Sir,

I have the honour to report that I have in preparation at the present time a chart of the Falkland Islands upon which I am inserting the results of my geological survey. This geological chart constitutes an extremely important part of the results of my work, seeing that it is the only geological map of the Falklands (of any value) in existence. The chart will require final revision by me in England, and it will also probably be necessary for me to prepare other copies.

It is highly desirable that the chart should remain in my possession until my arrival in England, when I can complete it finally, and transmit it, with other copies, to the Under Secretary of State.

I should therefore be glad if I could be provided with a case for the conveyance of the chart to England. I have discussed the matter with the Colonial Engineer, who understands what kind of receptacle is needed, and will prepare the same on receipt of the necessary authority.

(2). I should be glad, further, if I could be provided with a number of printed slips, on strong white paper, to be attached to the charts. I enclose particulars of the kind of slip required. The slips should be 7 inches by 4 inches. They are intended to be pasted on the Admiralty Chart of the Falkland Islands, in the space below the legend already inserted thereon, and it would be well if the printer could examine the legend of the Admiralty Chart so as to be able to employ ~~similar~~ <sup>(of a character in keeping)</sup> type in the printing of the slips.

I have etc.,
