EXTRACT FROM LETTER FROM CHRIS PENRY OF CROWN AGENTS DATED 8TH SEPTEMBER

17 Rare Plants

Release approximately May 1984. Presumably if the plants are extremely rare, there will be few references outside the Falkland Islands, and this would appear to be more suited to a local artist. However, if you have particular plants in mind, it may be that British experts at Kew or the Natural History Museum may have suitable material.

EXTRACT FROM LETTER TO CHRIS PENRY DATED 10TH OCTOBER

✓ Rare Plants: Local artist for this. We will bear in mind the Natural History Museum and Kew as possible sources of material.

MINUTES OF A MEETING OF THE STAMP CO-ORDINATING COMMITTEE HELD AT THE SECRETARIAT ON MONDAY 1ST DECEMBER 1980.

Indigenous Fruits Issue 1983 As with the Shells Issue a design committee was not formed. There appeared to be some uncertainty about the types of fruit available, i.e. what constituted fruits and whether berries could be classified as fruits for such an issue. Advice to be sought from local experts. It was thought unnecessary at this stage to form a design committee and that pending local advice, applications be invited from interested local artists to produce artwork for such an issue.
