The Falkland Islands Transport Co. Ltd.,

Stanley, 6th April, 1919.

Sir,

I regret to inform you that it will be impossible to despatch the s.s. "Falkland" on the mail trip before Tuesday evening the 8th instant. The engineer has found it necessary to clean his main boiler, which, even working on Sunday, can only be ready for loading purposes on Tuesday morning. Unfortunately the donkey boiler is also at present out of action.

I trust His Excellency the Governor will raise no objections to this extension.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

Agent.
