Downing Street,
31st December, 1934.

Sir,

*Read
in M.P.
22/1/34*

With reference to my confidential Circular despatch of the 31st of August, I have the honour to inform you that His Majesty has decided to institute a medal, which is to be known as the King's Silver Jubilee Medal, to commemorate the twenty-fifth anniversary of His Majesty's accession to the Throne. The medal, which will be in silver, will bear on the obverse portraits of the King and the Queen, and on the reverse the Royal Cypher with the Imperial Crown and the dates of His Majesty's accession and silver jubilee. It will be worn on a ribbon of red and blue, with two white stripes, in the same way as a Coronation or military medal.

2. The medal will be distributed as a personal souvenir from His Majesty to selected recipients, who, for the most part, will be members of the Crown Services in this country and persons holding similar positions throughout the Empire.

3. It is recognized that there cannot be an exactly uniform distribution, and it has been decided that it will be best to make a definite allocation of medals to each Colonial Dependency, and to leave the Governor to settle the actual selection of individual recipients in the light of general principles which I will proceed to indicate. The number of medals thus placed at your disposal will be 10.

4. The main criterion should be distinguished public service during His Majesty's reign and not, as was the rule in the case of some other commemorative medals, presence at, or participation in, a particular ceremony. It follows that most of the medals allotted to any Colonial Dependency should be awarded to persons in the service of a Colonial Government, or to persons who, either as members of the Legislature, as native rulers or chiefs, or in some other capacity, have actively assisted in the conduct of the administration. If, however, there are in a particular Colony any individuals who, though they have not directly participated in the work of government, are suitable representatives of their profession or calling and have attained distinction in the exercise of it, they may be included among the recipients of the medal.

The Officer Administering the Government of

5. It may assist Colonial Governors in deciding on the distribution to members of the civil service if I indicate in outline the approved scheme for the distribution in this country. Under that scheme the medal will be awarded to every member of the administrative staff in this country of or above a certain grade, and to all professional, scientific and technical staff holding posts of comparable status. In addition, a number of medals will be allotted to each Government Department in respect of the remainder of its employes, and this allocation will be based on a small percentage of the staff in each grade; the percentage will vary with the grade, being three per cent in the case of administrative, professional and executive staff below the rank to all members of which an award will be made, and a half of one per cent in the case of clerical and subordinate employes. The Colonial equivalent of the civil servant in this country who is to receive the medal by virtue of his rank would be the head of an important Department or, in the Administrative Service, officers of the status of Provincial Commissioner and above. In the case of other officials, I do not feel able, in view of the diversity of local circumstances, to offer any definite guidance, beyond observing that the distribution should be effected in such a way that as far as possible all branches and grades of the public service, and all races comprising the population, obtain some share of recognition.

6. A definite allocation, which also will be based on a percentage of total establishment, will be made in this country to the fighting services and to police forces, and the medal will be awarded to the principal representatives at the time of local authorities and to a selected number of the employes of such authorities, such as members of fire brigades. The same principles, where they are applicable, might be followed in the Colonial Empire, but no medals need be reserved from the quota allotted to Colonial Governors for members of any Imperial Forces stationed in or based on a Colony.

7. Finally, special consideration has been given to the position of ladies. It is His Majesty's express desire that the medal should be awarded to ladies both on account of their own public service and, in a limited number of suitable cases, on account of the service of their husbands. His Majesty considers that the inclusion among the recipients of the wives of a number of distinguished public men is desirable in order to avoid the appearance of discrimination which might be caused by restricting the medal to the limited number of women who have so far had the opportunity of achieving distinction in the public service. The wife of a Governor should receive the medal, and it may also be awarded, at the discretion of the Governor, to a few other ladies who, as the wives of senior officials or other distinguished persons, have assisted in official entertainments and public or social functions.

8. As a general rule the medal should not be awarded to officers who have retired before the date of His Majesty's Silver Jubilee.

9. You will, no doubt, settle in the light of the principles which I have indicated the list of persons in the territory under your administration to whom the medal should be awarded. (A Governor will of course receive the medal from the allotment made to the territory under his administration.) The medals, which will not bear the name of the recipients, will be forwarded as soon as supplies are available.

10. The ribbon for the medal when awarded to ladies will be issued in the form of a bow. When ladies have already received medals worn on a bar it will be permissible for them at their own option to wear the Jubilee Medal on the medal bar. I shall be obliged if you will let me know as soon as practicable (and in any event not later than the end of February) the approximate number of the medals placed at your disposal which will probably be issued to ladies. If there is any doubt the number so required should be overestimated rather than underestimated as it is proposed to send with them alternative ribbons (i.e., both the bow and the ordinary straight ribbon) so that they may be issued either to men or to women.

11. It will be convenient if in due course you will transmit to me for record purposes a list of the persons to whom the medal is presented with, in each case, the name of his or her office or other brief indication of the ground for the award.

12. The number of medals available for the Colonial Empire will not permit any substantial increase of the number placed at your disposal, but if you should have any special reason for suggesting a small supplementary allocation, I should wish to be so informed (if necessary by telegraph) not later than the middle of February. Any request for such an increase should, of course, include a full statement of the reasons for which it is made.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient, humble servant,

P. CUNLIFFE-LISTER.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO BE ISSUED TO THE PRESS.

The King has approved the issue of a Silver Medal to be known as "The King's Silver Jubilee Medal", in commemoration of the 25th anniversary of His Majesty's accession to the Throne. Some 80,000 Medals will be struck for issue as a personal souvenir from His Majesty to persons in the Crown Services and others in this country and in other parts of the Empire. Individuals selected for the award will receive the Medal on or shortly after the 6th May, 1935, but the Medals will not be worn on the 6th May, except by special instruction.

The following is a description of the Medal, which has been designed by Sir William Goscombe John, R.A. :—

OBVERSE Conjoint busts of Their Majesties the King and Queen, crowned and robed, looking to the left, with the inscription around GEORGE V AND QUEEN MARY MAY VI MCMXXXV.

REVERSE The Royal Cypher G.R.I. surmounted by the Crown with the dates MAY 6 1910 and MAY 6 1935 on either side, the whole within an ornamental border.

The medal will be worn suspended by a ring from a ribbon  $1\frac{1}{4}$  inch wide with a red centre stripe  $\frac{3}{8}$  inch wide and two blue stripes and one white stripe of equal width on either side. Diameter of medal— $1\frac{1}{4}$  inch.

The King's Silver Jubilee Medal is classified as an official medal, to be worn, on all occasions on which decorations and medals are worn, on the left breast after all Jubilee, Coronation and Durbar Medals, which follow War Medals in the Order of Precedence. Ladies who have no other decorations or medals will wear the Jubilee Medal on the left shoulder of the dress, the ribbon in this case being in the form of a bow. Ladies who are already in possession of official medals worn on a bar may, if they wish, add the Jubilee Medal to the bar instead of wearing it separately on a bow.

Applications from individual members of the public cannot be entertained.

The other commemorative medal, which has been prepared by the Royal Mint by the King's Command for sale to the public, is not classified as an official medal and may not be worn.

It is also notified that any medals manufactured commercially for sale on the occasion of the Jubilee should not be worn in such a manner that they might be confused with the Official Medal awarded by His Majesty.
