His Excellency
Governor
Government House
St. John's
Falkland Islands

Your Excellency,

I have the honour to present this my Report on the Census held on 2 March 1991 pursuant to an Order under section 2 of the Census Ordinance 1980, giving the Census Form prescribed by the Census (Forms) Regulations 1991.

The information provided by the Form is processed by computer and used in a variety of ways. It is also used to produce the annual report on the general interest of the Islands.

Report of Census 1991

The Census Form was considered in draft by an ad hoc committee consisting of representatives of the Executive Council, the District Councils and the Executive Council. There was much discussion as to what questions should be asked and in what form. I hope that a fair balance between what might be useful and what it was necessary to ask to answer the questions, in particular, to avoid any unnecessary intrusion into any person's privacy. Of course, at the end of the day, statistics can only be provided on the basis of information supplied in answer to questions asked on the Census Form and it could well be said that there were questions left unasked which we ought to have asked. I can only express regret for any defects or shortcomings which anybody sees in the Census exercise as a result.

My special thanks should be expressed to -

Mrs Beata Greenhalgh (Registrar General) and the Census Enumerators;
Mr Graham Goodall (who did the work resulting in Tables 17 and 18 (Primary and Secondary Occupations));
Mr Michael Peck (Computer Co-ordinator) who designed the Computer Program for the Census and later extracted the data for me;
Mr Robert Titterton (for his particular assistance in the design of the Census Form);
Mr Richard Wynn (who checked the Tables in draft - but who is not responsible for their accuracy);
The staff of my department (Miss Jenny Cox and Miss Anna Cox) who have had the labour of deciphering and typing my manuscripts.

His Excellency W H Fullerton, C.M.G.
Governor
Government House

Your Excellency,

1. I have the honour to present this my Report on the Census held on 5 March 1991 pursuant to an Order under section 2 of the Census Ordinance 1990, using Census Forms those prescribed by the Census (Forms) Regulations 1991.
2. For the first time, the Census Form used was designed so as to enable the information provided by the Forms to be processed by computer : and indeed an almost infinite number of Tables could be prepared of which those appearing as part of this Report are only those which appeared to be most generally useful or of general interest.
3. The Census Form was considered in draft by an ad hoc consultative committee on which Legislative Councillors and officials were both represented. The final draft was, of course, approved by the Executive Council. There was much debate as to what questions should be asked and in what form. I hope what emerged was a fair balance between what might be useful and what it was tolerable for persons to be asked to answer : in particular, to avoid any unnecessary intrusion into any person's privacy. Of course, at the end of the day, statistics can only be provided on the basis of information supplied in answer to questions asked on the Census Form and it could well be said that there were questions left unasked which we ought to have asked. I can only express regret for any defects or shortcomings which anybody sees in the Census exercise as a result.
4. My special thanks should be expressed to -

Mrs Bonita Greenland (Registrar General) and the Census Enumerators;
Mr Graham Gleadell (who did the work resulting in Tables 17 and 18 (Primary and Secondary Occupations)
Mr Michael Peake (Computer Co-ordinator) who designed the Computer Program for the Census and later extracted the data for me;
Mr Robert Titterington (for his particular assistance in the design of the Census Form)
Mr Richard Wagner (who checked the Tables in draft : but who is not responsible for their accuracy)
The staff of my department (Mrs Jenny Cox and Mrs Amara Goss) who have had the labour of deciphering and typing my manuscript).

5. There is, I hope, much of interest in the Tables. I resist the temptation myself to comment upon the information in them in this Report. Let the reader draw his own conclusions. The Report will, of course, be a source of data to government departments and others.

6. I conclude by expressing my thanks to the public for its co-operation. The Tables follow.

* Consensual unions were not the subject of a separate question. It is possible that a few persons described themselves as "married" when they were in fact in an informal consensual union with a person of the opposite sex. Conversely, some of those who described themselves as "never married" may have been in a long-term informal consensual union with a person of the opposite sex.

+ These figures include the 71 persons, present in the Falkland Islands on Census Night, who were visitors or temporary residents.

Notes:

1. These figures are extracted from the Register of Births, but the births are apportioned to the year in which they occurred and not the year in which they were registered.
2. Because of the method used (note 1) the figures do not correspond in all instances with those shown in Table 5 of the 1986 Census Report. For example a birth on 21.2.1982 was not registered until 13.2.1984 and in the 1986 Census Report stillbirths appear to have been included.
3. It should be noted that these figures will not include births overseas to women whose confinement took place overseas for medical reasons.

Notes:

1. There are a number of inexplicable errors in the comparable table in the 1986 Census Report.
2. The figures in parentheses in the "Male" column represent the deaths of resident males after deducting the number of male deaths of non-residents (servicemen, seamen and contractors) registered in the Falkland Islands.
3. The above figures will not include a number of deaths of Falkland Island residents which occurred overseas (eg: in hospital).
