little behind the winner—in years.

As those present came away from the dance, I am sure that they felt as I did (Contd. on page 2)

yes, it was a fine dance - even though it meant a tramp through the snow to get to the scene of the dance.

As a result of the St. Dunstons Dance (at which ordinary admission charge was made) the sum of £7/2/0 has been handed over to the St. Dunstons Fund. The Weekly News wishes to thank Mr. James Watts, the Band and all who helped contribute to this total.

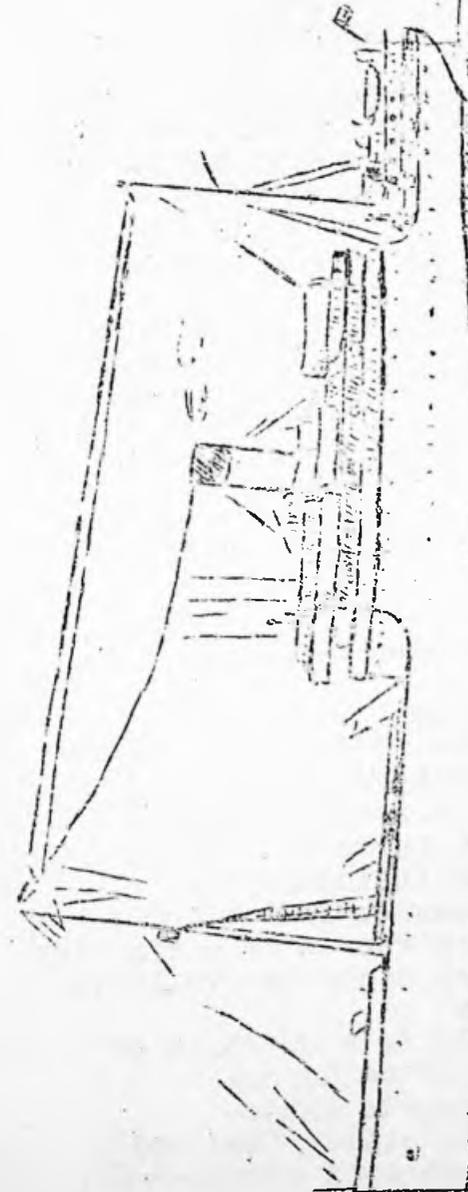

Camp Notes.

The Porvenir arrived at Peble the night of Tuesday 6th August and discharged her cargo left at 8.30 a.m. next morning for Hill Cove. The Gentoo arrived back from West Point 3.30 p.m. Wednesday the 7th bringing Mr. Barton. She was due to sail for Port Howard and Bonner's San Carlos on the 9th but owing to the snow sailing had to be postponed. It is without doubt one of the worst storms experienced on Peble for many years. In various places the snow drifts measured three to four feet deep. On her way to West Point the Peble boat met the Golden Fleece also bound for West Point but was becalmed so the Gentoo took her in tow. Gentoo on her return voyage passed so close to the Porvenir that they handed a letter from one ship to another without stopping.

South Georgia Article.

In connection with the last paragraph on page 13 of this weeks "News" we point out that ships do run from Britain and South America to South Georgia. The paragraph complains about the lack of regular direct ship communication between the Falklands and South Georgia - (Weekly News).

A Children's party for Sunday School scholars took place at the Tabernacle last Saturday afternoon.

LETTER TO EDITOR.

FALKLAND ISLANDS REFORM LEAGUE,
STANLEY,
10th August, 1946.

Dear Editor,

The Committee of the Reform League would be grateful if you would publish, for the information of the Public, the following extracts of a letter from the Colonial Secretary, in connection with the recent petition, re- the accommodation for "Chronics" which was laid before His Excellency the Governor on the 22nd May, 1946.

2. In the first place I am to make it quite clear that there is no question of the attitude of the Senior Medical Officer in regard to the accommodation of these cases in the Hospital, as long ago as November, 1945, Dr. Sladen recorded that in his opinion "some accommodation for such cases is a very real necessity, as also is the provision of extra nursing staff to look after them. The present staff could not look after the present three 'chronics' in an amicus as well as run the Hospital". This answered the question in your letter of the 6th March, 1946, four months before it was asked.

Our expression, "there is plenty of suitable material and skilled labour within the Colony to enable Government to build such a building"

Reply. This may be so. It is, however, a question of priority and finance, especially in connection with Colonial Development and Welfare assistance.

Our expression, "if there is money estimated for a new addition to the Hospital in which was to be a wing for these cases, surely the necessary money is available to build or purchase a building"

Reply. See paragraph 2 supra. It is a question of staff as well as of suitability of building.

The Senior Medical Officer reports that:-
"Admiralty Cottage accommodates - Sister (bed and sitting rooms), 3 Nurses, and a Nurses' common-room. The Lower back premises are equipped and used as a laundry. Rock Cottage accommodates - 3 maids, the fourth Nurse (Staff increased in February, 1946), Matron's sitting room, and a small storeroom!

In this connection, I am to repeat what I told you verbally, that the present difficulties in obtaining Staff would be increased, and efficiency affected adversely, if the amenities offered were reduced. There is no doubt that both patients and nurses were over-crowded when the latter live in the Hospital, and maids lived out. I need scarcely point out how unsatisfactory this is.

In conclusion, I am to suggest that the welcome influence of your League might be employed in the meanwhile in bringing public opinion to bear on the relatives of "chronics" to look after them in future if they can, and not to pass their domestic responsibilities on to the Medical Department.

(sgd) Colonial Secretary.

The League Committee would gladly welcome, from the public, recommendations, suggestions &c., (in writing) on this important matter.

M. Evans.
Secretary.

TRIP TO SOUTH GEORGIA

We took the opportunity recently of making a trip to South Georgia in mid winter. Despite the pessimistic predictions made by our friends about the terrible weather we should meet on passage, the voyage proved to be a quiet one, although the "Fitzroy" reacted very vigorously to a Southerly swell, which tended to make our cabin into a whirl of suitcases, apples and rattling glass from time to time. We saw no ice of any sort, while we were at sea, which made us feel that we had not our money's worth.

We sighted the mainland of South Georgia at about 4 p.m. (Stanley time) and had the wonderful privilege of Cumberland Bay by bright moonlight. The snow lay thick on the mountains and the moonlight gave them an added aspect of majesty. The unforgettable experience of coming alongside at Grytviken, a small isolated settlement of Britishers, which had not seen a Falkland Island ship for 15 months is set in the memory as a scene from some fantastic ballet back ~~and~~ to "The Snow Queen". The quiet waters, the silence, the bobbing figures, carrying lights, the peculiar reflecting whiteness of the ground, the tall thin masts of the W/T Station...all served to heighten the effect of unreality.

Our evening was spent with Major and Mrs. Fleuret, who were eager to learn the latest news of the Falkland Islands. We were more than surprised by the very comfortable warm quarters which the magistrate occupies, while a delicious supper prepared by Mrs. Fleuret, made us realise that the isolation of this remote island does not prevent a wife from being house-proud. On our return to the ship, we left the settlement to its mail, while we took our first really comfortable rest since leaving Darwin.

The weather was even kinder to us in the morning, for the mist rose slowly from the sea and mountains and left us with a view of Cumberland Bay, which must be seen to be believed. We made a short pilgrimage to the Shackleton Memorial, and saw the settlement by full daylight. The recent disastrous fire at Mr. Grierson's house had left the government quarters

Wedding in Goose Green

A very pretty wedding took place in Goose Green last Friday when Mr Ian Alexander McMillan of Goose Green was joined in marriage to Miss Sarah Maggie Rose Jaffray of Arrow Harbour. The ceremony was performed by Mr Karl Lellman, Registrar.

The bride, who was given away by her father - Mr Alex Jaffray, wore a dress of white silk with wreath and veil, and carried a bouquet. The bridesmaids were: - Mrs Borie Morrison (Aunt of the bride) and the Misses Mearon, Yvonne, and Dollie Jaffray (sisters of the bride). The bridesmaids wore dresses of blue silk with head-dress to match, and carried ornamental horse-shoes. Mr R. Morrison (Uncle of the bride) was best man.

The wedding was originally arranged to take place in the Hall at Goose Green but the weather proved too bad for the bridal party to leave the central room attached to the Cookhouse galley - so the ceremony took place there.

A reception was held after the ceremony - and visitors arrived in their most serviceable footwear for such snowy weather. A boat had made the trip, prior to the wedding day, to Walker Creek, to bring guests from there.

On the Friday and Saturday evenings dances were held in honour of the occasion, in Goose Green - the first night dancing continued until 4 a.m. and on the second night until 5:30 a.m. All present enjoyed themselves very much.

We wish the newly wedded couple every happiness. Mr and Mrs McMillan, we understand will be making their home in Goose Green.

Winter at Darwin

Snow in Darwin has been as high as the fences in the recent spell of winter weather. Children have indeed been able to walk over the top of the fences!

The small windwall hedge close to Goose Green, on the road from Darwin could not be seen for snow.

On the West Falklands. A Journey from Pebble Island to Port Howard to attend a Wedding.

By "Diary Keeper."

The wedding of Mr. Griff Evans to Miss Gladys Johnston was arranged to take place at Port Howard on Friday 24th May. On Wednesday the 22nd the morning dawned calm and dull. Everyone was up early; as the M.V. Gentoo was to start at 9 a.m. After breakfast the guests proceeded to carry their suit cases, and maletos down to the "Logger duck pier" as we call the heap of rocks used for a jetty when the tide is not suitable for the boats to come alongside the proper jetty. A few who were more eager to be in time had their luggage on board before breakfast! We all scrambled aboard the motor boat or life boat, and proceeded to the "Gentoo" which was anchored a short distance out. Reaching her we clambered on board. Luggage was passed up, and the life boat hoisted on board. The order was given to weigh the anchor, all was ready, and so the M.V. Gentoo set out on her voyage to the "Cap". The time was now 9.40 a.m. - we were to be on board for three hours. As we neared the gap between the Long Point and Purvis Rincon we saw a rider - George Glasosa who had a flag streaming out from a post stuck in the ground. We heard him shouting to us as we passed through and for our amusement he rounded up a large herd of seals and drove them in the water. He had his horse tied up to a post - it strongly objected to the noise of the engine, so George thought it better to get on the beast than to trust to the strength of the cable and have to walk some three or four miles home. By this time it was close to dinner time and the cook, Mrs. R. Berntsen, produced an excellent dinner which we enjoyed all being good sailors on this occasion as the weather was calm. The dishes were no problem to the cook for as the saying goes, "many hands make light work!" Dinner over, our destination was reached - a place in Port Purvis water called the "Quawk Rocks" a spot well known to some of the guests on board. What a fine sight we saw as we approached. The "Prairie Schooner" was awaiting us, (the Prairie Schooner is a large

NAVAL COMFORTS FUND

This time last year, at a tea party at Government House, the N.O.i/c, Commander Cobbold, appealed to the local branch of the Red Cross for their interest and help in improving the condition of the quarters of the personnel at the Naval Wireless Station.

A number of the Red Cross members were invited to inspect the quarters and, as a result of this, Mrs. Hamilton the Chairman started a Naval Comforts Fund. On 25th October 1945 the sum of $175. 17. 3. was paid over to the Base Supply Officer. In addition to this Mrs. G. Rowe gave $100., the Estate Louis Williams lent a billiards table, and Mrs. Hall gave the proceeds from her Birthday Dance to pay for a new cloth for the table.

Last Tuesday, 6th August, the Red Cross members were again invited to the Wireless Station to tea, in order that they might see for themselves what had been done.

The weather was wonderful and everyone thoroughly enjoyed the trip by lorry and car, in spite of the fact that some of us are not so young as we used to be.

It is said that the quarters are still a long way from being ideal for the of men likely to be stationed in Stanley, but a tremendous improvement has been made during the last year. The billiards room was much admired and we were told that the table is booked up each day from the first available half-hour till the last. The Canteen and messrooms all have really comfortable armchairs of the Club style. In one room there is an excellent type of open stove which was made by C.E.R.A. Parsons; we understand that there are to be more of these later, to replace the slow-combustion stoves in use at present in the Canteen etc.

When the inspection was over we sat down with our hosts to a sumptuous tea which had been cooked by the artist in the galley. Afterwards we drove home with the feeling in our hearts that the Naval Comforts Fund had been wisely used and that the results were appreciated.

Birth.

Reform League

A Meeting of the Reform League took place in the Gymnasium, Stanley, last Tuesday evening when routine business was transacted. Mr John Allan was in the Chair.

Local Shipping

The Paloma arrived in town last Saturday from Berkeley Sound, with Mr R. King of Johnsons Harbour as passenger. The vessel brought a cargo of grit to town.

The Porvenir arrived in Stanley from the West on Tuesday. There were no passengers on board. The last port of call before town was Hill Cove.

Winter Sport

During the recent spell of snow, quite a number of the young people have been enjoying sleighing. A few people were to be seen on skis - including one charming little girl who has spent some of her life in South Georgia. A number of people too have been skating on ponds on the Stanley Common. The wonderful moonlight nights of the last week have contributed to the enjoyment of our winter sports enthusiasts.

trailer drawn by a very powerful tractor) and a large diddle-de fire blazed its welcome! This vehicle was ably driven by Mr. F.W. Johnson of Port Howard. When all the passengers were off - leaving M.V. Gentoo deserted, the life-boat was made secure on the beach, and all loaded our luggage on board the "land ship" and climbed on board ourselves. The time was about 12.40 noon. The "Schooner" set off, the passengers either sat or stood and held on tightly to the rails, as the Camp was none too smooth and a land schooner can be more rough than one on the sea. As it "steamed along" it began to pitch and heave - at some places it seemed as if it was going to tip right over. In our driver's capable hands this was avoided. The track well known to some of the passengers was soon covered, and the sheep pass gates were reached
 - where a halt was called, and we all disembarked to stroll around and stretch our legs, and have a drink of water from the stream. The journey proceeded in much the same manner, the Camp was a little smoother so the going was better, and Port Howard was reached in good time, at 3.40 pm. some 17 guests arrived feeling a bit cold, but this was soon put right with a good hot cup of tea.
 The "Prairie Schooner" deposited close to the various houses of the Settlement, guests, where warm welcome was accorded all.

There was no dance that night so the evening was passed very pleasantly sitting round the fire yarning, gramophone music also helped to entertain - some of the records bringing back memories of long ago to some of us. When 10.15 p.m. came around it seemed as if we hadn't been any time sitting around. The coffee was soon on the way and at 11 p.m. most of us were proceeding to our rooms to bed. Morning came all too soon! After breakfast preparations were being made for transporting the goodies down to the cookhouse for the wedding day. The refreshment table was laid there. Mr. D. Pole-Evans the Manager, kindly lent his car for the purpose of transport and it was a curious sight to see a car loaded with a nice lot of

slightly disorganised, but this was overcome by all concerned, with goodwill and co-operation.

We left the settlement at Grytviken for the Salvorsen factory at Leith Harbour, and after a brief pleasant trip, came alongside by 1 p.m. Here we saw a new aspect of the whaling industry which is not usually given the publicity which the actual catching receives. 170 men were engaged in repair and maintenance on the many catchers which lay alongside for the winter season. The merry sound of rivetting and hammering, with the varying languages which could be heard, made the scene a very different one from that at Grytviken. We made a tour of inspection, and spent a long time watching 250 pigs in a very fine piggery, centrally heated, (with all modern conveniences). These animals are used as food throughout the winter and summer seasons, though some of their lives will undoubtedly have been lengthened by the arrival of 450 sheep in our ship.

After a quick trip to Grytviken in the evening, to collect what mail could be written in that ridiculously short space of time, we sailed out of the bay, once more in bright moonlight, turning aside very thin layers of young ice with our bow, and leaving the Grytviken and Leith Harbour people to go about their daily routine, uninterrupted for another unspecified period until the gods or whoever rules the destiny of shipping between the Falkland Islands and South Georgia should deign to visit this community which gathers so much revenue for the Falkland Islands and its Dependencies.

GARDENING NOTES.

Very fine mould has always been a favoured fertilizer for grass and it is to be recommended, for apart from its humus value, it also indicates a nitrogenous content as well. Basic slag, applied now, at the rate of three ounces per square yard is also recommended, but whatever the choice, lime (ground limestone) should be applied every third year during September, at the rate of four to six ounces per square yard.

While on the subject of lime, it may be well to describe the simple methods used to ascertain whether lime is necessary or not on cultivated soils. Such methods are not always accurate but they do indicate acidity. When taking a soil sample go over the plot and take several spadefuls of soil from widely separated points and then thoroughly mix the whole. Then place a small quantity in a bucket adding sufficient water to make a cream afterwards adding a little Hydrochloric acid or spirits of salts. If a fizzing or effervescence occurs, then lime is present. The more fizzing, the greater the lime content, but be careful not to interpret bubbles for effervescence. A test tube provides an even better indicator. Place the soil sample into the tube, adding the acid. If lime is present the tube becomes quite warm, depending upon the quantity of lime present, due to the vigorous chemical action. If there is no lime, there will be no reaction.

Local Notes.

Quite a few people including small boys are to be seen in town wearing battle dress suits which have been on sale in stores recently. This seems an ideal outfit for warmth in weather such as we have at this time of the year.

It is surprising how quickly sleighs make their appearance on Wang's Hill, Stanley as soon as snow permits!

LOCAL AFFAIRS PUBLIC RELATIONS COMMITTEE FORMED BY HIS EXCELLENCY. GREAT STEP FORWARD TOWARDS REPRESENTATION IN THE FALKLAND ISLANDS... AFTER ONE HUNDRED PLUS THIRTEEN YEARS WITHOUT REPRESENTATIVE REPRESENTATION.

An extremely important step forward in the matter of representing the opinion of the general public in matters of local interest was made the other day when nine members of the public received the following letter from the Colonial Secretary:-

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Stanley, Falkland Islands.
9th August, 1946.

Sir,

I am directed by the acting Governor to inform you that His Excellency desires to take early steps to implement the undertaking which he gave on the 26th of July, 1946, to keep the public informed of what was going on. To that end it is suggested that a body, representing all interests and sections of the public, should be formed in order to act as a Public Relations Committee, or Local Affairs Liaison Committee.

2. Invitations to co-operate by accepting membership of the proposed Committee are being sent to:-

- John Allan, Esq. (Reform League);
- Rev. R. G. R. Calvert (Church);
- M. E. Evans, Esq. (Federation and Camp);
- A. L. Hardy, Esq., B. E. M. (Business);
- W. J. Hutchinson, Esq. (Camp);
- W. J. McAtasney, Esq. (Chairman, Labour Federation);
- Rev. W. F. McWhan (Press);

PUBLIC RELATIONS COMMITTEE FORMED.

Hon. D.W. Roberts, O.B.E. (Farmers' Association);

W.H. Sedgwick, Esq. (Business); and I am to express the hope that you will find it possible to accept this invitation.

3. If such a body is formed, His Excellency would naturally prefer that it should make its own internal arrangements, but the following tentative suggestions as to possible lines of work are submitted to you for consideration:-

- it might
- (a) co-opt other members, including ladies;
 - (b) elect a Chairman, Vice-Chairman and Secretary;
 - (c) agree on a minimum number to form a quorum;
 - (d) hold meetings at times convenient for all, possibly in the evenings;
 - (e) invite the public to discuss important points with any of its members;
 - (f) meet at regular intervals to discuss matters to be raised to Government;
 - (g) meet the Acting Governor at regular intervals, and subject to (d), in order to bring the views of the public before His Excellency and to help to interpret the views of Government to the public.

4. Constructive suggestions and help would at all times be welcomed, more particularly in view of the inadequate representation of the public in any constitutional manner, which Government hopes to remedy as soon as possible.

I am,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,

L.W. Aldridge.

For Colonial Secretary.

EDITORIAL.

We understand that all nine people have accepted the invitation to stand on this Committee. Perhaps it is not too much to hope that, pending the realisation of constitutional reform to which reference is made in the last part of the letter, the Committee will act in some way as a kind of informal County Council.

(Contd. on page 3)

We remember that this is not the end - it is only the beginning. Representation of the people by men and women voted to the Councils of Government by the people of the Falkland Islands themselves is the goal.

In the interim period this is the greatest step forward taken in the history of the Colony.

The Weekly News points out that as far as the welfare of the Colony is concerned - with a form of public representation a sound consistent policy for progress in the future becomes possible. No longer should it be possible for a model farm to be started by one Governor and the idea immediately abandoned by his successor. Public opinion should save the Colony becoming bogged in short term ideas which are not even based on practical experience such as has been already gained by those resident here for a period of time.

The Weekly News hopes that this newly formed Committee will be given a fair chance by the people and so through its working on sound constructive lines, will not only play the part it is intended to play but that it will inspire confidence of both Government and people in the possibilities of true democracy in the Falkland Islands.

Extra ports of call for the s.s. "Fitzroy" this week (mail and passengers) - Port San Carlos, P. Howard, N. Arm.

On the West Falklands. A Journey from Pebble Island
to Port Howard to attend a Wedding.

By "Diary Keeper"

The long waited for Wedding Day dawned at last, and at the first glimpse of daylight many heads were thrust towards the windows to see what the weather was like. A very hard frost was the report. After breakfast, preparations for the great event were made; everybody had some little job to do. At 12 noon; sharp the bride's mother bid everyone "sit up and have a snack" so we sat up to nice cold salt beef and hot potatoes. After the meal dishes were soon washed and dried, so at 2.15 p.m. everyone was seen to be making their way up to the cookhouse where the wedding ceremony was to be held.

At 2.30 with everyone assembled in their places there were whispers of "where they come! One person said "Run! Whitty and get your accordion, and play the Wedding March!" this suggestion was carried out immediately, and just as the bridal party entered the cookhouse door,

Whitty struck up the first bars of the march. Whitty, by the way, is Freddy Lee of Port Howard. The bride looked charming marching in on her father's arm, with the groom and bridesmaids in close attendance. Miss Iris Johnson looked really lovely in a flowered satin dress with a lace head turban, while Mildred her sister, and Phyllis Peck, looked exceedingly smart in white organdie dresses over blue slips, with similar lace head turbans. The bride's dress was of beautiful white silk made by Mrs. F. Hansen of Port Howard who also made Iris' dress. Mrs. J. W. C. Peck made the dresses of Mildred and Phyllis. After the wedding ceremony conducted by Mr. Keith Luxton J.P. Manager of Chartres, and also the reception, the bridal party was asked to come round to the back of the cookhouse where the light was suitable for the cameras, quite a number of photographs were taken, but as it was so cold they couldn't pose properly. Photographing over, the bridal party climbed into the Manager's car and he drove them back up to the bride's home where a hot cup of tea soon warmed up the party. After tea the bride and groom went into the sitting room with the other guests where they received the congratulations of friends and relations who were

F.I.D.F. Contingent Reach Stanley from London, after Marching in Victory Parade.

By Observer.

The s.s. "Fitzroy" arrived in Stanley last Friday evening after completing the voyage from Montevideo via Punta Arenas.

There was considerable excitement in a number of homes in town that afternoon. "When would the steamer arrive?" "Yes she had passed Bull Point at such and such a time!" - were scraps of general conversation. Not only was a large company of passengers expected but also the lads, our lads who had made the long journey to London to take part in the Victory Parade of the 8th of June.

Five o'clock came and went. Darkness fell, and there was no moon to light up jetty or water. Shortly after six o'clock the Fitzroy with her lights twinkling appeared through the narrows. Arrangements had been made for the vessel to dock at the Public Jetty on this special occasion, instead of the usual East Jetty.

I watched the steamer approaching. I always admire the skill of the Captain birthing his ship in the jet black darkness of a night such as last Friday.

The "Fitzroy" was soon securely tied up, and the gangway placed in position. Down came our lads of the F.I.D.F. looking extremely fit in the light from the Fitzroy's Search Lamp. The contingent was formed up, and His Excellency the Governor, the Hon. A.B. Mathews, O.B.E. accompanied by Lieut. Col. J.A. Woodgate, O.B.E. - O.C. of the F.I.D.F. met the men at the beginning of the line was Mr. Ivor Jones, who had just returned after service in the Royal Air Force.

A large crowd of relatives and friends welcomed the lads and soon each was on his way home - to the Falkland Island Supper, the Falkland Islands Peat Fire, and the Falkland Islands welcome.

The Weekly News also welcomes the contingent home again after its journey across the world to represent this, our Colony, before His Majesty King George VI. at the 1946 Victory Parade.

Local Notes.

Mr. Owen McPhee one of the F.I.D.F. Victory Parade Contingent said a few words during the service at the F.I.D.F. FUNCTION.

A pleasing function took place in the Drill Hall last Tuesday evening when a Welcome Home was accorded to the Falkland Islands Defence Force Victory Parade Contingent.

The Drill Hall was tastefully decorated, and tables were arranged around the sides of the Hall. A large company was present including His Excellency the Governor accompanied by Mrs. Mathews and Miss A.M. Mathews.

After a period of music by the F.I.D.F. Band under S/Sgt Turner, and dancing to Radio-gram, Lieut. Colonel J.A. Woodgate O.B.E. Officer Commanding, made a few remarks in the course of which he welcomed the men back from England, and congratulated them on the way in which they had done all that was required of them. The Colonel stressed that the wonderful time the men received at the West Yorks Depot in York was by way of a return thanks for all the kindness and hospitality which the Colony had given the West Yorks when stationed here during the War.

Colonel Woodgate then introduced His Excellency who in a few well chosen words welcomed the contingent back again. The Acting Governor mentioned how while in Ghent in Belgium he had met the former Commanding Officer of the Garrison here, Colonel (now Brigadier) Hynes O.B.E. who had assured him that in his appointment to the Falklands, he was going to a delightful place. To this place, and to their homes, these men had returned. His Excellency was pleased to be able to say that Mrs. Mathews and he, after many years of service in the Colonial Service in Africa, had here in the Falklands also, and really for the first time - a home of their own.

Company Sergeant Major Shackel then handed over to His Excellency two volumes from Major M.A. Charles of the West Yorkshire Regiment, to be placed in the Public Library. Another volume was given to Col. Woodgate for the F.I.D.F.

Colonel Woodgate then proposed a toast to the West Yorkshire Regiment. This was done with zest.

The rest of the evening was spent in dancing to accordion music. One important feature was a demonstration by the Contingent of the Hokey Pokey dance. (Our correspondent asked two members of the Contingent how to spell this weird dance - but although expert at at the dance, the spelling of its title seemed a doubtful matter).

The evening was brought to an end with votes of thanks to all those responsible for the catering and the singing of Auld Lang Syne followed by the National Anthem. So ended a happy evening and a successful welcome home.

A thoughtful feature of the F.I.D.F. Social last Tuesday was the mention of the names by Col. Woodgate of Mr. Ivor Jones who has just returned from service in the R.A.F. and Mr. George Harrison who was the first Falkland Island Volunteer for war service overseas. He served in the Merchant Navy, once being torpedoed, and another time being on a mined ship.

Red Cross Tea Meeting.

The Red Cross held a successful Tea Meeting last Monday. Mrs. H. Cameron was the special guest. At this Meeting it was decided to hand the £6/10/0 referred to in Chaplain Hossie's letter (see page 15) to the St. Dunstar's Fund.

F.I.D.F. Rifle Association.

The Committee and members of the Defence Force Rifle Association extend their thanks to all who have so generously supported their sweepstake and wish all investors 'good luck' in the draw which takes place in the Drill Hall at 7.30 tonight.

Letter to the Editor.

Stanley,

20th Aug. 1946

Dear Sir,

May I take up a little of your valuable space to air my views on the following matter. With almost every voyage from Montevideo of our local steamer we now see returning to the islands many of our volunteers who have served in His Majesty's forces all over the World and who have proudly carried the flash "FALKLAND ISLANDS" as far afield as Iceland, Russia, Burma, India, Australia, Japan and China to mention only a few war theatres. To me it is a little disconcerting to see them arrive unrecognised; after all, they did have the courage to go and fight when nobody could foretell what new course the War would take.

Yours truly,
Kelper.

Birth.

At Cresswell Maternity Hospital, Dumfries, on the 21st May 1946 to Mr. and Mrs. W.G. McCall, Malvinas Lockerbie - a son, William John.

Notes on a Falkland Islands Lad's Service in the Merchant Navy.

Our correspondent writes:- Here is a brief article on Mr. Steve Bonner who during the years of the War served in the Merchant Navy, sailing over many seas, and having many varied experiences.

I heard that he was due in London in June, so I got in touch with his shipping firm and found that his ship was due at the Ratham Dock from her voyage from Newfoundland. I finally reached the dock and the ship after a bus journey. Steve didn't expect to have a visitor but he was pleased and I thought that he looked brown and fit. Quite a few scars show up on his face as a legacy from his D-Day trip across the Channel to France, and also from his trip to Murmansk in Russia.

On his journey on D-Day, across to France he met some of the West Yorkshire Regiment who had known and danced with his sisters in the Town Hall (now burned down) at Stanley.

Steve has been in many countries since D-Day. Among places he has been in are Singapore, Hong Kong, Calcutta, New York and lands as far apart as Germany, Australia, and New Zealand.

Steve has been "trooping" on the "Rena del Pacifico" and the "Alcantara". While in Calcutta he met Niven McGill, who may by this time be back on a visit to the Falklands. Steve sends his best wishes to his relatives in the Falklands and wishes them "Happy Days".

A Good Marksman

Surely an outstanding marksmen is to be found in the person of C.P.O.Harries who was known to all Falkland Islanders as "Mate". Mr Harries left the Falklands in 1928 when a boy-to join the Navy. He was at Bisley this year but so far have not heard how he fared. We have other results to hand to show that his skill as a marksman is of a very high class....at the Chatham Port Rifle Meeting at Sheerness in May C.P.O.Harries was a member of the team which captured the South Eastern Challenge Cup, the Scouts Cup, and the Revolver Tile Cup. In the Rifle XX out of a possible 400 the highest score returned was 329. Mr Harries is mentioned on the list with a score of 265.

C.P.O.Harries rounded off his achievements at the Chatham Meeting by winning the Instructor's Cup.

The Weekly News congratulates C.P.O.Harries on his many successes and wishes him success in the future.

Television Announcer

The vacancies in the Television Department of the B.B.C. were filled a short time ago when Miss Winifred Shutter and Mr McDonald Hobley were appointed as announcers. Mr Hobley was born in the Falkland Islands (where his father was Assistant Chaplain of Christ Church Cathedral.

We congratulate this Falkland Islander on his unique appointment.

On the West Falklands. A Journey from Pebble Island to Port Howard to attend a Wedding. (Contd. from P.4)

~~not present at the reception~~ held in the cookhouse. By the way after the cookhouse reception the rice was over an inch thick on the cookhouse floor. Two or three fellows thought the hens would like to help clean it up, so they brought in two lovely black leg-horns, but the birds didn't seem inclined to help!

The wedding evening passed quickly after the wsupper. The guests quickly doned their evening clothes and once more made for the Cookhouse, where the dance started at 8.30 p.m. and went with a good swing up till 2 a.m. The second night was even better than the first as a few more of our boys had arrived from Fox Bay bringing the mail and the rest of the bride's attire. Dancing continued until 3 a.m. when everyone agreed that they all had had a jolly good time. It seemed that the hill up to Mr. F. Johnson's house proved too steep for some of our party! At Pebble the settlement is close together with a car to drive about in!

The morning dawned too soon, this meant packing our suit cases and malatos ready for the journey homeward. A lovely hot breakfast was provided and when the party assembled at table, inquiries were being made "Where's Jim?" We all finished our meal, and still no Jim; the captain of the "Prairie Schooner" was getting anxious, as he wanted to "get cracking" in order to have daylight to come back in from the "Gap" We all bade good-bye to the bride's mother and the other guests who were present and boarded the trailer once more, but still no Jim; the bride and groom were on board too - all at once Jim appeared carrying a motor tyre up from the stables. Everyone shouted "hurry up Jim, we're waiting" as he tried to run with a large tyre. Mrs. F. Johnson said, "You can't wait for breakfast", so she gave him a nice hot steak and gravy and a big slice of bread, and a bottle of coffee, but he didn't seem hungry, only thirsty, so he grabbed the coffee and drank a big draught. While this was taking place the "Prairie Schooner" was well on her way along the track. We reached Manybranch house at 11 a.m. where tea was again our greatly accepted refreshment. After a ramble round the old homestead the "Prairie Schooner" proceeded on her journey through the Gap to the Quark Rocks! One guest preferred a horse (Contd. on page 16)

Inspection by His Excellency Sir Allan Cardinall of F.I.D.F. Victory Parade Detachment in Montevideo

On Friday 2nd August His Excellency Sir Allan Cardinall inspected the twelve members of the F.I.D.F. Victory Detachment, at Pargue Hotel, Montevideo.

The men lined up in the Hall of the hotel and were inspected and spoken to individually by Sir Allan. The entire party then proceeded to the bar where refreshments were served and the experiences of the journey and parade discussed.

One member remembering a little Spanish learnedly inquired if His Excellency "quiere sit down".

The entire detachment were unanimous in opinion that they had thoroughly enjoyed the two hours spent in the company of His Excellency.

The party finished with the taking of a group photograph including His Excellency, on the steps of the hotel.

Public Relations Committee Meets

The recently formed Public Relations Committee met last Saturday afternoon at Government House where after being entertained to tea by His Excellency the Acting Governor, an informal meeting took place.

Last Monday night the Committee again met in the Conference Room at the Secretariat. The Rev. W. P. McWhan was appointed Chairman and for the present is acting in the capacity of Secretary. It was decided to hold meetings fortnightly. After discussion on the subject of the proposed repairs at Government House a resolution on the subject was carried and will be forwarded to the Government.

to the Schooner and was quickly provided with one. The horse proved to travel quicker than a tractor, as this person arrived at the "Quawk Rocks" with a guide a good $\frac{1}{2}$ of an hour before us and was able to get a good middle-dee fire going, in order to warm the rest of the party when they arrived. One horse seemed greatly put out with the approach of the "Prairie Schooner" and meant to bolt off but a good capable hand soon showed him this couldn't be done, so he found himself lying on the ground instead! The poor cold occupants of the "Prairie Schooner" soon climbed out and warmed themselves round the big blazing fire.

GARDENING TIPS. (Contd.)

Another simple test, is to observe the reaction of soil to litmus paper. If a sample of soil is placed between two small sheets of this paper and causes it to turn blue, lime is present. Red indicates the acid stage and an intermediate colour marks the state bordering on neutral.

One of the major reasons for not receiving a satisfactory crop from comparatively poor soils or because of unfavourable manurial treatment, is that considerable energy is consumed in working root formation. A plant's roots are capable of covering incredible areas of soil in search of food. The less plant food afforded in any particular soil, the more extensive the root system. If the soil has not been provided with plant foods for some time the roots of a plant must search all over the place for what they can find. Moreover, if manure has not been placed within easy access of the roots, they must endeavour to reach up or down, to secure it and the results are always the same. Unnecessary root energy means retardation of the development of the stems and leaves. One can't burn the candle at both ends!

LOCALLY KNOWN SHIP'S RECORD APPEARS IN BRITISH NEWS PAPER.

The following is quoted from the Sunday Chronicle 16th June 1946, concerning the s.s. "Philomel". This ship was based at Stanley for some time during the War.

"Luckiest ship afloat" is what they call the General Steam Navigation Co's 2,122-ton s.s. Philomel.

When she tied up in London's Millwall Dock two days ago she had been away from England for seven and a half years, had sailed 53,453 miles carrying 3,000 tons of high explosive, and been in every theatre of war from the Mediterranean to the Falklands.

Yet, to quote her skipper, "nothing ever happened to her!"

She never saw an enemy submarine, never saw a sinking, never spotted an enemy air-craft, never heard a shot fired.

Tighten-stone, 43-year-old Reginald James Coleman, skipper of the ship which was away from Britain longer than any other which served in the war, told me the Philomel's story as we sat in his cabin half an hour after she tied up.

Puffing at one of his 60-a-day cigarettes, he said: "You can truthfully say nothing ever happened to us.

"If it had we probably would have not been here to tell the tale. Three thousand tons of ammunition goes up with a bang.

Cat Was Their Mascot. "And that," he said, pointing to Minnie, the ship's cat, which dozed on the rug before him, "is our lucky mascot.

The Late William D. Pauloni.

We regret to report the death, in the P.T.M. Hospital Stanley, last Saturday of William Pauloni age 66 years.

Mr. Pauloni had been in indifferent health for some time. Until recently he had been employed as Caretaker at the Government School. He is survived by his wife, two sons and two daughters. We extend our sympathy to them.

The funeral took place from St. Mary's Church last Monday afternoon, the Rev. Fr. Drumh officiating.

"Nothing ever happens when Minnie is aboard and she has been with us all the time."

Skipper Coleman is the only one of the three officers who left London in the Philomel in January, 1939, to be still with her.

And he, like the others, went away a bachelor and comes back married.

The other veterans of the Philomel are: Chief Engineer Harrie Spearpoint, aged 33, and Chief Radio Officer Philip Doughty, aged 37.

All three are London men. All found their brides in South Africa.

On the West Falklands. A Journey from Pebble Island to Port Howard to attend a Wedding. (Contd. from last week)

The crew of the M.V. Gentoo made off to where the small boat was pulled up on the beach and got her launched and came round to the Quawk Rocks, collected all the luggage, the engineer and the cook, and pulled off to the Gentoo, then the boat came back and picked up the rest of the passengers. It was a very happy but sleepy crowd who all came aboard her, and we were telling each other, "we won't need any rocking tonight when we get home!" Alas the M.V. Gentoo thought she hadn't had quite a long enough holiday, and refused to start, it seemed in the excitement of getting over to Port Howard that no extra fuel had been put aboard, so after the poor tired engineer and another willing assistant worked for at least 2 1/2 hours the boat still refused to start. As luck had it Captain Griff vans remembered that there was a can of the fuel oil up at Purvis House - so a crew of five strong men were told to go in the life boat to Purvis. "My word!" we heard one big fellow say, "I didn't bargain for this lot, I reckon it's pretty tough on us after having such a ripping time, and now feeling so sleepy!" Eventually the life-boat put off. The time was about 4.30 p.m. and they said they would reach George's house at 6.30. So we poor tired ladies and a few more men and boys were left on the ship and when we finished a sausage supper, which was cooked - not (Contd. on page 14)

LOCAL NOTES.

A dance took place last Friday evening in the Gymnasium, Stanley - organised by Mr. D. Peck.

The B.B.'s paraded to the Tabernacle last Sunday morning. Captain Sheppard who is shortly going on leave, addressed the Congregation during the service.

We have had quite a snowy week in the Colony. The children have enjoyed the sleighing.

Among those who are leaving the Colony this time are Commander and Mrs. Cobbold and family. Commander Cobbold has been Naval Officer in Charge in the Colony since early in 1945. We understand that the Commander is returning to South Africa.

Miss Carey I.S.O. Colonial Postmaster is going on leave to England.

FALKLAND ISLANDS LABOUR FEDERATION.Tour of East Falkland Island.

After completing the tour of the West Falklands we were collected at Port Howard by the "Black Swan" by kind permission of the F.I.Co.Ltd., on the 29th June, and arrived at Brenton Loch about 1 p.m. where a lorry under the capable hands of C. Finlayson conveyed us to Goose Green. After consultation with Mr. R. Finlayson, the overseer, we decided to leave for North Arm on the 1st July where all arrangements were made to let all outside men know of the visit.

On Monday the 1st, in drizzly rain, we with our guide arrived at the Sound the home of Mr & Mrs. McLeod, where after the arrival of Mr. McCarthy we settled down to a grand lunch. At 3.20 p.m. we made North Arm in company with Mr. McCarthy and Mr. McLeod. We were made most welcome by Mr. McCarthy, the overseer, incidentally, Mr. McCarthy has worked a great number of years here.

At 6.30 p.m. the meeting was held in the Cookhouse and every man on the station was present except the storekeeper. This was a very pleasant meeting, and the largest we had to deal with. Many useful statements were made, all present were not afraid to air their views on conditions, social and otherwise. After some 5 hours the meeting ended and all made their way for a well earned rest.

During Tuesday morning we visited the shearing sheds and all married quarters, where the women folk gave free expression to their views.

After lunch in company with Mr. McCarthy, who came a short way with us, we made for the Sound so that the run into Walker Creek the following day would not be so far.

After spending a grand evening with Mr & Mrs. McLeod we retired to bed, ready for next morning. At 8.15 a.m. we were on our way for the Trap where the guide from Walker Creek was to pick us up. On arrival we realised that Mac was in Stanley. We left the Trap at 10.30 a.m. with our guide J. Jaffray and arrived at Miles Creek at 11.35 a.m. Tea was prepared and after a stay of 1 hr. we left for our destination where we arrived at 1.30 p.m.

FALKLAND ISLANDS LABOUR FEDERATION.

We held a very interesting meeting during the afternoon and part of the evening. For so few it is surprising what can be talked of. After a very pleasant evening answering questions and talking of old times we retired to bed.

The people of Walker Creek made us most welcome and we feel sorry for them, they appear to be so isolated. What a feeling of great joy it must be to them when they do get visitors, for instance a boat.

Next morning at 11.55 a.m. the "Speedwell" collected us for Goose Green and at 2.05 p.m. we landed.

On the 4th July we held the meeting at Darwin at which 34 were present, there were a few who could have been present but for reasons best known to themselves they were not there. The meeting went off fairly well but for such a large gathering very few questions were asked. A lot can be said to account for this, there had already been representatives here.

Many useful points were raised before and after the meeting.

We felt that it was a great pity that there were no Managers at Darwin, Walker Creek or North Arm. It would have been unfair to question the Overseers on any matters connected with these Stations, and these can be left over until their return from leave, or put to the Sheep Owners Association.

We left Darwin at 10 a.m. on the 5th July, arrived at Swan Inlet at 12.45, had lunch with Mr & Mrs. Clausen and after an hour's stay we arrived at Mount Pleasant at 2.45, remained an hour and arrived at Fitzroy at 5.30 p.m.

The weather was not so pleasant but in spite of this the going was good.

As we rode along the track we felt that it must be impossible for anyone to get lost, the motor track takes you all the way to Fitzroy, but we shouldn't like to travel by motor this time of the year.

We do agree with all the people out on these Stations that it is possible for a road to be made to connect Stanley with Brenton Loch. What a God send to a large number of people in the Camp, both East and West if

Dear Boys and Girls,

Here is another rabbit story.

It is called "The Rabbit Party!"

What excitement! The Rabbits were going to have a party! It was going to be a grand party and the Duchess of Datsommore had announced her intention of being present. Some days beforehand the choicest salads had been picked, and oh how dainty they looked on the cabbage-leaf plates.

It was the day of the party! Someone had sighted Her Grace. There was a shrill squeal and quickly all the rabbit fathers, mothers, brothers and sisters scurried to their holes. The males had just time to put the last touch of wax on their moustaches and the ladies - a dab of flour on their tails.

The Duchess alighted from her carriage. She was smartly dressed in black and on her chest proudly rested a set of amber beads. She rubbed noses with her hostess and asked to be allowed to take tea in her burrow as she found it always rather difficult to get up at an alarm of say the approach of a horrid dog, when seated on the ground. Her hostess agreed and apologised for not having offered her this privilege herself.

Down in the rabbit hole the members of the Rabbit Brigade who had volunteered to pass the dishes. This band of helpers filed past the Duchess, not once, but again and again. Her hostess was perfectly charming, smiled and encouraged Her Grace to "have some more!"

You can imagine the consternation of all the other rabbits when they saw the plates gradually but surely emptying. More and more food had to be brought from the main party table on the ground above.

After the party tea, when Her Grace rose to leave, the catastrophe happened. She was by this time so stout that she could not get out of the burrow passage. So Her Grace had to sit down again while all the rabbits helped widen the burrow entrance. What a Duchess!

Cheerio until next week,

Uncle Jim.

without some shouts of help for the engineer to come to the rescue as quickly as he could. One of the sausage tins had boiled over and the grease caught on fire and blazed up at a terrific rate. However we settled down for the night. After a few remarks about our beds, the poor bride and another lady thought they would be more comfortable on the floor, so proceeded to make a bed with a grassmattress and a few coats and 3 or 4 blankets; a good laugh was caused when the husband of the lady came down and saw what position the head of the bed was in - it was thrust as close to the little stove as possible, and he asked if she wanted to cook her brains: after a few strong protests the bed was shifted. During the early hours of morning we were aroused by a few shivering remarks, "By jove I'm cold!" so we had to throw out a few more blankets from our bunks and got settled down again. Daylight dawned at last, and I can say we needed no second telling to get up. At 9.30 a.m. the life-boat was seen coming back, and after about an hour and a half, working on the engine with the supply of fuel oil, she decided to start. We reached home about 3 p.m. where we were greeted on the bank at "Digger Duck" pier by a few of the ladies who stayed home, a few handfuls of rice were thrown at the bride. We were home again!

Funerals

One of the improvements in connection with these sad but necessary happenings - funerals, is the use of a lorry as a horse, instead of the hand-pulled bier. In two cases recently, lorries have been used for this purpose. It is to be hoped that this will become a regular practice.

Air Mail Facilities. The Post Office has recently notified the public that Air Mail for conveyance to Great Britain via South American Airways will be accepted up to a maximum weight of 2 kilos per packet.

The film reel of the Victory Parade which has been shown at the local Cinema recently, is of great interest.

such did happen, and why shouldn't it? There is no shortage of material, the track is almost ready to receive its finishing touch.

During the evening we held the meeting in the Cockhouse, at Fitzroy, this was an informal one, but the usual procedure was followed. The whole tour of the West Falkland Island and that part which had been completed on the East was discussed. These men at Fitzroy are an enthusiastic crowd of members and deserve great praise for the interest which they take in the well-being of the Federation.

Next morning we left for Stanley, in wet sleety snow with our guide Mr. Stewart, but weather did not hamper us, we were homeward bound after six weeks away.

The track between Fitzroy and Stanley, at this time of the year is nothing more than filthy, it requires a good guide to prevent you from losing a horse. We do pity those poor beasts at this time of the year.

On arrival at Pony's Pass we left our horses to our guide and mounted Hutchies four wheel one, but as Hutch said "it will take you as long on this one as it would on the others" and we believe him, little did I think that this was the one we use to drive along at the rate of about 15 miles an hour a few years ago.

The results of this tour to the F.I.Co.Farms on the East Falklands was as successful as the West Falklands, many members were enrolled, all that could possibly be done for us was done. Our reports from these Farms may vary slightly from that of the West.

We would like to offer to all those who assisted and made our stay so welcome, especially Mr. Finlayson, Mr. McCarthy, Mrs. Barrido, Mrs. Cartmell and Mrs. Morrison, our very grateful thanks.

The North Camp Tour will appear in a later issue.

GARDENING NOTES.

Colour harmony should always receive consideration if floral displays are to be staged with best results. Colour clashes can ruin the whole effect of a flower bed or border and if one is to avoid this, it will be necessary to study the colours of plants to be planted or sown beforehand. Shades which create discords are, red and purple, orange and pink, pink and red. Pink and blue, red and blue, pink and white, orange and blue harmonise well. Yellow will go with any colour, but when in doubt as to whether two colours are going to harmonise, place white between them.

Honour the men who heard the call,
Honour the men who had to fall,
Honour those heroes, all, who bled;
That you and I could sleep in bed.

Honour those men who crossed the seas,
Unknown to them their destinies,
(Daring the "U" boats; do their worst)
To see the Nazi bubble burst.

Honour those men colonials, all
Who took their chance to stand or fall
And now lie numbered with the slain
That we, who live should free remain.

The above poem was handed into our Office recently. We gladly publish it. We feel that all honour is due to those who left the shores of the Colonies-including our own to face the Unknown during the years of the epic struggle against Evil. WESTER'S RETURN.

After a very pleasant holiday in Stanley I booked my passage on the s.s. "Fitzroy" - which I nearly missed by paying a final visit to the cinema! We left Stanley at 11 p.m. and went straight to Pebble Island arriving there round about 10 a.m. next morning. We had a most enjoyable day there, not going on board again until quite late that evening. Next morning we arrived at San Carlos for breakfast and had a very pleasant day there, which ended too soon in having to return to the ship again. However while we were going around to Port San Carlos we listened to "London Bridge"

Some of the people went ashore at Port San Carlos but I did not as it was raining and dark.

We arrived at Port Howard next morning and I left the ship there as there were horses for me to ride. I had two delightful days there.

My guide and I - left Port Howard after breakfast driving four horses and got to the "Warro" (a shepherds house) in time for a very acceptable "smoko". Then we set out once more, mostly at a steady trot, though the camp was rather wet in a few places for the West. Half way, at the "House Rock" we changed horses, we caught two of the horses and let the two we were riding go. It was a lovely winter day calm and sunny with some snow still lying on the mountains. So calm in fact that the mountains were reflected in the ponds as we rode by. We eventually arrived at Hill Cove about 3 p.m. having made quite good time for winter. I had a very nice time at Hill Cove and the next day came all too soon. I set out once more, - this time for Roy Cove. I was driving four of the Roy Cove horses and leading one with my mallets on. A man from Hill Cove helped me to the top of the mountain with the horses as two wanted to break away all the time. After that I was on my own and as the horses were keen to go home I had a lovely ride on fine hard camp once more.

I reached Roy Cove in about two hours, just in time for lunch. That was on Tuesday, and I intended to go down to West Point on Saturday. However Saturday dawned snowing and blowing so I had to send a wireless message

THEN - A Contrast To NOW.

Taking the first part of our title, I chose as my informant a man who had many a time glided over the floor of the old Assembly Room floor away back at the beginning of the century.

"There were not so many dances in Stanley in those days as now and the one outstanding dance time was the month of May. About the 23rd or the 24th the May Ball took place. What a time that was! People would ride for hours on end, in quite unfavourable weather, to be present in town on this outstanding week.

The dances took place in the Assembly Hall, which was situated close to where the Senior Medical Officer now resides and ran north and south. This hall was destroyed by fire in 1910.

Tickets for the nights cost 6/- for members of the Stanley Benefit Club and 10/6 for none members - you see the Benefit Club organised and ran the dances. Tickets enabled a gentleman to take two ladies to the Ball.

As far as I can remember the May Ball was the outstanding Social Occasion. Interest decreased after the 1914 - 18 Great War, owing I think to the fact that Social dances were being held frequently during the year, by that time.

I wonder if you can picture the proceedings and excitement of the real old May Ball? Everyone had to walk there, along muddy roads, faintly lit up by paraffin lamps on top of the old lamp standards. Yes, there was, as Robert Louis Stevenson called him, a "leerie" in Stanley in those days, going along lighting up his lamps in the streets at dusk and putting the lamps out in the mornings. Ladies en route to the dance wore fastened triangles on their heads, something like the squares worn by the young ladies of today.

The Assembly Hall was in floor space, perhaps a little larger than the present Gymnasium. It was owned by a group of share-holders and was used for roller-skating sessions as well as for dances. Usually at May Ball time a third dance took place, after the childrens party had ended at 8 p.m. a dance paid for by subscribers including Camp visitors.

The Hall was illuminated with large paraffin lamps. Cloak-rooms were attached to the Hall, which was of course decorated tastefully with flags and bunting. A stage stood on the south end. On the north end, stood the piano which supplied the music for dancing practically all night long. Occasionally this music was supplemented by violin, and in the years before the Hall was destroyed other instruments would also help add their quota to the music. The dancing space was wider and larger than in the present Gymnasium.

The dances commenced at 9 p.m. and practically everyone was there at the time of starting, or very shortly afterwards. On the first night dancing continued until 3 in the morning. A similar dance took place the following night. In latter years the dances ended earlier - but I'm talking about the 'good old days'!

Various people were Masters of Ceremonies - such as Mr. J. F. Summers and the late Mr. Ted Bennett. The club members wore sa hes until 12 o'clock and the Committee wore rosettes.

The dances included Waltz, Schottische, Barn Dance, Circassion Circle, Quadrills, Lancers, Eightsome Reel,

FALKLAND ISLANDS LABOUR FEDERATION.

TOUR OF EAST FALKLAND ISLAND. (NORTH CAMP)

Representatives, Messrs G. Hansen & E.G. Biggs.

The "Fitzroy" landed us at San Carlos, on the 19th July, where we were met by the Manager Mr. Bonner, who had made all arrangements for our visit.

The meeting was held in the Cookhouse on the 20th, and many useful opinions were expressed. On our behalf a dance was organised and this went with a good swing until the early hours of next morning.

During our visit we were greatly impressed by the schoolroom, it is well lighted and heated and is situated in the Manager's house.

The usual elementary subjects are taught. The children appear to be good, neat writers, and are very neat and tidy in their work. Much credit is due to Mrs. Bonner who is their teacher.

The Manager has agreed to the following as soon as materials etc. are available: drainage, interior decorations to houses, and a better water supply, a recreation room apart from the main living room in the cookhouse. The latter is in our opinion a badly needed necessity on all farms.

Generally speaking the people of San Carlos appear to be quite contented in their homes.

It was with a feeling of regret that the time of our departure had arrived and we bid good-bye to these very kind and hospitable people.

After a two hour ride followed by a short boat trip we arrived at Port San Carlos. The meeting was held during the evening and the same procedure followed, as had been done throughout the whole tour of the Falklands, the men gave free expression to their feelings.

There are five houses in the settlement, all, except one, lack wash-house or peat-shed, each one has its own spring, water supply.

After a day's delay, owing to heavy rains and bother of getting horses off an island, we left for Douglas Station. The trip to Douglas was uneventful except when we came to some bad ditches, the worst to our idea being Alma ditch, and Rat Castle. We believe that these could be easily bridged.

We arrived at Douglas after a 3 hour ride.

During the meeting, the same evening, many suggestions were made, among them being: telephone to outside houses, a general overhaul of shepherds houses, these being in a very bad state, a garden for the use of the cookhouse and maintained by the farm, and a new killing house. At present this is done in the open.

The settlement at Douglas is very clean. It had 5 houses. The fences require a lot of repairs etc., and this is badly needed. The only decent wooden fence we did see, was around the cemetery.

No praise is too high for the good fellowship and kindness bestowed on us during our stay at Douglas. We left at 10 a.m. had dinner at Limpet Creek, the home of Mr. Flourbet, (Duck) and arrived at Salvador about 3 p.m. on Saturday the 28th July.

Salvador settlement consists of 4 houses, a store, Cookhouse and school.

The Manager's house is a nice one, well laid out with a nice lawn and box hedge, a fine green house where Mrs. Pitaluga grows tomatoes, logan berries, and cucumbers.

The school is well done up, built in a part of a Nissen Hut, covered with tom-teak on the walls and floors. It has four desks and seats built on to the wall, a small stove supplies the heat and two big windows facing west supply the light.

During our stay at Salvador a dance was held at which visitors from Rincon Grande, Peal Inlet and Douglas Station attended. This went with a real good swing at which old and young danced to the early hours of the morning.

On Monday morning we left by the motor boat to pay a brief visit to Rincon Grande. This trip takes about an hour.

At Rincon Grande there is only one house, the residence of the Pitaluga family, and a cookhouse, which appeared to be very cosy and comfortable and in good order. There are only three men including the cook on this small farm and strange to say a lady does a shepherds job, she is Miss D. Pitaluga who tends her own flock of hoggets ----- Perhaps some day, more ladies will be undertaken a job like this and tending their own flocks. -----

TO BE CONTINUED NEXT WEEK.

LETTER TO EDITOR.

Stanley,
 August 29th 1946

Dear Sir,

While reading your paper dated Aug. 15th 1946 I find a writer asking what we think about moving all our holidays to summer months for the purpose of peat cutting.

Well a holiday is a day or period of rest from work, or of recreation and not a day or period given for the purpose of doing work. So I think we should leave our holidays as they are.

Judging from what little experience I have had at peat cutting, I think everyone should be able to manage under the present circumstances, unless medically unfit or becoming aged.

Local Notes.

We extend our congratulations to Mr. Norman McLeod of Stanley who was 89 years of age last Sunday.

An enjoyable dance organised by Mr. Des. Peck took place in the Gymnasium on Tuesday evening.

We understand that after the Church Service and news in next Sunday afternoon's Broadcast Programme, a short play will be given "over the air".

Acknowledgment: The Union Jack on the front page of this paper was drawn by Miss M. Johnson.

A Meeting of the Public Relations Committee is due to take place in the Conference Room, Secretariat, at 6 p.m. on Monday night.

NOTICE.IMPORTATION OF LIVESTOCK FROM SOUTH AMERICA.

(Repeal of Proclamation No.5 of 1944)

A prohibition on the importation into the Falkland Islands of sheep, cattle or swine from those parts of South America that lie to the north of the northern boundaries of the Chilean Province of Magellanes and the Argentine Province of Santa Cruz was proclaimed in Proclamation No.3 of 1944.

Now, in view of further information received, it is deemed expedient to repeal the above Proclamation as from the 29th August 1946.

Parcel Sent Without Permit.

At the local Police Court the case was heard recently before J.D.Creamer Esq. J.P. and E.Bennett Esq.J.P. in which a Stanley woman was charged with sending a parcel containing foodstuffs and soap through the post with the description "Books" upon its outside wrapper.

The accused who plead guilty was fined £1 and the parcel order to be confiscated. A warning was given in the Court by the Bench to the effect that this was a serious offence and it was pointed out that it is possible that because the war is ended people are inclined to become slack in these matters.

Mrs. Annie Royall Minns.

The Rev. R.G.R. Calvert has received a letter from Mrs. Minns who says that she lived on Weddell Island in 1839. She recalls that her first baby, Eva Mary, was baptized by Dean Brandon in the Cathedral, and her second Annie Ida Yates, also by the Dean on Weddell Island when three days old. Mrs. Minns is now an old lady of 77 and is living in the Dominican Republic at La Romana. She asks for a book and information about the Falklands. Is there anyone who remembers Mrs. Minns or her children and would like to get into touch with her? Please let Mr. Calvert know.

Polka, (which was a great dance in these times), Mazurka, and later the La Rinca and Valeta.

Compared to today, there were longer intervals between dances, especially on the first night when His Excellency the Governor was present for a time and Members of the Councils were also present.

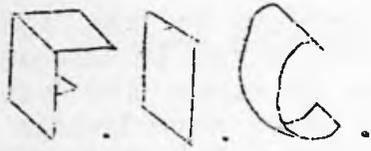

As far as dress was concerned the men wore patla and dinner jackets. Very few wore lounge suits. A stiff starched shirt front and collar, white bow, and white kid or cotton gloves were the order of the day. Button holes in the jacket and patent leather shoes were also everywhere in evidence.

The women wore evening dresses with low necks and short sleeves, and long skirts. These were the days of frills and bows and sashes. Seven yards of material was quite the ordinary in one dress. All colours were to be seen on the floor - pinks, whites, blues etc.

No lady used make-up, eye-brows were unplucked - all carried fans, fluffy ribbon ones, and the fans were used repeatedly by their holders for cooling their rosy warmed cheeks. Sometimes a gallant young dandy could be seen supplying air via her fan to her extremely warm looking boy friend!

Refreshments could be had any time after the start of the dance. The ladies refreshment table extended right across the north end of the Assembly Hall and was all around decorated with flowers and tussac. Amongst refreshments jellies, blanc-mange, trifles, cake and puff pastry could be had. As far as drinks went Claret cup, Port and Sherry wine, and imported mineral water were supplied on request. The piano was placed close to the table. The gentlemen's refreshments were set out on the stage at the south end of the building, supplies of bottled beer, whiskey, gin and wines and also light drinks including imported soda water and lemonade were on the list. At an interval at 12 o'clock coffee and tea was served in the main hall.

There was good companionship amongst all present in the dancing and in the case of a ladies choice dance at each stop of the music there would be a change of partner. (Contd. on page 12)

THEN - A Contrast To NOW.

Actually the crowd was not nearly so large as would be at a big dance today. Stanley was of course much smaller.

People actually made the journey in a big schooner from the West, to be present. Those doing this made the trip into a proper holiday, staying in town for a week or two. The dances helped make up for the discomfort of many a trip in and out!"

I thanked the gentleman who gave me my information and as I pictured in my mind the colourful scene on the old Assembly Hall floor, with the music, the dancing, the gaiety - I realised that perhaps these olden days could give a few points to the modern Dance Hall!

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

Weekly News Office,
Stanley.
5/9/46

Dear Boys and Girls,

Here is a Stanley girl's dream which is a prize-winning effort.

"I was going down to Eliza Cove to my father's peat bog. I had just got through the Common gate and could see a huge flame, which was caused by drums of petrol being on fire at Eliza Cove. I came racing back to town and told my mother and father. Then they went over and had a look at the fire and said that there was not much hope of it being put out.

When they came back they sent me down to the Company's Offices where I had to book passages for us to go to the Camp. I had no sooner got our passages booked than all the town seemed to be booking passages.

Before anybody went on the "Fitzroy" I woke up, and wondered whether it was a dream or not."

Cheerio,

Uncle Jim.

Among the passengers who left the Colony for England last Friday were the Chief Constable and Mrs Sheppard. Captain and Mrs Sheppard are away on leave.

San Carlos, Hope Cottage and Douglas.

Owing to our motorboat having engine trouble we could not get the visitors from Rincon Grande and San Salvador, but by good luck the Porvenir was in Rincon so she brought the people from there, the Salvador people came in their own boat.

After all necessary arrangements had been made the dancing commenced at eight o'clock the first evening, go the music of a mouth organ as no other music was available at that moment, but an accordion was soon found. The dance went with a swing until midnight when coffee was served by the ladies, while the ladies were having their coffee the men had a sing song.

After that the dance went in full swing until four o'clock when it was decided to end the dance for that evening.

The next day was spent visiting friends.

The second night dancing commenced at nine o'clock, it would have started earlier but owing to the snow people did not get there very early. During the evening there were spot waits, which were won by Delhi and Mrs. Berntsen. At about five o'clock the dance ended with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and "God Save the King" following that the people went home, tired, but happy.

On the following day the Porvenir took the visitors home to Rincon Grande and Salvador.

Another excellent description of the Dance was sent to the Weekly News by Pamela Newman (age 10yr 11mths).

The arrival back at Teal Inlet of Mr O. McPhee - the Settlement Schoolmaster (who had taken part in the Victory Parade in London) aroused much interest. Listen while Heather Berntsen age 8 tells us about things:-

"Two riders appeared over the Malo Hills, and one of them was Sir. When we got over to the dance on the wall was 'Welcome Home Snow' which meant 'Welcome Home Mr McPhee'.

Sir looked very smart at the Dance with his uniform on and his little red flashes on each shoulder and on each was 'Falkland Islands Defence Force'!"

(Thank you Heather and good wishes to "Sir" - Ed. Weekly News.)

to say I wouldn't come until Sunday. So I had an extra very enjoyable day there.

On Sunday it was fine and calm with a heavy white frost. So rather reluctantly I must admit I climbed out of my comfortable bed (and my unfortunate host and hostess did like-wise to catch my horse and see me off!!) and set out for Dunber (shepherd's house). This was about 7.30 a.m. and it was not very bright daylight or very warm! I arrived at Dunber in time for a very welcome breakfast where the school teacher was also waiting to get to West Point Island. After breakfast the teacher and her guide and myself all started off together to the tune of some back-jumping by the shepherd's horse. In fact she bucked nearly every time she jumped a ditch and every "set-to" on the rocks at "Long Creek" beach!

We got to Bramble Point a bit before 2 p.m. and lit a diddle-dee fire which was answered from West Point by one fire meaning they would come over. So we rode round to "Grave Cove" (which is the closest point for the boat to come) - about half an hour's ride. When we arrived there we found the dinghy waiting for us.

We took off our gear by the letter box - a tiny hut where we put our mail. The sea was still calm and the tide was falling which makes crossing the Woolly Gut more pleasant so we only took about a hour to get home in the little twelve feet dinghy. So ended my travels - all made very pleasant by the kindness and hospitality of everyone who put me up and lent me horses. Thank you Easter and Wester!

THE INTERIOR OF THE MON-STAR HOTEL

The new hotel at Rookery Bay opened its tea room to the people of the Colony for the first time last Tuesday. The tea room is spacious with seven small tables in it with seats for four at each. The decoration scheme of this room is green coloured walls with white ceiling. Tilly type of lamps hung from the ceiling - a number eight Stanley Range heats the room and serves in the mornings for cake cooking purposes. On the floor is a tastefully coloured linoleum. The windows facing the sea and looking out on the Camp (and toward the sun) allow plenty of light to flood the café. A service window allows eatables and tea to be served to customers much on the style of some of the eating houses in England.

The other parts of the Mon-Star of interest are the hotel bedrooms (chiefly finished in pink colour), the boarder's private sitting room done in cream and brown and the novel idea of a sun-room appropriately finished in pink. The bar room is finished in cream and brown.

The boarding section will open, we understand, later. The impression of a visitor as he walks over the pebble path and up through the door leading to the passage and to the tea room was one of an enterprise on a large scale which among other things should provide teas to many who during suitable weather will make full use of Rookery Bay beach.

GARDENING NOTES

One of the easiest porch plants to cultivate is the Nemesia. This beautiful, free flowering subject will provide a most colourful display of bloom over quite a long period. If the seeds are sown now, the plants will be in full flower long before any other plants which may be sown at the same time. Consequently, one may secure a display of flower while waiting for the main batch of flowering plants to come into bloom.

Generally, one finds this plant growing with several others of its kind in a very small pot. When grown under such conditions, the plants become drawn and the flowers small. To obtain the best results—and this should always be the cultivator's aim—sow the seeds in the usual way and when the seedlings are large enough to handle easily, prick them out into a shallow box to a distance of two inches. Allow the seedlings to remain thus until the foliage meets. When this happens, potting up will be necessary. If the seedlings show no signs of branching, then stopping will be necessary when they are about two inches in height. Never attempt to stop the growth though unless you are absolutely certain that lateral growth will not be produced. Far too many fine plants are all too often ruined through unnecessary stopping.

When potting up, don't go beyond the six inch sized pot and remember, only one plant to each pot. The soil need not be enriched unless it is known that the compost is impoverished. Should manure be required, use well rotted horse manure. With the Nemesia, rich soil means plentiful foliage and few flowers.

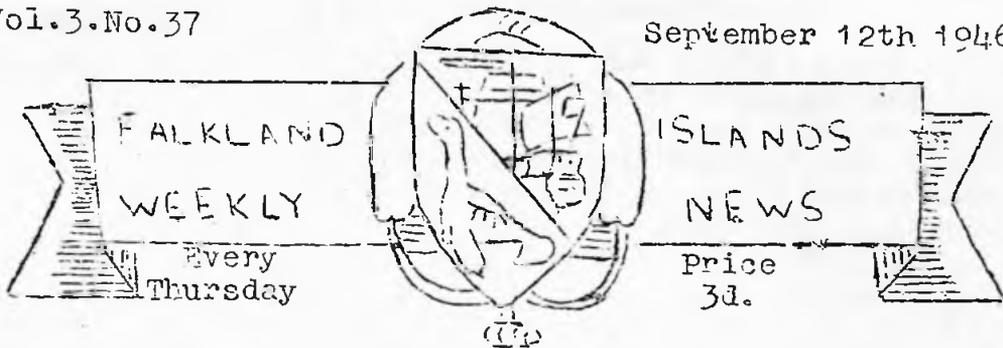

In the seedling stages of growth, water should be supplied only when absolutely necessary. Over-watering will cause the plants to damp off at the soil level. Later on, when the plants are in full growth, water will be required in greater quantities.

An Honorary Falkland Islander.

If anyone deserves to be given the name of an Honorary Falkland Islander it surely is Miss Avis Kelham who has been a "mother" to so many of our people who have reason to go to Britain.

I interviewed one of the many who had been in London and I received this pen picture of the lady whose voice is familiar to the Colony in the monthly News Letters from the B.B.C. London Bridge Programme. Miss Kelham is a lady of about five feet one in height with fresh complexion, twinkling eyes, and a ready smile. Her hair is an Auburn colour with a few little waves on the forehead, and at the back it is gathered in a roll. Routine dress of the Victoria League Hostess is a business-like costume.

Miss Kelham has a wonderful memory for faces - and incidentally for other things as well - movements of our service people especially are stored in some inner recess of her mind, and can be brought out without effort as soon as required.

Now that I had found out something about Miss Kelham, I asked my informant a few questions about the Victoria League itself where Miss Kelham is to be found most mornings.

The Victoria League, situated in St. Martin's Lane near the famous church in the heart of London is entered through a porch, up a few steps from the street. The first office entered is manned by two young ladies who are busy clerking. Through from this office is a second office the "den" of Miss Kelham. This office is small, comfortable, about ten feet square. A large window lets the daylight in and an electric heater warms the room. In this room is a Card Register of the names of all the Falkland Islanders living in the United Kingdom and Overseas, who are in the services (and also addresses of our people in Civvy street).

An Honorary Falkland Islander.

Miss Kelham meets her friends and new-comers in this room. Here broadcast talks are planned and when the mail arrives packages and letters are sorted out and directed. Miss Kelham laughingly said that it was a fact that very often a large St. Helena and a large Falkland Island mail arrived at the same time - and the office was simply buried in mail.

In the office is to be found a Visitors Book - also a boat in a bottle sent to Miss Kelham by some appreciative friend in St. Helena, and a lambskin sent likewise by a friend in this Colony.

Miss Kelham feels that she really knows the Falkland Islands - in fact she feels she is a Falkland Islander now.

Well, we in the Falkland Islands are proud to have Miss Kelham as an "Honorary citizen" and we thank her for all her interest in our own folk and her kindness. Surely Miss Kelham is a unique personality and I am sure that our sister Colony of St. Helena is equally grateful to her.

FALKLAND ISLANDS LABOUR FEDERATION.
TOUR OF EAST FALKLAND ISLAND. (NORTH CAMP)
Representatives, Messrs G. Hansen & E.G. Biggs.

(Contd. from last week)

After a very enjoyable lunch with the Pitaluga family we left for Salvador, again. Owing to bad weather we were delayed at Salvador for another day, and left for Teal Inlet by motor boat on Wednesday at 9 a.m. and arrived after a good trip, at Teal Inlet. We were met at the jetty by Toby Berntsen, and his Rolls Royce, who took us to his home.

It was regretted that the Manager, Mr. Barton, was not present, but owing to health reasons he was delayed on the West Falklands.

During a lengthy meeting which was held on Thursday, August 1st the following was stated:-

Over a period of 12 months, at the Mario, over 400 meals and teas had been supplied to people not employed at Teal Inlet.

There are plenty of cows but very little food for them, and it was felt that the problem could be overcome by extending paddocks.

We paid a visit to the school and this is a very roomy building, well lighted, warm and very clean. At present there are 6 pupils. Miss C. Morrison was the mistress in the absence of Mr. O. McEhee. The work of the children is very neat and tidy. Near the school there is a small potato garden, cared for by the children, surrounded by a stone path. Below the school there is a small tree plantation which appears to be thriving very well.

Very noticeable at Teal Inlet compared to other stations is the fact that all houses have peat-sheds, wash-houses, sinks etc.

We were delayed for another day, in the hope that the motor boat would be fixed, but this did not happen so

Winners of the Prizes at a Whist Drive held in the Working Mens Social Club rooms on Thursday 5th of September were:-

First Lady: Miss L. Davis, First Gent: Mr. H. Fuhlendorff.
 Booby Prizes: Lady Mrs. B. C. Biggs, Gent. Mr. Jim Ratcliffe.

Twenty seven players were present. Mr. Bert Sedgwick was M.C.

Notes

A Radio Play was given from the Stanley Broadcasting Station last Sunday afternoon. We believe that this was the first time such a thing has been attempted here. The play lasted half an hour and was centred around the old time problem of a Will. Those taking part were:- Dorothy Sedgwick, Eileen Sedgwick, Barbara Buckley and three men at present serving here in the Navy:- Jack Crossman, Keith Selbie and Donald Feen. The producer was T. G. Ford (also of the Royal Navy). All taking part did remarkably well - even the gentlemen responsible for the sound efforts. We congratulate all concerned. Another short play is to be given next Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Evans the Secretary of the Labour Federation broadcast a short address last Sunday.

Memories of a Party.

The Falkland Island Reunion Party took place away back on the last day in May 1946 at the Victoria League Canteen close to the Victoria League Office. Although so long ago it is only recently that the Weekly News had the privilege of interviewing a group of people who had been there - Mrs. Draycott, Mr. W. Jones and Mr. I. Jones.

From them we managed to get a description of that party and the names of many who were present. We are also grateful to Mrs. H. Fuhlendorff for additional names from the letter of her daughter Mrs. Johnson who was also at the party:-

At 7.30 p.m. the party was in full swing. Miss Kelham was hostess. Mr. Phil Hardy did the introducing. Everyone met and talked and talked and talked. Telegrams were read by Miss Kelham - a buffet with a variety of foodstuffs was in the Hall.

The B.B.C. Recording Van arrived on schedule and the B.B.C. man entered with his "mike" on a long lead of wire. The programme which was heard in "London Bridge" was then recorded and the B.B.C. van disappeared back to its headquarters.

One thing that did not come through in the Broadcast Programme was Mr. Grierson's word of thanks to Miss Kelham and the Victoria League for the party.

The party continued until quite late in the evening. The enjoyable reunion concluded with the chairing of Miss Kelham around the Hall and the singing of "For he's a jolly good fellow" - then followed "Auld Lang Syne"

It was a memorable occasion!

Here is a list of some who were present:

Messrs Jim Kirk, Phillip Berrido, Len Summers, A.W. Summers, E. Meirhoffer, F. Lellman, T. Smith, J. Detleff, C. White, B. Berntsen, C. McAtasney and Mrs. McAtasney, Mrs. Wagnorn, Mrs. E. Berntsen, Mr. P. Hardy, Mr. & Mrs. Grierson, Mr. & Mrs. Catten & son, Mr. & Mrs. Dakin (née Mary Miller) Mr. & Mrs. Johnson (née Hadassah Fuhlendorff), Miss Malvina Sally, Mrs. Fulbrooke, Miss Betty Roberts, Mr. K. Public Relations Committee Meets.

At a Meeting of the Public Relations Committee with all members present, which was held in the Conference Room, at the Secretariat, in Stanley, last Monday night the following matters were reviewed:-

Stanley Roads: The Committee received a communication from the Government in respect to a previous letter sent in by the P.R.C. (Public Relations Committee) on the matter of Stanley roads. The feeling of the Committee at a previous Meeting had been to try an experimental strip of water-bound macadam roadway with no clay but with graded metal rolled well in. The Eliza Cove stone was considered unsuitable as being too hard in any case and too large as it was now being applied; the long lorry runs there and back could be dispensed with if the Magazine Valley Quarry be reopened. The Executive Engineer had considered that quarrying in the Magazine Valley Quarry was now uneconomic. Opinion on the P.R.C.'s suggested experimental road-strip brought the point from the Executive Engineer re-binding - that the grading suggestion would mean that more binding of some sort would be necessary to fill in the interstices between the larger stones.

At last Monday night's session of the P.R.C. the Committee decided to press for the graded metal on a strip of road with water macadam binding without clay and the stopping of the present way of repairing the road in front of the E. and T. Office as soon as that part being worked now was completed.

The Committee felt that if that was the best job that could be done because of tar or concrete cost being too much for road surfacings, then the P.R.C. strongly urged that road repairs on a big scale cease until such time as materials became more reasonable and a decent road surface could be made: and in the meantime enough tar be obtained to repair pot-holes on the roads for the time being.

In the matters of the Magazine Quarry the Committee were not satisfied and decided to investigate privately with two experienced quarry workers.

Other points discussed were a temporary post-office to free the Gymnasium completely for recreational purposes. This nissen hut building would be placed on the John Street Library site. The estimated cost seemed high to the Committee and the matter was referred back to the Government for details of estimates.

The P.R.C. learned that the Acting Governor had inspected the Government-owned Hodson's Villas with a view to personally investigating complaints made by the P.R.C. of inadequate heating arrangements. They considered that in these cottages which were intended for working-class tenants housed by the Government at rates which were not necessarily profitable, porches, double chimneys and wash-houses should be provided.

The P.R.C. decided to ask the Government to postpone altering the Stanley clocks until October-September was considered too early to do so. (See notice on Extra P. 2) everything is in its place.

The P.R.C. will be meeting again in two weeks time. Mr. G. W. J. Bowles took over the duties at the Meeting of Hon. Secretary, he is also a full member of the Committee.

Everyone appeared to be well satisfied and we suggested that a school teacher should call there to teach the children. The Manager was in complete agreement.

In our opinion Johnsons harbour is one of the prettiest spots in the North Camp and to sum it up "It's a home from home"

We left Johnsons Harbour by the motor boat "Alert" on Tuesday the 6th August, thus completing a tour of the North Camp excluding Port Louis.

We found all the people on these farms, except for minor ailments, in the best of health.

To all our friends, whom we met, the Managers for the most able support given we say "Thanks for all your kindness" and to those two who were not, we will not put our feelings on paper.

GENERAL REMARKS. Throughout the whole of the tour the workers on the farms are of the opinion that a steady monthly wage must be maintained.

SEAMENS AG. The opinions regarding this are slightly different.

OVERTIME. The workers are of the unanimous opinion that overtime should be paid for at a flat rate and not the old system of 'time off in lieu'

Dear Boys and Girls,

The other day who lives in Stanley and is 9 handed a drawing of the "Santa our office.

I wonder if you liked to have gone on the voyage which made this ship famous. The Captain was Christopher Columbus an Italian, and the voyage in which he crossed the Atlantic was made in 1492. Captain Columbus then being 46 years of age. Some years later the famous Captain made a voyage to South America.

It took much courage to go sailing in these days because many people thought that the world was flat and if you sailed to a certain point your ship would simply drop off the world.

We'll be with you again next week boys and girls - Cheerio until then.

expressed during the tour, to place this matter before the Administration as soon as possible. What a God-Send to all those both in the Camp and Stanley to be assured of an old age pension, pay during illness, and the many other benefits which go with it.

Why should a man work for 30, 40 years in the Camp and retire with no pension? This is happening, there are very few pensions payable from the Farms, those that are, are meagre ones.

ROADS. The necessity of Roads is a long felt want for these people who are isolated on the farms. Roads through the Camp, will encourage more and still more people to work on the farms. Without roads, what assurance have we, in urgent medical cases?

The roads of a country are accurate and certain tests of the degree of its civilization. Their construction is one of the first indications of the emergencies of a people from the savage state; and their improvement keeps pace with the advances of a nation in numbers, wealth, industry, and science, of all which it is at once an element and an evidence.

Sheep are killed for their fleece only, and the flesh is abandoned as is likewise the case with cattle, slaughtered merely for their hides.

BETTER LIVING CONDITIONS & SOCIAL CONDITIONS.

Among the many suggestions made at various meetings and on the Camp Questionnaire are:- Wash-houses, Dairy and Meat Houses, sinks, baths, Electric Lights, Flush Lavatories, Interior decorations, Shepherds houses to be reconditioned. A recreation room, and better water supply.

SERVICES. Better Medical, Dental, Educational and Mail Services, Hospital on the West Falklands, and Broadcast programmes, more of them, for Adults and children.

Minister's Anniversary Services: The twelfth Anniversary Services of the present minister of the Tabernacle-the Rev. W.F. McKean, were observed last Sunday. In the morning the service was conducted by Mr H.L. Baker, M.A.- Superintendent of Education, and in the evening His Excellency the Acting Governor-A.B. Mathews Esq. O.B.E. gave the address, the service being conducted by the minister. The Choir sang the last part of the metric version of the 24th Psalm at the commencement of the evening service and the hymn "Through the night of doubt and sorrow" as the anthem.

Both morning and evening services were well attended.

Broadcast Commentary

We congratulate Mr A.G. Barton on his excellent commentary broadcast last Sunday afternoon from Stanley. The manager of Teal Inlet has a delightful way of putting his matter over and his information must have been full of interest-particularly to listeners in the Camp. Here are some gleanings from this Commentary:- The Falkland Islands Company are hoping to use the jeep in the Camp in the future, Stanley Sports Association are holding a Meeting in town at the end of February which will be for the whole Colony and will incorporate Victory Celebrations; arrangements for people getting in and out of town from the Camp are to be made. Malvina, the large house in Ross Road, Stanley, which has been the town home of the Teal Inlet Manager for so long, has been sold. Radio Short Wave Amateur Transmitters are to be allowed to speak across the World from here, shortly, again.

FORMER STANLEY DEAN RETIRES IN ENGLAND

(Extract from Local Paper)

Canon E.J. Seymour, senior incumbent in the Godalming deanery, has decided to retire from the ministry after 54 years' service, for the past 31 as Rector of Hambledon.

Although he does not look it, Canon Seymour is over 80, and it is on account of his age that he has tendered his resignation, to take effect on Sept. 30th. He will be leaving the parish but, if he can secure a house, he hopes to continue to reside in the Guildford diocese.

Mr. Seymour's decision to leave Hambledon, where he has for so long played a prominent part in church, social and public life, will be keenly regretted generally by the parishioners to whom he has endeared himself and to many of whom he has been guide, counsellor and friend.

A son of the late Rev. Edward Seymour, rector of Bratton, Cleveley, Devon, Canon Seymour was ordained at Truro in 1892. His first curacy was at St. Paul's Truro, where he remained until 1894, when he came to Surrey as curate at Witley. In 1899 he went to Daventry as curate, but in 1902 returned to Witley to become vicar, remaining there until 1908, when he accepted a call for work in the Falkland Islands, where he was at first chaplain of Port Stanley, and an honorary canon of Christ Church Cathedral, and afterwards - from 1911 to 1915 - dean of the Falkland Islands. He was there when the memorable naval action was fought off the islands between the English and German squadrons. In 1915 he returned to Surrey as rector of Hambledon, and in 1927 was appointed rural dean of Godalming, in succession to the Rev. (now the Venerable) E.J. Newill, (Contd. on P. 2) when the latter moved from Witley to Dorking. He resigned the position of rural dean in 1943, being succeeded by the present Vicar of Godalming, the Rev. H.E.Hone. In 1939 he was appointed by the Bishop of Guildford to an honorary canonry in Guildford Cathedral, which had become vacant by the death of Canon A.G.Hunter.

Local Wage Question.

At a well attended meeting of the Falkland Islands Labour Federation, held in the Gymnasium, Stanley, last Monday night those present heard the Chairman, Mr.W.J. Whittasney outline the proposed recommendation of the Labour Advisory Board on the subject of wages for the present time. The proposal was to recommend an increase of wage for married men and a special allowance for the man with a large family. There would be no change in the wage of a single man. The figures of cost of living had been carefully gone into before these recommendations were arrived at.

Old Timer's Letter.

P.O.Box 589,

Dear Sir,

This letter is from a man who was a seaman in a small Barque named the "Ruth Waldron" that used to trade from London, England to the Falkland Islands in the years of 1892 to 1895. Stanley was our first port of call, and after discharging the cargo consigned to that port, we visited such places in the East Falklands and West Falklands as San Carlos, Teaf Inlet, San Salvador and Port Howard in the West Falklands taking on wool and tallow for the return voyage to London. The Captain of the ship was Captain Symonds and the mate's name was Mr. R. Gilchrist who at that time had a brother who was married at Port Stanley, and worked for an Hotel Keeper the name of Williams. I might mention that I made these voyages in the ship during those years. At the time of my first trip I was a lad of 18 years of age. Now being up in years I often think of the Islands and wonder what changes have taken place. After sailing practically all over the world I finally dropped anchor here in Ontario, Canada. I often wonder what changes have taken place in those far off Islands that lots of people never hear anything about. I have never met anyone here in Canada since I have been here who ever resided in the Islands. And when I tell them that no trees exist there they can hardly believe it. The only time I have seen the Islands mentioned in the papers was the time that Admiral Sturdee had a running sea fight with Von Spee in the first World War, and the River Plate battle when the "Exeter" went to Stanley to refit. Now Sir, these are some of the things I remember in 1892. Sir Roger Goldsmith was Governor at that time. There used to be a small weekly paper published called the Falkland Gazette also in the Harbour was an old hulk named the Great Britain. Above the town was a mast used for Look Out for vessels making for the port to be re-fitted after their battle of trying to round the Horn. I

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

Weekly News Office,

19.9.46

Dear Boys and Girls,

Here is an interesting account of a flight by aeroplane: written by a special friend of our Corner:-

From Lisbon to West Africa.

We left the Capital of Portugal at 7 p.m. that evening and the whole trip was to take us twelve hours. We were on the Pan American Clipper liner and I don't think anyone could have wished for a better way of travelling. As soon as we had been shown to our seats and bunks, stewards brought us tarts-cocktails, magazines and chewing gum, for, they said this latter thing was extremely good against air sickness. We were told to strap ourselves in for the take-off, as it might prove to be bumpy - but against our rather grim expectations, it was all so smooth that we could hardly believe that there was the sea slipping further and further away from us as we flew inland and gained height.

Then came dinner - full course - between mouthfuls of roast chicken and peas we watched the last of the Portuguese coast fading away from us.

We went to bed fairly late that night, but not before a Stewardess had brought us some aspirins for we were flying at a very great altitude. We were also asked if we required any "Enos fruit salt"

I woke in the night - we were flying high above the clouds with the moon shining over them, it was simply wonderful, for above the stars were shining and we had the impression of being perfectly still.

The next morning we woke up fairly early, washed in a beautifully green tiled, chromium plated bathroom, packed up and prepared ourselves for breakfast. By this time it was hot and we wore the thinnest of cotton frocks instead of our tweeds of the previous day.

Breakfast was a cooked one, apparently the rolls had been baked in New York, it was impossible to believe this as they were so crisp and good. The end of our journey had nearly come, much to our disappointment. Boloma in

Local Notes.

A Social Evening took place in the Gymnasium, Stanley, last Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Old Pupils Association of the Government School. The function which took the form of a dance was well patronised.

Last Friday evening a dance organised by the Wireless Station took place in the Gymnasium. P.C.D. Parsons was M.C.

At a Meeting of the Public Relations Committee held in Stanley last Friday evening in view of the joint Sports Meeting in Stanley to be held in February and the fact that the building of a new hall could probably not take place for some time - a recommendation was made that the Gymnasium be cleared of Offices.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

The Trading with the Enemy Department of the Board of Trade draw attention to a Decree published by the Italian Government on April 9th, 1946, providing for the return to United Nations' owners of their properties in Italy which have been sequestered during the war. When fuller information is available in London, a further public announcement will be made explaining in detail the steps which owners should take to recover their properties. In the meantime, owners might usefully assemble their documents of title. Properties which have not been returned to their owners by May 10th, 1946, will be placed temporarily under the care of administrators appointed by the Italian Government. That Government, however, will remain responsible for all United Nations properties until such time as the owners are able to resume possession, and delay in accepting back the properties will not prejudice in any way the owners' rights under the Decree. Owners are advised to await the issue of the projected further announcement before taking any action to secure the return of their properties.

remember at that time a large full sized ship named the "Speke" was damaged off the Horn and got into Stanley but was too large to get under weigh after she was repaired, so she waited until H.M.S. Sirius, which at that time was on the South American station, called at Port Stanley and towed the Speke to sea. Having no try at the Port. It was some undertaking to get a sailing ship of her size through the narrows and through Port William. The little Barge I was on was only 34 tons, so was quite handy for Island work. There used to be at that time an old country fishing boat called the "Result" owned by a Norwegian who had the contract to carry the mail around the Islands. Then there was the Falkland Island Co. Schooners. If I remember rightly Douglas Station was owned by a family named Greenfields and San Carlos was owned by the Camerone. Fort Howard was managed at that time by a man the name of Matthews and the place was owned by the Waldron family who also owned the ship I was in. I think San Salvador belonged to the Piteluga family. We used to trade some time around the Islands the Cargo had to be taken ashore in boats, and that is how we used to load the Bales of wool. The Islands were well stocked with wild geese, and duck and fish in galore. I am taking this liberty Sir hoping that some old timer at Port Stanley remembers the little green Barge. Perhaps some of the Gilchrist family still reside at Port Stanley. There used to be an old Norwegian hulk named the "Sabino" laying at the upper end of the Harbour at that time. She was condemned there. It sure was a handy Port for ships that were disabled off the Horn. At that time a German shipping firm at the contract for the English mails on their way to Valparaiso. I think they called into Stanley once a month. So if you know of anyone who would like to drop an old man a little news of the Islands who spent many a happy month there and remembered them with deep affection.

I would be extremely obliged.

Respectfully yours,
James Gibbins.

GARDENING NOTES.

With the close of September everyone becomes impatient and wants to push on with sowing and planting. This is understandable when one has other important jobs outside the garden to get on with in the spring but it is not good gardening or policy, to plant before weather and soil become favourable. If the soil has an opportunity to dry out somewhat and warm up, then your plants and seeds will grow and germinate without check and the crop results will be considerably greater than crops planted under less favourable conditions. When the soil is wet, small seeds may perish because temperature and soil were unfavourable to germination. Such crops as Peas and Broad Beans are an exception to the rule, the earlier we can sow these seeds in this country, the better. Dry soil conditions are detrimental to germination in this case, but of course, there is always the happy medium between wet and dry soil, the determination of which is simply a matter of common sense judgment.

A most enjoyable dance was held in the Gymnasium last Thursday under the auspices of the 'Old School Tie'. There were quite a number of people present, and something of the cheery atmosphere, which has been lacking since the invasion by the mumps, was very noticeable.

We at the Wireless Station hope that these dances will continue, as they are most enjoyable.

The Meeting then gave their views on the subject - in answer to the query "how about a single man in the home with his mother?" the answer was given that consideration would be given in such cases. Another speaker asked for prices of commodities to be kept as low as possible rather than increase wages.

The Meeting at a ballot finally ended their business by a majority vote in favour of the rise in wage for a married man and a special allowance for the man with a large family to support.

Camp members of the Federation were being consulted on the same subject.

Things which make a difference
 We all know what is meant by our title - often something seeming little importance makes a difference: it may be the smile of encouragement from a "boss" or just a thoughtful action by a neighbour. Without these "little things" the business of living would be much more difficult.

Even in getting together, and publishing this Weekly News things often seem to go wrong; and the result of the week's effort appears pretty hopeless.

Not long ago an anonymous letter reached our office - we have had a few anonymous letters before - these were horrible, libellous affairs - no wonder the writers were ashamed to put their names to them! - but this letter was different - it was printed beautifully in ink and the first letter of each word was filled in in red - the hand printing was attractive, and the words - well here they are:-

Weekly News in sun or showers,
 Every Thursday you are ours;
 Eagerly we scan the pages,
 Kiddies' nook for tender ages;
 Local notes, and ships that call,
 Yarns about the Campers' ball;

News of loved ones, tales of yore,
 Events just coming, others o'er;
 Weekly News you'll always be,
 Something more than memory.

We do not know who the writer was but the Weekly News says "Thank you" to its unknown poet: so there is recorded in this World of give and take another of these acts of kindness which encourage and really make a difference.

Across the World: ENGLAND U.S.A. NORWAY Etc.

Many people who read the Falkland Islands Weekly News send it across the World to friends who are interested in the Colony and who live many thousands of miles away from its shores.

It gives us pleasure to think that this paper acts as a link between such people and ourselves.

From our own Office, here in Stanley, we mail papers to quite a number of people. Recently we have heard of two cases where the paper seems to have failed to turn up at its English address. As far as we are concerned we send these papers each time that there is a mail going and this done we live in hope that they will arrive safely at their destination.

Each week as we get the town papers ready for distribution - that is folded and counted out, we place the papers for the Camp in their folders until there is a mail going out by the s.s. "Fitzroy". We post all East Falkland papers each week. Those for Overseas are also placed in individual folders and remain in our cupboard until there is an opportunity to send them on their way.

The place names written on the outside of these folders make interesting reading and give some idea of the distant parts the Weekly News reaches.....let us open the cupboard door and glance through a few of these folders. Here is one marked "North Wales" - I can already picture that paper being delivered to its reader somewhere in the beautiful country of that famous land. We look again "New Zealand" shows up and we think of the paper turning up in the mail in some country district of that go-ahead country under the British flag.

"Manchester" on our next label reminds me of that great industrial city of England. Along a busy street the postman walks as he hands over the small package of papers a soldier who was stationed in the Falklands for a time reads of the activities in the Colony which will always hold an interest for him.

The next address is "Argentina" and as we think of our neighbour across the sea we know that here again someone who has relatives living in the Falklands will be interested in what is happening here. "Norway" comes up now - yes! the paper even reaches that land which went through such an ordeal during the years of the War so recently over. "U.S.A." is the next address and we think of that great land and Ally - here too lives someone who is interested in what goes on away over the seas in the Falkland Islands.

"Canada" comes next and we remember that quite a few families have left the shores of the Falkland Islands to settle in that great Dominion.

"Australia" is on another label, and here is one with "Johannesburg" in the Transvaal, S. Africa. How far-spread are the individuals who open the pages of the Weekly News!

Oh here is yet another cover lying quietly in our cupboard...awaiting the opportunity of sending its contents by the next out-going mail; the last part of the address reads "Scotland" ah! I can picture this paper coming towards the end of its long journey... but here we'd better stop otherwise this article may become much too long!

It seems right that to all our readers overseas we should end this short article by sending you our best wishes and to remind you that even in this Office there burns the familiar Falkland Islands peat fire!

Back in Stanley.

We were pleased to see Messrs Basil and Pat Biggs in Stanley once again after their time of service overseas in the R.A.F. and the Royal Navy respectively.

Mr. Elwin Hutchinson has received delivery of two new Chevrolet lorries by the s.s. "Fitzroy" this week.

NEW GOVERNOR FOR THE FALKLAND ISLANDS.

An announcement of great interest was made over the local relay loudspeaker in Stanley last Thursday evening (and also in the nine o'clock B.B.C. London News, the same night), when the appointment was announced of Geoffrey Miles Clifford Esq., C.M.G., O.B.E., E.D., to be Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Falkland Islands and its Dependencies, in succession to Sir Allan Cardinall, K.B.E., C.M.G.

The newly appointed Governor joined the Colonial Administrative Service as an Assistant District Officer (Nigeria) in 1921 and in the course of successive promotions became a Senior Resident in 1944. From 1942-1945 he was seconded to Gibraltar as Colonial Secretary. He has recently been attached to the Colonial Office.

Mr. Clifford was born in London in 1897 and saw service from 1915-1918 in the first World War.

It is hoped that the new Governor will leave the United Kingdom for Stanley about the middle of October.

EDITORIAL.

The appointment at such a comparatively early date of a successor to Sir Allan Cardinall came as something of a surprise. With a Socialist Government in power in England there was a possibility of having one of their members of Parliament appointed to the Office of Governor here following the practice in e.g. Malta.

However instead of that, His Majesty's Government has looked to the Colonial Service, and our new Governor is coming from a regular Service appointment in Nigeria. We note with satisfaction that Mr Clifford has still a considerable way to go in his career and we hope that the Colony will move forward under his guiding hand.

The Falkland Islands has its own peculiar problems - some of which will not be too easily solved. It will not be over-much to hope never-the-less that the next five years will let us see our Colony sharing in some of the good things which development and advanced

QUEENS OF THE AIR.THE AVRO TUDOR I AND TUDOR II

By S. Veale.

In Britain in June, 1946, there are in production two of the biggest ~~landplane~~ ^{landplane} airliners ever built in the United Kingdom. By the early months of 1947 they will have flown over the North and South Atlantic Oceans and the many lands which are traversed by Britain's Empire Air Services, bringing a new standard of luxurious travel to the world's airway.

First of these stately "Queens of the Air" is the Avro Tudor I, which will be used exclusively on the transatlantic route linking London and New York. To maintain regular schedules a fleet of twenty will be needed, and deliveries will be completed by September.
The second is the Tudor II, which is slightly larger.
This will fly the arterial routes that link the United Kingdom with Egypt, South Africa, India, Australia and South America. By December, at least thirty Tudor IIs will have been delivered to the airlines.

This is an indication of the speed with which aircraft companies of the United Kingdom have picked up the broken threads of air transport production, and a token of the energy with which managements and workers alike are helping to win for Britain a leading place on the airways of the world.

Thanks to the energy and skill of drawing office staffs, craftsmen and foremen in the aircraft factories, Britain will not have to pay the full penalty. The first Tudor I to be built made its maiden flight in June, 1945. Nine months later the first of the Tudor IIs was test-flown. The first flight of the Tudor II was memorable not so much because it marked a stage in the evolution of a new aeroplane but because it marked the successful trials of the tenth prototype of British post-war civil aeroplanes.

It is therefore a matter of satisfaction for Great Britain that two of the new airliners tested have already given proof that they surpass the performance predicted for them, and that all the others so far tested have fully met the (Contd. on page 8)

Public Relations Committee

A meeting of the Public Relations Committee took place last Monday evening at the Conference Room, Secretariat, Stanley. His Excellency the Acting Governor and Lt. Colonel J. A. Hodggate O.B.E. the Executive Engineer were present. Views were exchanged on subjects ranging from Stanley Roads to the proposed temporary Post Office.

At the commencement of the meeting, His Excellency mentioned the fact of the new Governor being appointed and that he knew Mr Clifford personally.

Also present at the meeting were Messrs H. Bonner and J. Pettersson who gave helpful information on the subject of the quarry at the Magasine Valley.

All members of the Committee were present.

Local Football Match

The football match last Sunday afternoon between the F.I.D.F. XI and a Royal Navy XI took place in glorious sunshine although there was a strong head wind blowing.

The match itself provided thrills galore for the numerous spectators and was easily the most interesting match Stanley has seen for several months.

The first twenty minutes of the game was very disappointing—the R.N. XI were playing with only nine men, yet they fought against this set-back and in the first minute were a goal up. This gave them heart and after another ten minutes of play they made the score 2-0. The F.I.D.F. fought back and several times the R.N. goal was in peril. Fine work by the defence however, saved the Navy from defeat but they were unable to prevent the F.I.D.F. from scoring one goal just before half time. The first twenty minutes or so of the second half was very scrappy, the ball being slung about the field and no one getting anywhere. The Navy were on the defence up until ten minutes from time and then skilful play by the Navy brought another snappy goal. Not to be outdone the F.I.D.F. retaliated and very soon made the score 3-2. Shortly afterwards the Navy once again made a sudden spurt down the field and a fine shot from the centre left the F.I.D.F. goalkeeper standing.

A few minutes later the final whistle sounded. The score 4-2 was an appropriate one—and cheers from the spectators and players alike made it evident that the Navy had earned a well fought victory and the spectators had enjoyed their afternoon of sport.

Dear Boys and Girls,

Perhaps some of you have been wondering how Robert Rabbit has been getting on during the last few weeks - well recently he has been having rather a bad time. You see that horrible complaint called "toothache" came upon him and for two or three days he was in such misery that his mother decided to take him to their dentist - Dr. Pincers. Robert was not keen to go, but he certainly wished to be free from pain.

The dentist told Robert to sit down in the chair and in a moment the doctor had found the troublesome spot in the tiny rabbit's mouth (even though the dentist's whiskers nearly went into the patient's eyes as he bent over him).

A whiff of strong clover perfume to the patient and the tooth was out - with no pain suffered by Robert! As the rabbit said goodbye to Dr. Pincers he thanked him for taking out the tooth and on his return home he put it under a tiny watch glass. Do you know what present he received from the fairies? - You'd never guess! A lovely new coloured glass marble to add to his collection.

Cheerio, Uncle Jim.

Falkland Islanders Wedding in Glasgow.

Mr. John Barnes, Mr. Vere Summers and Miss Helen Lees were among those who attended the wedding of Mr. Eric Howatt and Miss Ann Kimmert on August 1st.

The bride, attired in white satin with wreath and veil, and carrying a bouquet of Cream Tea Roses, was given in marriage by her father. She was attended, as bridesmaid, by her sister who was dressed in pale blue satin with accessories to match and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Attending the groom was W. O. Donald Howatt, Naval Fleet Air Arm.

Some forty guests gathered at their reception and danced until 10.30 a.m.

The couple who are at present on their honeymoon at Mrs. Hendersons' Tomatin, are making their home in Glasgow, where Eric is employed as a bus driver with the Corporation.

The scene of the wedding was Glasgow and the officiating clergyman the Rev. R. Kinraid B.D.

Scholarship Success

News has been received that Edna Smith, daughter of a former Government Head Printer and grand-daughter of Mrs. R. Davis of Stanley has been placed in Grade A. in a Scholarship examination for entrance to High School at Plymouth. We congratulate this clever pupil. Mr and Mrs Smith must feel proud of their daughter.

The "Forvenir" arrived in Stanley last Monday from a voyage to the West.

Among those making the round voyage to Camp places in the s.s. "Fitzroy" this week are His Excellency the Hon. A. B. Mathews O.B.E. Acting Governor, Mrs. Mathews and Miss Mathews.

scientific knowledge are bringing to other parts of the world. Outstanding needs here seem to be the opening up of the country, adequate representation of the people on the councils of Government, some form of Social security, and more interest in the Colony from the responsible authorities in London.

In all problems our newly appointed Governor will be called upon to play an important part, we feel sure.

Two outstanding qualities are demanded of any Governor of this Colony - the ability to get around and see things for himself, and the constant remembering that the Falklands is not the usual type of Colony, but might well be likened to an English county.

We extend a warm welcome to Mr. Clifford and of course also to Mrs. Clifford and hope that they will have a very happy time in our Colony.

POST OFFICE NOTICE.CANCELLATION OF STAMPS.

Postmasters in the Colony and Dependencies are forbidden to comply with requests to affix stamps to letters; or to cancel stamps which are not affixed to letters, or which otherwise are not legitimately used on covers destined to go through the post.

When a request is received to cancel stamps affixed to envelopes and to return them by post, the Postmaster will return the envelopes under official cover with a note to the effect that it is forbidden to comply with requests of this nature.

There is no rule against (i) the supply of stamps in mint condition, provided that orders are accompanied by a remittance in proper form; or against the cancellation of stamps affixed to envelopes sent with an order for mint stamps for the specific purpose of being used as a cover for the new stamps ordered; so long as the stamps do not exceed in value the appropriate charges for post and registration. (if they do exceed the appropriate charges, the Postmaster will cancel stamps up to the value of the charges), or (ii) the cancellation of stamps on stamped covers handed in to the Post Office in the ordinary way; provided always that the Postmaster is not required to cancel stamps up to a higher value than the postage and other charges (such as insurance on the cover).

GARDENING NOTES.

With the growth of our new crops will come the attacks by plant pests. Fortunately, we are not troubled to any great extent with serious pests in our gardens. Probably stray cats or the next door neighbour's hens are our most troublesome pests during the early part of the season. Nevertheless, there are occasions when common pests such as slugs and chaffer grubs decide to make their attacks upon plants. As the majority of plant pests are dependant upon non-disturbance for their prosperity, hoeing and weeding during crop growth weakens the pests resistance by their constant disturbance. Proper spacing and thinning allow air to circulate thereby preventing, to a large extent, attacks by fungus and other plant pests.

By continually moving the soil, we are not only performing a cultural operation which assists plant growth but are also taking precautionary action against possible attacks by plant pests and diseases. Once such attacks have commenced, we have little chance of combating them.

Falkland Islands Defence Force Rifle Association.

Shooting will commence on the New Range on Saturday October 5th. The signal will be the same as in previous years - a red flag flying at Headquarters.

A number of competition sprays have been ordered and it is hoped they will arrive soon after the commencement of the season.

Owing to the Sports meeting being held in February the Local Bisley will take place early in the New Year.

There is no subscription for recruits who join this year.

THE STORY OF THE S.S. "LAFONIA"-FORMERLY KNOWN AS THE S.S. "PERTH" as given in the Dundee Local Paper under the heading "Forsakes The Tay For Falkland Islands".

A well-known Dundee ship with a fine record in two wars is leaving the port. She is the Dundee, Perth, and London steamer Perth, and will now ply between the Falkland Islands and the River Plate.

Laid down in 1914 and commissioned the next year, she was requisitioned by the Government and fitted as an armed cruiser. In this guise she did duty in the Mediterranean and Red Sea.

First action was off the Turkish coast in April 1916, and in June that year her guns took part in a three-day bombardment of Jeddah, on the east side of the Red Sea, 45 miles west of Mecca. The port was taken from the Turks, and the Perth returned to her base with 1200 Turkish and German prisoners of war.

Again in 1918 she engaged Turkish troops, and later, while on patrol in the Red Sea, dealt with pirates.

Big moment came in October the same year, when she put an enemy submarine to the bottom. In the exchange of shots the Perth received some damage. The sub. commander was one of the German aces.

The vessel was taken over by the owners at London in November 1918, and the following year the Perth was reconditioned at Dundee and then went into service on the Dundee-London route equipped to carry 300 passengers.

In the last war Perth was again called for operational duty. First job was as accommodation ship at Rosyth while the King George V. was being made ready. After the battleship's trials, Perth was fitted out as a rescue ship and put into service on the North Atlantic convoy route.

During one trip an American tanker went on fire. When the Perth got close in the tanker was ablaze from stern to stern and her crew on the scramble nets over the side.

One of the rescued men was a Chinaman who had a fractured skull. Operation at once was imperative. Saved 445 Lives. Meantime a submarine surfaced. Perth's guns opened fire and the ship slewed to allow the fighting escort to deal with the sub. On board Perth the

WANTED

A Cashier for the West Store. Apply in writing to the Chief Storekeeper.

THE FALKLAND ISLANDS CO. LTD. STORES DEPT.

When we look around the jobs of work which people do, we all must appreciate the work of those who toil week in and week out at these duties which supply us with the necessities of life. High up in rank among these duties must be named that of "Dairy Work" in Stanley and although this article deals with only one of the dairies in town, the same work is done at the others too.

It was just after two o'clock on a recent afternoon that I called up at No. 1 Dairy in Davis Street. Mr. McCarthy was busy planting shallots in the garden when I arrived but he was kind enough to stop work and take me into his house where he answered my questions and helped me to get an idea of the work of his dairy. Mrs McCarthy was also present and ably supplied details of her special duties when asked about them.

After my questions I was taken out and shown the tidy business-like cow-shed where the animals are milked and also the large nissen hut which serves as a place of refuge for the cows during the night time.

As I write this a clear picture comes to my mind of a job which means much hard work.

At present the day starts at 5.30 a.m. There are 17 cows awaiting milking. Milking starts about 6 a.m. While the cows are being milked in the "byre" the bottle filling is also taking place in another shed, specially fitted up for the work. This is Mrs McCarthy's side of the work and she is kept hard at it filling bottles until just a little later than the milkers take to complete their task. This means about 7.40 a.m. Then the cowshed has to be washed down and of course the cows are now heading out into the open Common nearby. About 8 o'clock comes breakfast - a well earned respite.

All too soon it is time to get the milk to the customer. The milk bottles are delivered by P.U. van. The town is divided into two districts separated by "flag staff hill"

The western portion is taken first and delivery means going street by street through this area stopping, handing out the milk, collecting the empties from the square wooden box placed at the side of the fence for the purpose, and depositing the full bottles in their place.

The west round takes about an hour to cover. The empties are returned to the dairy, a new load of full bottles collected and off goes the small car to the east end of the town, This round takes slightly under the hour.

When the van is away with the second delivery of milk Mrs McCarthy is cleaning out the bottles which were brought back from the west end of the town. On his return from the round Mr McCarthy helps his wife and about mid-day all the bottles are thoroughly washed and ready for the next time.

There is a spell until four o'clock in the afternoon - although odd jobs and the garden soon fill the moments in. From four until 5.45 p.m. there is a repeat performance of the mornings work.... a boy delivers this milk by bicycle (the quantity being much less than in the morning).

Shortly after six o'clock in the evening the main work is over and then the lady of the house has the books to keep right during the evening hours.

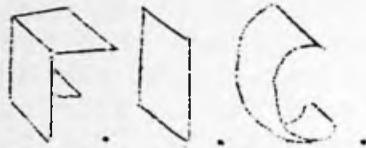

I asked Mr McCarthy to tell me the chief difficulties in his work and he told me that there were two - the lack of hay or tussac for feeding the animals and the poor state of the Common through which cows let go for the winter are in poor condition when next they come up. There is not even sand grass for them to feed on!

I asked about delivery and the fact was emphasised that things were made much easier when customers had their milk bottles (empties) out in the boxes in good time... especially on Sunday mornings!

Day by day for seven days in the week the same work goes on and customer's milk is delivered in the town. There are no holidays in the Dairy business.

I asked Mr and Mrs McCarthy if they managed to get

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Persons resident in the United Kingdom, or firms and other bodies constituted or incorporated under the laws of the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands or the Isle of Man, who own property in Bulgaria, Finland, Hungary or Roumania, are invited to furnish particulars of any claim for restoration or compensation for loss or damage they may wish to make not later than 31st December, 1946.

Claims in respect of ships or cargoes should be addressed in the first instance to the Ministry of Transport; all other claims to the Trading with the Enemy Department, 24, Kingsway, London, W.C. 2. Forms and notes for guidance may be obtained from the latter Department on request. Applicants for these documents should indicate the country in which their property is situated.

H.M. Government will do all that they can to promote the favourable consideration of claims which come within the categories for which the Governments concerned have accepted liability in principle under the terms of the several Armistices.

The arrangements for claims for loss or damage to British property in Austria, Germany, Italy, Japan and Siam will be announced later.

GARDENING NOTES.

The news that sufficient quantities of vegetable seeds from Britain would not arrive here in time to correspond with our usual sowing period was certainly most disappointing. The seed situation however, is not serious though because ample American supplies of the essential vegetables are obtainable. Nevertheless, if one so desires to wait for the expected incoming stocks of English seeds, the sowing of such crops as Carrot, Lettuce, Early turnips, Spinach, Silver Beet, Radish and of course Swedes and Beet will produce good crops if sown during November. As for flower seeds, quick to the Sports last summer. I was told that they did - and in time for the first race! To do this milking was commenced at 4 a.m. bottling at 4.40 a.m. extra help was employed - and just to help things on, the delivery lorry broke down. Yet Mr and Mrs. McCarthy were at the sports! Well done!

Stanley No.2. Dairy is managed by Mr. McCarthy's brother and his wife, who also have to put in many hours of work each day in their dairy business.

I left Mr and Mrs McCarthy of No.1. Dairy feeling grateful to them for all their help in compiling this article, and as I made my way away from the dairy I thought how easy it is to take things all for granted in this world - yes, even our bottle of milk placed in the box by our back gate each morning.

Our Former Senior Medical Officer

We had news in the last mail of Dr George Kinneard, O.B.E.who was until just over a year ago,our Senior doctor.Dr Kinneard went from the Falklands to Fiji Is. Unfortunately Dr Kinneard's health broke down there and he had to return to his native Canada.After convalescing for a time he was able to commence work again in his native province of Saskatchewan.The doctor is now regional health officer in one of the most "British" cities in the West-Moose Jaw.Here is an extract from the doctor's letter:"My job is to organize preventive health services in a region that extends for about 100 miles one way and 80 another. Outside Moose Jaw there are in this whole area only 3 doctors but of course half of the population of 47000 live in the city.Today (Aug.9th) this flat tree-less countryside is one great ocean of ripening grain and if nothing happens to it, the farmer is going to have splendid crops."

.....
We extend our good wishes to Dr Kinneard and hope that he will continue now to enjoy good health.ED.Weekly News.

NEW SCHOOL AT ROY COVE.

There are now eight children of school age in the settlement at Roy Cove, so a new school is being set up there. The materials and equipment for the school (as well as the first teacher) went out on the "Fitzroy" recently.

The building will be a 3-bay Mission Hut, with floor space 16ft. by 18ft. It will be lined with tentex and heated by a slow combustion stove. While extra windows have been provided to give better lighting. The children will have tables and chairs for doing their work in.

The teacher for the first six months will be Miss Jane Carter. Miss Carter was appointed as a pupil teacher in the Government School, Stanley, early this year, and this period of service in the Camp is looked on not only as a help to education in the Camp, but also as useful experience for Miss Carter for her work as a teacher in Stanley - it is highly desirable that all teachers in Stanley should have a good knowledge of Camp life.

Besides the children in Roy Cove settlement, Miss Carter will have under her care a boy at Port North and a girl on West Point Island. It is hoped that the boy from Port North (only about half an hour's ride away) will come in to the settlement for schooling, but it is at present more difficult to arrange for the schooling of the girl on West Point Island except by visits from the Roy Cove teacher. Even so, in view of the numbers involved, most of the teacher's time will be spent in Roy Cove settlement, so that, with homework during her absence, the Roy Cove children will be getting approximately full-time schooling.

No account of the new school would be complete without mention of the great help given by the manager of Roy Cove Station, Mr. S. Miller, and his wife; their help in the erection of the school building, the accommodation of the teacher, and other matters, has been invaluable.

WEDDING.

The wedding took place at St. Mary's Church, Stanley, last Saturday afternoon of Mr. William Peck to Miss Molly McLeod. The Rev. Father Drumm officiated.

The bride who was given away by Mr Tom Hardy, was tastefully dressed in silk flowered material with head-dress to match and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers. Miss Christina Sheddan, dressed in blue silk sheen and carrying a bouquet of white flowers was the bridesmaid. The bridegroom was supported as best man by his brother Mr. Des Peck.

After the ceremony a reception took place at number 4 Villiers street where the guests gathered to drink the health of the newly married couple and to sample the wedding cake made by Mr. Summers at the Woodbine Bakery. The bridal dresses were made by Mrs. R. Barnes.

We wish Mr and Mrs Peck every happiness - their future home is to be in the settlement at Douglas Station.

HOT AND COLD.

The Story of Two Local Lads who joined up during the War and went Overseas. One went to the south to the "Hot" lands, the other to the north to the "Cold" parts - thus the title of this article!

Basil and Pat Biggs, age 28 and 22 respectively arrived back in the Falkland Islands from the United Kingdom the last time the s.s. "Fitzroy" came down from Montevideo. I went along to hear something of their story and soon we were in the midst of our interview. My first victim was Basil who went to outpost on the 3rd of September 1939 in the service of the Falkland Islands Defence Force. When the main Imperial Force left the Colony early in 1944 some volunteers went from the F.I.D.F. with them. Among these young men was Basil who on reaching England joined the Royal Air Force. For 12 months Basil was stationed in Britain and then came the day when he was sent overseas with many others. India via Malta and the Suez Canal with all the wonderful sights of such a voyage, was the lot of this Falkland Islander. On arrival at Bombay he crossed to Calcutta by train and then after another train journey Basil flew to Mandalay in Burma. Soon this local lad was playing his part around the Control of an aerodrome on the outskirts of this famous old city. Basil spent four months in Burma. It was very hot in the day time and very cold at night.

On leaving Burma Basil returned to Calcutta again flying part of the way and then went to Karachi where he served for the remainder of his time. When about to be returned to England he went to Bombay. Some of the R.A.F. personnel were given the chance of flying all the way to England and amongst them was Basil. So away off to Poona and then back to Karachi. It took six days to fly from this northern India city to England (and this included a two day stop in Iraq and two days in Palestine - this latter stop to give the passengers a chance of becoming acclimatized.

The liberator plane carrying its 28 passengers flew mostly at about 10,000 feet, although sometimes it came down lower, as for instance in flying over Marseilles in the South of France. I asked Basil what he thought of life in the R.A.F. and he told me it was wonderful.

Death of Former Secretary of Falkland Islands
Branch - British Red Cross Society.

News has been received of the death in England a week ago last Sunday of Mrs. Lewis, wife of Mr. W. J. Lewis B.A.M. who was until recently head lighthouse keeper at Cape Pembroke Lighthouse, Stanley.

Mrs. Lewis, who went to England from the Falklands on account of her health, underwent a serious operation on her arrival there.

During her stay in the Colony Mrs. Lewis played an important part in the local branch of the Red Cross, and as secretary was responsible for a great deal of the "spade work" behind the scenes.

At the Canteen which was run, during the War years in the Cathedral Hall, and in Cathedral affairs Mrs. Lewis took a great deal of interest.

We extend our sympathy to Mr. Lewis in his great loss.

GARDENING NOTES.

A seedling plant whether it be a cabbage or flowering plant, will establish itself readily if the transfer is performed quickly. Exposure of the roots, to the sun and wind quickly dries out the fine feeding root hairs and consequently, the longer the seedling is out of the ground, the more energy has to be used in making new roots hairs. While energy is being diverted to root restoration, other growth processes cease with dire results to future development.

If possible, transplant seedlings into moist soil, pressing the soil firmly about the roots to ensure contact. If the soil is dry, puddle the roots in mud or follow transplantation by a thorough good watering. One good watering is far better than frequent sprinklings. Such sprinklings are dangerous because the practice encourages surface rooting which in times of the slightest drought cause excessive flagging.

His Excellency the Acting Governor Broadcasts
on his Camp Trip.

In the course of last Sunday's broadcast programme from the Stanley Broadcasting Station His Excellency the Acting Governor gave an account in racy style of his recent voyage round the islands on the s.s. "Fitzroy" accompanied by his wife and daughter. Here is a listeners impression from this talk:-

Leaving Stanley on the Tuesday night they waited until next morning in Port William on account of the weather. First call was San Carlos where a trailer was landed for Mr. Bonner's tractor. His Excellency was impressed with the efficient way in which the men of the "Fitzroy" and the Station employees got the trailer ashore. Fox Bay, (both sides) & Port Stephens were visited. At Port Stephens the manager Mr. T. Beaty who had formerly been in service in the Government Agriculture Department was especially helpful in explaining the farming problems at the present time. The "Fitzroy" called next at Dunnose Head where the memory remained of a return to the ship with many geese and much fresh milk. At Spring Point Captain Johnston succeeded in shooting two geese - thus demonstrating that he had skill in this direction as well as in that of navigating his ship. Mr. Mathews mistimed his shooting trip and was unable to visit Mr and Mrs. Felton, but Miss Mathews was ashore and enjoyed their kind hospitality.

Mr and Mrs. McGill were landed at Weddell....here Mr and Mrs Mathews and their daughter sat down to lunch with a company of 15 all told..and the manager's wife's mother - Mrs. E. Perry as hostess.

New Island came next on the list for a visit...this included an excursion to the great Rookery there, with Mr Middleton the School teacher as guide. The mollymawks were admired and seals in their natural state also made a great impression. The hospitality at New Island as at every place was most warm.

Chartres was visited after New Island....a new bren carrier was landed and the manager and his small son Bill made triumphal excursions on the new vehicle before all who dared to watch the performance! At Chartres Mr Mathews was able to assure the foreman Mr. Etheridge

on how happy his son Bill (a last years Scholarship winner) was at school at Montevideo.

Roy Cove was next on the list...once again hospitality abounded. The islands of West Point and Carcass were the ports of call after Roy Cove. As Mrs. Napier and her son were joining the ship at West Point and Mr and Mrs Jason Hansen doing likewise at Carcass, His Excellency and Mrs Mathews and daughter did not go ashore at these places out of consideration for these about to come to town.

At Hill Cove the plantation at the upper settlement was visited and Mr and Mrs. Eric Johnson's hospitality enjoyed. Dr. Arthur who had been on duty trip around the West left the "Fitzroy" at Hill Cove to ride back to Fox Bay.

Saunders Island was visited in bad weather. Mr. Harvey was simply full of exciting oldtime history of the Colony - especially of his old home at Salvador. The last Port of call was Pebble - little could be done here owing to the windy weather.

The Acting Governor concluded his interesting talk by giving words of special praise to Captain Johnston and his crew of the s.s. "Fitzroy" and Sid Lyse who runs the ship's motor-boat.

Mr Mathews concluded with the most appropriate words- "Good-night, good luck with the shearing" - and the hope to see many in town in February at Sports time.

SPLENDID DISPLAY BY LOCAL COMPANY OF THE BOYS' BRIGADE

The 1st Falkland Islands Company of the Boy's own Movement-the Boys' Brigade, held their 3rd Annual Display in the Gymnasium, Stanley, last Tuesday evening. Among the many present were His Excellency the Acting Governor, Mrs Mathews and Miss Mathews.

After the opening prayer by the Rev. W. F. McWhan, Platoon Drill was held under the eagle eyes of Staff Sgt. H. Luxton. This was carried out in fours. Then followed the boxing in which Ptes. J. Whitney and N. Summers, followed by R. Allan and K. Pearson gave bright displays of the ancient art. Messrs D. Williams and J. Newing acted as seconds while Mr H. Evans was referee.

The Junior Gymnastics with Mr H. Evans in charge came next. This item let us see how the movement caters for health-giving exercise. The horse-vaulting was of a high standard. Two more boxing bouts followed-Ptes D. Hansen and S. Hirtle, and R. Hansen and L. Skilling. These were full of "tough work" all the way through.

Seven senior lads gave a display of mat-tumbling. It was wonderful to see the cart-wheel performed by a human wheel of three individuals at a time! Great credit is due to Mr D. Williams and on all who took part in this item. The senior Gymnastics which followed were also A.I.-this included parallel bar and tableau work.

The whole company came into the picture in the next item which consisted of Company Drill in threes under W. O. L. Halliday.

Inspection by His Excellency and the presentation of prizes followed. In a brief speech Mr Mathews congratulated the Company on their performance that evening and stressed the importance of the Manliness of the Christian faith upon which the Movement was based.

The proceedings concluded with the National Anthem.

The Late Isabel Luxton

As we go to Press we learn of the death in Stanley on Tuesday of Mrs Stanley Luxton at the age of 44 years.

Mrs Luxton lived all her life in town and although of a retiring disposition was greatly interested in everything which was to mean progress here- especially in the line of education. Mrs Luxton was a regular attendee at the Tabernacle, being a member of the Women's Committee of that Church.

Mrs Luxton who had been in indifferent health for sometime is survived by her husband, one son, and two daughters-one of whom is a Scholarship Scholar in Montevideo. To them, and to the other members of the family we extend our

Dear Boys and Girls,

Here is a report from Derek Osborne of a Scout Outing in Montevideo:-

"Not so long ago we went for a days outing with the scouts. I set the alarm for six o'clock and Bill and I rolled out of bed just afterwards. We had some breakfast and went to get a bus to take us to the station.

The buses aren't very numerous at 7 o'clock in the morning but after waiting a while we got one and arrived at the station at 7.20. We bought our tickets, they were second class return and cost us 1:16 pesos. The train left at 7.38 and we piled aboard not long before. On the way we stopped at quite a few stations, we passed by fields being ploughed by horse-drawn ploughs. Margat, the place we were going to was 51 kilometres away and we arrived there at 8.45. When we collected our belongings on the platform the man in charge suddenly remembered he had left his water bottle on the train and dashed back to get it. Luckily the train had not started again!

We made our way to the camp-site, when we arrived there each patrol collected its own firewood, then we had a game of signalling and by this time it was time to start cooking the lunch. When we had had lunch we had a siesta and then played a stalking game until tea time. I managed to get in unnoticed once but not the other time. After tea we made tracks towards the station. We were supposed to take a train at 6.30 but it didn't arrive until 7:00 and when it came it was full. The next train came at 7.45 and though it was rather full we all got on. There were not many seats but I managed to get one by the window, however it was too dark to see much.

We all enjoyed our day's outing!

Cheerio until next week,

Uncle Jim.

The winner of the firewood collected and raffled by the Boy's Brigade for their funds - was Mr. E. V. Summers.

F. I. D. F. v Royal Navy.

LAST SUNDAY

Once again Stanley witnessed an exciting football match between a Royal Navy and a F.I.D.F. eleven. There were a good number of spectators who, braving earlier inclement weather, were to witness a fast and thrilling match. The R.N. kicked off with the wind behind them, and within two minutes the ball was in the net. Shortly afterwards the navy scored again making the score 2 - 0. Then the Stanley team had things their own way, giving a fine example of teamwork and eventually their efforts were rewarded by a goal. Not to be outdone the navy fought back desperately and ten minutes from half time scored again. The navy were now playing better football and the forwards were combining very nicely although it must be said that Stanley put up a staunch defence to many of the naval attacks. From a long shot up the field towards the R.N. goalmouth five minutes from half time the F.I.D.F. scored their second goal. Two minutes later the F.I.D.F. were awarded a penalty which the R.N. goalkeeper saved beautifully.

The second half was fast and furious, the Stanley lads with the wind behind them soon brought the score up to 6 - 3 in their favour. It was after the F.I.D.F.'s sixth goal that things really got lively, the navy pulled together as one man and played really good combination football. It was a treat to see the ball being passed from forward to forward and then into the net as it did, four times in twenty minutes, bringing the score to 7 - 6 in the R.N. favour. The F.I.D.F. did their utmost to get the equaliser and many times the R.N. goal was in danger, only fine work by the goalkeeper and defence saved the navy from defeat, which at that time looked inevitable. Exactly one minute before time the F.I.D.F. managed to force their way through the defence to score the equaliser, which was the joint effort of the entire F.I.D.F. team. In the last minute both sides did their utmost to get the winning goal, but of no avail, leaving the final score 7 - 7. It was truly a thrilling match and the result was worthy of a match such as Stanley witnessed that day.

So it must be - and I am sure that Basil will have as a memory for many years to come, not only his Burma memories but also the memories of his remarkable flight from India to England.

Pat Biggs, whose portrait drawn by Mrs. Earle and which appeared in the Crown Colonist told me that he went to outpost in the Falkland Islands Defence Force in December 1941. He went to England at the same time as Basil, joining the Navy. After six months training he was sent to the aircraft carrier "Queen" where he served for the remainder of the War period. Their base was at Scapa Flow and raids were carried out on German occupied Norway by this vessel and her planes.

The cold North was her field of service - on two occasions, Pat visited Russia, once going ashore to a small town called "Vianga" in Cola Bay. This place was smaller than Stanley, there was no cinema, the Government owned store sold lip-stick - and the local population seemed keen on trying to beg English cigarettes. The people who were very poor seemed to suffer from an over dose of state controls. In this part, at the time of Pat's visit, there was continuous daylight - but even then it was bitterly cold.

Last November Pat was paid off at Greenock in Scotland and returned to Chatham where he remained until being "demobbed"

Pat was anxious to assure me that he was dragged into having his portrait drawn - through the Victoria League. The portrait (drawn in the artists flat) took three hours to complete - and the original was on paper about two feet square.

Both Basil and Pat spoke highly of the Victoria League and what it did and does for our people. I asked the two ex-service lads if they had seen enough of the world - "No" was the answer, "it is nice to get back to see our folks and the Falkland Island food, but there's a lot of the world still left for us to see!"

Work is proceeding with the extension of the front part of the Kelper Store, in John Street, Stanley.

Message from New Secretary of State.

The following telegram was received by His Excellency the Acting Governor, from the Rt.Hon. Arthur Creech Jones, P.C.,M.P. - the new Secretary of State for the Colonies:-

On the occasion of my assuming office as Secretary of State for the Colonies I wish to send you the following message-

"I am privileged to follow a distinguished and hardworking Colonial Secretary who never spared himself in your service in an office of such vital importance and responsibility. My deep interest in colonial progress and welfare is familiar to you, and I know I shall enjoy the friendship confidence and goodwill of yourself, your staff, advisers, and councils. I want also to feel that the Colonial Office and myself have the confidence of the colonial peoples. The British Government and Parliament feel and have shown a deep and sympathetic concern for the happiness and prosperity of the people of the colonies which is shared more and more widely by their fellow citizens in this country. We are living in an age of great significance in human history, a formative period in which new forces and new ideas wield an ever increasing influence on the lives and destinies of men. Here in London we are fully conscious of these new forces and of the tremendous tasks which face us. We shall do our best to tackle them, and in doing so we offer you, in a spirit of friendship and confidence, the same full and complete co-operation which I hope and believe you will extend to us. I know that much of our work is fraught with difficulty. Results are often despairingly slow. But Colonial Administrations must be bold, imaginative, and energetic, and the peoples interested, active and understanding as they move - and they are everywhere moving - towards greater responsibilities. The modern world can leave no room for privileged economic domination or social injustice wherever these try to exist, any more than it can tolerate ignorance, disease, malnutrition, and extreme poverty. Our partnership is the privilege of service with friends in the great purpose of achieving for them their responsible place amongst the other peoples of the world. I am honoured to share a greater responsibility in our common task!"

News from Pebble Island.

Mr. Draycott left Pebble Island on the 10th October for Purvis in the Gentoos. The Gentoos was also going to Kent Island to ship sheep from there to Purvis. The vessel arrived back at Pebble on the 11th. A most enjoyable dance was held in the cookhouse last weekend organised by Alf Smith.

ALL WEATHER WOOLLENS.

Latest products of the British wool industry were shown at the Britain Can Make It exhibition, which opened in London on 24th September. They included the lightest wool fabrics ever made. One weighs only one ounce per square yard, but despite its lightness of texture will wash well, pleat and drape.

UNFINISHED JOURNEY.

34 YEARS AGO TODAY)

On October 17th the R.M.S. Oravia, Captain Poole, belonging to the Pacific Steam Navigation Company, Liverpool, left that port with a large number of passengers and a full cargo, bound for South America, calling at several places as far as Callao, Peru.

All went well until the night of November 12th, when the ship was off the Falkland Islands - Port Stanley, in the Falklands, was one of the ports of call. Pembroke Light, which is about five miles from Port St Stanley, was sighted at 9 p.m. and at 10.20 the ship struck the Billy Rock, about half a mile from the lighthouse. At this time the greater number of the passengers were still up waiting until the ship had anchored for the night, which had been the captain's intention, as it was too dark to enter Port Stanley at that hour.

There was great consternation among the passengers, therefore, when, instead of hearing the anchor let go, they felt the ship strike a rock with considerable force. Parents rushed below to rescue their children, but on the whole there was no panic. Passengers were told to clothe themselves as warmly as possible and then to put on their life-belts. The weather was bitterly cold, and at the first rush on deck from below many were hardly able to speak through fits of shivering and excitement. On the bridge the captain was at his post issuing his orders as calmly as if the ordinary routine of the day were being carried out. The engines were then going full speed astern. The bell was rung for boat stations, the steam whistle was sounded, and the order for lifeboats to be swung out and lowered to the rail was given. A wireless message was sent to the shore station asking for assistance, to which a reply was shortly received from the Governor of the Falkland Islands saying that the tugboat Samson and several steam whalers would leave immediately for the scene of disaster. During this time the crew were going about their various duties in a calm and deliberate manner - the state of ROADMAKING in Sutherlandshire.

A well-known historical author states:-

"In 1812 there was not a single good road through the whole country and only one bridge. Twelve years later, 450 miles of roads and 134 bridges had been added to Sutherlandshire".

This was done by Lord Stafford, later first Duke of Sutherland.

discipline on board was perfect; each man knew what he was about and did it.

It brought back vividly to one's mind that British heroism was not a thing of the past. Here was a crew worthy of the best traditions of the British merchant service, and of the Pacific Steam Navigation Company. The Pacific Line may well be proud of its reputation for good order and discipline. Captain Poole, his officers, and crew deserve well of their countrymen. They were prepared to sacrifice their lives in upholding the honour of the Red Ensign.

Several wireless messages were received from time to time from the shore station, and about an hour after the ship had stranded several small steamers' lights were sighted bearing down on the ship. It was a cheering sight to the 264 passengers on the doomed vessel, who had no idea how long it would be before she went to pieces. They realized that the ship was in a very precarious position, and might at any moment slip off the rock and sink in deep water. They therefore watched with joy and thankful hearts the approach of the rescuing boats. Owing to the rough sea none of them could come alongside the Cravia, and to make matters worse the wind increased in violence and thick rain set in.

Four lifeboats were lowered into the water and were filled with women and children, who were transferred to the steam whalers. Whilst this was proceeding the Government launch Penguin managed to get alongside, and the remainder of the women and children and some men embarked in her. The next to come alongside was the tugboat Samson, commanded by Captain Henry Thomas, who handled his boat with consummate skill, and is deserving of great praise for his daring act in placing a tugboat of the Samson's size alongside a ship aground, with a heavy sea running and breaking on rocks nearby. The remainder of the passengers, numbering about 200, were then embarked, and when all were on board of her she cast off and steamed away for Port Stanley. The captain, officers, and crew remained on board the Cravia.

After the passengers had left all the mails and baggage were brought up on deck, ready to be sent on shore by the first steamer that could go alongside. All this time the ship was surging and grinding on the rock, her stern being afloat. The heavy seas caused her to strain badly, and the water-tight bulk-heads to give way. Daylight broke on a busy crew, working hard in saving mails and passengers' baggage, regardless of their own safety or comfort.

GARDENING NOTES.

Plants being brought up under glass, in the porch or greenhouse, require special care if they are to be transplanted outdoors later. Though light is not essential to germination of the seed, it becomes imperative immediately the leaves appear. Light is necessary to ensure stout sturdy stems and firm tissue. Furthermore, before such plants can be planted safely out in the garden they must pass through a period of acclimatization, or to use the gardening term, to be 'hardened off'.

The hardening off process is a matter of giving the plants time to adjust themselves to the lower temperatures of outdoors. A plant raised in the porch develops very soft tissues well filled with water and such tissues are - as may be imagined - most susceptible to outdoor conditions. Gradual transfers, first to the cold frame, then to the garden check growth and cause the water content of the plants to fall and thus the tissues become hardened. On placing the plants in the cold frame, allow the 'lights' to partially cover them for a couple of days, closing them at night. After this period, remove the covering throughout the day but still continue to cover at night for a further three or four days. The lights may then be dispensed with but the plants should remain in the shelter of the uncovered frame for a further week before being planted out in the open.

A successful dance was held in the Gymnasium under the auspices of the Old Pupils' Association last Friday evening.

Dear Boys and Girls,

Last week the 1st Falkland Islands Company of the Boys' Brigade gave their annual display in the Gymnasium, Stanley. It was a wonderful show... there was one thing that specially impressed those who looked on. In one of the Senior Lads' Items the fellows were standing on and around the Parallel Bars, some upside down, some in other difficult positions. Twice this event was tried and each time some little thing went wrong and the "tableau" as it is called was not quite perfect.

Other interesting things were done by the lads and then they put on the tableau again which had not been carried out as perfectly as it should have been. On this third occasion the lads carried the whole thing through without a hitch. People greatly admired the way this item was not allowed to be passed over without being done perfectly.

In the things which we do, boys and girls, we too should be willing to keep trying until we do them perfectly.

Cheerio
until next week,

Uncle Jim.

Army Stores sent in Gift Parcels.

In view of the comparatively large stocks of certain ex-Army foodstuffs at present available in the town, it has been decided that the present prohibition on the exportation of foodstuffs shall be partially relaxed to permit the sending to the United Kingdom of an unrestricted number of parcels containing ex-Army foodstuffs on the following list:-

1. Meat & Vegetable stew.
2. Oxford Sausages.
3. Casserole of Beef.
4. Steak and Kidney Pudding.
5. Margarine.

2. The procedure to be followed in sending these parcels will be as under:-

(i) Parcels containing ex-Army foodstuffs should be packed separately from Gift Parcels covered by the existing scheme, and should be marked clearly with a large letter "B" in addition to the normal declaration form.

(ii) Any number of "B" parcels may be sent at a time by each person. but parcels may not exceed 7 - lbs. gross weight, nor may more than 2 lbs. of any one foodstuff be contained in each parcel. It should also be remembered that the English scheme permitting the importation of gift parcels stipulates that they shall only be received "at reasonable intervals".

(iii) "B" parcels will be subject to examination by the Customs Department after posting, and any person found attempting to export foodstuffs other than those scheduled above, by this means, will be prosecuted under the Exports and Imports (Emergency Powers) Ordinance, 1939.

3. This scheme has been instituted as an addition

Excellent results are obtained by printing on these fabrics. In many instances screen-printed and hand-blocked designs intended originally for pure silk or rayon have been used. Some of the new wool fabrics have been printed in floral designs in sixteen colours, produced with such clarity and brilliance that at first glance they might well have been the finest silk.

These new lightweight wool materials are delightfully soft to handle and their fine, even texture gives every desired quality for colour display, light reflection and draping.

Fashion experts declare that they open up a new vista for wool since, in air-minded world, travelling wardrobes must be planned for quick-change weather conditions.

FEDERATION MEETING

A Meeting of the members of the Falkland Islands Labour Federation took place in the Gymnasium, Stanley last Thursday evening when nominations for the various Offices including the Committee were invited from those present. Mr W.J. McAtasney, Chairman of the Federation presided, being supported by Mr M. Evans - Secretary, and Mr G. Brechin - Treasurer.

The names proposed are to be read over the local Wireless, so that people in the Camp, attached to the Federation may register their vote.

After this business the Federation members discussed the contents of a letter received by the Federation from the Government. The contents of this letter had arisen from suggestions made at a Public Relations Committee Meeting. After much plain speaking on the subject of interference in Labour matters by the Public Relations Committee it was resolved unanimously to ask the Government that the present P.R.C. be dissolved at the end of this year and a new one be formed by the vote of the people.

A VISIT TO THE STANLEY WEATHER STATION.

Recently I paid a visit to our new institution known locally as the "Met office" to see for myself just how a weather forecast is made. There seems to be a vague idea that this mysterious palace on the hill uses magical potions and weird rites to control the various elements of weather which assail the Falkland Islands. Nothing could be further from fact.

I found five men hard at work with little time to waste on idle conversation. I was shown the meteorological log book in which are kept hourly records throughout the day and night. I saw the instrument room which is one of the best equipped and most up to date in the southern hemisphere. What fascinated me most of all was the wind recorder or Dines Anemograph whose charts are exhibited daily on the P.W.D. notice board. A very neat black box in one corner records the dry and wet bulb temperatures registered on thermometers in an outside screen. This is the Distant Reading Thermograph. There were no less than five barometers of various types showing the variations in atmospheric pressure throughout the day. I saw Jack Newing with a very large balloon in his hand. He explained to me that it was filled with hydrogen and that he was going to release it and follow its ascent with a theodolite for about half an hour. The measurements derived from these observations give the speed and direction of the wind up to 20,000 feet above sea level, and will no doubt become even more important when an air service is established in the islands.

In the Forecasting Room, Lieut. Niddrie and Mr Edgar Harvey were busy examining a map of South America, the Falkland Islands and Dependencies on which were written hundreds of small figures and symbols. Lieut. Niddrie explained that these represented the weather which was being experienced at about 100 weather stations at 8 o'clock that morning. Using these figures which had been broadcast by all South American Republics and by Stanley, and with the aid of all the observations made on the East and West Falklands, he and Mr Harvey were able to examine the various weather systems

Chairmen of the Labour Federation Broadcasts.

Mr. W. J. McAtasney the Chairman of the Labour Federation came to the microphone last Sunday and gave another talk in the series on Trade Unionism. The speaker added by announcing that a deputation consisting of Messrs. M. E. Evans, J. J. Harries, G. Hansen would go to Fox Bay shortly to a meeting for the purpose of settling Camp conditions generally for the coming season.

Then Mr. McAtasney went on to read out the names of the nominations for the various positions open to members in the set-up of the Falkland Islands Labour Federation... for the year 1947. Camp members are being invited to vote in these elections. The nominations are as follows:-

Chairman: W. J. McAtasney, J. Barnes.

Vice Chairman: Billy Hills.

Secretary: M. Evans and Leo Dearing.

Treasurer: G. Brechin, Eric Biggs, Billy Jones.

There are twelve vacancies on the Committee, so members write down the names of those they choose to hold the main offices, then out of the remaining names choose twelve to form the Committee.

Remembrance Day.

Last Sunday the Rev. R. G. R. Calvert broadcast an appeal for the forthcoming "Poppy Day". Poppies are to be available for sale in many Camp places.

In Stanley the poppies are to be sold throughout the town. Mr. Calvert appealed for poppy sellers for this purpose. There is also to be a Dance for the same worthy cause. As Mr. Calvert stressed in his broadcast - there is more need now than ever of a good response to the Poppy Day Appeal.

UNFINISHED JOURNEY. (PART 2)

But to return to the passengers after they were removed from the ship. The Samson, Penguin, and one of the steam whalers with all the passengers proceeded for Port Stanley, and on going alongside the public jetty these were met by the hospitable and anxious inhabitants of the town. It was then raining heavily, and it was with a feeling of relief and pleasure that they took shelter in the Customs shed near by, where every one was indefatigable in showering every attention and care on the shipwrecked people. His Excellency W. L. Allardyce, C.M.G., with his staff and most of the leading people of Port Stanley were present, and by 3 a.m. all the passengers had landed from the Oravia, and had been billeted among the different houses and hotels.

Later on in the day several trips were made by the tug Samson and other steamboats to the scene of the wreck, and all the mails and baggage were brought on shore. At 5 p.m. an urgent message was sent by Captain Poole to the wireless station on shore saying that the ship had to be abandoned at once. At 6 p.m. the crew were transferred to the Samson, Captain Poole being the last to leave, and they were taken to Port Stanley - the officers to the town and the crew to the naval station across the harbour, where preparations for their reception had already been made.

All the passengers were loud in their praise of what had been done for them by Captain Poole and his officers, and they were surprised and glad to find that all their baggage had been saved; not even loose clothes and other articles that had not been packed were omitted - these were made up into bundles and labelled with the number of the cabin they were taken from so that passengers easily found what belonged to them.

On the night of November 13th wireless messages were sent to Montevideo which were also picked up by the Argentine cruiser San Martin and forwarded to their destinations. The Pacific Steam Navigation Company in Liverpool were thus informed of the disaster. The wireless station at the Falklands had been only

SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES BROADCASTS FROM LONDON.

A week ago last Wednesday the new Secretary of State for the Colonies - the Rt.Hon.Arthur Creech Jones broadcast a message to the peoples of Britain's Colonies. A recording of the same speech was broadcast at 9.45 p.m. last Thursday (Stanley time).

Here are a few of the points made by the speaker:

Mr Jones said by way of introduction that he regarded the Office which he held important and that many were already familiar with the interest which he had in their affairs (when Under Secretary of State for the Colonies). The speaker described his predecessor Mr Hall as a man of high conduct and service, and then gave an outline of his own approach to his task.

He desired the goodwill and confidence of residents in the Colonies. He had tried to understand Colonial problems with their complexity of tasks...many had been able to explain things to him in the course of his visits to their lands and Downing Street was not likely to forget the causes which he had pleaded. The goodwill of the people in the Colonies towards himself in his task was what he wanted.

Mr Jones continued "Some were cynical of London and Parliament - the British Parliament was more anxious about Colonial interests than at any time ever before". The people in the Colonial Office and himself desired the cooperation and confidence of Colonials.

Then there was scepticism of the local Government. Mr Jones paid tribute at this point to the splendid work done by all ranks in the Colonial Service in the last few years. He emphasised that some of those officials had felt that development in their Colony had been held up. Mr Jones went on "The tools both London and the Colonies have to use are blunt! The speaker told how the local Governments were consulting the population on its wishes - many reforms will be fought against by certain people and vested interests, sometimes the money required would not be there but underlying all you could be sure the Colonial Office in London had only one desire - to serve.

The Secretary for the Colonies asked his listeners to believe in their sincerity and that they were only concerned to promote the welfare of the Colonies. The Government at home and your local Government were using their resources for Colonial welfare. Trust, cooperation, removal of misunderstanding were necessary.

The speaker said that there was to be no social injustice, free cooperation of all peoples of building up.

Mr Jones asked people in the Colonies to do things themselves. Private initiative with people of a public spirit was called for. Just as Social Service had served in Britain he hoped that more of this would develop overseas in the months ahead.

The Colonial Secretary said that he knew of his listeners aspirations and problems. There was a desire for those living in the Colonies to rise to play their own part in their countries progress. Mr. Jones promised that those in London would not be over-cautious. He said that people cannot have sound social judgment in a few weeks.

The Secretary of State promised to come to the microphone from time to time to keep Colonial residents in touch with developments. Local Governments would tell their residents of their plans.

Mr Jones concluded his broadcast by saying that there would be a steady application of the solving of Colonial problems...and called for the cooperation of residents in the great adventure called mankind.

Man Missing on Fort Camp.

Mr. Phillip Clifton a young man left Danson Harbour last Friday morning to put a horse on the tussac island about a quarter of a mile from the mainland. Mr Archie McCarthy his mate felt anxious when Phillip did not return in good time and went off to see where he was. Although the geared horse was found on the island and the other horse the rider took from the mainland, there was no signs of the rider and so the alarm was raised and a careful search made. Up to the time of writing this report no trace of the missing man has been found. It is feared that some mishap must have befallen him.

Local Notes.

The Folk Dancing enthusiasts wound up their season with a Social Evening in the Gymnasium, Stanley, last Monday night. Once again thanks must be given to Miss Rosworthwick for all her interest in these weekly meetings held for the purpose of learning folk dancing.

It has been announced that arrangements are going ahead for the Stanley Sports Meeting in February 1947. The F.I.S.S. Club have generously provided the sum of £20 for Prize money for one race.

The exhibition of work done by the evening classes in Dress Making, held in the Government School last Saturday afternoon was much appreciated by those who visited it. The classes have been under the leadership of Miss Rosworthwick.

21st Birthday Dance at Port Howard

Miss Christine Blyth celebrated her coming of age birthday at Port Howard on August 26th by giving a dance in the Cookhouse on the following Saturday night. The twenty three guests present enjoyed themselves very much. Dancing commenced at 9p.m. and continued until 2a.m. At midnight a break was made and coffee served.

The Spot dance was won by Miss Hilda Lee and Mr Peter Johnson and the Card dance by Mrs D-Pole Evans and Mr F. Berring. The novelty dance prizes went to Mr and Mrs Freddy Johnson. The prizes were given by Mr John Blyth.

Before everyone went home the lady of the evening was chaired around to the singing of "For she's a jolly good fellow" then came the singing of the National Anthem.

recently installed, and had been working about a month. His Excellency the Governor encountered great opposition in England when he first proposed the erection, but whatever objections there may have been will now have vanished when it is realized that its great utility in preventing loss of life in the wreck of the Oravia has justified its existence.

On Monday, November 18th, the P.S.N.C. intermediate steamer Huanchaco called at Port Stanley and embarked all third class passengers and a few first and second class, taking them on to their destinations, and on the 28th of November the R.M.S. Cronsa, of the same line, was due to make a special call to take away the balance of the passengers, together with the officers and crew of the ill-fated vessel.

On the Sunday following the disaster thanksgiving services were held in Christ Church Cathedral and at the Roman Catholic Church of St. Mary - the former conducted by the Very Rev. Dean Seymour and the latter by Father Migone. Both buildings were filled to overflowing.

It is needless to add that both Dean Seymour and Father Migone were among the foremost in rendering valuable assistance to the shipwrecked people. Port Stanley is only a small settlement with a population below one thousand, and the services rendered by its inhabitants will be appreciated better when it is realized that they sheltered and fed almost at a moments notice an addition of 50 per cent of destitute persons.

Dear Boys and Girls,

Here is a news page all to yourselves.

Michael Ogden, aged seven, recently rescued a baby girl, when the house in which he was staying, near Blackpool England, caught fire. The children were alone in the house, but Michael lifted the baby from her cot, put her in a pram, and wheeled her into the street; then he gave the alarm.

A man in the French village of Rovigny decided to split up a wooden beam, which had been part of his cellar for very many years. When he began to break it, a hidden hoard of gold coins fell out. They were dated 1736, and are worth about £6,000.

A monkey in Paignton Zoo, Devon, always had remarkable large teeth, but no one knew how very strong they were until he bit through some of the iron bars in his cage, and escaped. The keepers thought that they would have to have a long hunt for him, but that evening he was back in his cage. Supper-time had come round, he was hungry, but there was no food to be found outside the Zoo, and so he had come home.

Cheerio until next week,
Uncle Jim.

Local Quiz Broadcast.

Last Sunday afternoon in the course of the Stanley Station's Broadcasting Programme a Quiz took place between a Naval team and a Stanley team. Mr. R. Rice and Mr. J. Crossman were the Question-masters. The Stanley team consisted of: - Messrs D. Clark, R. H. Hannaford, G. Middleton and W. McAtasney. The Naval side was represented by Messrs D. Fern, E. Massey, T. Ford, K. Selby. The Naval team emerged the winners but perhaps the Stanley side had slightly harder questions to answer.

likely to affect us within the next 24 hours. About 10 o'clock a forecast is written out, duplicated and distributed. It is also broadcast to the camp during the school programme. The forecast however, said Ident. Hiddrie, is only a part of the daily routine. There is a great deal of climatic information to collect and work out each day for publication in Air Ministry and Admiralty records, and all the Islands and Dependencies reports have to be put together ready for re-broadcasting to the rest of the world. These reports are vital to countries like South Africa, because weather systems which pass here, generally move eastward, and their arrival can be timed by meteorologists.

I left the Met Station duly impressed by this hive of industry. I was pleased also to have found two local men engaged in such highly technical work; we are lucky to have had the opportunity to train them according to the most up-to-date naval methods. Meteorology is a new and growing science to which we in the Falkland Islands are already making an important contribution. Good luck to the development of the weather service in this Colony!

GARDENING NOTES.

A variety of ornamental shrubs are not featured in our gardens. The reason for this is probably due to the difficulty of raising shrubs from seed. A common feature of many ornamental shrubs and trees is that the seeds are contained in thick fleshy fruits whilst the seed coats are quite hard. If these very hard coated seeds are sown in the usual way, a considerable period must elapse before germination. Such seeds may take anything from one to two years to germinate and when they do, germination is most irregular, so much so that a further six months may pass before germination is complete. Moreover, when germination is so long delayed, and if sown in the usual way, it is not an easy task to provide the necessary care to ensure successful results. Apart from this, one cannot afford space over long periods for slow growing seeds. So to save time, care and space, seeds with very hard outer coats known to be slow in starting into growth are usually stratified. Among the seeds to be so treated are Pyracantha, Cotoneaster, Berberis, Holly and Rose.

PLACE NAMES OF THE FALKLANDS.

Round the Camps of this Colony are to be found many odd and interesting place names which do not appear on the map, as they cover places important only to the shepherd or the Camp carter, who often has to find ways of getting his vehicle across Dirty Ditches, Holey Valleys and so on. Almost every station has some curious name to show - Dutchman's Pond and Portugee Ditch at Chartres, and the Slithery Slope at Teal Inlet are instances. Fitzroy has its Frying Pan Pass, and although the gentlemen of the Jolly Roger have never conducted operations in the Falklands, there is a Pirate Creek at Fort Howard. On the same station we find a Goats Gulley, at Dunmore head a Dog Hill, a Rabbit Island at various places, and a Horse Island at Fitzroy, while the humble hen has been remembered, perhaps by some lover of the breakfast egg, in the name of Gallina Valley. Gun Hill, near which is a shanty said to be haunted, gets its name from the rock on its summit, which resembles a cannon when seen from a certain direction, and Run Pass is supposed to have been the scene of an unfortunate accident - two bottles of the liquid being smashed on the rocks there when they fell from a riders maletas.

Bertha Green, The Annie Brooks and The French Wreck are among the names taken from the many ships which "came to grief" around the coasts of the Islands. Two curious West Falkland names are Chaffers Gullet and the Woolly Gut, both of which do appear on the map. The latter refers to the sudden gusts of wind met with in the Gut, a narrow passage between West Point Island and the mainland. A place on the Chartres River is

OBITUARY.

It is with regret that we publish news of the following deaths in the Colony since our last issue:-

The Late Rose Ellen Slade.

The death of Mrs.H.Slade occurred in Stanley last Thursday.

Mrs.Slade who was forty five years of age had been in indifferent health for sometime and on the day of her death was overtaken by a stroke. Deceased whose parents reside at Port Louis had lived for a number of years in town and is survived by her husband and daughter.

The funeral took place from St.Mary's Church on Sunday, the Rev.Father Drumm officiating.

To all who mourn their loss we extend our sympathy.

The Late Fredrick Murdoch Morrison.

Mr.Fred Morrison who passed away in Darwin last Saturday after a period of illness was 35 years of age. Fred had worked in the North Arm Camp all his days. He came into Darwin for medical reasons. To his wife, son and his mother and brothers we extend our sympathy.

The funeral took place to Darwin Cemetery last Sunday afternoon.

known as Loafers Corner, and was used by boats when it became too rough to continue the trip up or down river, which gave rise to the name. Though Spanish names are met with chiefly on the East, the West has a few such as the Mocho Ridge and Poncho Hill. Hornless cattle are termed "mochos" and Poncho is, of course, the cloak worn by the South American gauchos who named the places. These sombreroed gentlemen from the River Plate at one time ranged the country with muzzle loaders, popping off the wild cattle, which were numerous then in certain parts. Lorenzo (Laurence), Cantera (the Quarry) and Horqueta (Pitchfork) are three East Falkland names left us by the gauchos, though they would not be likely to understand the words as they are pronounced today!

Shadrow Hill, on the West, reminds us that the Dutch oven or shadrow, was much used in the Colony before stoves came into fashion, and to have one's goose cooked in one was a very good thing indeed, as all "old timers" will testify. The East boasts a High Hill and a Low Bay, the West Little, Round and Blue Mountains. Chartres possesses a Rat Castle, while The Trap is at Walker Creek. The Warrak, at Port Howard, is perhaps the most curious of local names. What language the word belongs to and what its meaning is does not seem to be known. One foreign writer has stated that the foxes which existed in the Falklands in the past - they were reported "abundant" in 1776 - were known as "warraks" and lived in the stone runs. Perhaps this is the explanation of this strange place-name.

Worst Fears Confirmed.

News reached town last Friday of the finding after a widespread search of the body of Phillip Clifton who had been missing from Danson Harbour (as reported in our last issue). The body was put on board the cutter boat "Black Swan" and taken to Goosegreen, later being interred in Darwin Cemetery.

This sad fatality reminds us once again of how easily accidents can happen.

Inquest at Darwin.

An inquest on the death of the late Phillip Clifton took place in Darwin last Sunday, the enquiry being presided over by J.F. Bonner Esq., J.P. At the end of the hearing the finding was announced that the death was due to accidental drowning in the course of his work.

The late Phillip Clifton.

We regret to report the death of Mr. Phillip Clifton occurred last week in the North Arm Camp, at the age of twenty two years. Mr Clifton lived all his life in the Falkland Islands Company's East Camp and for sometime had been shepherding with Mr. A. McCarthy at Danson Harbour.

The funeral took place at Darwin last Sunday afternoon. the service being conducted by Mr. K.V. Lellman.

To his father, sister and brothers, we extend our sincere sympathy.

November 11th - Earl Haig Poppy Fund.

A Charity Dance is being arranged for Monday November 11th under the patronage of His Excellency the Acting Governor. Proceeds will be given to the Earl Haig Fund. It would greatly reduce expenses if people in Stanley would be willing to donate refreshments. Offers of help in this way should be made to Mr. S.R. Summers.

So far only one person has responded to the appeal for helpers to sell Poppies on November 11th. This is not enough. Those willing to help should let the Reverend R.C.R. Calvert know.

ABERDEEN-ANGUS CATTLE.A FAMOUS SCOTTISH BREED.

By Alexander Keith.

Aberdeen-Angus cattle are famous all over the world for their beef-producing qualities. In this article, Alexander Keith, the Secretary of the Aberdeen-Angus Cattle Society, gives an account of the history of this Scottish breed, and of the many attributes which have made it so popular, not only in Britain, but in the United States of America, the Argentine, and in all the British Dominions.

XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX

In the past, visitors to Scotland who had never before crossed the border from England, or were on their first visit to Britain, often remarked with surprise on the great number of black cattle they saw in the fields and on the hillsides. These were representatives of the famous Aberdeen-Angus Breed, now known all the world over for its beef-producing qualities but native to Scotland and still the principal cattle breed there.

These cattle must have been in Scotland long before history began to be written, for we find hornless animals depicted on the sculptured stones of three thousand years ago, and we have as much right to assume that they were black as to assert that they were red or white. In the ninth century there is a reference to black hornless cattle, and the same kind of animal is mentioned in Latin charters of three and four hundred years ago.

But it was not until the beginning of the last century that the many local breeders of black cattle along the east coast of Scotland came together to produce what eventually was to be known as the Aberdeen-Angus breed. The counties of Aberdeen and Angus provided the main strains and also two of the greatest of its pioneer breeders, Hugh Watson of Keillor in Angus and William McCombie of Tillyfour in Aberdeenshire. It was Watson who in the first quarter of the nineteenth century began to collect choice specimens of black cattle from the north-eastern

The Meteorological Station from another Angle.

After reading the account in last weeks issue of a visit to the Meteorological Station, I would like to add to it by a short account of the methods and apparatus actually used in the forecasting of the weather, which seems to have escaped the notice of your correspondent.

Cattle are known to lie down before the approach of rain. For this reason the Met. Office has been sited on high open ground commanding a view of several fields and they are provided with a pair of binoculars so as accurately to determine whether the cattle are actually lying down.

Cats mew and wash themselves before rainy weather. A fine ginger specimen of the feline tribe is kept at the Met. Station and is carefully watched.

As a further refinement, a modern piece of apparatus now installed consists of a china donkey with a woollen tail. Placed in the open, the weather conditions may be determined as follows:-

Tail dry....	Weather fine.
Tail wet....	Raining.
Tail moving about....	Windy.
Tail falls off....	Earthquake.

This last item is similar to the ship model now exhibited in the West Store which, I understand, will be raffled on the same occasion.

Yours,

Anticyclone.

counties and to mate them. And in the second quarter of the century it was William McCombie who, having brought some of the best of Watson's young animals proceeded to breed from them and laid the foundation of many of the famous families which, after the lapse of a century, still dominate the Aberdeen-Angus Herd Book.

William McCombie started the great family of Pride of Aberdeen which has since branched into many sections, including the Prides of Mulben, the Pinky Prides, the Kindness Prides and others; while the Jilts, Ruths, Witches of Endor and Vines were all bred at Tillyfour.

Sir George Macpherson Grant, who was the third great improver of the Aberdeen-Angus breed, began his career by purchasing in Angus a heifer named Erica which became the ancestress of the family which bears her name, the most important and extensive of all the tribes in the breed, with many branches both in Great Britain and the United States of America. A generation ago an Erica was bred at Cullen House which became the mother cow of a family that is now regarded as quite distinct from its relations - the Juana Ericas, which are to-day mainly associated with the famous herd at Hervisston Castle. Sir George Macpherson Grant either bred, or bred from, the foundation cows of the families of Miss Burgess, Gerogina and Hosegay. Other well-known families include the Lady Idas, the Duchesses, and Mayflowers, the latter with still more famous descendants, the Blackbirds; the Lucy and Annuity families, the Matildas and the Gammers.

Many of these families are specially favoured in the United States and even to-day buyers will cross the Atlantic to purchase representatives in particular of Erica, the Jilt, Witch of Endor and Gammer tribes, for which they are prepared to pay high prices. In the Argentine there is a very strong demand for red Aberdeen-Angus, which are legitimate but little known members of the breed and which spring up occasionally in the black herds.

Because these native black cattle were extremely hardy and had been accustomed for long generations

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

Weekly News Office,
Stanley.

31/10/46

Dear Boys and Girls,

This week in your Corner we are reproducing a drawing of a motor boat which is the work of Ronnie Hansen, age 13 of Stanley.

Boys and Girls who live in towns in England are sometimes fortunate enough to go to the sea-side for a holiday in the summertime and not only to play around on the sands there but also to go for trips in pleasure motor boats. Now the youngsters enjoy every minute of these trips! The charge may be 1/- or perhaps 6d each, and by the time the boat speeds round the bay and back to its landing stage everyone aboard feels that they have had a wonderful time.

These boats usually have attractive names such as "Lark", "Eagle", "Adventure" and are kept in good order. A flag is often flown at the mast head as well as at the stern of the boat.

This very minute I expect, some youngsters over in England are thinking about their last holiday and of their exciting journeys in their favourite speed boat.

Cheerio until next week,
Uncle Jim.

Two corrections have to be made to last weeks paragraph. Amongst nominations for Committee the name given as Alex. Finlayson ought to be William Finlayson. The number of twelve given includes office holders and Committee.

ABERDEEN-ANGUS CATTLE.

to live with little shelter and on very sparse and poor pasture, they were regarded as a godsend by the frugal farmers of the early nineteenth century. These characteristics have remained with the breed. They are to be found thriving on pasture which has been dried up by long continued drought, or digging feet deep for their food amidst the snow drifts on high mountains. At home, in Scotland, on a diet of turnips and straw in winter, commercial animals that are the progeny of Aberdeen-Angus sires have waxed fat during war years to an extent and with a speed that have astonished even those who have long been accustomed to handling fat cattle.

These are the main reasons why Aberdeen-Angus have spread so rapidly and so widely over the world. In addition, they mature early, the fertility of their females is remarkably high and they live longer than most cows, while their black skins renders them immune from many diseases caused by the glare of the sun. Yet another feature of their popularity is the fact that over 90% of the cross-bred progeny of Aberdeen-Angus bulls or cows are hornless, and the lack of horns means a tremendous saving to the cattle-man through the prevention of bruised flesh and torn hides.

For the Children: Read St. Mark Chapter 11 Verse 1 - 11
This lesson gives us the picture of Jesus riding into Jerusalem. I am sure that many boys and girls cried out "Hosanna" as He passed along the way. Let us praise God's name each day of our lives in the things which we say and do.

An Annual Occasion. On Friday night (tomorrow) parents and friends are invited to our Children's Service (held in the Tabernacle) at 6.30 p.m. Christmas Cards will be received at this service from our children for boys and girls in the Princess Margaret Rose Crippled Children's Hospital, Edinburgh, Scotland.

GARDENING NOTES.

This stratifying operation consists of placing alternate layers of sand and seeds in a flower pot or tin. Each layer of sand must be half-an-inch deep. Place the receptacles in a dry airy situation and if the operation be carried out in the late autumn, the seeds, depending upon the species, say berberis or pyrananthea would be ready for sowing in the following spring. The object of stratification is to soften the seed coat and speed up germination on sowing. Another simple method, is to place the seeds in a small stout canvas sack burying them in the soil outdoors during the winter. If sown under glass in the spring, sudden change of temperature induces rapid germination.

Those who desire to change the shade of hydrangeas may do so by mixing one ounce of ordinary alum with each gallon of water used. At least this mixture will turn pink hydrangeas blue. Water the plants with the solution twice weekly, starting the treatment as the buds commence to develop. To turn the white variety to pink, dress the soil with a mixture of equal parts French chalk and powdered alum. Give each plant one tablespoonful of the mixture and water it in. One application as the buds commence to open will be sufficient.

Editorial.

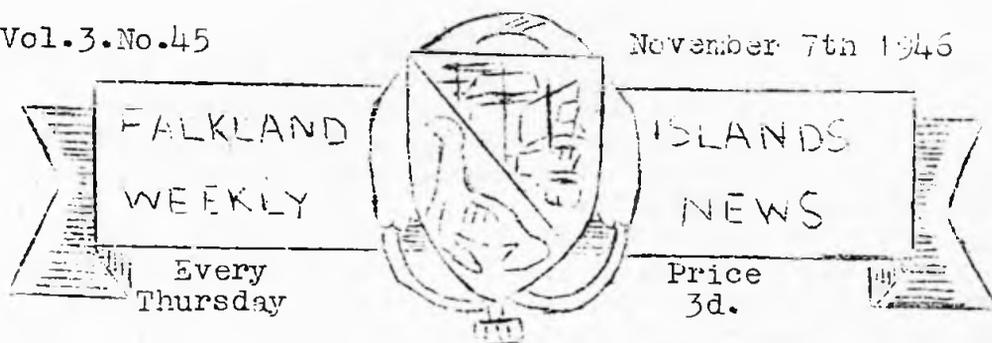

One of the things which have come to mean a great boon to the Falkland Islands must surely be the Radio-telephone. Many places on the mainland are connected by telephone but in the case of the smaller islands, telephone communication itself is not practicable - this is where Wireless telephone comes in so useful. Sickness is the one worry of all people living in such isolated parts. With the radio-telephone contact can be made with the mainland and the necessary medical aid summoned when sickness comes.

Radio telephones should be made available at the earliest possible moment to all the islands which are inhabited, and once the supply is more than the demand, these valuable instruments should be regarded as standard equipment for every small island farm.

REMEMBRANCE DAY 1946

If there had been no outbreak of War in 1939, then on the 11th of this month we would be observing Armistice Day and in our minds would be the thoughts of the men who laid down their lives to give us the years of peace.

And now today we have to be thankful for further deliverance. The epic struggle against evil, inhuman dictatorship, and concentration Camps of fiendish type, waged from 1939 to 1945, has ended victoriously and at this milestone in our history we can breathe freely and look forward with hope to a brighter future.

Our present, our future, is a gift to us which has cost much. Embedded into our history are the lives of those who died to bring this day nearer.

Then there are the others - those who returned from the battle, men and women, crippled, maimed - no longer able to look forward to the full use of their faculties and lives.

Today was purchased by the sons and daughters of our Empire and our Motherland. The symbol of the cost is found in the replica of the Flanders Poppy - the red delicate bloom which forever will be associated with those who moved over fields of battle in the Valley of Darkness on our behalf in the years 1914-18 and 1939-45.

Information is given in this issue about local arrangements for Remembrance Day in Stanley. Services are to be held in the Churches at 10a.m. on Sunday followed by a brief Ceremony at the Cross of Sacrifice.

Old Pupils Association Dance.

A very successful Old Pupils Association Dance was held in the Gymnasium last Friday evening to mark the winding up of the Sessions programme. Among those present for a time were His Excellency the Acting Governor and Mrs Mathews.

A large company patronised the occasion and all the usual dances were on the card, plus some novelty numbers. The prize winners of the special dances were as follows:- Card Dance: Mr. V. Pinlayson and Miss Dorcen Sedgwick, Novelty Dance: Mr. Steve Middle and Mrs. T. Biggs, Spot Waltz: Mr. and Mrs Keith Hutchinson, Elimination Waltz: Mr. W. Bonner & Miss I. Campbell.

Messrs F. Howatt and R. Feive were in charge as M.C.'s. Music was supplied by the Band and the King Brothers with their accordions and drums.

Refreshments supplied in the hall attached to St. Mary's Church...included savoury salad, trifle and fruit and jelly.

Dancing continued until 2 a.m. We congratulate Mr Sid. Summers the Chairman of the Association and his energetic Committee of the success of their function.

ABERDEEN-ANGUS CATTLE.A FAMOUS SCOTTISH BREED.

By Alexander Keith.
(Contd. from last week)

It was away back in 1856 that the Aberdeen-Angus breed began to make history. In that year a French breeder, and in the following year William McCombie of Tillyfour, gained many prizes at the International Exhibition in Paris, where the Aberdeen-Angus were found to be the heaviest of all the beef breeds. In 1867 McCombie sent to the National Fat Stock Show at Smithfield in London the most famous of all fat steers, Black Prince by name, whose girth was nine feet eleven inches behind the shoulders and whose length from top of shoulder to tail-head was six feet. His dead weight of butcher meat was about sixteen hundredweights and he sold for £120, which was a huge sum for those days. Again in 1878 McCombie sent a group of his Aberdeen-Angus cattle to the Paris Universal Exhibition, where he won the Prize of Honour for the best group of breeding animals and a prize for the best group of beef-producing animals, his nearest rival for the best group of breeding animals being his great friend Sir George Macpherson Grant of Ballindalloch, already mentioned as one of the three principal creators of the Aberdeen-Angus breed.

These triumphs, the skill of men like McCombie and Grant and the remarkable beauty of the animals of the breed itself, rapidly expanded the popularity of the Aberdeen-Angus and to-day there are over ten thousand breeders of them in the United States of America, nearly seven hundred in the Argentine (where there were only one or two at the beginning of the century), and hundreds in the British Dominions. Bulls of the breed have fetched tremendous prices in both the United States and the Argentine and their market values in the Dominions are rising.

The modern Aberdeen-Angus is as well-equipped for beef production as its predecessors of the generation who knew Black Prince. At the twenty

National Fat Stock Shows held at Smithfield, London, between the two great wars of 1914-1918 and 1939-1945, eleven of the supreme championships went to pure-bred Aberdeen-Angus bullocks or heifers and nine to Aberdeen-Angus crosses. At the Chicago International Fat Stock Show up to 1939, the last pre-war year, the Grand Championship was won by Aberdeen-Angus twenty-six times, by Shorthorns four times, by Herefords eight times and by cross-breeds four times. In the Argentine the highest prices for steers for the last few years at the Spring Shows have been given for Aberdeen-Angus crosses. There is thus no falling off in the breed's essential qualities.

There have been some remarkable animals and achievements in the breed. Most outstanding of all was the first registered cow, Old Grammie, belonging to Hugh Watson of Keillor, which lived to the age of 35½ years and was the dam of twenty-five calves. She gave up breeding in her twenty-ninth year and was kept as a "pensicner" until she died. It is still quite a common thing to find Aberdeen-Angus cows breeding at nineteen and twenty years of age; in fact in the Argentine some years ago a bull of fifteen years of age was mated with twenty cows, the youngest of which was twenty years old, and the result was twenty-one calves. And only recently, from the high moors of Caithness in Scotland, it was reported that a cow bought in 1933 was still breeding and had never been inside since she was purchased.

The purchase by a prominent Australian breeder of the famous New Zealand sire, bred in Scotland, the seven year old Mulben Embassy, for 1,500 guineas is an indication that the other sex of the breed has an equally long lease of energy.

LETTER TO EDITOR.

North Arm,
October 28th, 1946.

Sir,

We, the fellow workers of the late Phillip Clifton and Frederick Morrison, wish to pay tribute to their memories through the medium of your paper. As everyone has heard, Phillip Clifton was drowned on the 18th. October while crossing to Ladrillo Island for horses. Frederick Morrison died at Darwin on October 26th. after a short illness.

Both these men were liked for their kindly and cheerful dispositions by everyone here who worked with them and had known them. Their passing has left a void which cannot be filled in the minds of all who knew them.

From all resident at North Arm Station.

Cards of Thanks.

Mr. William Clifton and family wish to thank all those who helped them during their bereavement, particularly Mr. Alec Bonner and his men of Speedwell Island.

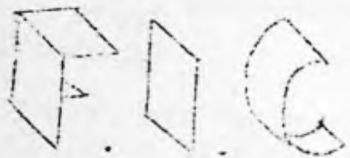

Mrs. Frederick Morrison wishes to thank all those who assisted during her husband's illness, particularly Dr. Krauss, Nurse Pedersen, Mr Karl Lellman, Mr Nat Berntsen and Mr James Middleton jnr.

Mrs Maud Morrison and family wishes to thank all in Darwin, and those who sent messages of sympathy in their recent bereavement.

THE FALKLAND ISLANDS CO. LTD. STORES DEPT.

The Assets of the Falkland Islands.

Sometimes we hear words and remarks on the shortcomings of the Falkland Islands. There are some of these, but every land has weaknesses as well as commendable points. The commendable things about our Colony far outnumber the others.

Take our present day - we may lie off the beaten track away from main shipping routes and air-services, the wind is inclined to blow and spoil many a wonderful summer's day. All these things are true but we forgive the wind when we remember that it dries the sods of peat which Nature has so kindly provided for us. Unlike people in so many parts of the World, our fuel is unrationed - then with our sheep industry meat is available for all, our gardens supply the vegetables which people in the towns of England may have to queue up for in insignificant quantity.

Everyone who is in the Colony can have work - and the saving man can have his own home. If you feel like writing a letter to your friends overseas, the postage by sea mail to England is a penny.

To reap these assets you have to live in these islands which are left to themselves by the outside world for many days in a year....

We fully appreciate how fortunate we are. The food parcels which leave our shores each mail show how much the population wishes to share its assets with their less fortunate friends in the homeland.

We have no gold mine in our Colony but we have the golden colouring in the skies of some of the most beautiful sunsets that man is ever privileged to look upon - the Falkland Islands grows upon people - many who have lived here for years leave its shores for other parts more on the beaten track, but the southern Colony with the diddle-dee of the Camp and the friendliness of its people remain enduring memories.

Peat-Cutting is now in full swing on Stanley Common. Some of our former residents would be surprised to see how far from the town some of the bogs are situated at the present time...compared to their day. Stanley must make a heavy call on the Peat bogs each season.

Dear Boys and Girls,

Here is an account of Trafalgar Day as recognised at the Government School, Stanley.
It is written by Robert Allan.

Trafalgar Day 1946

Trafalgar Day is always remembered to commemorate Nelson's Victory at Trafalgar on 21st October 1805.

Every year on Trafalgar Day The Commander in Chief of the Falkland Islands, accompanied by a Naval Officer, visits the Government School.

This year His Excellency The Acting Governor Mr
A.B. Mathews, His wife, daughter and Commander Marshall came to visit us.

Mr Mathews gave a short speech about important battles which have saved England from defeat. Then Commander Marshall told us of his adventures in the last War.
First he told us of having had dinner in the cabin where Nelson lived and of looking all over the "Victory" which he thought was very cramped when 700 men lived on her for months. Then he told us of his adventures in Europe and N. Africa.

When he had finished speaking Mr Baker asked His Excellency The Acting Governor for a half holiday which was granted, as is the custom on Trafalgar Day.

Then they departed going to see the smaller children in standards one, two, and three, also the infants.

Cheerio,

Uncle Jim.

The Late John Oscar Johnsen

We regret to report the death of Mr. John Johnsen which occurred last Tuesday in the K.E.M. Hospital, Stanley. Mr. Johnsen who had been in ill-health for some time was 76 years of age. Previous to coming to the Colony he was a sailor. For a number of years Mr. Johnsen worked at Darwin and Fox Bay as handyman. Mrs. Johnsen died in 1903. Left to mourn their loss are three daughters. We extend our sympathy to them.

The s.s. "Fitzroy" arrived in Stanley last Tuesday morning from Montevideo. The "Fitzroy" left the same evening for Walker Creek to bring in a sick-case.

GARDENING NOTES. 15

Most of us are unable to tolerate the presence of stones in the garden. The reason for this is mainly connected with a desire to keep the garden looking as tidy as possible. Numerous stones left lying on the surface do present an untidy appearance but nevertheless, they do have advantages. There is an old saying which says that "stones sweat moisture". This saying has no doubt arisen from the fact that moisture is always present beneath a stone at a time when the rest of the soil shows signs of drought. The presence of this moisture is due to the stones effectively sealing the openings of the fine capillaries in the soil thus preventing excessive evaporation. The weight of the stone tends to consolidate the soil particles and facilitates the rise of moisture. These apparently useless, unsightly stones then, are of some use. They at least reveal to us the value of soil consolidation in relation to the rise of moisture especially during dry periods.

A Suggestion: Recently we know that the doctor on seeking a house he was called to in Stanley found difficulty through there being more than one person with the same name. We are sure that it would help the doctor to get straight to the right house if the number and the street were given as well.

FISHERMEN FIGHT WHALES

Last July the steam-driven fishing vessel "Vesper" went to sea off the east coast of Northern England.

On one occasion about the middle of the month the trawler was some thirty five miles from the land-it was ten o'clock at night and nets had been shot; suddenly those on watch saw a school of bull whales coming through the water at good speed. They became entangled in the nets-the fishermen tried to draw the nets in but so strong was the school of whales, that this could not be done. After the fishing nets had been badly damaged the whales managed to free themselves and took their departure.

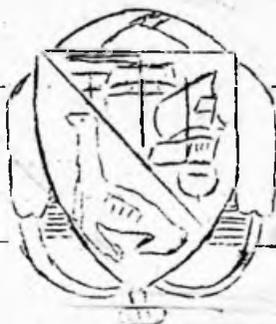

An interesting fact was that at one stage the whales were actually towing the "Vesper" with them in spite of the fact that the "Vesper" had her engine full speed ahead!

It was a bad night for the fishermen -the damage to their nets by this invasion of whales was estimated to be in the region of £500.

Fishing in the Falkland Islands ^{By LINE FISHER}

One of the most interesting of Sports which we have is surely that of fishing. By fishing - I mean going forth with rod and line and possibly a basket - to hide the large catch in!

Out in the Camp there is fishing in some parts for trout... in the neighbourhood of Stanley, the chief types of fish which are sought after by anglers are (Contd. on Page 16)

The Late Claude Isbell Jones.

We regret to record the death, in Montevideo last Thursday of Claude Isbell Jones, age 16 years.

Claude went to Montevideo some months ago for health reasons, after being laid aside ill in Stanley for a time.

Claude had worked for a time in Darwin before sickness overcame him.

To his father and brothers and sisters we extend our sympathy.

Remembrance Day in Stanley.

Last Sunday morning after services in the Churches, people made their way down to the Cross of Sacrifice, where a simple ceremony took place. A small detachment of the Royal Navy and the Falkland Islands Defence Force were drawn up beside the Cross. The steps up to the Memorial were lined by members of the Boys Brigade.

Shortly before eleven o'clock His Excellency the Acting Governor accompanied by Mrs. Mathews and Miss Mathews arrived. His Excellency deposited a wreath at the base of the Cross. Wreaths were also laid by Commander Marshall R.N. on behalf of the Royal Navy and Lieut. Colonel J.A. Woodgate O.B.E. on behalf of the Falkland Islands Defence Force.

Miss Thora Biggs laid a wreath in the name of the Government School. After a brief service conducted by the Rev. R.G.R. Calvert the firing of a gun marked the beginning and end of the two minutes silence. The Cathedral Choir sang a Hymn. Thus ended the simple ceremony of Remembrance which was attended by a large company in lovely sunshine.

Local Notes.

Poppies were on sale in Stanley last Monday.

The "Porvenir" arrived in town on Saturday night from Salvador Waters. Mr. Lewis travelled in on the vessel as passenger.

His Excellency the Acting Governor gave a broadcast address once again emphasising the importance of Poppy Day, last Sunday afternoon.

THE ENGLISH MARKET TOWN.

By F.G. Thomas.

All over England there are market towns with squares where for years farmers from the country roundabout have come once a week to transact business and meet their friends. Market day is still the nerve centre of rural life in England, and a vivid description of the varied activities of that day is given in this article.

"Going to market" is a great day in the life of the English countryman. There are those who say that the farmer spends too much time at market; they argue that "the best manure is the farmer's foot" and that when he is away to market, the farm must necessarily suffer. This is a fine theory, but farming is a social as well as a scientific process, it is a craft. Working the farm is the life of the farmer not - as is often the case with industrialists - a means to earning a living in order to "live" in his spare time. Hence going to market is a matter of business and pleasure, of hard bargaining, of learning what others are doing, of gossip, of household buying and of amusement, all intermingled. Thus the English town has come into being to serve farm and village life.

So on market day, in the early morning, the roads and lanes are lively with cars, buses, gigs, tractors and vans converging from all points of the compass to the market. Over the moors you may see the farmer riding his pony to market. In the village 'bus is a lively chatter of greeting and gossip. The lanes echo with the plaintive cries of anxious cattle unwillingly carted to auction. In the market square, there are sounds of stalls being put up. The shops are alert with windows freshly set; an urn sends steam hissing to the high roof of the covered market as the old woman in fresh white overall lays out her buns and cakes. There is a sense of expectancy in the air; this is the day of the week, market day, the first cause of the town's being. The market is coming to life.

The market is the nerve centre of rural life. Wars may ravage continents; a plague may destroy crops in countries far removed from this small town; politicians may scheme for their political beliefs, or the low lying fields locally may be flooded by heavy rains; but however remote or near the cause, the effect for the farmer will be revealed in this market. He may not understand or know the causes; he will shape his action by prices in the market viewed in the light of local gossip. Broadcast weather reports, news of the world markets and fat stock prices are important to the farmer, but they are of little significance until he has translated them into the local exchange of market place. He still trusts his own weather eye, the seller's offers, the buyers' bidding, the auctioneer's final word, and information shared and sifted through the gossip of the market place. These reduce the intangibles of farming to the realities of present affairs and local trends. His prosperity and his poverty will be seen in this primitive and traditional trade exchange.

Market towns in Britain are a focus for this exchange of goods and experiences. They have grown up on a common plane best suited to this exchange. They are sited at the nucleus of the roads and lanes and field paths of the countryside. And where these converge in the market town the road broadens, sufficiently wide to allow a row of stalls on either side, leading to a building housing the covered market. In many cases, the road is broad enough to form a market square fringed with stalls and packed with cars, carts, vans and waiting 'buses. Nearby, in more 'modern' towns, there are pens for cattle waiting to be sold, in older centres, the camber of the road at its broadest is steepened where cattle are stalled.

The market stalls are flanked by shops, some houses, a few local offices and probable two or three inns. Behind this facade, the church tower can be seen. There are, of course, many variants on this common plan, but they are only modifications of the original design evolved through many years of trial and error.

From the square, the radial roads too have shops - mostly comparative newcomers and often representing "nation wide" selling concerns. Their chromium shop-fronts, and all their skill in advertisement, however,

For the Children: Read Luke Chapter 11 Verse 1 - 9.
Let us remember boys and girls, that we can speak to God whenever we desire to do so - this speaking to God is called "Prayer". One of the most wonderful prayers of all was given us by our Lord - it is called after Him. We should all be able to say it by heart. It is given from verse 2 to verse 4 in our lesson, then we say "for thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever, Amen".

We give a warm welcome to the men folk to come along to our services.

Falkland Islands Volunteer Engaged

The engagement is announced between Mr Norman Paice of the Royal Air Force, only son of Mr and Mrs N.T.Paice of Stanley, Falkland Islands, and Miss Elaine, niece of Mr and Mrs W.H.Warner, 47 Shaftbury Road, Cheadle Heath.

The announcement appeared in the Stockport Express. Mr Paice left the Colony with the main party of Volunteers when the first Garrison Force left the Islands.

THE ENGLISH MARKET TOWN.

have not ousted the old family concerns known personally to most of the market-goers; those old shops have been there, with the same dull gold lettering on dull brown shop fronts, as long as the farm people can remember; indeed the glory of those dingy windows is among their earliest childhood memories of their first visit to market; and if the fashions have not changed, it is because they are right for the conditions under which they and their sons live and work.

By ten o'clock the market is at its peak. There is little traffic moving except for the arrival of the occasional bus; the cattle are still noisy, but their cries are more enquiring than frightened - except for the pigs who always squeal as though their last moment has come. In normal times, the stalls are gay with vegetables and flowers and the huge baskets covered with snow-white cloths beneath which are eggs or butter, cool and luscious as morning grass, while local cheeses are piled high. There is the stall of herbs tended by the little bespectacled herbalist with goatee beard - he is really selling old remedies back to the sons and daughters of the countrymen who, in days gone by, discovered these "remedies" themselves; the bookstall, now bedevilled with garish weeklies which may be exchanged for others; another laden with crockery and pots and pans; and there is usually one stall with bibles, tracts and scriptural texts of Victorian patterns; and in the open, and spread on the road, are the wares of the "Farmer's Friend". This is always a magnificent sight: new ropes, polished harness, brushes of all sorts and shapes, pocket knives, tarpaulins, boots, chains, every oddment a farmer may be tempted to buy. The "Farmer's Friend" is a stout man and his rich local dialect dominates the market place. He talks as if he were quite uninterested in selling anything: "Don't 'ee buy from me; I don't mind. If I never sell nothing I needn't worry. I've got enough money to see me through the rest of my days. Na' then, what about half a dollar" - and he smashes his right hand resoundingly on his raised knee and looks round expectantly - "Here, two and six - here, two bob". And his young assistant (Contd. on page 14) rushes about the large crowd selling the new spun rope. As he pauses to select his next article for sale, the voice of the Auctioneer in the cattle market can be heard, his staccato voice repeating the bids till his little ivory hammer head poises expectantly while he chants "no further bid.....going once.....going twice.....gone" and the cow is sold.

THE ENGLISH MARKET TOWN.

At midday the farmer's market closes; and he moves off to the "pub" (or inn) for his midday dinner, and perhaps afterwards to the shops or "the pictures". The market continues in the afternoon but it is now different. There is a restlessness about the place; the cattle are being carted away, the cars are moving off, and some stalls are closing down. The "Farmer's Friend" is now catching any trade, with scissors and knives and stain removers; he has lost interest and his audience no longer stimulates him for there are few among them that he recognises.

Meanwhile, in the Council Chamber, some farmers and a village parson are meeting on business of State. Market day is obviously a good time to hold a meeting of the Rural District Council, which is concerned with the common affairs of a number of parishes. It is a democratically elected body, though in fact there are seldom any elections as the "members" are returned unopposed. The market town itself may have its own Council or it may be the centre of an Urban District Council. In any case, it is the civic centre of the area.

As the day goes on, cars and carts are headed towards home, while some members of the community jog home in the 'bus chatting with the driver (who also takes the fare). They see Mrs. Waldron off at Ponds Lane and George Farrow at Edgefield Corner and Mary Wilber at Huxtable Cross and finally get off themselves and wander down the dark lane - they are content; they have done business and met friends who belong to their world of the countryside.

Government departments may control prices; scientific advisers may give lectures and demonstrations on increasing output. The farmer and his wife will still come to market once a week.

Dear Boys and Girls,

Here is a contribution for our corner, which has been sent in to us from Odette Smith who lives at Fox Bay. We are grateful to Odette for going to so much trouble:-

Dear Mr McWhan,

I thought some of my little friends in Stanley would like to hear something that happened at our picnic last Sunday. It was a glorious day and we were paddling on the sand beach in the little ponds at a Gento Rockery. The penguins were flapping all around us, and there were some very cheeky Johnnyrooks coming near all the time. At last one of these inquisitive birds stole one of my little sister's shoes, socks and her hat. He turned the hat over and picked at it, and although we got it and the shoes from the cheeky birds, they took the socks away with them, and Lyn had to ride home without any.

With best wishes to all from,

Odette Smith.

Cheerio until next week,

Uncle Jim.

The fish are as moody (from the angler's point of view) in Stanley's fishing localities, as anywhere else in the world. Just on the day when you imagine that everything is ideal for the job—and your last instructions to those at home are to be sure and have the frying pan on ready to cope with the large number of fish which you are sure to bring home—on such occasions the inhabitants of the waters seem to be on their most inconsiderate behaviour.

Yes, on these occasions you can patiently hold your rod in your hand, or if you are not a rod fisherman, then the precious line—and you know only too well that there is a tasty piece of mutton on the end of the hook.. These efficient signs of your good organisation make not a scrap of difference, and after a weary time you wend your way home... to face a household of people which makes the most of your unfortunate effort.

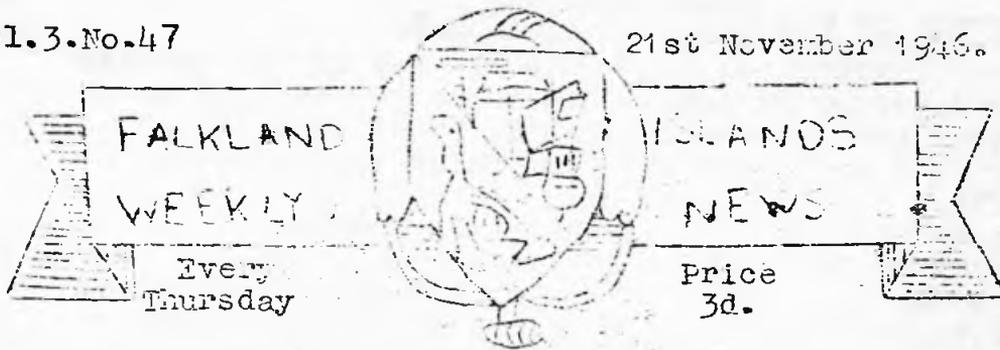

In fact these occasions seem to make the angler favour the less sporting (perhaps) but more certain method of fishing—by using a net... and a horse!

DANCE AT FITZROY

Last Friday night a dance took place at Fitzroy. It was not a prearranged affair—this made it all the more enjoyable. The s.s. "Fitzroy" was in port but the fierce wind made the loading of the wool difficult. Work was due to commence in the early hours of the morning so the lads in the Cookhouse thought that it would be a good idea if, instead of going to bed they held a dance. So the dance was speedily organised.

Ten ladies and twelve men, under the capable hands of Mr Karl Zellman who acted as M.C. were present to enjoy the dance. Everything went with a swing—including the Ladies' Choice numbers—even though it meant making a journey into the kitchen to bring out a shy partner!

Music was supplied by Mr W. Burns and Mr S. Smith—the latter passing through Fitzroy on his way to Swan Inlet.

The floor was in good order and all too soon the appointed hour drew near when work with the wool had to commence again and the last number called.

The evening terminated with the playing of the National Anthem and the charring round of Mr W. Burns who was the gentleman who originally suggested the idea of the dance.

PUBLIC NOTICE.ARRIVAL OF THE GOVERNOR DESIGNATE.

The following programme for the day of the arrival of the Governor designate has been approved and is published for information. It is hoped that the public will co-operate by decorating their houses with flags on this occasion.

2.00 p.m. The RMS LAFONIA will pass between Meangeary Point and Cape Pembroke Light. The MV ALERT with the Honourable the Senior Medical Officer, Capt. L.W. Aldridge MBE, ADC and the Customs Officer on board will go alongside the LAFONIA and put these officers on board. The Governor's flag will be broken at the mast head of the LAFONIA and she will proceed slowly during a Royal Salute of seventeen guns, fired by Charles Point Battery, after which she will proceed to and anchor in the centre of Stanley Harbour opposite the Company's East Jetty. His Excellency the Acting Governor and The Naval Officer-in-Charge will embark on H.M.S. CONSULVANT at the Public Jetty and go on board the LAFONIA.

2.45 p.m. The Governor Designate and Mrs Clifford together with the ADC and accompanied by the Acting Governor, the Naval Officer-in-Charge and Capt. Aldridge will land at the Public Jetty and be received by a Guard of Honour from the Falkland Islands Defence Force, after which Members of Councils and their Ladies will be presented to the Governor Designate. Space will be reserved on the Jetty for Officials and members of the general public.

3.00 p.m. The Royal Commission will be read to the public in the Gymnasium, after which the Governor Designate will take the oaths of office. Ample space will be reserved for members of the general public.

3.30 p.m. His Excellency the Governor will leave the Gymnasium where he will be received by and inspect a Guard of Honour of the Falkland Islands Defence Force, and will then leave for Government House.

GOVERNMENT SCHOOL - DISPLAY AND CONCERT BY THE CHILDREN.

Those of the general public who were fortunate enough to be present at the Gymnasium last Friday to see the School display, will I am sure, agree that we had two hours of real good fun and entertainment. In his opening remarks Mr. Baker explained that the show was instead of the display at the annual prize-giving, which had had to be given up as it tended to interfere too much with school work at that time.

Possibly more than all else I was impressed by the cheery atmosphere of both actors and audience and the sense the children gave of feeling that life was as it should be at their age just full of fun. The actual performance of the artistes was of an excellently high standard and that it was so good reflects the greatest credit on the teachers for the immense care and patience they must have taken and shown to produce such results. The interminable wait between acts so usually the rule in such shows was completely absent and the gift of extemporisation shown in both scenery and costuming was most creditable.

Space does not allow for a description of all the varied turns that came on and off in rapid succession, nor are comparisons fair as each act was given by a different standard or class in the school from the Baby Infants, (from whom we could have done with a longer scene) to the Continuation Class. I do feel that one or two items need mention, e.g. the play "The Obstructive Hat" by Standard 3, the dramatisation "Snow White" by the First Infant Class, the play "Soup" by Standard 2 and the play "The Spinsters" by Standard 6. It was a pity that the smallness of the stage prevented the audience following the pattern of the Dance by the Senior Girls, but the excellence of one or two dancers shewed quite clearly despite the cramped conditions. The Senior Boys in their Morris Dance did very well indeed when one remembers the rickety stage upon which they were performing.

A very fully packed Hall gave hearty reception to each act and judging from the applause and laughter I really believe everyone present enjoyed the evening as much as I did, I hope so, because I thought it was fine.

The Late Mrs Arthur Hardy

We regret to report the death, at the K.E.M. Hospital, Stanley, last Sunday evening of Mrs Arthur Hardy.

Mrs Hardy, who was 74 years of age, came from England as a young woman of twenty to the Colony, eventually marrying and settling down in Stanley, her husband being the much respected tenant of the Stanley Bakery for many years.

Mrs Hardy was herself in business after the death of her husband; recently she had been in indifferent health.

Left to mourn their loss are three sons and a daughter. We extend our sympathy to them.

The funeral took place from Christ Church Cathedral last Tuesday afternoon, the services there and at the graveside being conducted by the Chaplain - the Rev. R. G.R. Calvert.

The Paloma arrived at West Point Is. on the 16th of this month.

 Branch - British Red Cross Society.

News has been received of the death in England a week ago last Sunday of Mrs. Lewis, wife of Mr. W.J. Lewis B.E.M. who was until recently head lighthouse keeper at Cape Pembroke Lighthouse, Stanley.

Mrs. Lewis, who went to England from the Falklands on account of her health, underwent a serious operation on her arrival there.

During her stay in the Colony Mrs. Lewis played an important part in the local branch of the Red Cross, and as secretary was responsible for a great deal of the "spade work" behind the scenes.

At the Canteen which was run, during the War years in the Cathedral Hall, and in Cathedral affairs Mrs. Lewis took a great deal of interest.

We extend our sympathy to Mr. Lewis in his great loss.

GARDENING TIPS

A seedling plant whether it be a cabbage or flowering plant, will establish itself readily if the transfer is performed quickly. Exposure of the roots, to the sun and wind quickly dries out the fine feeding root hairs and consequently, the longer the seedling is out of the ground, the more energy has to be used in making new roots hairs. While energy is being diverted to root restoration, other growth processes cease with dire results to future development.

If possible, transplant seedlings into moist soil, pressing the soil firmly about the roots to ensure contact. If the soil is dry, puddle the roots in mud or follow transplantation by a thorough good watering. One good watering is far better than frequent sprinklings. Such sprinklings are dangerous because the practice encourages surface rooting which in times of the slightest drought cause excessive flagging.

His Excellency the Acting Governor Broadcasts
on his Camp Trip.

In the course of last Sunday's broadcast programme from the Stanley Broadcasting Station His Excellency the Acting Governor gave an account in racy style of his recent voyage round the islands on the s.s. "Fitzroy" accompanied by his wife and daughter. Here is a listeners impression from this talk:-

Leaving Stanley on the Tuesday night they waited until next morning in Port William on account of the weather. First call was San Carlos where a trailer was landed for Mr. Bonner's tractor. His Excellency was impressed with the efficient way in which the men of the "Fitzroy" and the Station employees got the trailer ashore. Fox Bay, (both sides) & Port Stephens were visited. At Port Stephens the manager Mr. T. Beaty who had formerly been in service in the Government Agriculture Department was especially helpful in explaining the farming problems at the present time. The "Fitzroy" called next at Dunnose Head where the memory remained of a return to the ship with many geese and much fresh milk. At Spring Point Captain Johnston succeeded in shooting two geese - thus demonstrating that he had skill in this direction as well as in that of navigating his ship. Mr. Mathews mistimed his shooting trip and was unable to visit Mr and Mrs. Felton, but Miss Mathews was ashore and enjoyed their kind hospitality.

Mr and Mrs. McGill were landed at Weddell... here Mr and Mrs Mathews and their daughter sat down to lunch with a company of 15 all told.. and the manager's wife's mother - Mrs. B. Perry as hostess.

New Island came next on the list for a visit... this included an excursion to the great Rookery there, with Mr Middleton the School teacher as guide. The mollymawks were admired and seals in their natural state also made a great impression. The hospitality at New Island as at every place was most warm.

Chartres was visited after New Island.... a new bren carrier was landed and the manager and his small son Bill made triumphal excursions on the new vehicle before all who dared to watch the performance! At Chartres Mr Mathews was able to assure the foreman Mr. Etheridge

on how happy his son Bill (a last years Scholarship winner) was at school at Montevideo.

Roy Cove was next on the list... once again hospitality abounded. The islands of West Point and Carcass were the ports of call after Roy Cove. As Mrs. Napier and her son were joining the ship at West Point and Mr and Mrs Jason Hansen doing likewise at Carcass, His Excellency and Mrs Mathews and daughter did not go ashore at these places out of consideration for these about to come to town.

At Hill Cove the plantation at the upper settlement was visited and Mr and Mrs. Eric Johnson's hospitality enjoyed. Dr. Arthur who had been on duty trip around the West left the "Fitzroy" at Hill Cove to ride back to Fox Bay.

Saunders Island was visited in bad weather. Mr. Harvey was simply full of exciting oldtime history of the Colony - especially of his old home at Salvador. The last Port of call was Pebble - little could be done here owing to the windy weather.

The Acting Governor concluded his interesting talk by giving words of special praise to Captain Johnston and his crew of the s.s. "Fitzroy" and Sid Lyse who runs the ship's motor-boat.

Mr Mathews concluded with the most appropriate words- "Good-night, good luck with the shearing" - and the hope to see many in town in February at Sports time.

SPLendid DISPLAY BY LOCAL COMPANY OF THE BOYS' BRIGADE

The 1st Falkland Islands Company of the Boy's own Movement-the Boys' Brigade, held their 3rd Annual Display in the Gymnasium, Stanley, last Tuesday evening. Among the many present were His Excellency the Acting Governor, Mrs Mathews and Miss Mathews.

After the opening prayer by the Rev. W.F. McWhan, Platoon Drill was held under the eagle eyes of Staff Sgt. H. Luxton. This was carried out in fours. Then followed the boxing in which Ptes. J. Whitney and N. Summers, followed by R. Allan and K. Pearson gave bright displays of the ancient art. Messrs D. Williams and J. Nowing acted as seconds while Mr H. Evans was referee.

The Junior Gymnastics with Mr H. Evans in charge came next. This item let us see how the movement caters for health-giving exercise. The horse-vaulting was of a high standard. Two more boxing bouts followed-Ptes D. Hansen and S. Hirtle, and R. Hansen and L. Skilling. These were full of "tough work" all the way through.

Seven senior lads gave a display of mat-tumbling. It was wonderful to see the cart-wheel performed by a human wheel of three individuals at a time! Great credit is due to Mr D. Williams and on all who took part in this item.

The senior Gymnastics which followed were also A.I.-this included parallel bar and tableau work.

The whole company came into the picture in the next item which consisted of Company Drill in threes under W.O.L. Halliday.

Inspection by His Excellency and the presentation of prizes followed. In a brief speech Mr Mathews congratulated the Company on their performance that evening and stressed the importance of the Manliness of the Christian faith upon which the Movement was based.

The proceedings concluded with the National Anthem.

The Late Isabel Luxton

As we go to Press we learn of the death in Stanley on Tuesday of Mrs Stanley Luxton at the age of 44 years.

Mrs Luxton lived all her life in town and although of a retiring disposition was greatly interested in everything which was to mean progress here-especially in the line of education. Mrs Luxton was a regular attendee at the Tabernacle, being a member of the Women's Committee of that Church.

Mrs Luxton who had been in indifferent health for sometime is survived by her husband, one son, and two daughters-one of whom is a Scholarship Scholar in Montevideo. To them, and to the other members of the family we extend our sincere sympathy at this time.

Dear Boys and Girls,

Here is a report from Derek Osborne of a Scout Outing in Montevideo:-

"Not so long ago we went for a days outing with the scouts. I set the alarm for six o'clock and Bill and I rolled out of bed just afterwards. We had some breakfast and went to get a bus to take us to the station.

The buses aren't very numerous at 7 o'clock in the morning but after waiting awhile we got one and arrived at the station at 7.20. We bought our tickets, they were second class return and cost us 1:16 pesos. The train left at 7.38 and we piled aboard not long before. On the way we stopped at quite a few stations, we passed by fields being ploughed by horsedrawn ploughs. Margat; the place we were going to was 51 kilometres away and we arrived there at 8.45. When we collected our belongings on the platform the man in charge suddenly remembered he had left his water bottle on the train and dashed back to get it. Luckily the train had not started again!

We made our way to the camp-site. When we arrived there each patrol collected its own firewood, then we had a game of signalling and by this time it was time to start cooking the lunch. When we had had lunch we had a siesta and then played a stalking game until tea time. I managed to get in unnoticed once but not the other time. After tea we made tracks towards the station. We were supposed to take a train at 6.30 but it didn't arrive until 7:00 and when it came it was full. The next train came at 7.45 and though it was rather full we all got on. There were not many seats but I managed to get one by the window, however it was too dark to see much.

We all enjoyed our day's outing!

Cheerio until next week,

Uncle Jim.

The winner of the firewood collected and raffled by the Boy's Brigade for their funds - was Mr.E.V.Summers.

Dear Boys and Girls,

This week I am publishing a small copy of a drawing by Laura Middleton of Fitzroy, of the school which she attends in the settlement there when the school master is in their midst. Laura is 7½ years of age.

The school has desks in it and a stove to keep the room warm while the children are doing their lessons.

As you might imagine the school building stands right in the centre of the settlement. We are sure that the children at this settlement enjoy going to their own little school.

Cheerio,

Until next week,

GARDENING NOTES.

Shortly after the leafy growths of carrot seedlings make their appearance, or as soon as the seedlings can be handled easily, a rigorous thinning out will be necessary. Neglect to perform this all important operation will spell disaster because if carrots, especially the intermediate types, are allowed to become overcrowded the result will be nothing more than a lot of miserable, forked and deformed roots, suitable only for the soup or stew pot. A carrot requires at least a space of six inches in the row for reasonable development. It is not essential however, to thin to the full distance in the first instance. Thin, in the first place to a distance of three inches and later on, when the roots are of a reasonable size, each alternate root may be pulled as required for use as early carrots. However, if it is found that there are more than can possibly be used before overcrowding is evident, then it will be much better to sacrifice the alternate roots to permit maximum development of those that are to remain as the crop.

One can never hope to attain carrots of fair dimensions if the plants are not thinned at the correct time or allowed space for development.

Wedding in Stanley

The wedding took place before Mr H. Bennett, Acting Registrar, of Mr Edwin Hutchinson to Miss Fanny Henriksen. Among those present were Mr Keith Hutchinson (brother of the bridegroom) and Miss Edevie Henriksen (sister of the bride). Dr Sladen was also present.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bridegroom.

SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS

There is an old saying "it's in his blood" This was used of men who sailed the seas, of people who have made success in their business, but it also can be applied to the many who faithfully shepherd the flocks which are after all the backbone of our Colony. Amongst names of men who have done their rounds in all weathers, over the camp of the Falkland Islands, one is much honoured in the area which is his home today - Goose Green and Darwin. I refer to Bob Skilling who at the age of 83 leaves the Cookhouse at Goose Green each morning and mounting his steed, he makes his way up to Darwin and then away out over the hills to check up on the ewe flock which is his own special charge.

Bob, or as people respectfully say "Old Bob" came from Scotland at the age of 14, in company with his parents. He grew up to work at Port Howard, Chartres, Saunders Island, Salvador and in the Falkland Islands Company's Camp.

We congratulate this worthy shepherd who travels around from 9.30 a.m. until about 3 p.m. each day and in the shearing time does his bit in filling

ACKNOWLEDGMENT FROM ST DUNSTANS

A receipt has been received from St Dunstans, acknowledging the sum of £50 sent from the people of the Falkland Islands. The letter which is printed below was received at the same time:

26th September, 1946

Sir,

I am exceedingly grateful to you and to our friends in the Falkland Islands for a further contribution amounting to Fifty Pounds which has reached me through the Crown Agents for the Colonies. It is most kind of you all to remember our work with these frequent gifts and my Council and I, as well as the men and women at St. Dunstan's, deeply appreciate the interest and sympathy which comes from people throughout the Colony. I have pleasure in enclosing our official receipt herewith.

We are still very busy. Since the last shot was fired, a considerable number of men have entered St. Dunstan's and next term will probably prove to be the peak term for numbers in training. Indeed we have had to take an extra house with twenty or so beds and have had to reserve a few beds at our Old War Homes at Brighton and Blackpool for extra and odd cases, so that by a little bit of transfer and juggling, we may fit in all newcomers without delay. The flow of St. Dunstan's from all over the world as the battles came to an end and the hospitals were cleared, was seriously aggravated by the return from the Far East of a number of ex-prisoners of war. I met many of these men at Brighton recently and considering the very hard times they have been through, I thought they were a fine lot of fellows, who will do well at St. Dunstan's.

St. Dunstan's has now left its temporary war-time home at Church Stretton in Shropshire, and is once again established at Ovingdean in Sussex, with advanced massage students living in hostels in London and attending the London School of Massage, and officers living at our WEDDING.

A very pretty wedding took place in Christ Church Cathedral last Friday afternoon, when Mr. Keith Medlecott Summers was joined in marriage to Miss Christine Maud Shedden.

The bride wearing a dress of lupin blue silk with veil to match and carrying a bouquet of mixed flowers, was given away by her cousin, Mr. Farouar McRae. Mrs. Ellen Summers was Maid of Honour and wore a dress of pink flowered voile with net head dress. Miss Emily Short and Miss Joan Cantlie were the bridesmaids, the former in a dress similar to the Maid of Honour and the latter in blue poplin with a coronet style head-dress. All the bridal party carried mixed bouquets. Master Roland Summers was the page boy.

Mr. John Summers, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

After the ceremony at which the Rev. R. G. P. Calvert officiated, a reception was held at the home of Mr and Mrs Walter Summers, the three tier wedding cake made by Mr J. F. Summers (grandfather of the bridegroom) being sampled by all. In the evening the wedding dance took place in the Gymnasium, Mr John Summers acting as M.C.

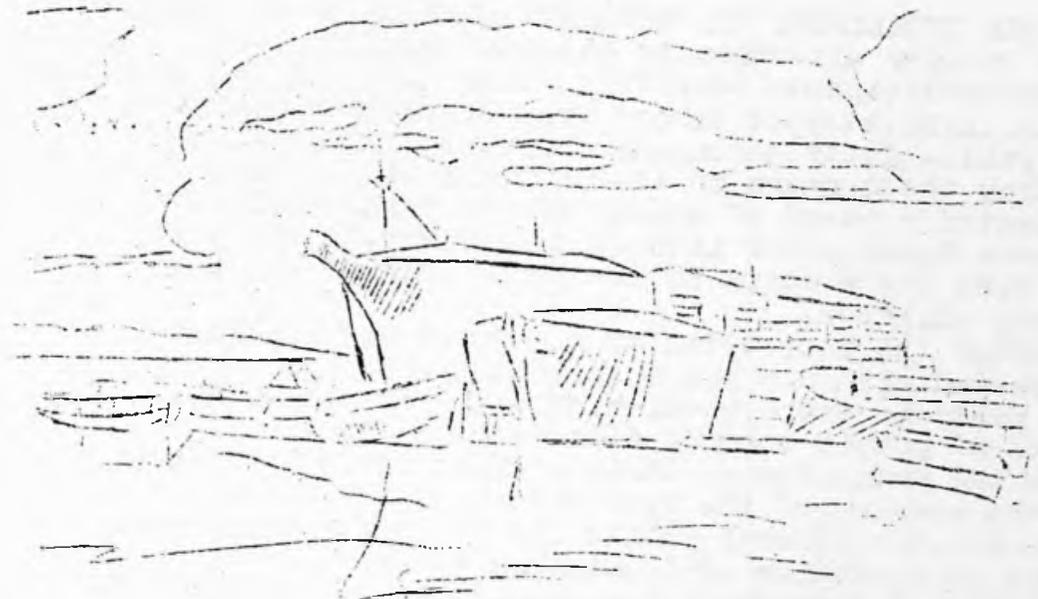

Mr and Mrs Summers will be making their home in Stanley. We extend our best wishes to them.

Indiana Changes Hands.

The cutter boat "Indiana" which for many years has plied between Stanley and the tussac islands, has been sold to Mr Roderick Napier. We understand the boat will be used for work around West Point Island.

Local Notes.

The s.s. "Lafonia" arrived in Stanley from the United Kingdom via Montevideo, last Tuesday morning. The vessel which was under the command of Captain F. White, was warmly welcomed in the capital of the Colony. Fortunately the morning was calm and dry. Many eyes watched as the "Lafonia" proceeded to her anchorage, not far from the public jetty.

GARDENING NOTES

It is not unusual to find Begonia flowers dropping off without any apparent cause. This trouble is often experienced when the flowers are on the point of opening, or immediately after they have opened. The flower stems may break away from the plant at the slightest touch or even vibration. Watering, careless, irregular watering alone is to blame for the trouble. If one studies the plant, it will be found that the flowers will invariably drop if the soil is soaked one day, then allowed to become dry. Should this state of affairs be permitted, it means that the flowers have to deal with too large a rush of sap at one time and insufficient at another. There will be no flower dropping though, if the plants are watered regularly. At no time must the soil be permitted to dry out. This does not mean however, that the soil must be kept too wet; maintain the happy medium and all will be well.

Late frosts have been trying to the gardens this year.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR ARRIVES IN STANLEY
Last Tuesday afternoon, in pleasant sunshine, the Governor-designate - Geoffrey Miles Clifford Esq., C.B.E., C.B.E., E.D., stepped ashore from H.M.S. "Pursuivant" at the Public Jetty, accompanied by Mrs Clifford. After meeting the members of the Councils His Excellency inspected a Guard of Honour of the Falkland Islands Defence Force under Lieut. D. O'Sullivan. On the jetty too were the members of the Boys' Brigade and the school children.

After the inspection of the Guard His Excellency proceeded with his A.D.C. Lieut. Huckle R.N. and party to the Gymnasium, driving past the large crowd of people assembled to welcome them.

At the Gymnasium at three o'clock in the presence of the members of the Executive and Legislative Councils, the general public and the school children, the proclamation of Commission was read out by Captain L.W. Aldridge M.B.E., Secretary to the Council.

The oaths were administered by the Hon. A.B. Mathews O.B.E.
Colonial Secretary, who later in an appropriate speech handed over the reins of Governorship to His Excellency.
(Mr Mathews has been Acting Governor since the departure of Sir Allan Cardinall K.B.E., C.M.G. The Colonial Secretary mentioned two important needs here in his remarks - representative Government and secondary education. Mr Mathews welcomed His Excellency as happy choice in the position of Governor and stressed the importance of cooperation in the problems of the future. These included labour, finance, development. He had found that cooperation in the past and he knew that Mr...
Clifford would find it in the future. to the Col. Sec.

* The Governor in reply thanked all for their welcome and spoke of his former association with the Colonial Service in many lands including 21 years in Nigeria. He would always welcome advice and touching on representation he promised no delays at this end in its coming about. Mr Clifford said that when he lived in a Colony he liked really to make his home there, and he was sure that Mrs
Clifford and himself would do so in the Falkland Islands.
At the conclusion of his remarks Mrs Clifford was presented with a bouquet of flowers by Miss June Rose Sedgwick.

The Late Mrs Frank Buse

We regret to report the death, which occurred in Stanley last Tuesday of Mrs Lillian Buse, at the age of 73 years.

Mrs Buse lived not only in Stanley but also for a considerable time in Punta Arenas. Deceased was predeceased by her husband some years ago.

Mrs Buse was a faithful member of St Mary's Church.
To her family in the Colony and in Punta Arenas we extend our sincere sympathy.

The funeral of the late Mrs Buse will take place from 7 Fitzroy Road to St Mary's at 3p.m. this afternoon.

LAFONIA CHIT-CHAT

We are glad to see some former residents back in the Colony again.... Mr and Mrs Gilruth of Darwin, Mr Vinson of North Arm, Mr and Mrs Harding of Hill Cove, Mr Young, Managing Director of the Falkland Islands Company, Mr
Cobb, Mr and Mrs Creece, Mr and Mrs E.W. Sedgwick, Mrs
Davis, Mrs E. Berntsen, and Mr J. Barnes among others.

His Excellency brought greetings from two former Governors of the Colony - Sir H. Henniker-Heaton K.C.M.G., and Sir Allan Cardinall K.B.E., C.M.G.

The new Priest for St Mary's Church - the Rev. Fr. Kelly has also arrived. We hope that Father Kelly will have a very happy stay in our Colony.

A special word of welcome is extended to the Captain of the "Lafonia" and Mrs White. Mrs White is of course the daughter of Mr and Mrs Pitaluga of Salvador.

We take this opportunity too of welcoming the Chief Officer and Mrs Monk. Mr Monk is a nephew of Mrs Napier of West Point Island. Mrs Napier was in town to meet the vessel.

Among our visitors are a number of men en route for the Dependencies.

Mrs Meirhoffer had the pleasure of welcoming her daughter Mrs Smith back, and also her son Edwin's wife.

Dear Boys and Girls,

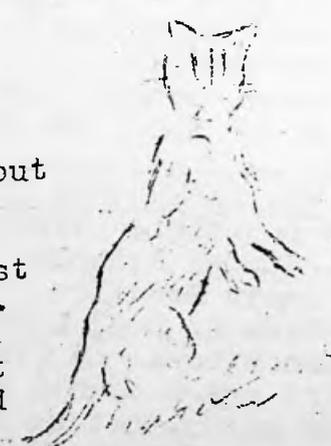

This week we turn our thoughts to Peter who is an exceptionally large and friendly cat. In the winter Peter loves to sit by the fireside gazing at the peat sods burning away so cheerily but in the summertime he loves equally well to be out of doors. There is one thing which Peter cannot understand-when he is out on his morning walk he often sees Bobby Sparrow hopping around. "Purrrrrrr!" goes Peter in his most friendly fashion-he only wants to have a yarn with Bobby about things of common interest but would you believe it-every time Peter approaches where the little bird is Bobby watches out of the corner of his eye and when Peter comes almost up to him, Bobby takes off in his most masterly style and flies away. Peter stops purring "what is the use when Bobby simply won't trust him!" sums up Peter's sad feeling in the matter.

Cheerio,
Until next week,

Bob lived in Stanley for a short time, but it was no good - the Camp kept calling him back - until he went.

So he went back to be a Shepherd of the hills. What experiences he has had! - in his time he reckons that he has taxed well over 500 horses.

Long may Bob be spared to shepherd his flocks!

From Falklands to Gold Coast.

We learn that Mr. Howell Evans Head Government House Gardener here, has been appointed Horticulturist, on secondment, to the West African Cocoa Research Institute. The Institute is situated at Tafo Gold Coast Colony.

Mr Evans will take up his new duties in February 1947, and is expected to leave this Colony early in December.

None will miss Mr Evans more than the Weekly News to which he has so kindly contributed the Gardening Notes for the last three years. We wish Mr Evans success in his new sphere.

The Weekly News: This week we are printing 20 extra copies of The Weekly News, making 500 of a circulation for this week.

Porch Roses A sight worth seeing at present is the lovely display of roses in Mrs Lyse's porch, Fitzroy.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Hill Cove,
West Falklands

Dear Editor,

Here is something in the way of a Nature Note about a bird which may be of interest to readers. I will try and describe this bird which I saw myself-I was out shepherding on this particular day when twenty yards from me I noticed this unusual bird, rather like a dottrel although its legs seemed to be much longer than those of that bird. The bird was large in size, bluey-grey in colour and around its breast was a patch of black in the form of a crescent. These points were in common with the dottrel but its cry was much harsher and its body was the size of a dolphin gull only slighter in the build. Can any reader throw any light on the name of this strange bird?

I am,

Yours sincerely,
T. Aldridge

(We have shown this letter to one of our readers who has lived in Patagonia-his suggestion was that this was a bird which had come over from the Coast blown here by one of the strong westerly winds

ALARMING EXPERIENCE ON LOCAL CUTTER

Last Sunday morning the cutter "Indiana" which for long had been a familiar vessel in Stanley harbour as a tussacboat, left with Mr Karl Lindenberg in charge, and Mr Roderick Napier, bound for West Point Island. The "Indiana" took some time to reach Port William, and anchored the night in Sparrow Cove. Next Morning (last Monday) at 4 a.m. the boat left and rounding Cape Pembroke with a favourable breeze, made fair time to abreast of Rookery Bay: there, the wind changed and the sea became very rough. The "Indiana" was turned about and received a severe buffeting as she made for Kidney Is. At this stage the two men were still hoping to continue their voyage later. However it became impossible to make the island in rough seas the vessel beat up the harbour to the upper island. Here Mr Lindenberg turned very sick but sick as he was, and in pain, he directed operations from this point until they anchored. By the time anchorage was reached at Sparrow Cove the tiny cabin had water in it half way up the stove. From 7:30 a.m. when they turned back until after mid-day the elements had been fierce, a sail lost, and a huge sea coming on board at one point through the scuttle.

On reaching anchorage the sea was too rough for Roderick Napier to get ashore to walk for help, and the sick man did not want to be left. About four o'clock the sea went down, and the lad went ashore and set out for Murrel House where there was a telephone; this took some finding for one who was strange to the country, but as soon as there no time was lost in phoning for help.

The M.V. "Alert" left town at very short notice under Mr J. Scollis and crew with Dr Hopwood, C. Bertrand and P. Gleadell on board. The sick man was rushed in to town and taken to hospital. Roderick Napier, who had run all the way back from the Murrel (to leave the sick man for as short a time as possible) had fifteen minutes on hand when back on the "Indiana". The sailing boat was left at anchorage in Sparrow Cove until the next day.

We deeply regret to report that Skipper Lindenberg passed away in the K.E.M. Hospital on Monday. Reference to his career is made on another page of this paper. Mr Roderick Napier wishes to express his sincere thanks to all who helped him, especially to Dr Hopwood, and to Mr J. Scollis and his crew for their speedy assistance.

Colonial Secretary and Mrs Mathews hold "At Home".

A representative gathering was present at an "At Home" held in the Gymnasium last Friday afternoon to meet His Excellency the Governor and Mrs Clifford. The Hall had been made into a smaller room for the occasion. The guests met His Excellency and Mrs Clifford, then tea was served, and after this the new Governor and his wife conversed with many of the company present. Mr and Mrs Mathews were host and hostess for the occasion. Miss Ann Mathews was also present.

Notes.

The s.s. "Fitzroy" arrived in Stanley from Montevideo last Monday morning.

A well-attended dance organised by Mr. D. Peck took place in the Gymnasium last Thursday evening. This dance was by way of a welcome to the "Lafonia". Quite a number of the ship's crew were present.

THE STORY OF WOOL.

By Michael Grant.

Wool is one of the world's most important raw materials. It ranks fourth in the export values of all unprocessed materials, surpassing all the main categories of exported foodstuffs, with the exception of wheat. Until the second half of the nineteenth century Britain was not only the chief wool-manufacturing country of the world, but, with Spain and Germany, also one of the most important wool-growing countries. After the invention of mechanical spinning, when Britain's wool production became insufficient for her capacity, Merino sheep from England were taken to the countries of the Southern Hemisphere, mainly to Australia, New Zealand and South Africa, and to the two South American countries Argentina and Uruguay. Conditions there have been so favourable to wool production that 85 per cent of the wool entering world trade (i.e., exported) is now accounted for by these countries. The three Dominions alone command more than three-quarters of world exports.

Annual pre-war world production of wool was approximately 4,000 million lb., of which 800 million lb. was carpet wool and 3,200 million lb. apparel or clothing wool. Of the latter, merino is the finer type and crossbred the medium type. Total consumption before the war usually absorbed the world's wool production, leaving combined end-of-season stocks amounting to about 7 per cent of annual output.

On the basis of average wool consumption per head of population, Britain is the greatest wool-consuming country, with an average of 5.27 lb. per head during the pre-war years. The corresponding figure in the U.S. amounted to 2.66 lb. only.

Huge Stocks Severe wartime restrictions and the closing of European markets reduced world consumption of wool to such an extent that about one-third of yearly supplies from the five main exporting countries remained unabsorbed. This meant that after nearly six years of war the accumulation of stocks in the Dominions and South America had reached a total of more than 4,300 million lb. - equal to about two Hospital Matron Married.

The marriage was solemnized by the Rev. R.G.R. Calvert at Christ Church Cathedral last Tuesday 3rd December between Miss H.J. Treise, youngest daughter of Mr and Mrs S.P. Treise of Moorhouse Farm, Wiltshire, England, and Mr F.R.M. Lewis only surviving son of Mr and Mrs Frank Lewis of Buenos Aires and Patagonia.

The bride who was given away by Mr Martin Greece, was attractively attired in powder blue ensemble, with navy blue accessories and carried a bouquet of roses which was given by His Excellency and Mrs Miles Clifford.

The bridegroom was supported as best man by Dr. Burton Hopwood.

The bride who holds the qualifications S.R.M., S.C.N., joined the staff of the K.E.M. Hospital, Stanley, in November 1944 as Nursing Sister, later taking up the duties of Nurse Matron.

Mr Lewis went to England from the Argentine during the early days of the War to join up in the British Navy, and spent the last two years of the War as one of the crew of H.M.S. William Scoresby.

After demobilization he returned to the Falkland Islands to take up a position as Manager of Douglas Station.

A small reception was held at Admiralty Cottage, after which Mr and Mrs Lewis left for their horseback journey to Douglas Station where they will be making their home. We wish them every happiness.

years' world import requirements. Three-quarters of these stocks were the property of the U.K. Government. The sale of such tremendous stocks of wool without a preconceived plan would have disrupted wool markets all over the world and might have resulted in general economic chaos.

In order to prevent such a crisis, the United Kingdom, Australian, New Zealand and South African Governments agreed in May 1945 on an Empire wool marketing scheme. During World War II the U.K. Government bought all clips throughout the British Commonwealth at fixed prices, and distributed at fixed prices among the restricted number of purchasers such part as could be sold in wartime.

Under the new scheme the accumulated stocks were transferred by their owner, the U.K. Government, to a joint disposal organisation, called U.K.-Dominions Wool Disposals Limited. While taking charge of the marketing of old stocks, this organisation will also support the marketing of new clips until all accumulated wartime stocks can be disposed of without disrupting the market, and until the wool trade can get back to normal with stocks again reduced to a negligible fraction of yearly supply.

Half of the capital necessary to take over the accumulated stocks has been contributed by the U.K. Government, the other half by the three Dominions. Both parties have to make sacrifices: the U.K. by accepting considerable limitation on freedom to sell old wool and new responsibilities extending into the post-war period; the Dominions by accepting a share of responsibility in respect of existing stocks.

Wool Auctions Again. It was decided that, after years of fixed prices and controlled trade, wool auctions should recommence this month, with U.K.-Dominions Wool Disposals Limited acting as buyer and seller at the same time. It fixes reserve prices at which it is prepared to sell old wool or buy in any new clip at the auctions or in the market for which no other buyer is available.

Acting thus, U.K.-Dominions Wool Disposals Limited

The Late Karl Lindenberg.

We regret to record the death as reported on page 2 of this paper of Mr Karl Lindenberg, which occurred in the K.E.M. Hospital, Stanley, last Monday.

Mr Lindenberg who was 62 years of age was a typical man of the sea. He originally came to the Colony in the "Baden-Powell" - a sailing vessel which was wrecked on the Elephant Jason Island in 1917. His home was near Riga, in the Baltic, where his father kept a small croft farm.

All his days Mr Lindenberg followed the sea - sailing the "Golden Fleece" for Mr Jason Hanson, who on hearing the sad news of his death, said that he was one of the best sailors he ever had with him, working on P.I.C. vessels, and latterly being Captain of the Pebble Island boat "Gentoo".

Recently Mr Lindenberg was over to Scotland for a trip, to visit his son there. Mr Lindenberg only returned last week in the s.s. "Lafonia" and was going out to his old job at Pebble Island.

To his son in Scotland, and on West Point Island, and to his relations we offer our sincere sympathy in their sad loss.

Arrivals:- per s.s. "Fitzroy", 2nd December 1946, from Montevideo to Stanley.

Mr. J. W. Miller, Mr & Mrs W. J. Hutchinson, Mr G. E. Parrin, Miss A. I. Luxton, Mr. W. A. Etheridge, Mr. D. Osborne, Miss I. A. Norris, Mr. J. Collins, Mr. C. Don, Mr. E. S. Dixon, Mr. W. J. Gardner, Mr. F. T. Hulley, Mr. D. H. Paul, Mr. R. Butson, Mr. J. Ewer.

Scholarship Success.

Freda Davies, grand-daughter of Mr and Mrs Pettersson Senr. of Stanley is the second daughter of Mr and Mrs Davies, Crewkerne, England, to win a scholarship to Yeovil High School. We congratulate this scholar.

Hockey.

The result at the end of a hockey match between Government School Girls and outsiders played last Wednesday was Girls - 6 goals, Outsiders - 3 goals.

prevents the increase of prices to a level which may restrict consumption, but it also prevents the fall of prices to a level which may cause serious losses to the wool-growing industry.

Reserve prices move in accordance with general world conditions and the need to expand consumption, but it is highly probable that wide fluctuation of prices can be avoided. These fluctuations did much harm to the wool trade during the last forty years.

Merino prices during the twenty years preceding the first world war increased by about 50 per cent, while the increase in crossbred prices amounted to merely 16 per cent during the same period. The British Cabinet of that time, in order to prevent a shortage of wool supplies required for clothing the Allied Armies, decided to take over Dominion clips at prices averaging about 50 per cent above their previous level.

Catastrophic Fall. London wool auctions, suspended in 1918, were resumed in April 1919 and by March 1920 merino quotations had risen by 70 per cent. This unprecedented boom could not last for long and when the tariff on wool in the United States of America, removed before the outbreak of the war, was reimposed in the second half of 1920, a catastrophic fall in prices became unavoidable in the international wool market.

During the twelve months following March 1920, merino prices fell by 70 per cent, and crossbred prices by 75 per cent. The British-Australian Wool Realisation Association, formed in January 1921, undertook the task of the first major wool marketing scheme in peace time. During its three years of activity it succeeded in raising the wool prices to about the levels fixed during the years of wartime control.

A renewed fall began in 1925, with continued downward movement until 1932, when prices began to rise again, at first gradually, until the outbreak of World War II. Prices under the British Government's bulk-purchase agreements were then raised to 50 per cent above the pre-war average. Such wide fluctuations are and will be impossible under the new Empire marketing scheme.

One of the main tasks of the new organisation is to pursue a price policy that, because of preventing abnormal booms, may be unpopular. It will, however, be able to keep a healthy balance between demand and output and eliminate the danger of substitution of new textile fibres for wool.

Rayon and staple fibre have become very important factors in textile raw material supplies, and compete with wool to a large extent. World production of rayon and staple fibre, which was virtually non-existent after World War I, amounted in 1942 to no less than 3,473 million lb., almost reaching the total weight of world wool production. Wool will have to fight for markets.

Fortunately for growers, wool has many valuable qualities not shared by other fibres. That is why the startling increase of synthetic clothing fibre production has done more harm to cotton than to wool. While the share of cotton in providing world clothing fibres has been reduced by 12 per cent during the last 25 years, wool has lost only 1.7 per cent during the same period.

A danger arising out of too high wool prices is restriction of consumption. The smoothest way to reduce the huge accumulation of wool which overhangs the market is not to restrict production, but to increase consumption.

A reduction in the number of the sheep population would disrupt economic life in five important countries, and could cause economic depression all over the world.

In view of special conditions prevailing in the wool-growing industry, a restriction of production during the coming years might have had disastrous effects on the wool-manufacturing industries of the world later.

No such danger exists in increased consumption. World consumption of wool during the coming years depends on world purchasing power, the price of wool and wool textiles, long-term credits to needy countries, publicity and scientific research in order to facilitate sales and expand consumption. The achievements of British industry, such as moth-proof wool and wool textiles, long-term credits to needy countries, publicity and scientific research in order to facilitate sales and expand consumption. The achievements of British industry, such as moth-proof wool and wool cloth weighing less than

THE STORY OF WOOL.

Surplus Being Absorbed Just over a year ago the London Wool Conference estimated that world consumption may absorb accumulated wool stocks in 13 years. It has recently been announced by U.K.-Dominions Wool Disposals Limited that 40 per cent has already been disposed of, before actual resumption of wool auctions.

By the end of June 1946 the stock had fallen to 1,968 million lb., from an initial total of 3,210 million lb. in July 1945. This follows on record sales during the season of 2,520 million lb. - equal to 18 months of exportable surplus of Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

The largest buyers were the U.K. and the U.S., each taking about one-quarter of total sales.

Purchases made by the United States were not much in excess of its consumption, and if this rate of consumption is maintained, a further large drop in wool stocks will follow. Considerable quantities of wool were also purchased by France and Belgium, whose textile industries have staged a remarkably rapid recovery from the effects of occupation.

If the world's purchasing power does not suffer an unexpected setback it is well within the limits of possibility that the greatest wool stocks ever accumulated will be disposed of much sooner than even the most optimistic observers at one time dared to hope. U.K.-Dominions Wool Disposals Limited can be proud to have achieved such splendid results.

GARDENING NOTES.

The majority of hardy annual seedlings are usually sown far too thickly. Moreover it is impossible to sow fine seeds thin enough to avoid thinning. If the thinnings are handled with care they will transplant quite successfully provided they are lifted carefully without causing damage to the roots. On replanting, ensure that the soil is made quite firm about the roots. Do not attempt to transplant annual seedlings during the heat of the day; the evening would be the best time to perform the task. If the soil is on the dry side, give the soil a thorough good soaking with water following transplanting. If bright weather follows and the seedlings show signs of excessive flagging, then endeavour to shade them from the glare of the sun until they become established.

Annual plants cannot tolerate competition at any time during their early life, therefore, pay strict attention to weed control. Weeding while the plants are mere seedlings is no easy task because if one isn't careful, plants are likely to be up-rooted along with the weeds.

Stanley
5th December 1946

Dear Boys and Girls,

Once again we meet Bobby Rabbit, and this week you will hear of the great excitement in the village in which this young rabbit lives with his parents, when a great show-off Loppy the hare took part in their sports. Loppy was absolutely sure that he would win the hundred yards handicap even although he was well back on account of his long legs. There were crowds of spectators present, when the great race started. Loppy bounded forward, the other rabbits ran as fast as they could, Loppy was soon away head, then all of a sudden he stopped and the other competitors passed him. What had happened? Loppy was at a party the night before and had eaten so much that he simply could not run the next day. The rabbits were amused!

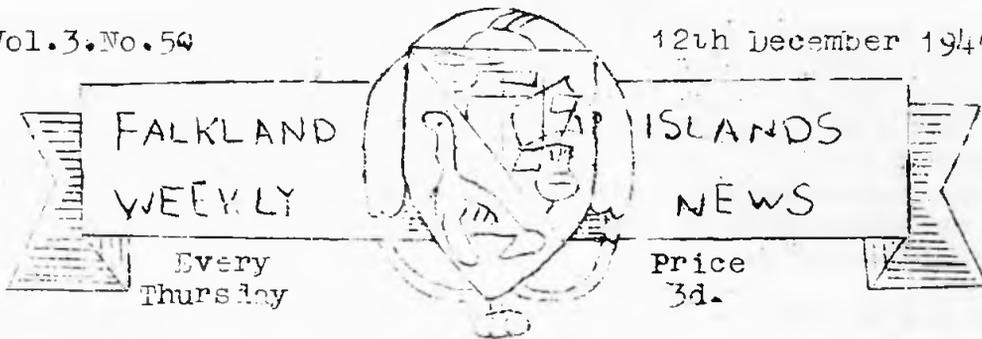

'Chef told me that we'd both be right out of the service by Christmas morning!'

TEXT OF RECENT BROADCAST FROM STANLEY TO THE COLONY BY HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR.

Good evening,

I want to take this early opportunity of sending our joint good wishes to those of you in the Camp whom we could not have the pleasure of seeing on our arrival in Stanley and of telling you how happy we both are to be here. We shall take every opportunity of visiting you that may present itself for although I have read a good deal about the special problems of the Falklands and have enjoyed long conversations about them with many of your old friends - including, of course, Sir Allan Cardinall and Sir Herbert Benniker-Heaton who sent you all sorts of kind messages. I have always been a firm believer in finding things out for myself.

I wish I could bring you better tidings of affairs in the Old World but at home we still live in the shackles of austerity while abroad things are very unsettled and the political welkin rings with charges and countercharges of Nazism, Facism, Communism - all those dreary "isms" of which - I make no doubt - you are as heartily sick of as I am. Things will settle down in time, one supposes, but it looks like being quite a long time, and meanwhile there is a good deal to be said for the peace and plenty of the Falklands. There is a good deal to be said, too, by way of contrast to the political disquiet to which I have referred, for the fundamental principals of British democratic society - freedom of speech and worship, freedom to work where we like and to bring our children up in our Notes.

News has been received from our special correspondent in South Georgia that Col. Rankin has arrived there by floating factory. He is to photograph and study bird life and for this purpose he has brought with him a converted coastal motor lifesaving boat in which to visit various harbours and bays around the island. Our correspondent added that there was still plenty of snow in South Georgia.

No boats will be calling at Sea Lion Island until January.

We congratulate Mr G.W.J. Bowles on his victory in the Stanley's Cup in the 8th of December shoot, with a score of 103 out of a possible 105.

A son was born to Mr and Mrs I. Barnes, at Ellesmere Port, Cheshire. Mr Barnes is at present in the Colony as a member of the crew of the s.s. "Lafonia".

The raffle for the Austin car, run by Messrs. McAtasney and Sedgwick, will take place on Friday evening.

Last Sunday in the local Broadcast Programme, Mr Howell Evans gave his last Gardening Talk. He is due to leave the Colony shortly for an appointment in the Gold Coast.

The "Porvenir" is at present on the Government slip, Stanley. The boat is undergoing an overhauling.

The Late Mrs George McKay

News has been received by her sons and daughter living in the Falklands, of the death at Moss Vale, Sydney, Australia, of their mother, Mrs. George McKay. Mrs McKay, who was in her 83rd year, was married in Stanley in 1884 and went with her husband to live at Lester Creek, Fox Bay West - where they lived for 30 years. Of their family of eleven, nine still survive. Of those still alive five are in the Colony and four in Australia, where they went with their father and mother in 1911. The late Mrs McKay was predeceased by her husband in 1920, and had been living at Moss Vale. We extend our sympathy to the family.

own way, the normal day's work for the normal day's pay, toleration of the opinions of others and respect for ourselves; in fact all those deficiencies of life which we have inherited from our fathers. Let the cynics scoff if they will but it is good to reflect that these ideas are still currency in the great diversity of countries which go to make up the British Empire and I am sure that they are held nowhere more strongly than in this Colony.

And it is here that I want to say a special word to the children. You are growing up into a very different world to that of your fathers - and much less your grandfathers knew; into a world that has twice been torn asunder in the span of a single generation. You will be confronted, as you grow to man - and womanhood with all manner of new problems which will call for wisdom and understanding in their solution and even in this small corner of the world there will be the need for new leaders. There is only one way to prepare yourselves to take your part in these matters and that is through education. I know well how handicapped you have been hitherto and I shall not rest until we have explored every possibility of giving you equality of opportunity with your young friends and relations in Stanley, and of assuring to you the mental and physical training which will help you to make the best of local conditions.

To revert to general matters, it is little use to talk about the need for leadership unless opportunity be provided also for experience in responsibility through active participation in the affairs of Government which, of course, implies some measure of constitutional reform. Such changes cannot be effected overnight and, in my experience, can achieve no good and enduring results unless preceded by full and frank discussions. This does not mean that there will be any undue delay; on the contrary it is a matter which I have much at heart - to the extent, indeed, that I should be most reluctant to embark on major development plans or the framing of long-term policy until I can call on that body of informed opinion which only representative government will provide. (Contd. from page 3)

On the question of our resources - they are as you know better than I do, strictly limited even with the generous measure of assistance which has been promised to us under the provisions of the Colonial Development and Welfare Act - and in planning to put them to the best advantage it MUST be a case of FIRST THINGS FIRST.

Although newcomers to the Falklands, the physical isolation which is the inevitable lot of those who dwell in the Camp is something with which my wife and I are both very familiar - and you may be quite certain that any schemes of practical value which can be suggested with a view to improving conditions for you will receive my most earnest consideration.

I have said enough, I hope, for you to understand that in my view the "rim" is as important as the "Hub" and I will detain you no longer. But I shall look forward to meeting you all in the coming months and from time to time - whenever there is suitable occasion - I shall talk to you, informally, as I have done this evening.

In conclusion I want to send a special message of greeting and good wishes to the members of the F.I.D.S. and to wish them every success in their task. Good night and God bless you all.

This week we print

THE GOVERNOR'S ADDRESS IN THE GYMNASIUM

ON INSTALLATION ON THE 26TH OF NOVEMBER,

Hon. Members of Council, Ladies and Gentlemen.

May I express our appreciation of the welcome you have extended to us and tell you, at the same time, how happy we are to be here? Colonial Officials tend to fall into two classes - those who regard their service abroad as so many periods of exile and whose roots remain at home and those, on the other hand, who make their home where they serve and look upon leave as an interlude. My wife and I have always belonged to this latter school and we look forward very much to making our home here amongst you; incidentally, it will be the first we have had for some years.

The Late Colin McAtasney

Last week we included in our paper a short paragraph reporting the death in England of Mr Colin McAtasney.

Colin, who was thirty years of age and married, left the Colony with the Volunteers and saw service as an Able Seaman in the Royal Navy. He was stationed for a time on H.M.S. "Anson" later being in Hong Kong, Japan, and Australia. While in Australia for a time he was in Sydney then on the western side of the country. On his way home to Britain to be "demobbed" the ship in which he was travelling—the "Georgetown Victory" went ashore on the south coast of Ireland and Colin was amongst those rescued.

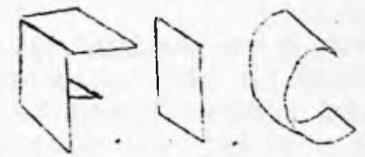

Before leaving the Colony Colin was employed on the gardening staff at Government House and in the earlier days of the war, saw service in the Falkland Islands Defence Force. Colin, who was of a very quiet disposition had many interests and during his war years he achieved one of his ambitions—to see something of the world beyond the Colony in which he lived.

Lambing at New Island

The lambing percentage at New Island this year is reported to us as 71%. This is a marked contrast to the usual average of over 90%.

Judging by the weather for the 8th of December Shoot, and Bar gardens and peat—the season is more like winter than summer.

The new stamps referred to at the foot of page 9 of this issue are stamps of 1/3d value.

THE GOVERNOR'S ADDRESS IN GYMNASIUM

Mr. Mathews, in whom I am delighted to find a former colleague, has referred in all too generous terms to my earlier service and while it may be true that I have perhaps enjoyed a wider and more varied experience than some of my contemporaries I shall derive no satisfaction from that unless I can apply some of the lessons I have learned - often quite painfully - to the benefit of this Colony. It is certainly true to say that I have whole-heartedly enjoyed my service and I make no doubt that my term of office here will be no less happy and fruitful an experience than others which have come my way.

In recent weeks I have read much about the special problems of the Falklands and have discussed them at length with those who know them at first hand - with my two predecessors, Sir Allen Cardinall and Sir Herbert Henniker Heaton (both of whom send you their warmest greetings), with Dr. Gibbs whose valuable report will I hope be published soon, with Mr Young and Captain Roberts of the Falkland Islands Company, with Mr Carr whose well-merited transfer on promotion spells (as I am sure you will agree) so severe a loss to us, with Dr. Hamilton and with many another. But I come here with a completely open mind and no-one realises more dearly than myself that there is much for me to learn; it is useful to read about a place one doesn't know and most useful of all is to go and see things for oneself and that, Gentlemen, I shall make it my business to do.

Performance has always impressed me a good deal more than promise and I do not regard this as a suitable occasion for solemn undertakings; indeed, I shall offer you only one assurance and that is that I will always welcome the advice and co-operation of any person or persons, individually or collectively, who may be prepared to put - as I intend myself to put - the best interests of this Colony and the welfare of its people before other considerations. In that spirit, Gentlemen, we may go together far - and perhaps fast - along the road towards a solution of some of our more pressing problems. I use the term "together" advisedly for I shall give early consideration to the closer participation by the community in the responsibilities of Government. You will understand that I am referring, quite explicitly, to constitutional changes but you will understand also that such changes cannot be effected overnight; the form of constitution must first be agreed upon, the legislation drafted to give effect to it and the proposals must be considered by the Secretary of State and approved by his advisers. Ours is not the only Colony that has these changes in mind, there is only one Department in Downing Street which can finally advise on these proposals before they receive His Majesty's assent and obviously we have to take our turn, but this does not mean that there will be any undue delay - on the contrary, it is a matter which the Government has much at heart and we shall proceed with all despatch to the preliminary considerations.

In conclusion I should, perhaps, sound one note of caution, from a study of the Colony's finances, for which I have had ample leisure on the "Lafonic", it is self-evident that even with the generous measure of assistance which has been promised to us under the provisions of the Colonial Development and Welfare Act, our resources are strictly limited and that in planning to put them to the best use we must be guided by the old maxim of FIRST THINGS FIRST. New ventures, be it remembered, rarely fail to bring with them new recurrent liabilities and thus the need for new revenue to meet these. This consideration need not alarm us but it is as well to bear it in mind.

At the head of "first things" I am disposed to put the provision of a new - and fireproof social centre to replace the old Town Hall so unhappily burned down a year or two ago, and I shall wish to meet the Committee entrusted with this project at a very early date.

And now as we are rather tired after this very tedious journey, I will say thank you once more and bid you good-day.

QUESTIONS ASKED IN PARLIAMENT ABOUT THE FALKLAND IS.
We quote the following from Hansard Volume 427 No. 202
Among questions asked on Wednesday 23rd October 1946 were the following:—

Mr G. Thomas asked the Secretary of State for the Colonies what funds are being allocated to the Falkland Islands under the Colonial Development and Welfare Act; and what plans have been made to associate the people of the Colony with the decisions for the expenditure of these funds.

Mr Creech Jones: The sum allocated is £150,000; opportunity will be given to the people of the Colony to express their views on the programme of expenditure of this sum. The best method for doing this will be considered by the new Governor, who leaves this week to take up his appointment.

Mr W. R. Williams asked the Secretary of State for the Colonies whether he will consider the reform of the constitution of the Falkland Islands to provide for the inclusion of elected representatives in both the executive and legislative councils.

Mr Creech Jones: Proposals for the reform of the constitution of the Falkland Islands have been under consideration for some time. I propose to await the recommendations of the new Governor in the light of his local connections.

Mr G. Thomas asked the Secretary of State for the Colonies what plans the Government of the Falkland Islands has for the construction of roads in the Colony.

Mr Creech Jones: Certain proposals for a road across the East Falkland are at present under consideration along with various other schemes of development which are being referred to the new Governor.

Card of Thanks

Mr and Mrs W. McAtasney wish to thank all who sent them, and expressed to them, words of sympathy, in their recent bereavement.

GARDENING NOTES.

Lupins make a splendid display and if one is prepared to spend a little time among the plants at the right time, the flowering period may be considerably prolonged. If the faded spikes are regularly removed, new ones will appear throughout the late summer and autumn. These secondary spikes may not be quite as good as the first but nevertheless, they do contribute greatly to the late summer and autumn display. Old flower spikes must be removed immediately the terminal blooms are beginning to fade. On no account must the seed pods be permitted to develop. The old spikes are removed just above the nearest leaves showing the new flower shoot.

Pelphiniums may be treated in the same way.

The R.M.S. "LAFONIA"

One afternoon recently, when our new steamer was lying alongside the East Jetty, representatives of the "Weekly News" paid a visit to the ship. Work on the cargo was going "full speed ahead". The first thing noted was that a lighter had been placed between the ship and the jetty to act as extension. The former "Lafonia" could come right alongside the actual jetty.

Once on board we were kindly shown round by Mr Monk, the Chief Officer. The first class cabins appeared to be a little smaller than those on the former "Lafonia" but there seemed to be much more accommodation on the ship given over to passenger accommodation. Hot and cold water taps in the cabins caught the eye.

The long passages reminded us of very large liners. Back of Hans pointed to the former work of the vessel on the east coast of the United Kingdom run, but their absence must have been sorely felt in the Tropics on her recent voyage from England.

The dining saloon and the Smoke Room were both attractive, as was also the spacious promenade deck. We visited the bridge and were impressed with the large number of instruments of one sort and another found there. An officer on a modern ship seems to require a wide range of knowledge!

The second class is also quite good and should meet a need around our Colony. On the subject of accommodation, our representatives were greatly impressed with the crew's quarters on board the ship—cabins shared by two men, reasonable washing facilities and a recreation room all help to make the sailor feel that he really has a home on the ship.

As we left the "Lafonia" we felt that in this vessel the journey to Montevideo will pass much more quickly than in our smaller but much respected "Fitzroy".

Our hope is that the "Lafonia" will have "good steaming" on her voyages from here to the various ports on her itineraries in the days to come.

Captain Johnston is now in command of the "Lafonia" and Captain White is now Master of the "Fitzroy". Capt. Johnston was Master of the former "Lafonia" while Capt. White has had experience of local conditions at sea, as a former officer of the "San Casto".

The following is taken from the Daily Mirror, October 12th 1946:

ALL EMPIRE WILL BE BUILT INTO A NEW "HEART" IN BRITAIN

Wood and stone from every part of the Empire will go into a great new building which is to rise in London. The building will form the heart of the Colonial Empire, and it will stand almost opposite the Houses of Parliament to bring home to the world that London is the capital of an Empire as well as a country.

The Government, it was announced from No. 10, Downing Street yesterday, is to purchase the site in Broad Sanctuary, once occupied by the Westminster Hospital, and plans to build on it a home for the Colonial Office.

This will enable the whole Colonial Office to come under one roof... at present they are in six buildings.. and at the same time provide a fitting centre for visitors.

It is hoped to erect a building of distinction, a new land-mark, and the design will probably be chosen after open competition among the architects of the Empire.

It is not believed that such a building can be erected in less than six or seven years, so the Government has taken a long lease of Church House, the building which housed Parliament during the worst of the bombing, and the Colonial Office will move there.

The old Colonial Office, in Downing Street has been in use since 1875.

Successive Governments have considered making a change, but nothing was done.

THE SPIRIT OF ENGLISH FARMING

By A.G. Street

Since Britain became industrial her farmers have unwillingly had to take a place of secondary importance in her economy. They have had to fit themselves and their farms to trade conditions external to themselves, and this has made their lot difficult and uncertain. During the world war of 1939-45, however, the British farmer has suddenly risen, with very natural pride, to a position of prime importance from which post-war conditions have not yet cast him down, and the townspeople have received a timely reminder of the value of their own soil.

In common with most things in England, farming has changed out of all knowledge during recent years.

Admittedly, being a living thing farming has never stood still, but has changed to suit the times year by year ever since the world began. However, you cannot have two major wars in the life of one generation without upsetting the steady purposeful plod forward of what the townsman calls that slow-old-fashioned industry of farming. No, not even in England, the one country in the world that has learned the value of making haste slowly, and even of wasting time to great profit.

Therefore, in order to discover the spirit of English farming in 1946, its previous history must be considered. For this purpose it is necessary to go back beyond the period before the World War of 1939-1946, say to the 'nineties, a mere half century.

At that date English farming was just beginning to climb very slowly out of the depression caused by the flood of overseas grain that the steamship was bringing to Britain. The land was owned mainly in large estates, but farmed by tenants, as the owners held the land mainly for sporting rights and political and social power. But so unprofitable was grain-farming that tenants could not be found for many farms, which therefore had to be farmed in hand by the landowner, almost invariably at great expense to himself.

However, as one generation of farmers went

FALKLAND ISLANDER WINS HANDBAG GIVEN BY HER

MAJESTY THE QUEEN

While over in the United Kingdom recently, Mrs J Davis who lives in Fitzroy Road, Stanley, had occasion to spend some time at Glamis, near Forfar in Scotland visiting her relations.

While there there was a special Fete and among the articles given for the good cause for which the effort was held was a lovely handbag given by Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth. Glamis is the home of Her Majesty and the Queen always takes an interest in all that goes on in the neighbourhood.

This handbag was raffled and the winner was Mrs Davis. On her return to the Colony in the s.s. "Lafonia" a short time ago Mrs Davis brought with her as a memento of her time in Scotland - this unique handbag.

The Victoria League

Many of our readers fully appreciate the valuable work done by the Victoria League for people from our Colony who have been, and are in England. Here is a note about the League which we gladly publish:

The Victoria League was founded in 1901 to be a reminder of the reign of Queen Victoria. Its object was to create friendly relations between the subjects of the Colonial Empire and from 1943 when the League was reorganised it has sought to carry out the same original ideals.

The League is prepared to assist any people from any Colony in any way possible.

While on the subject of the Victoria League - Miss Kelham has asked that relatives and friends of Falkland Island people would be kind enough to communicate with her so that she can get material for her News Broadcasts, and also obtain her guest speakers... for the same "London Bridge" Programme.

We are sure that our readers in England will help the energetic Miss Kelham in this way.

GAZETTE NOTICE

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Stanley, Falkland Islands.
10th December, 1946

With reference to Gazette Notice No. 44 of the 20th of December, 1945, it is hereby notified for general information that Friday the 27th of December, 1946, has been withdrawn from the list of Public Holidays, and that Government Offices will not be closed on that date.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Stanley, Falkland Islands.
6th December, 1946.

His Excellency the Governor has been pleased to appoint the following to be Aides-de-Camp to His Excellency, with effect from the 26th of November, 1946:-

LIEUTENANT J.S.R. HUCKLE, D.S.O., (Personal) (Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve); (Acting),

CAPTAIN L.W. ALDRIDGE, M.B.E., J.P., (Falkland Islands Defence Force);

and

LIEUTENANT J. BOUND
(Falkland Islands Defence Force).

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Stanley, Falkland Islands.
11th December, 1946.

Under the provisions of Section 3 of the Stanley Rating Ordinance, 1928, His Excellency the Governor has been pleased to appoint:-

The Executive Engineer (Chairman);
The Assistant Treasurer, Treasury and Customs Department;

The Honourable V.A.H. Biggs, J.P.;

Mr W.H. Sedgwick;

to be Members of the Board of Assessors for the year 1947.

By Command,
(Sgd.) A.B. Mathews
Colonial Secretary.

GARDENING NOTES.

If the hearted Savoy's are to be secured for winter use then do not delay planting out after the end of this month. The sooner they can be transplanted the better because it should always be borne in mind that the savoy requires a much longer season of growth than the cabbage. Savoy also requires more room for development, eighteen inches either way should be the minimum.

If vase flowers are to remain fresh for the longest possible period, then it is best to cut them as early in the morning as possible. Failing this, cut them during the evening when the sun has lost it's power. Never bunch cut flowers tightly in your hands. Hold them loosely, or place them in a basket. If they are wet with rain, or dew, give them a light shake on cutting.

Piloted Lafonia.

The pilot who brought the s.s. "Lafonia" down the river Thames, on the first stage of the ship's journey from London to Stanley, was Mr T. Hilliar, who was in the capital of the Colony when second mate of the Simla in 1908.

London Bridge Programme

Last Friday night in the monthly News Letter we heard quite a lot of news about our people in other parts: the Lellman brothers are well scattered over the world- with Kelvin in England signed on for another three years in the R.A.F., Russell a leading Dental Mechanic under the Allied Control, and Fraser still serving in India.

Frank Short who is in the Navy for a period of ten years, is now in Northern Ireland. Norman Paice of the R.A.F. was married on the 23rd of last November.

We will all be looking forward to the special Christmas Programme next Friday when a number of "exiles" will be speaking to us in the course of the broadcast.

In the same programme we learned of the marriage a week ago last Saturday of Len. Summers to Miss Margaret Chadwick.

Local Notes

The Annual Bazaar, held by the members of St Mary's Church, will be held in their Hall on Monday 23rd of December, commencing at 7p.m. It is to be hoped that this will be a very successful effort.

Once again our quickly changing weather has shown us just what it can do! Last week the hills around Mount Low were white with snow...today (Wednesday) as we prepare this page the sun is shining and the weather is really fine.

We hope that the colleague priest to Father Drumm and Father Kelly will enjoy his stay in the Colony and will find his speaking of English much improved through his time in Stanley.

A number of new volumes have been added recently to the Public Library in Stanley. We hope that we will be able to give some of their titles in a future number of this paper.

Work with the peat is in full swing. Rickling is demanding the attention of those fortunate enough to have their quota cut.

The Meteorological Station which for many months now has been the responsibility of the Royal Navy, in the Colony, has recently been taken over by the Air Ministry. Mr G. Howkins is in charge.

Amongst new equipment which arrived in the Lafonia from England is a massive piece of machinery weighing over eleven tons. There will be one consolation to those who have the responsibility of getting this load up the hill to the Met. Station - we have more mechanical aids in our day than Pharoah had when he took massive weights up to their places when building the pyramids of Egypt!

It is surprising the amount of fruit which can be had from porches attached to houses. In Stanley Mrs Bert Newing has a loganberry bush which is already bearing fruit and which promises a bumper crop throughout the season. Mr J. Davis Senr. has a blackberry bush in her conservatory which is also a wonderful fruit-bearer.

"LAFONIA" RUNS ASHORE

The s.s. "Lafonia" left the jetty which she normally uses in Stanley - the East Jetty, with cargo and passengers, bound for Montevideo, in the early hours of Wednesday morning. The weather was foggy - the vessel was due to make a connection at Montevideo. Unfortunately the vessel had a mishap and turned short of the narrows so going ashore. It was hoped to refloat the vessel with the high tide after mid-day.

The s.s. "Fitzroy" towed the s.s. "Lafonia" successfully off just about two o'clock in the afternoon.

CHILDREN'S CORNER

Weekly News Office,
Stanley
19:12:46

Dear Boys and Girls,

This week we are reproducing a drawing of the Walker Creek cutter-boat-the "Grebe". It was drawn for us by Ivan Morrison who lives there. I am sorry that we could not let you see the colours of Ivan's drawing. We had also to omit the little pram the vessel was towing astern.

Once again we point out to you that we can best use here small drawings which are done on white paper in clear black pencil line. If you wish to shade your drawing do so with close lines.

I think that Ivan's drawing is a very fine effort-Ivan is thirteen years of age.

We are always pleased to hear from boys and girls in the Camp. We hope that you enjoy your Corner.

Cheerio.

Until next week- Uncle Jim bankrupt prices of farming stock-in-trade sank to such a low level that the next required perhaps only one third the capital of their predecessors, and so were able to keep going. Amongst these men a steadily increasing number began to realize that instead of looking on cheap imported grain as their greatest enemy, the time had to come to use it as their greatest friend. Accordingly, they changed their farming from crops to stock, buying the cheap grain to feed animals, and so to cater for the growing demand for meat, milk and eggs.

The Boer War (1899-1902) halted this change for a year or two, but from then until 1914 it progressed steadily, "Down corn, up horn" being the agricultural motto. The World War of 1914-18 reversed the placings, but the period between that and the second World War of 1939-45 not only reversed them again, but accentuated the drift from crops to stock, to such an extent that grain became almost a negligible part of the business. For instance, in 1950 wheat represented only just over two per cent of the English farmer's sales, while livestock accounted for over seventy-two per cent. For the farmer it was livestock or bankruptcy, and even livestock enabled him to avoid ruin by the slightest of margins.

Another important change that occurred between these wars was the break-up and sale of many large estates, for the bankruptcy of agriculture added to crushing taxation had made the position of many landowners untenable. This, of course, greatly increased the number of owner-occupying farmers; and so enabled many of them to fight the bad times with fair success. Untrammelled by the wishes and needs of a landlord they could now equip their holdings to enable them to adopt modern methods, and farm as they chose. So, in spite of the general depression, from about 1935 there was a slight upward tendency in English farming; once again hard-working clever young farmers were profiting from the bankruptcy of their predecessors.

The s.s. "Fitzroy" was due to leave Stanley about the 19th December for the following ports: Salvador Waters, Pebble Island, Saunders Island, West Point Island, Roy Cove, Spring Point, George Island, Lively Island, Stanley.

On about the 29th of December the same ship leaves Stanley for Punta Arenas and back to Stanley.

This itinerary is as usual subject to alteration or cancellation without notice.

Weekly News Circulation: Approximately 390 copies of the "Weekly News" are distributed in the Colony - of this total Stanley accounts for 317 copies. From our Office we send 47 papers to the West and 26 to the East. Over and above the 390 figure we send 84 copies to England and other Overseas places. This makes our total circulation 474 copies per week. Actually we sell a few extra copies to this grand total most weeks. We print these figures chiefly as a guide to our much appreciated advertisers.

was largely green, the green of England's grass, picked out here and there with odd patches of ploughland and grain. To the uninitiated it looked in poor shape to fight a desperate war; but thinking farmers knew that it was well equipped for that big task. They knew that underneath the turf of their grassland lay a huge store of fertility, ready to be tapped by the plough, and turned into heavy crops of grain and potatoes; thus producing the greatest weight of human food per acre during a time of possible famine due to the cessation of food supplies from other countries.

Local Notes

The s.s. "Fitzroy" returned to Stanley from Punta Arenas, Fox Bay and North Arm early on Sunday morning. Mr and Mrs Clement and child were passengers from North Arm to Stanley.

The Public Relations Committee met His Excellency the Governor, at a meeting which took place in Government House last Friday night. An interesting item of news divulged by His Excellency was that an order had been sent home for a boat suitable to be stationed in Stanley and to bring sick cases in from Camp.

The Weekly News Office will be closed on Christmas Day and the day following. The paper will be delivered in town as usual on Thursday 26th December.

Birth: To Mr and Mrs Murdoch Morrison on the 10th December, at Myles Creek, a son - Trevor John.

Working in Factory in England

In a letter to friends, Mrs Waghorn gives the following news: As you probably know, I gained my two years good service badge in the Land Army. I am out of that body now and I am working at Rowntrees factory. I am learning to work a machine which cuts out cardboard for fairly big cardboard boxes. When my machine is finished with its work the cardboard then goes to another machine where it is shaped and sewn up into a box. So when cocoa or chocolate arrives in the Falkland Islands in cardboard boxes, you can think that perhaps these very boxes have been cut out by me!

The work here is a forty four hour week. We start on Monday morning at 7:30 and work until 5:30 p.m. We keep these hours throughout the rest of the week until Friday. On Fridays we "knock-off" at 4:30 p.m. You will see that we have a long weekend every weekend. Occasionally we have to work on the Saturday when overtime work has to be done.

The standard wage is £3 per week, however if you get an "overtime weekend" included in your week - this will bring your wage up to £4 or £5.

One thing which I appreciate after my work in the Land Army is the fact that my work is indoors. Here in England the winters are so very wet and cold.

LOOKING BACK- CHRISTMAS 1946

A new milestone along the road of time has been reached and by the day this paper is in the hands of its readers, another Christmas will have come and gone.

The Christmas spirit is always associated with well-wishing. The very words "Happy Christmas" convey the fact that the speaker wishes other people happiness. Even in the saying of the words we are expressing an idea of the spreading of happiness. This is a Christmas and a Christian wish but it is not for Christmas only, it is for every day in the year. Happiness is really closely related to neighbourliness and to progress. The spreading of goodwill from neighbours to communities, and to nations is a vision of true progress. Great things can spring from small, to lighten the weight of the tasks of daily living.

WISHING YOU

VERY HAPPY

His Excellency Declares Bazaar Open.

Last Monday evening St Mary's Church Bazaar (see page 3) was declared open by His Excellency the Governor. Mrs Clifford and Lieut. Huckle A.D.C. were also present. Father Drumm welcomed the Governor on behalf of the members of his parish. In a few words His Excellency invited those present to be generous to the cause.

.....
The sum realised to date as a result of the effort was £278.

Legislative Council Meets.

Last Monday morning the Legislative Council met at Government House, the meeting being presided over by His Excellency the Governor. After prayers offered by His Excellency the Governor addressed the Council. First of all mention was made of the hope of Constitutional reform before the next "Budget" Council meeting. This had been arranged for not later than October 15th. His Excellency felt that this would be more convenient a date for Camp members whose views deserved the utmost respect.

In his policy for the future His Excellency said that the navigation lights were "First things first" and "The greatest good for the greatest number".

The Governor announced that the Hon. D.W. Roberts O.B.E., and A.G. Barton Esq., J.P., had been invited to become members of the Executive Council. In detailed Plan of Progress-Education, Health, Social Amenities would be attended to and the Broadcasting system in its various branches from transmission to programmes would be improved. A new town electricity service to facilitate labour-saving devices would be kept in view and also a long term undertaking of topographical survey of the Colony.

The ambitious programme for the new Town Hall would not be proceeded with and owing to the tremendous cost the idea of a road across the Camp on the East would also be shelved. His Excellency hoped that the transport question might be solved to some extent by the use of a helicopter plane. The Governor hoped to get the service of a legal secretary who would do other duties as well and also an auditor who would serve too as Financial Secretary.

St Mary's Church Bazaar

The Annual Bazaar organised by St Mary's Church took place in their Hall last Monday evening. The doors were open at 6:30p.m. and business was brisk from 7p.m. onwards. The various stalls were well patronised as well as the games, and teas. Bazaar-time is always a very much looked forward-to event in Stanley and judging by the large crowd at this event, this fact remains as true as ever.

And so it turned out. English farming industry did its war job with as much success as any town industry, and with greater harmony than any of them. For there were no strikes in farming, and by 1943 its war production was four times what the government experts had thought, not merely probable, but possible.

What was the spirit of English farming during these war years? In the national interest it had been turned upside down and inside out. Once again its motto was changed to "Down horn, up corn"; which meant that the plough ruled the countryside, and pastures, even those that had not felt iron since the Crimean War (1854-1856), now grew grain in plenty. It was short of labour, machinery, and supplies. It was bedevilled with forms, and orders, and almost snowed under with paper. It taught Land Girls, unskilled townfolk, and prisoners of war, to become useful farm workers. Altogether English farming succeeded better than its own people had dared to hope.

This brought a change in its spirit. After a quarter century of playing second fiddle to industry its people revelled in the realization that they and their industry were not merely important but essential to the existence. They exulted that the clever townsmen had been forced to realize that the splendour of town life depended upon fair-weather world conditions, and that in time of trouble he must look to the land of his own country for succour. They were proud and properly so; also the majority of them were thankful, properly thankful, for their war-time luck by comparison with that of their town cousins. For while the latter were directed into this industry and that, and bombed to boot, the former were merely asked during war to do what they had wanted to do during peace - to make a living by farming their land as well as they were able.

What is their spirit today? From the moment it was evident that the Allies would win the war, farming people began to remember the conditions of peace. So, they began to make plans to change once again from grain to livestock, from ploughland to pasture. Most of them had suffered the depression caused by the slump in grain prices after 1918, and they did not intend to be involved a second time. By the end of 1945 they were busy building up an agriculture on the foundation of a huge livestock industry, for they knew that to be the only way in which they would be able to withstand the shocks that were certain to come from peace and plenty.

But the expected shock did not come. Instead sudden news of a world food shortage during peace brought a national demand that they should change their farming back to a war footing, immediately if not sooner. Of course, they are doing this, reducing their flocks and herds, and once again ploughing ever ploughing; doing this at great expense in money, and still greater expense in disappointment. As ever, they grumble and rumble, but they do their job. Why? Because of pride, proper pride.

They are the trustees of that precious heritage the farming land of their own country, and are proud of that trust. What does it matter that once again their business has been upset and their personal plans held up in the national interest? There is nothing that they and their farms cannot do. Besides, any amount of upset and trouble and expense is worth while when it is accompanied by the knowledge that the produce is urgently needed. Having proved to an industrial nation that during war its most valuable asset is its farming land, they will now proudly prove that same thing holds good during peace, now, and for ever.

WEDDING.

A very pretty wedding took place in Christ Church Cathedral last Monday afternoon when Mr Henry Blyth, the eldest son of Mr and Mrs Fred Blyth of Fitzroy South was joined in marriage to Miss Marian Sarah Binnie, daughter of Mrs E. Gleadell and the late Mr Thomas Binnie. The bride who was given away by her uncle Mr William Binnie, was dressed in a blue costume and halo hat to match. The bridesmaids - Miss Josephine Blyth sister of the bridegroom and Miss Jean Parrin, cousin of the bride, were dressed in blue flowered voile with head-dress to match, the latter made by Mrs W. Binnie. Bride and bridesmaids carried bouquets which were given by Mrs C. Dickson and other friends and relations.

The bridegroom was supported as Best Man by his cousin Mr John Blyth.

After the ceremony at which the Rev. R. G. R. Calvert, Chaplain of the Cathedral officiated, a reception was held at the home of the bride and followed by the Wedding Breakfast which took place at Mr and Mrs Alec Blyth's house in Davis Street. Guests sampled the three tier wedding cake which was made by Mr J. F. Summers at the Woodbine Bakery.

We wish Mr Blyth who is on the staff at Cape Pembroke Lighthouse and Mrs Blyth every happiness in the future. They will be making their home in Stanley.

EDITORIAL

The Government of the Falkland Islands needs the full co-operation of the people. How far can the people co-operate in 1947?

The Budget of the Legislative Council is over for another year. We were impressed with the businesslike speech so fluently delivered of His Excellency the Governor. We were given food for much thought in the revelation that the Colony was faced with a deficit of £27,000 or even more and one of the steps in the remedying of this position may possibly be a redistribution of manpower on a voluntary but essential plan to centre of employment throughout the country. No one can therefore be more concerned with future policy in our Colony than the working man and it is with this fact in mind that this column is written.

We have learned of our position in plain words which we appreciate and we express our own thoughts in the same way at the price of saying something which may be considered beyond our province.

The people of the Colony who are without any official say in the whole business of administration have been forced to stand back over the years and watch their country steered here and there by gentlemen who are resident in the land for a brief term and although such people's goodwill is unquestioned their knowledge of local conditions could have been much greater.

His Excellency was careful to emphasise that the appointment to his Executive Council of the two gentlemen who happen to be co-Chairmen of the Sheep Owners Association was on individual merit and that they were to be his advisers and were in no sense appointed in their official connections. That, of course, is so but the ordinary man-in-the-street can hardly fail to make some association in his mind.

For, while we sincerely appreciate the fact that the Governor's Executive Council consists of advisers to His Excellency and is not a popular Democratic body—that in a word, we must look forward to the promised constitutional reform before we get real representation, disappointment must be expressed that those in authority did not see their way to build into the same high body at least one representative of the working man—and preferably a Falkland Islander, if only to assure the majority of the population that the day when its opinions and voice are unwanted, is now over! Such a man could have served until Constitutional Reform had taken place.

The Weekly News feels strongly that such a person or persons on the Executive Council in our Colony would not only be a step towards more democratic administration but also opinions of such people would be of assistance in helping solve the economic and social problems which will come before the Executive Council in the next few months.

London Bridge Christmas Programme.

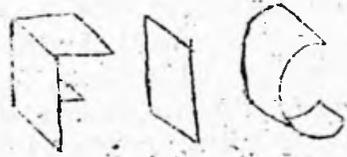

Last Friday evening the London Bridge Programme took the form of a special Christmas one and twelve Falkland Island people came to the microphone and spoke across the world from London to our Colony.

The Programme was arranged by Jerry Wilmot and the announcer was Feggy Bradford of the B.B.C. staff. Mrs Alex Bonner told of Mrs L.A. Aldridge's arrival in England that afternoon, Norman Paice - recently married hoped to return to the Colony sometime for a holiday; Kathleen Harris was having her brother Douglas to visit her at Christmas, Una Seagwick has still two more years of schooling ahead of her, A.B. George Lee told how he was to spend his leave at Eastbourne, with his wife and baby. George wished to be remembered to his friends on the West. Mrs Daisy Blyth came next and conveyed her greetings to her relations in the Colony (as all the others did too). Mrs "Dass" Johnston (née Fuhlendorff) told how she had been ten years over in Britain and would come back for a visit to the Colony when fares went down. Eric Fleuret, whose parents live in South Georgia had already broadcast three times before, told of his interest in engineering. We congratulate him on gaining his 1st XV Colours. Mrs Lena Tasker (née Summers) liked the life in England and appreciated the parcels sent from the Colony. Her youngster Denys seemed to object to microphone work. Alec Summers known as "Wally" spoke next. He is playing in the Band at Chatham and will be in the Navy until 1950. Hilary Felton spoke of her training in an Art School - specialising on Sculpter work. We hope that her efforts on horse subjects will be highly successful. Mrs Betty Bennett (née Woodgate) spoke of her work as a Secretary in a factory making electric radiators.

The programme was rounded off by Miss Kelham of the Victoria League who mentioned many who would like to have taken part in the programme, but could not. They sent their greetings.

We wish to thank all who helped to make this interesting programme the success it was, especially Miss Kelham and the B.B.C.

Camp Prize Winners.

This year the Education Department has taken a new step in awarding prizes for good work done by the children under its tuition in the Camp.

The prize winners on the West are as follows: for progress Finlay Ferguson of New Island, Winnie and Eileen Llamasa of Pebble Island, Nigel Miller of Roy Cove, Odette Smith and Marion Paice of Fox Bay East: for writing and general neatness Betty Johnson of Hill Cove: for effort Alan Miller of Roy Cove.

Unfortunately the risk of spreading the measles prevented Mr Draycott from carrying out his tour of the North Camp before Christmas. However prizes will be awarded to the children who have earned them and their names will be published as soon as the tour is completed.

Wireless Station Fire.

The recent fire in the Wash House nissen hut at the Wireless Station could have been ever so much more serious if it had not been for the regular fire fighting drills carried out at the Station for some time now.

Very favourable comment was passed on the speed with which the Stanley Volunteer Fire Brigade arrived on the scene after the alarm had been raised.

Editorial Note.

The plan as given for representation on page 16 is just by way of purely unofficial suggestion and any other ideas or comments briefly stated will be welcome by the Weekly News for publication.

Christ Church Cathedral's evening service was broadcast to the Camp last Sunday.

Dear Sir,

In your issue of the 21st of November the Secretary of the Labour Federation concludes a letter describing the meeting at Port Howard by saying "off the sheep's back comes our very existence, or so it is for the time being".

This would appear to indicate that some alternative industry was in sight on which we could depend for our living. But is this so?

The fact is that no approach to the problems of this Colony can be fruitful unless it is first appreciated that the Colony is neither more nor less than a large sheep farm in a remote corner of the Atlantic; and that when it is no longer economic to produce wool the Islands must in all probability be forsaken and revert once again to the desolation from which they were rescued by the arrival of the sheep.

Yours faithfully,
N. Keith Cameron

GARDENING NOTES

There are other ways too of prolonging the life of a cut flower. One way is to immerse the stalks in water to the greatest possible depth, removing the leaves from the part of the stem which will be in the water. Woody stemmed flowers like Roses and Lilac will last much longer if the stems—just above the base of the cut—are slit with a knife. Peppies and the like are not so apt to droop or lose their petals if the tips of the stems are dipped in boiling water or singed in the fire.

Flowers that do not normally last long when cut should always be cut just when the buds are commencing to open. Moreover, the water in which flowers are immersed should be changed each day.

Fire Alarm in Stanley

Stanley sirens sounded about seven o'clock and maroons were fired to call the local brigade to a fire which broke out at the Wireless Station in part of the dwelling section. The fire was soon under control.

Dear Boys and Girls,

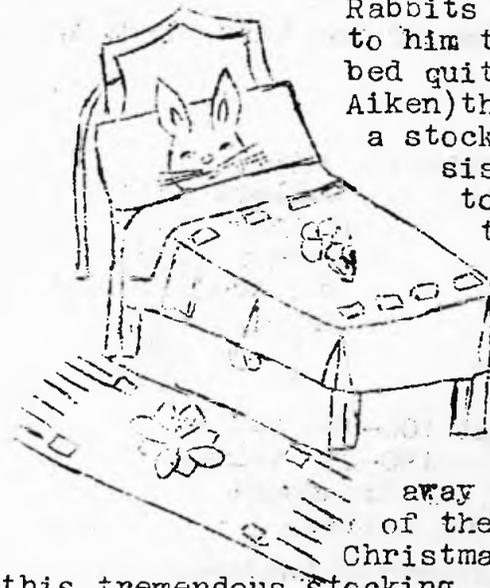

Christmas is here and over and I hope that Father Christmas remembered your stocking when he called round with his great sack of gifts.

Perhaps you would like to come with me to Robert Rabbits home and see what happened to him this Christmas? He went to bed quite early (see drawing by Quita Aiken) the night before after making a stocking out of three of his sisters dance stockings (unknown to them of course). Robert cut the feet off and sewed them all together. His reason for doing this was in order to make room in his stocking for all the presents which he was sure Father Christmas would bring him! Robert was tucked away to sleep in his own corner of the burrow quite early on Christmas eve and by his bedside was this tremendous stocking.

Next morning Robert was early awake and soon had his stocking beside him. Yes! it was full—lovely carrots and special grass in tiny bales and clover heads and lots of other things which appealed to a young rabbit. I nearly forgot to mention the new white neck-tie with blue spots for wear with his best suit. Robert tweaked his whiskers with his paw in pleasure, drew out an exciting parcel from his stocking, unwrapped endless paper and found three pairs of young lady rabbit's silk stockings. "For your sisters" was printed on the card enclosed with them. Robert was quite relieved at the wisdom of Father Christmas, for he had been a little worried about what his sisters would say when they found their good stockings had vanished. "Alls well" thought Robert as he munched at the choice clover.

Cheerio, until next week,

Uncle Jim

The outstanding point about finance was that this years working showed a deficit of £27,000. A committee was to be appointed to go into ways and means of economies and of exploring possible resources of the Colony.

An Idea for Representation.

Amongst ideas for people's representation in the Colony various suggestions have been made. One of the difficulties is that a Legislative Council could only meet occasionally - which would mean that representatives on that body might meet once or twice a year. (Obviously Stanley has its own problems and one of the ideas suggested is that Stanley should have its own Town Council which could meet easily as often as required and dispose of Stanley business. Subjects from roads in the town to street lighting would come under the Town Council.

Perhaps the Chairman and the Vice-Chairman elected by the Town Council could automatically represent Stanley on the Legislative Council thereby cutting down extra voting to a minimum. The people in the Camps would have to vote for their own representative for the Legislative Council.

This has been made only by way of a suggestion, but to the Weekly News it seems to have possibilities. Turning to the Town Council again - let us suppose there were three wards in Stanley, Centre, East, and West with two councillors for each. The Council, if it were in England, would have its Doctor, Sanitary Inspector and Engineer, here to employ such people would be out of the question, so the Council would require to have the Colonial Doctor and Engineer sitting at its meetings. This is already done in at least one other colonial town which has a Town Council much on the lines suggested for here.
